Don't play too much with the same player, especially if he is an inferior one, as one unconsciously imitates. Even Mitchell was temporarily thrown off his drive by unconsciously copying Duncan in his stance in placing his left foot on position prior to his right, which was the reverse of Mitchell's habitual method.

Don't play too much on the same course, as one gets used to the distances and also the same shots. No two courses are the same, and for this reason more practice in judging distance will be had by playing on various courses.

Don't forget to waggle. It limbers up the muscles prior to the actual stroke; no matter what other points star player differ in, they all indulge in a waggle.

Don't be continually changing your club, not have too many clubs, if for no other reason than that it is extravagant. Besides, if you have too many clubs it will be confusing and difficult to select the appropriate one.

Don't hero-worship by using the same ball as the long hitter. The average player should use a softer cored ball than that used by the pros. because it is more easily compressed and runs better.

Don't give up. The first seven years are the worst. Who knows but you are just coming into your stride.

MILLIONS WILL BE WON AND LOST ON THE DERBY

LONDON, June 4. — (Associated Press). — On the occasion of the "Derby," England's most popular horse race, which will be run over the famous Epsom Downs June 6, more money will change hands than on any other sporting event in the world. It is estimated that on this one race $25,000,000 will be turned over.

The actual wagering on the race surpasses anything which takes place on several of the other big races here. It is an occasion when nearly everyone makes a bet, the amounts varying from the office boy's twopence to the wealthy man's thousand pounds.

But by far the greater amount of money involved is in the sweepstakes which are organized in connection with the event. Every office throughout the land has its list, and here again the amounts invested vary according to the means of the participants.

There are also several sweepstakes open to the public, the most popular of these being the Calcutta Sweep, which offers about $450,000 for the person who draws the winning horse. Then there is the London Stock Exchange Sweep with its first prize of $125,000, and the Dublin Hospital Sweep which pays 50,000 to the lucky winner. The tickets for these lotteries vary from $2.50 to $5.00, and were snapped up immediately they went on sale. They are now at a premium, and are only obtainable by paying enormous sums to those who happened to be lucky enough to secure them when first issued.

The gambling spirit is confined not only to people living in England, for Americans in different parts of the world have shown that they too love a little flutter, hence their friends in London and elsewhere have been inundated with requests to purchase as many tickets as possible on their behalf.

One American woman is said to have secured tickets for all the bigger sweepstakes, and should fortune smile upon her she may win nearly $1,000,000.

The Shasta Daisy

No one of Burbank's miracles in plant transformation is greater than that of transforming an ordinary daisy into the magnificent Shasta daisy, which sometimes reaches a diameter of eight inches. From the plebeian daisy to the aristocrat is a far call, but a few years of intelligent and properly directed effort accomplished what a million years of blind effort probably would not have done.

And here we may get a glimpse of what Burbank has done and what his successors will do: for as "of the making of books there is no end," so there can be no end, seemingly, of the inventions of man or of the improving of plant species. When it is possible to go to Japan or China or Siberia for a fruit with which to cross a native fruit in order to get a certain desirable quality, much may be accomplished. Under modern conditions of knowledge one may obtain in South Africa or South America seeds of a plant whose inflorescence possesses certain desiderata of color, fragrance, or arrangement, whose hardiness or beauty of form leaves nothing to be desired. Thus we see that the possibilities are infinite in number; for the whole world may be made to pay a tribute.

The history of the Shasta daisy illustrates this point. When Mr. Burbank went to California he took with him as a souvenir of boyhood days in New England, the well-known ox-eye daisy. Soon he conceived the idea of improving it. Under cultivation there was no perceptible change, but by hybridizing it with allied species two much larger and more robust species imported from Europe, he obtained worth-while results. The European species were somewhat unsightly due to leafy stems, whereas our common daisy has an almost leafless stem. The resultant hybrid was larger and had numerous flowers, but the flowers still had a slightly yellowish tinge. Year after year he watched the new flowers for one without the discordant yellow, but in vain. The new flowers were large, hardy, prolific and far different from any of their parents, but how obtain the perfect white? How, how? About this time he heard of a Japanese daisy inferior to these others in all respects save that it was pure white. Here was the opportunity. He obtained seeds of the Japanese daisy and although the first results were not reassuring the final product was the magnificent Shasta daisy, pure white, prolific, without leafage, and the stamina of the daisy of the New England of old, the stamina that has carried the chrysanthemum leucanthemum almost around the world in spite of all opposition.

Years of coaxing effort and kindly patience transformed an outcast into a pet. Many call it miracle or wizardry. As a matter of fact it is a kind of common sense in action.

SCIENCE SEEKS METHOD TO USE U. S. LIGNITE

MONTREAL, June 4 (United Press). —Science's quest for a method that will add lignite char to the available fuel supplies of the United States was described at a session of the Fuels Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers here today by O. P. Hood, chief mechanical engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

"The Bureau of Mines is investigating the possibilities of a program," said Hood, "which has for its main features an inexpensive carbonizing device and the use of the lignite char direct, without briquetting. If a market for the char can be developed, and the small mine can produce char, there would be provided means for a natural evolution of an industry that in time might realize the larger vision of briquetting and recovery of by products.

"Lignite char can best be described in a few words as a fuel rather near in analysis to anthracite coal but softer, with a little more volatile matter, and thus kindling easier. Whether a market can be developed for such a fuel at prices around five dollars a ton at the mine, remains to be shown, but it is at least encouraging to know that Germany used last year 400,000 tons of similar material for domestic heating and cooking.

"This fuel burns well with natural draft where a thin fuel bed, about one and a half inches in thickness can be maintained. Base burners, cook stoves, and other heating can be adapted to use the fuel satisfactorily. It makes a very clean fire, is smokeless, and the char is clean to handle. It is, however, slow in getting under way as compared to a gas range."

The greatest difficulty with our lignite is the fact that in nearly every district where it should be the natural fuel it is put in competition with high grade fuel, according to Hood, who continued:

"We are all spoiled by having been blessed with an abundance of the best, so that we are impatient with the limitations of lower grade fuels. If we had been obliged to go down 2,000 feet or more and win good coal from thin seams in scattered districts as they do in Europe, we would have long ago worked out a successful technique for utilizing our lignites. Canadian and North Dakota lignite must compete with anthracite and with Pittsburgh an Illinois bituminous coal; our Texas lig must compete with gas, oil, and Oklahoma bituminous coal.

"It is evident however, that there must be a price at which the lower-grade fuel will begin to be attractive. In round numbers the ratio is somewhere in the neighborhood of half the price of good coal. With the rising price of bituminous coal we are fast approaching the time when this ratio will be common."

BRITAIN FACES GRAVE PROBLEM IN INDIA TO-DAY.

One-Fifth of Population of the Globe Watching to See What the Government Does.

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, June 4.—"India and the British government are face to face in consideration of a very grave question. Upon its settlement one way or the other may depend the nature of their relations throughout the long years to come. It is impossible to exaggerate its importance. One-fifth the population of the globe and three-fourths the population of the British empire—in other words the Indians I represent—are watching to see what the government does."

The man who said this to me gravely—even solemnly—was Srinivasa Sastri, one of the most distinguished of Hindu statemen and scholars. He is here to present the grievances and demands of the Indians of Kenya colony in Africa.

Not Satisfied

Said Sastri:

"It is incoreect to say that after the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and the inauguration of the new scheme of partially representative government, India settled down to tranquility and satisfaction.

"India was not satisfied. Her tranquility after her tremendous mental and spiritual stir in hernon-co-operative movement led by Gandhi.

"The Mahatma is in prison and the non-co-operative movement has quieted down, but his teachings are still in the hearts of his people.

"During the great war we took very seriously the proclamation that the allies were fighting to make the world safe for democracy and that they believed in the rights of people to self-determination. We gave freely of men and money in common with all other portions of the British Empire. And we expected home rule in India, a government of India by Indians, equal rights all over the empire.

"We have been given partial home rule, but just the other day something happened that showed how partial it was.

"For decades it has been a grievance of the Indian people that with over 1500 miles of sea-coast and with easy acess to the sea and its salt, salt manufacture should be a government monopoly and that the government should exact a salt tax. The amount of this tax is not not enormous, but it hits all classes, including the very poor.

"Our people object to this tax levied by a government named by the British government just as your fellow country men in the American colonies objected to the tea tax. Recently the salt tax was pressed for by the Indian government, but denied by the Indian legislature. The viceroy slapped back the salt tax, not only without our consent but against our expressed wish. So much for self-government.

Status Irks

"Nor are we satisfied with our status in the empire. Not long since, as representative of India, I toured the self-governing dominions. In Australia and Canada our people haven't the franchise and I could secure no promise that they would be granted it.

"However, we are making our test case in the Crown colony of Kenya, Africa. Here the British government cannot dodge the issue by saying it can't interfere with the laws made self-governing dominions. Kenya is administered by the government here in London. What the government decrees, goes.

"The question for them to decide is whether Indians are to be considered as equals, enjoying full rights of British citizenship, or whether as inferiors. If the decision is against us, India will be convinced she has no self-respecting place in the empire and when she thinks that it is only a question of time—"

Sastri didn't finish his sentence. When I asked what he meant, he said it was hard to predict what an angry people who felt themselves deceived and tricked would do. And for the first time the government would find itself without friends, because this matter of citizenship in the empire interested all classes and all creeds. It even bridged the differences between Hindus and Moslems.

"ROUNDING THE HORN" THING OF THE PAST

By BRYANT POWERS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

OFF CAPE HORN (By mail to United Press).—"Rounding the Horn" is no longer the initation that gives a man the right to call himself a "deep water sailor." The completion of the Panama Canal and the practical disappearance of "wind-jammers" from the sea leaves the gloomy Cape almost as lonely today as it was four centuries ago, when first sighted by European eyes. So few ships round the Horn today that the Governemnt of Argentina, which has for years maintained lights on Observatory Island for the guidance of ships bound for "land's end," has decided to do away with the lighthouse.

Dark, forbidden and storm-swept, and battered by three oceans, Cape Horn is as wild and dangerous today as when it was first rounded by seamen in search of an easier passage to the Pacific than that offered by the Straits of Magellan.

Two or three generations ago, at the time when every available route to the land of gold, Cape Horn was oft rounded by vessels. To the seekers of gold it marked the end of the more dangerous part of their voyage, and gave promise of clear sailing to the gold fields. Once the sinister headland was safely passed, both passengers and younger seamen proudly laid claim to the title of "deep sea sailors."

In Three Oceans

Cape Horn itself is an abrupt headland rising about three hundred yards above the sea level. The Pacific, Atlantic and Antarctic Oceans meet at its base. Around it there are submerged rocks on all sides, where many ships have been wrecked. To the south except for one small group of islands, there is no land until well within the Antarctic Circle. To the west and east, except for one ot two small islands, there is nothing but water all around the world. To the north there is a maze of islands covered with forests and snow and glaciers, which comprise "Tierra del Fuego," the "Land of Fire."

Rounding the Horn on a sailing vessel has for three centuries been regarded as the adventure of adventures at sea. The coasts of Patagonia, and the islands of "Tierra del Fuego" have time and again been strewn with the wreckage of the ships. Treasure laden galleons of Spain, proud under the command of English pirates, clipper ships from New England have paid their toll to the frightful squalls that swirl around the rocky shores, going down with all hands or leaving a few marooned sailors on the inhospitable islands, where the chances were that they would either be killed by Indians or would die of starvation.

During most of the time since the discovery of the Straits of Magellan there have been very few lights to guide pilots. Even at present, the vessel rounding the Horn has little in the way of guidance. There have been at least three wrecks this year. With the disappearance of the light on Observatory Island, navigation will be still more dangerous.

NO ENQUIRY INTO DEATH ABANDONED DUMMER TP. CHILD

George Winslow, who was this morning brought to County Court by Provincial Constable Cookman in connection with the death of Ernest Franklin Drain, was released at noon following an investigation by Dr. T. W. H. Young, Coroner.

According to Winslow, he was unable to care for the two children, aged 7 and 12, after Mrs. Drain's death, the younger one being paralyzed and suffering from water on the brain and convulsions, and being unable to walk or talk.

On Friday last he drove the children to their aunt's home. Mrs. McIlmoyle was Mrs. Drain's sister, but Winslow asserts she refused to take the children into her home. He drove away from the house forty or fifty yards and put the children off the buggy. The elder boy carried his helpless brother to the house, Winslow says, and he saw them admitted. He then drove home.

Next morning the younger boy, Ernest, was found dead.

Dr. Young considered after hearing Winslow's story, that there was no necessity for a post mortem, and he has issued a permit to bury the child, who was this afternoon handed over to his father. Winslow returned to his home this afternoon.

Regarding the death of Mrs. Drain wife of James Wilson Drain, and mother of these two children, whose death was reported to have occurred under peculiar circumstances, the certificate for burial gave as the cause of death septic pneumonia, and she was buried in the Havelock cemetery, where the funeral of her child will take place to-morrow.

There was no charge against Geo. Winslow.

BISHOP'S LIGHT WELCOMES LINERS

LONDON, June 2. — (Associated Press).—Bishop's Light, rising from a foundation of jagged rock near the Scilly Islands; welcomes eastbound liners to the English Channel and at the same time gives grim warning of the nearby labyrinth of dangers. It stands guard over waters where rest the skeletons of more shipwrecks than in any other marine graveyard of the world.

The light is 160 feet above the sea level, yet the waves that break forever at the base of the rock constantly dash over its topmost masonry. So trying is the service at Bishop's Light that the three tenders are given frequent vacations ashore. Two months of duty with one month ashore is the rule.

During a recent spring storm the beams from Bishop's Rock came near to failing. The light weighs several tons, and revolves on supports resting in a circular trough of mercury, balanced so delicately a child may turn it by a touch of the finger. On this night the tower was so shaken by the heavy seas that much of the mercury was spilled out over the concrete floor of the light chamber. The three guards fell on their knees, scooped up the mercury in their hands and poured it back into the trough. Pursuing active puddles of quicksilver around a rough cement floor was not easy nor rapid work, and they finished finally with torn and bleeding hands.

If the tower of Bishop's Light ever crumbles the keepers there will not have the faintest chance for their lives. There is not even a foothold on the rough, slimy rock below them.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(Special.)—A hesitant attitude marked the opening of the security markets today reflected the uncertainty voiced by the commission houses over the week end.

In the stock market pressure on individual created a spotty condition in the first hour. Marland broke to a new low on the move at 42 1-4 on the offering of 235,000 additional shares at $40 a share. Consolidated Gas continued heavy due to the fact that Governor Smith of New York has signed the measure calling for $1 gas. Early in the session Studebaker and Baldwin registered gains but they soon lost them.

Steel Common also developed renewed heaviness after rallying more than a point to 96 in the initial dealings. The continued selling of the United States' Steel has done more to discourage public participation in the market than the decline in any other stock. Commission houses are receiving letters of inquiry daily from holders of Steel. Those asking questions cannot understand the weakness of the issue in the face of the prosperity in the Steel industry.

The head of one firm replied to a letter as follows: There is a big short interest in Steel Common. When the traders of the bull of the market wish to hedge they generally sell Steel Common. Then there has been selling of shareholders of long standing who do not like the dividend policy of the corporation. These two reasons in my opinion are responsible for the fact that the stock is now selling at it slowest price this year, notwithstanding a book value of $257 a share cash on hand of $320,000,000, and prospects that earnings for the quarter to end this month will run between 40 million and 45 million. Steel Common is selling twelve points below the price it was sold to employes a short time ago.

The stock has been made conspicuous by the lack of support of banking interests identified with the Steel Corporation.

SMALL'S WIFE GETS RIGHT TO PROBATE WILL

$2,000,000 AT STAKE

TORONTO, June 5.—(Special)—Mrs. Theresa Small, wife of Ambrose Small, the missing theatrical millionaire, has been now given the right by the High Court to probate the will of husband, thus distributing two million dollars.

The Appellate Division High Court gave judgment to-day permitting Mrs. Ambrose Small to swear to an affidavit. declaring her husband to be dead. This affidavit is preliminary to probating the will of the missing Toronto millionaire. At the trial Judge Coatsworth found against the petition of Mrs. Small and judgment to-day reverses his decision.

Think Small Dead

Appellate Judges expressed the opinion that Ambrose Small was dead or, in any event, every reasonable effort had failed to locate him. As a result of this decision he will of Mr. Small will be admitted to probate.

Ambrose Small, the Toronto theatre owner and millionaire, disappeared in December 1919, and has not been heard of since, despite all efforts to locate him. A reward of $50,000 was authorized by Mrs. Small for information regarding his whereabouts.

USE "GALLAGHER'S"!

AVOID OPERATIONS

Gall Stones, Kidney Stones, Gravel.

We claim 100 per cent. good results in the treatment of the above ailments. Every week reports come to the office of some person who has been saved the pain, risk and expense of an operation by the use of our Kidney Remedy and Blood Purifier. We have cases relieved six years ago and no return of the trouble.

A resident of this city, two months ago was told he would have to be operated upon for Gall Stones, to get relief. He took "Gallagher's" and has not had an attack since and is working every day. A farmer of Smith Township had to give up farming last year because of Kidney Stones, was told an operation was necessary. Last fall one of our representatives sold him the Kidney Remedy and Blood Purifier, and last week in calling at his home, found him back farming again with three small Kidney Stones in his possession.

This week the following unsolicited testimonial came to hand.

Deacon, Ont., May 16, 1923.
Dear Sirs,—
I have been a sufferer of Kidney trouble for thirty years, have tried quite a few doctors and used all kinds of patent medicines until last summer I took very sick. I went to the hospital and underwent an X-ray where they told me there was no cure for me only two operations. I then tried Gallagher's Blood Purifier and Kidney Remedy when after I passed two stones the size of a large bean. I now feel fine, please recommend this remedy to all sufferers of this kind.

Yours truly,
MR. NICHOLAS V. KRONZ.

A six months' treatment costs only $12.00.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(Canadian Press.) — Lone Police Patrolman Root to-day, with a drawn pistol, held back a mob of several hundred to enable William Mooney, street car motorman, to escape from an Upper East Side crowd which attacked him in response to the cries of Mrs. Solomon Silzerberg, whose two-yearold son had been killed by his car. The mother, with the mangled body of her boy in her arms, shouted that Mooney's carelessness was responsible for the tragedy.

PREM. BALDWIN REFUSES TO DEFINE BRITISH ATTITUDE

Unusual Procedure in the House of Commons Regarding the U. S. Supreme Court's Ship Liquor Ruling

LONDON, June 5.—(United Press.)—Premier Stanley Baldwin refused to answer questions concerning the British attitude regarding the United States' Supreme Court's liquor ruling during the interpellations in the British House of Commons to-day.

This is an unusual procedure, because the Government usually answers questions of the Parliamentarians unless it can plead to the necessity for secrecy.

MAIL DELIVERY IN N. MONAGHAN

Prospects for Carrier Service to Such Sections as Are Adjacent to City.

With the cooperation of the North Monaghan council, G. N. Gordon, M. P., for West Peterborough, has lively hopes for the establishment by the Federal Government, of an extension of the citys present mail carrier service throughout the districts of the township adjacent to the city.

This is a long felt want and its consummation would undoubtedly be appreciated by residents affected at its full value.

But there are certain reasonable conditions which must be complied with before such a delivery service is instituted, which conditions constitute improvements embodied n the followng letter from Mr. Gordon to Bruce Johnston, Clerk of North Monaghan:

"Dear Mr. Johnston: ,

"For some time I have been seeking to have established in that part of the Township of North Monaghan lying adjacent to the City of Peterborough, around the southwest corner thereof, an extension of the mail carrier service of the city, and I think this is possible to be done with the cooperation of the Township Council, and the residents of that district.

"I understand at the present time the mail reaches this district at the post office about one o'clock, and the residents in this district require to go for their mail, so they have not even as efficient service as the people farther out in the country have where they have Rural Mail delivery.

"The conditions required to obtain service are briefly as follows:

1. A sidewalk or good cinder path provided for service.
2. That the houses be consecutively numbered.
3. That the streets be named and street signs placed in sections.

"An inspection of this district shows that the conditions have been satisfied so far as the following streets are concerned:

1. Romaine street.
2. Lundy's Lane.
3. Brown street.
4. Chamberlain Street.
5. Part of High street.

"The following section of the township needs a service also, and has neither sidewalks nor cinder paths provided, nor the houses numbered:

1. St. Mary's street.
2. Mervin Road.
3. Forester street.
4. Howden street.
5. May street.
6. Chamberlain street, between High street and Western avenue, and—
7. Western avenue.

"This latter district is well settled in parts, and from what I have learned the residents there are anxious to have a delivery letter carrier service.

"Would you please bring this matter to the attention of the Reeve and council and ascertain whether the conditions can be complied with to assure the extension of the city letter carrier service? I might say that the area is roughly bounded by the Monaghan Road on the East, Western avenue on the West, St. Mary's street on the South, and Frank street and an extension of Frank street on the North."

Sixteen Persons Lost in Cyclone

MILAN, June 5.—(Special.)—Sixteen persons were killed in a cyclone which recently swept the Ossala Valley, according to the official reports of Deputies Pestalozza and Rossini, who went into the devastated region to inspect the damage. They telegraphed Premier Mussolina asking for immediate government aid, especially food, shelter, tents and bridging materials. The loss total seventeen million.

MILLIONS AWAIT BIG HORSE RACE

British Minds Concentrated on Well Being of Thoroughbred Horses Entered for Derby.

LONDON, June 5 (Special to The Examiner) — The health and well-being of a score of thoroughbred horses is to-day a far more important thing in the minds of millions of Britishers than the possibility of war in the East, the improvement of relations with France, or the price of beef.

The questions that are in men's mouths to-day are: "Has Town Guard fully recovered?" "What chance has Papyrus got?" "Is Ismy fit?"

They are the preliminaries of the running of the world's greatest horse race on the classic course at Epsom Downs, and this year the millions who will journey to see the Derby is expected to be greater than ever.

Methods of Control.

Every vehicle that can make the journey has already been hired to make the trip, and the traffic experts of Scotland have put the finishing touches on their arrangements. This year they have planned new methods to control the largest crowd the world has ever seen, and to eliminate the congestion that was noticeable last year.

Aeroplanes again will watch the roads leading to th Downs, and they will direct the movement by wireless instruments the messages being received by a special police stationed at strategic points, who, on hearing of any congestion, will immediately rush motor cycle squads to the point in question, and untangle the mixup.

The news that His Majesty King George will be unable to attend owing to illness of his aunt, is greatly regretted by all classes, as his presence at the Derby is always an additional attraction.

Nevertheless, the absence of the King will not dampen the enthusiasm of the crowds of merrymakers, many of whom only attend this one race each year.

All the candidates have been well backed with an unprecedented volume of betting.

Town Guard is still the favourite, but tens of thousands will make a bet of a shilling to a thousand pounds on the favourite of their own selection.

SQUELCHED A CONVICTION BY COUNTY JUDGE

AT VICTORIA HOTEL

TORONTO, June 5.— (Canadian Press.)—There was a seizure of alleged whiskey at Victoria Hotel, Dunnville, during the fair there last fall, and subsequent conviction of the proprietor, Frank Hyde, who was charged with having liquor in a place other than a residence.

This conviction was afterwards squelched by the county judge and after argument in the Appellate Court here to-day, the original conviction was restored, the Judges finding that it should not have been squelched by the County Judge.

FORMER ALDERMEN VISITED COUNCIL

"I might be invited by the people to come back again. so I thought I'd come up and see what the Council was doing and not lose touch altogether," said ex-Alderman J. J. Turner who with ex-Alderman R. N. Jones attended last nights Council meeting and followed the discussions from the public gallery.

Mayor Taylor acknowledged the presence of his former colleagues by inviting both of them to say a few words. Mr. Turner congratulated the Mayor and the Aldermen on the expeditious way in which they had handled the business of the meeting which, by the way, was adjourned with the slate clean shortly after half past ten.

"The Council Chamber looks neat and clean and homelike. You know when you come back home things do look good bright and good. Everything seemed so natural that I had to restrain ex-Ald. Jones from raising his hand when the Council was voting."

Mr. Jones said he was glad to be back again for an evening with the Council, and he was pleased to know that the new Aldermen were doing so well. Some time, he said, he might be back again with the Council whose associations had always been pleasant.

PROSPECTS FOR BUMPER CROPS ARE EXCELLENT

RAIN WAS NEEDED

CALGARY, Alta., June 5 (Canadian Press). — With the news of the floods subsiding in all parts of Alberta, a new and brighter angle was given the weather story in Alberta last night, with declarations that the crop prospects now are excellent for bumper yields

At Bassano, a dry section of the country to the east, comes a report that there was a total precipitation since the floods of seven and one-half inches of rain, and that the prospects were never better.

In the south, further rains were reported during the day, and in one or two localities some damage to the young grain was sustained.

ATTEMPTS MURDER AND SHOOTS SELF

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., June 5 (Canadian Press). — Mistaking Mrs. Stephen Kotsay for his wife, Rocco Die Domenico to-day shot her through the right shoulder, and then took his own life.

She is in a serious condition.

Domenico had been suffering from nervous disorder for some time, and according to the coroner, wished to take his wife into the next world with him.

He was standing at the top of the stairs in his road house on the Tuckahoe Road, when Mrs. Kotsay appeared at the bottom. He immediately fired, and rushing into his own room, sent a bullet through his head.

Rotary Plow Expected to Revolutionize the Farm

INSPECTING THE "WONDER PLOW."

ELMHURST, Ill., June 5.—Hamshaw's rotary plow, a new invention, in the opinion of farmers, has done the "impossible."

Recent tests here show that no matter how tough the soil, the new plow leaves the entire seedbed pulverized so finely that all the soil will pass through a sieve with one-fourth inch meshes!

Fletcher T. Hamshaw conceived the device which, experiments have conclusively proven, eliminates 90 per cent. of the farmer's work in plowing.

The purpose of the machine is not only to plow the soil, but to "order" it. That is, to prepare it for the immediate reception of seeds. The accompanying photo shows a close-up view of the drum. This drum does the trick. It is studded with a series of plow shears and tears into the soil.

Under ordinary conditions farmers found that only about 29 per cent. of the soil was pulverized finely enough after plowing to permit seeding, thu snecessitating eight to ten different operations.

With the new machine, it is claimed, 96 per cent. of the soil is pulverized in the first operation.

One of the features of Hamshaw's invention is that all surface vegetation is chopped up and mixed thoroughly with the seedbed 13 inches deep.

FRENCH CABINET AGITATED OVER PLOT BY ROYALISTS

PARIS, June 5.—(Special.)—The French Cabinet met to-day to discuss the attitude of the deputies of the Left who are determined to force further public discussion of the alleged Royalist plot against the Republic.

These members of the Left have resolved to bring up the subject at the first opportunity in the Chamber of Deputies and demand to know what the Government is doing to break up the Monarchist organization.

Deputy Daudet, Royalist leader, in an interview in the L'Actione Francaise, declared that Premier Poincare's opponents were taking advantage of the opportunity to overthrow the Government.

CONTRACT LET FOR PAVEMENT

Council Approves Board of Works Decision Accepting Tender of John Carroll-Almost Unamimous

The paving of Hunter Street east from Burnham Street to the Westclox factory and George Street from the C. P. R. to Romaine Street was finally and formally authorized by the Council last night, after they had ratified the report of the Board of Works recommending the acceptance of John Carroll's tender.

Ald. Stocker raised the only dissentient voice. He was opposed to awarding the contract for the work and contended that the city should perform its own work through the City Engineer's department.

"We've done other work by day work" he said, "and I see no reason why we shouldn't do this."

Ald. Stocker moved that the clause in the report designating Mr. Carroll be struck out, and as he had read the report as chairman of the Board of Works the propriety of his motion was questioned by Ald. Phelan. Before this point was determined Ald. Morrison presented the motion that the Board's report be adopted in its entirety; Ald. Phelan seconded it and all the members but Ald. Stocker gave their assent.

Ald. Crowe spoke at some length explaining his support for the motion to let the contract now to Mr. Carroll.

"Personally I am of the same opinion as Ald. Stocker about having the work done by day-work, and the city getting established doing it in the future" said Ald. Crowe. "I believe that now is the time we should make a start, but the work has been blocked and held up three times, the city is getting behind in its street pavement, and in the circumstances I don't want to be obstinate or contrary. I do think that we should have the work done this summer."

Ald. Crowe said that in conversation with City Engineer Parsons yesterday he had learned that Mr. Parsons in his bid for the paving had provided for a guarantee of the work, also for machinery and taking into consideration also the saving for inspection the city's price figured down with those subtractions to one cent less than Mr. Carroll's Ald. Crowe regretted that he hadn't that information to give the Council previously, for he believed that it might have changed their decision.

Ald. Stocker said there was nothing personal in his attitude but the city had the engineering staff and he was convinced that the city itself should undertake the work.

Ald. Fife supported the motion, but said he was disappointed that the Council was laying concrete on both streets. As a test for the future guidance of the city he believed it would have been better to have used concrete on one street and asphaltic concrete on the other. The durability and general efficiency of the two types of pavement could then be ascertained under every day use.

Ald. Turner expressed his satisfaction with concrete pavement especially in view of the saving of $14,330.98 or about one-third the cost of asphalt according to the lowest tender in that class. Mr. Carroll's contract amount to $40,676.32. Ald. Crowe was asked whether this covered extras, and was informed that responsibility for that detail rested on the City Engineer who had drafted the specifications.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR TRAIN REPOTED AS WRECKED

FLINT, Mich., June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Telephone message to the Flint Journal from Owosso, said that a report had been received there that four persons had died as the result of the wreck of Grand Rapids-Ionia Knights Templars special near Durand.

Newspaperman at Durand telephoned that he had seen at least 25 injured when he visited the scene of the wreck.

Fell Dead While at Work on an Address

STRATFORD, June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—While sitting this morning in his home writing notes in his chapter of Reeve of Fullarton township for the County Council meeting, which opened to-day, Luther F. Turner, dropped suddenly to the floor dead. Heart failure was the cause of death. He was very prominent in public life of the county and was 71 years of age.

CHEMONG ROAD IS MODEL FOR CITY

Heads of Industries in South End Complain of Unsafe Condition of Park Street.

The disrepair of Park Street from Charlotte to Landsowne Street was the subject of two appeals to the Council last night from manufacturers in the south end who deplored its condition for traffic of all kinds and urgently requested that it be given immediate attention.

W. R. Breyfogle, general manager of the De Laval Company, wrote yesterday as follows:

"It has been a matter of great regret to the manufacterers of this part of the city that Park Street has been allowed to get into such a miserable condition. Practically from Charlotte street to Lansdowne this roadway is a mass of holes. No grater punishment could be inflicted on anyone than to have them drive a car at from 12 to 15 miles an hour from Charlotte Street to Lansdowne. The car would be wrecked and the nerves of the driver likewise. Not only is this true in connection with the lighter or passenger cars, of which there are hundreds going by here daily, but the teaming traffic, which is heavy, is also very seriously inconvenienced.

Now it seems to me that the big street scraper put to work on Park Street, especially after a rain such as we have had this morning, would soon fill up the little holes and work a wonderful improvement on the road surface at a minimum of expense. I have spoken to Mr. Stocker several times and have had his semi-assurance that they were going to get after this, but there has been nothing done and here it is almost the middle of the year.

Park Street, to put it mildly, is simply a disgrace, inso far as it being a roadway is concerned. Please endeavor to have the Council take action immediately to put this roadway in shape. Surely what the farming brethern on the Chemong Road have done with an ordinary road scraper is all that is necessary, together with the imposition of a little gravel here and there to make a first class roadway out of what was a none too good thoroughfare. Let us have the equivalent action in connection with Park Street."

Raybestos Heard From

A similar criticism was recieved from the Raybestos Company who said that ParkStreet was almost impossible for hauling goods. Both communications were referred to the Board of Works.

DISPUTE OVER ESTIMATES IS LEFT TO FATE

Mayor Taylor Cast Deciding Vote, Refusing to Delegate Committee to Wait on Police Com.

STANDING PAT

It fell to the lot of Mayor Taylor last night to decide and pronounce the Council's rejoinder to the Police Commission in the controversy that has centred upon the Police Commission's estimates, and with the aldermen evenly divided on the question of policy, His Worship, no doubt remembering that he was also a member of the Police Commission, said: "I'd like to have compromised with the Commission, but now they'll have to keep in the appropriation. I am standing pat, and I vote yea."

The Mayor vote was cast in favour of an amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report of the Committee of the Shole Council.

The report included the clause: "Your Committee held a conference with the members of the Board of Commissioners of Police in regard to the appropriation for the Police Department for this year, and appointed a committee, consisting of Ald. Meyers and Fife to wait on the Board and further consider the matter with a view to a compromise."

The amendment by Ald. Crowe, seconded by Ald. Phelan, suggested that this clause be struck out, and the division on the amendment was:

Nays: Aldermen Fife, Stocker, Meyers, Morrison, and McIntyre.

In moving the amendment, Ald. Crowe said the Council had made an effort to reach a solution with the Commissioners, and he considered "we would be lowering our dignity, if we have any, by going after them now."

Ald. Phelan recalled that the Council had been unanimous when the Police Department's appropriation had been reduced to $25,000.

"We'd be weakening our hand now if we appoint that small committee to wait on the Board," he said "Let it go its course, and when the $25,000 is expended and no more cheques are issued, it will then be up to them. We can make a test case of it, and find out where we're at. Legal opinion has been both ways. When it gets to $29,000 a year for the police, I think it is time to call a halt."

"I have it on good authority," said Ald Meyers, "that they would compromise, and if we can settle this matter harmoniously now, we would not have the same trouble another year."

Ald. Maher: They ignored us in the past and I'm opposed to any committee going to the Commission. The City Solicitor interpreted it one way and they laid great stress on that; but we also had the opinion of the Attorney-General and the Judge seemed to regard the Attorney-General as only a second-rater.

Mayor Taylor cut short the debate and called for the vote, and the report of the Committee of the Whole was adopted a few minutes later, but minus its major clause.

IN MEMORIAM

CROWE.—In loving memory of Mrs. Charles Crowe, who passed away one year ago, 5th June, 1922.

One year has passed away,
Our hearts still sore;
As time goes on we miss her more.
Her loving smile, her welcome face,
No one can fill her vacant place.
Her memory is as fresh to-day
As in the hour she passed away.
She departed without bidding us farewell,
And silently went home to Heaven to dwell.
One of the best that God could lend,
A loving mother and a faithful friend.

—From Husband's Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In my heart your memory lingers
sweetly, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother I do not think of you.
Dear mother I loved you in life and I love you in death just as well.

—Hettie.

IN MEMORIAM.

In ever loving rememberance of my boy, Jack Watkiss, who lost his life through neglect and proper safeguarding of life at No. 7 lock, five years ago, Peterborough, Ont., June 5th, 1918:

That tell how the heart is torn,
But the passionate tears of after years
And rememberance silently born.

Rememberance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall
Love's rememberance outlasts all,
His memory is as dear to-day
As in the hour he passed away.

—Mother.

ITALIAN SHIPS WILL STOP AT CANADIAN PORT

All Liquor Will Be Unloaded at Halifax in Order to Escape U.S. Prohibition Laws.

TRIP TO BE WET.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Ships of the Navigazione Generale Italiano, an Italian Line, will put into Halifax, both on the east and the west bound passages, to load and unload liquor carried aboard so as not to violate the United States laws, J. W. Beihar, the general manager, announced yesterday.

While no announcement was made by other lines as to the means they would take to keep within the law, rigid enforcement of which begins next Sunday, it was said in maritime circles that other foreign lines were expected to make calls at Canadian ports to load and unload stores of liquor.

The White Star and Cunard Lines have announced that they will comply with the law but have given no intimation of how they will do it. Fred G. Heller, General Passenger Agent of the Royal Mail Steamship Lines has said that this line would also keep within the law.

The Navigazione Generale Italiano sells tickets that include wine in the fare. By touching at Halifax to unload and load liquor stores the round trip with the exception of four days will be wet. The N.G.I. maintains a fast passenger liner service between New York, Naples and Genoa.

OBSERVATORY ON ROCK.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 5.—(Associated Press)—A subterranean seismic observatory which probably will be the most completely equipped in America will be hewn in solid rock underlying the campus of the new St. Ignatius college in Fairmount Heights, Rev. Frederick L. Odenbach, S.J., professor of natural sciences and curator of the college observatory, announces.

"The rock underlying the new campus will give me a perfect foundation for my pendulums and seismograph instruments," Father Odenbach said. "With this I shall be able to record the slightest tremor without the interference of local surface disturbances.

"At present a passing street car or motor truck makes its impression on some of my more delicate pendulums."

The robbers jumped into a motor car and made off without returning the fire.

NOT A SUPPORTER OF T. TOOMS, M.P.P.

Robert Scott of Smith Clearly Defines His Position as a Progressive.

Mr. Robert Scott, of Smith Township, who was prominent in the debate regarding Mr. Tooms' candidature at the Progressive meeting on Saturday, to-day informed The Examiner that he is not in favour of supporting Mr. Tooms under any circumstances

In view of the possibility of misunderstanding his reported statements at that meeting, Mr. Scott wishes to state positively that he will not vote for Mr. Tooms, whether he receives the support of the Progressive Party or not.

CATTLE NOT SO FIRM AS LAST WEEK.

Butcher About 25c Lower — Export Easier — Hogs Lower.

TORONTO, June 5. — There was a halt, may be only temporary, in the recent advance in cattle prices yesterday. There was a heavy run, and following very heavy buying during the past two weeks, the packers evidently decided that they could afford to let up a little in their eager quest for cattle.

At all events, the demand was slow in proportion to supply, and prices in the butcher section were quoted a good 25 cents lower than a week ago.

Some of the choicest butcher lots that last week would have gone at $7.75 to $8.00 yesterday were slow at $7.50 to $7.75. Decline in other grades of butchers in proportion except perhaps for choice baby beeves, a few of these going steady at $8.50 to $9.00.

In the export section there was little change in actual quotations, but buyers were a little more critical as to quality. Prices ranged from $8.00 up to $8.85 for choicest tops.

Cows and bulls held barely steady. Calf trade was comparatively strong, tops going $11.00 to $12.00.

Sheep and lambs steady.

It looks like a slump pending in hog prices. Yesterday's hogs sold at last week's closing price of $9.25 f.o.b. and $100.00 fed and watered. Bids for yesterday's loadings for delivery in to-day's market, $8.75 f.o.b., and for to-day's loadings $8.25 f.o.b., bid prices.

CONDITIONS IN AUSTRIA BEST IN ALL EUROPE

Bankers Are Preparing to Float Big Loan For Reconstruction Purposes—Currency Stabilized.

GOOD REPORTS.

LONDON, June 5.—(Canadian Press).—Montagu C. Norman Governor of the Bank of England and Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Company yesterday reviewed the latest first hand reports on conditions in Austria, brought from Vienna, by Dr. Zimmerman League of Nations High Commissioner for Austria. The bankers are completing the arrangements for floating the loan for Austria.

Mr. Norman expressed the highest satisfaction with conditions in the country, and added:

"The reconstruction of Austria becomes more and more necessary as the Ruhr situation becomes more acute. The fact that the Austrian currency has been the stablest in Europe since its stabilization last September is encouraging at the moment of launching this reconstruction loan, which is a form of international collaboration new in the world's history."

It was an extremely encouraging report Dr. Zimmerman had to make on Austria's rapid rehabilitation. He said that during the past ten months the country had undergone a complete change, new life and new hope had come to the Austrian people and the foundations of a new prosperity had been laid through a plan of constructive international effort new in the world's history.

The scheme, in broad lines, was first. Austria's political and economic independence guaranteed by all its neighbors; second, a plan for restoring the equilibrium of the budget in two years by a heavy reduction inexpenditure and an increase in revenues. This involved reorganization of the whole State administration, the dismissal of 100,000 officials and the creation of new taxation; and, third, internal and foreign credits had to be found to cover budget deficits during the reconstruction period.

One of the first conditions of the plan was the complete suppression of the money printing presses and the creation of a bank of issue, while, in addition to the security of revenues from customs and the tobacco monopoly, an international guarantee would be organized. Dr. Zimmerman said that during the six months, he had been in Vienna he has observed complete unanimity on the part of the Austrian Government and people of foreign states and of private capital to make the scheme a success. The number of ministries, had been reduced from eleven to eight, nearly 27,000 officials dismissed and reorganization of the railways was under way. Dr. Zimmerman said he had introduced a system of monthly budget control under which all funds, both Austrian and foreign, devoted to rehabilitation are placed under his own control The budget deficit which last October amounted to 570,000,000,000 paper crowns had been reduced in the past five months to just under a monthly average of 339,000,000,000.

Dr. Zimmerman said the stabilization of the crown since September has resulted in the restoration of confidence in the national currency and an enormous increase in savings deposits from 2,000,000 gold crowns in September to 18,000,000 at the end of April while the shares of banks and industrial enterprises all were rising and Austria was rapidly recovering its old position as the Clearing House for Central Europe. Vienna no longer was a starving city but was thriving and full of life and energy, with crowded shops, increasing trade and industry and the working classes more prosperous and contented.

BOY WHIRLED TO DEATH AT CARMEL

Serious Accident Near Millbrook Last Evening —Whitney Challice Was Victim.

MILLBROOK, June 5—A serious accident occurred at Carmel last evening resulting in the death of Whitney Challice, aged fourteen years. The deceased was employed in Janes veneer mill about a mile and a half west of the station. Between five and six o'clock last evening it was necessary to stop the mill to adjust a pulley. While this was in progress and the mill again under way the boy's clothing became entangled in the shafting and he was whirled to his death. Dr. H. A. Turner of Millbrook was summoned and he decided an inquest was unnecessary. Six or eight men under the foremanship of Archie Lunn, were employed in the mill at the time. The deceased was a son of Fred Challice of Carmel. The funeral will be held to-morrow.

Changes Demanded By Traction Officials.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—A seven per cent fare on the local line of the Niagra St. Catharines and Toronto railway, together with protection against busses and jitneys is contained in an ultimatum to the town of Merritton by General Superintendent E. W. Oliver who otherwise declares that he will recommend to the executive of the Federal owned road that the existing franchise in the town be surrendered. The franchise in question has some six years to run. This franchise declares Mr. Oliver is so burdensome imposing conditions as to fares and paving of track allowances that they will be unable to carry on.

JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Mrs. Evans Freed from Female Weakness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and

I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have your health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought it should cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1604 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The reason is given in letters like these, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

FRENCH REFUSE TO SAIL ON DRY SHIPS TO U. S. A.

Stokers and Firemen Will Call a General Strike Unless Guaranteed Two Liters of Wine a Day.

WHILE IN NEW YORK.

PARIS, June 5. — (Canadian Press.) — A general strike of the stokers and firemen on the steamship Lafayette, sailing from Havre for New York on June 9, and on all other French ships scheduled to leave for the United States after that date is threatened unless the men receive assurances that the two litres of wine to which they are entitled under the French merchant marine law will be forthcoming while they are in New York harbor. This decision was reached at the headquarters of the Union of Seafaring Workers, yesterday.

A full meeting of the delegates to the firemen's and stockers' union will be held here on Wednesday, when ratification is expected of an ultimatum drawn up by its executive committee, giving the French Line the choice of filling the Lafayette's wine tanks as usual or suffering a strike.

The French Line, aware of the movement, is withholding its final decision for the present, but it is stated that the Lafayette will sail Saturday with her full quota of "vin rouge ordinaire" for the crew.

Meanwhile the Minister of Merchant Marine has been in constant conference with the Ministry of Commerce drawing up a plan of agreement governing the status of French merchantmen while in the port of New York and this will be submitted to Premier Poincare for presentation to Washington. The spirit of the note is an attempt to reach an amicable agreement with the United States Government, but the basic principle of the French demands is that the membersof the crews must have their two litres of wine daily.

"French ships in foreign ports are French soil, according to recognized international law, and therefore French laws must apply," the note will say in substance. It is understood that it will add that all French vessels will be held amenable to visits by accredited Government officials before entering United States waters.

The shipping interests in Paris, awaiting the decisions of the Government and their own employees, are silent, and, beyond saying that French ships will sail from Havre supplied with their regular quota of wine, officials yesterday would vouchsafe no other information.

There is, however, no intention of making reprisals.

"How can we start reprisals against Americans, who are bringing their gold to France?" asked one of the highest officials of the French Line, in response to questions from newspapermen. He added, in reply to other queries, that "under no circumstances will French Line ships call at Halifax for the purpose of discharging their liquor supply." To do so, he pointed out, would mean prolonging the crossing two days, and the expense and inconvenience to the passengers entailed would be much larger than the benefits to be derived therefrom.

Historic House Was Partially Burned

QUEBEC, Que., June 5.—(Canadian Press.)— The Maizerets farmhouse, dating back to the early days of the province, was in part destroyed by fire Sunday. The property belongs to the Quebec Seminary and the whole of the west portion of the building was wiped out, only the charred walls remaining. The remainder of the building was saved but it also was considerably damaged. The origin of the fire is attributed to some one smoking on the premises, a habit which is strictly forbidden.

The destroyed part of the building dates back in 1850 but the other part was built in 1777 on the ruins of another seminary built in the days of New France. This was used as headquarters for the American troops during the sige of Quebec in 1775 who after their defeat set it on fire.

RUSSIAN SEES END OF SOVIET IN SHORT TIME

FIGHTING SINCE 1916.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 5. Canadian Press. — General S. D. Markauloff, the former head of the White Army in Russia, accompanied by his wife and daughter, were passengers on the liner Empress of Asia, arriving here this morning from the Orient. The general, who with the exception of the last eight or nine months, has seen incessant warfare since the beginning of 1916, is here with his family from Harbin, Manchuria, where he made his home after the dissolution of the anti-Bolsheviki forces in Russia in the Fall of last year.

Today, he said, he foresaw the end of the Soviet regime in 1924. "I am told in letters from Moscow that the end will come this year," he said, "but I do not think so myself. I am convinced that the Soviet rule will come to an end but I do not think it will come until next year."

REFUSING THE RECALL.

The recall continues to bob up at U. F. O. nominating conventions, and while no definite information is at hand, it is known that some Farmer candidates have been willing to accept this chain around their necks as a necessary evil attendant upon nomination.

One outstanding candidate who has refused to be bound is Hon. R. H. Grant.

Had his refusal been inspired because of opposition to the principle involved it would have won applause for the Minister of Education from the very many electors who regard the recall system as antagonistic to the spirit of British parliamentary practice.

Mr. Grant, however, appears to have been willing to swallow the principle of the recall—he merely objected to the particular form in which it was presented to him.

He was ready to resign if 60 per cent. of the members of the U. F. O. in Carleton County demanded his resignation, but he drew the line at pledging himself to retire if 60 per cent. of the electors in the riding indicated by their signatures that they wanted him to take that step.

Most people who have given the matter a thought would have had more regard for the Minister of Education if he had come out boldly and declared that he would not sign a recall pledge on any basis because he did not believe in such an arrangement.

AN ILL-MATED TEAM.

That there should be differences of opinion between Farmers and Labour in West Peterborough, or anywhere else for that matter, is not to be wondered at—the only surprise is that the alliance has held together as firmly as it has.

The weddnig of the Agrarian party and the Independent Labour party was merely a marriage of convenience—not a love match.

The farmer complains of the high cost of manufactured goods, and, on the other hand, the low prices he is able to get for the products of his farm.

The Canadian Countryman expresses the opinion of the average farmer very neatly in the statement that "on the average 85 per cent. of the price of a manufactured product goes for wages, so that it is an economic impossibility for the price of things which farmers buy to fall materially until the wages paid to urban labour comes down."

Labour, on the other hand, is not willing to surrender any advantage in wages it holds.

The farmers want a long working day—labour insists on an eight-hour day, and would welcome even shorter hours.

In these most important points the two elements of the present alliance are utterly at variance, and there would never have been an entente between two factions whose interests are mutually antagonistic had not political expediency cracked the whip over both of them.

They are an ill-mated team, and no wonder the apple-cart is upset now and then.

SAVING THE CHILDREN.

Some significant figures were given by Dr. A. W. McPherson yesterday in reporting to the local Rotary Club on the addresses heard at the recent meeting in Lindsay when work on behalf of crippled children was under discussion.

Dr. McPherson declared that statistics presented at that gathering and representing a survey of many communities indicated that two or three children in every one thousand of population were crippled.

That would mean that in Peterborough there are approximately some sixty or seventy crippled youngsters under the age of fourteen.

It was further claimed that in the majority of such cases, if medical and surgical treatment were given in time, it would be possible to effect a cure or at least to ensure for the child a chance to earn his own livelihood and to enjoy some of the pleasures available for those of robust health.

There is, therefore, an evident need for a strong effort to save these unfortunate children, and the announcement that the Rotary Club is directing its energies towards the finding of the best possible plan for this work will be a welcome one.

If there is anything that can be done for these little ones—and expert opinion is that very much can be done if a start is made soon enough—it is a matter for community rejoicing that an organization for the reclaiming of Peterborough's crippled children is under way.

WINDSHIELD RULES.

If there are careless motorists—and the casualty list proves that there are many of them—and if there are discourteous drivers—and personal experience has proven to most of us that their name is legion—the fault in either instance cannot very well be left upon the door-step of the newspapers.

A glance over the editorial columns of Ontario's dailies these days shows that about as much attention is being paid to instructing motorists as is devoted to the Provincial election.

The Examiner does not want to be continually preaching on this subject, and yet there seems to be so much need of driving home the necessity of more care and more courtesy in the handling of automobiles that it is difficult to refrain.

One paper refers to the speeder, the glare-light fiend, the cut-out cult and the horn-player, and we have, too, many of each type in Peterborough.

We have drivers who pay little or no attention to the rights of others—who are road hogs, who do not mind splashing pedestrians at crossings, and who seem to take a supreme delight in proving just how great a nuisance a car in the hands of a thoughtless motorist can be.

Various organizations, in addition to the newspapers, have tried their hand at reformation, and the best set of rules the Examiner has seen has been issued by the United States Automobile Merchants' Association, the intention being that the precautions shall be pasted on the windshield of every car.

Peterborough motorists will find the list interesting. Here it is:

1. Respect the right of pedestrians.
2. Cheerfully obey the traffic officers. They protect you as well as pedestrians.
3. Keep to the right of the road.
4. When turning begin bearing in towards turn at least a block away.
5. Go slowly around corners.
6. Give pedestrians plenty of room—if in doubt, stop.
7. Read the motor vehicle law and the traffic regulations.
8. On slippery roads drive with extreme caution.
9. A child on the highway is a danger signal. Slow up—if in doubt, stop.
10. Reckless drivers are the enemies of careful motorists.

POLICE METHODS.

The violent death of Leo Rogers, the desperado, near North Bay at the hands of a number of Provincial police, again emphasizes the futility of violent and lawless deeds. Rogers, the assassin of two Ontario constables, was overtaken by Nemesis in the form of their avenging comrades. His conduct had been wanton in the extreme. In order to escape the penalty for a lesser crime he stained his soul with murder, insuring his punishment on the gallows if he had been captured.

In one sense it is to be regretted that Rogers was not apprehended, brought to trial, and formally condemned, so as to vindicate the majesty of the law. In the enforcement of order and the punishment of evil doers, the guiding principle should be the bringing of the offender into the court alive. It has been the success in this difficult art in the administration of justice that has won for the Royal Canadian Police Force, formerly the Northwest Mounted, such enduring renown.

Another aspect of the search for Rogers calls for ample investigation. It is the murder of the second police officer. The first assassination is explainable. The constabulary was unaware of the desperation in his character. The death of the first officer changed Rogers into an outlaw with the price of blood on his head. It should have then received recognition on the part of the authorities that the man would refuse to perform no act of violence to avoid his capture and ultimate execution. Nevertheless, the second officer needlessly exposed his breast to the assassin's bullet in invading the home of the desperado with insufficient precautions. No particular blame should devolve on the murdered officer, who was only trying to do his duty. The responsibility, if any, should devolve on those responsible for the training of police forces. It is plain that something is lacking in their instruction from the ability of Rogers after the second murder to escape through a cordon from his home.

In training Provincial police officers, they should be drilled into the habit of avoiding rashness in exposing their persons to the bullets of desperate men. On occasions, a display of coolness and absence of fear has had excellent effect in overawing evil-doers, but on other occasions, as with Rogers, such conduct is foolhardy.

Formerly in the British army the soldiers were forced to stand in brilliant regimentals, fully exposed to the fire of the enemy. The defeat of Braddock, so familiar to every schoolboy, was in the main the result of this tactic. On a later day the Duke of Wellington introduced the system of concealed tactics. It has now been developed into a supreme art and saved the lives of millions in the war. The suggestion derivable from the benefits that have accrued from the alteration in military methods is valuable for application to the training of police. The teaching of soldiers to save their lives as much as possible has not dimtnished their valor. Neither would it decrease the efficiency of the police. The public has some responsibility for the lives of its servants.

An inquiry should therefore begin into the conduct of the constabulary in the pursuit of Rogers with a view to determine the means for modernizing police methods as the tactical training of soldiers has developed. The matter should also receive careful consideration from the aspect of how such offenders can be captured and brought to justice. The disposal of criminals by shooting them in pistol and rifle duels has been a feature of American police methods. Its results have not been happy, but have rather tended to increase deeds of violence. In such encounters the desperado has often chances of killing his pursuers and escaping arrest and the penalty.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Three weeks from today will be a sad morning after for a good many Ontario candidates.

The Border Cities Star says that many Windsor motorists have no conception of what courtesy means. Our brother must have been standing too close to a mud puddle.

Strange to say, the fact that Controller Joseph Singer is to be a candidate in one of the Toronto ridings is not adding much harmony to the situation.

It is stated that Independent candidates are causing trouble in the Provincial campaign. But they do not do as much harm as independent electors—those who are too independent to vote.

"We have with us this evening"—Premier Drury, described in some quarters as the biggest man in Ontario and in others in language not quite so eulogistic.

Statistics tell us that each year one out of every 12,000 in the United States is murdered. There are no figures as to the number of murderers arrested or punished.

Day by day in every way the polling is drawing closer—and everybody is glad the end is not far away.

INDIA PROTESTS DUTY

CALCUTTA, June 5.—(Associated Press)—The imposition of a thirty percent import duty on motor vehicles coming into British India has brought out a vigorous protest from the India Motor Trade Association.

The argument is advanced that an enormous class, in urgent need of modern transportation, has been precluded from buying; and that the lower priced American cars are not meeting the situation. Motor imports were lower in 1922 than in 1914, 1915 and 1916.

The development of road transport is of special importance in a country with limited railroads, the association says, and India will suffer serious consequences if this restriction upon the industrial development of the country is not removed.

A GOOD CELEBRATION HASTINGS YESTERDAY

HASTINGS, June 5. — The fine playgrounds in this village, which have recently been improved, were formally opened yetserday with a patriotic celebration in honor of the anniversary of the birth of King George. Union Jacks were displayed from the buildings and from every quarter where a flag could be planted. Like every athletic event ever put on in this village, the affair was a success, although the rain in the evening put a sudden stop to the programme, and caused all but a few of the more dancing and enthusiastic spectators to fly for shelter. The threatening weather in the early afternoon no doubt kept a large number away, but even at that the attendance was fair.

The grounds contain a well laid-out diamond, upon which many an exciting game of baseball has been played. The lacrosse team is admittedly one of the best in the Trent Valley, and this season both sections are in use, Hastings, always prominent in athletics, having a team in the Northumberland League and an intermediate and a juvenile team in the O.A.L. Yesterday was evidently the lucky day for the village athletes, as the baseball nine came within an ace of giving the strong Colborne team a coat of whitewash, and the lacrosse youngsters beating out an all-star unattached team from Campbellford by a score of 7-5.

New Grand Stand.

The new grand stand was in commission for the first time yesterday and was well patronized by the fans, who welcome a chance to witness a game of baseball in safety and comfort, free from the risk of being mutilated by a foul tip. The stand was built, not by the Athletic Association, but by Al. Scriver as a private enterprise. It is close to third base, commands a grand view of all parts of the diamond, is protected by a strong wire screen, and is equipped with comfortable seats.

The Lacrosse Game.

Some lacrosse players in other towns adjacent to Hastings have gone on record as saying that the members of the Hastings and Campbellford teams were the roughest in the League. Any one who saw the contest yetserday can testify that it was one of the fairest and cleanest trials of skill that they ever attended. The play was close enough at the end of every period to keep the audience guessing as to the result. There was not a single penalty imposed during the entire play, and not a suspension of rough work. Harry Chapman, who is never more in his element than when engineering a lacrosse match, acted as referee to the entire satisfaction of both sides. William Sargison is manager of the Campbellford players.

Good News For Horkins.

Always a star in hockey or lacrosse, Harold Horkins, of Campbellford, played the game of his athletic career yesterday, acting as substitute on the visiting team. Perhaps the reason for this was the fact that just before the game started Harold received word that he had been successful in his second year examination in the Toronto School of Medicine.

The Line-ups.

The line-up of the different teams was as follows:

The goal-getters were:

Referee, Harry Chapman.

Each of these teams has won a game this season, Campbellford being the victors on their home grounds on 24th May. They will play off the tie at the Dominion Day celebration in Norwood.

Play Like Veterans.

It may be the first year for Hastings in the Northumberland League, but every member of the team played like a veteran yesterday against the Colbornes, last season's winners of the championship cup. The victors just saved themselves from a shut-out. The game was finished in the rain, the grand stand and the bleachers being deserted by the spectator sexcept for a few deoted fans, but at the end of the eighth innings, when Colborne had no longer the shadow of a chance to win, Umpire Hess called the contest, the score standing 9 to 1. The following was the line-up:

Score by innings:

Hastings	016200000	9	7 3
Colborne	00000100	1	11 4

Sprightly Old Man Reveals the Secret

"I am 72 years old, and much more vigorous and active than most men of my age. I know that my excellent condition is due to the fact that I take two or three doses of Wincarnis every day, because I never felt as well before I began taking it. I used to tire very quickly and suffer from wakefulness and had to bundle myself up whenever it was damp or drafty. But since I began taking Wincarnis I have had the energy and endurance of a middle-aged man, sleep soundly and withstand the severest of weather. I have noticed that Wincarnis keeps my appetite keen and that it strengthens my nerves and heart. MAJOR BELFORD HELD MEETING

Conservatives of East Northumberland Hear Issues of Day Discussed at Hastings,

HASTINGS, June 5.—Major J. F. B. Belford, Conservative candidate, continues his tour through East Northumberland, and at a rousing meeting held in the Opera House here last night, farmers and townspeople attended in large numbers.

Taking the various departments of the U.F.O. Government, Major Belford analyzed the much advertised thrift contended by Druryites to have been practiced. He first spoke of the sitting member, Wesley Montgomery, as a good man, but one who had not visited the back of the riding till now since he was elected.

He characterized the O.T.A. as unfairly administered, for the poor man, if found with a bottle in some shed, would be fined $200, but the rich man seemed to be in a different category. For instance, from 12 to 14 yachts a day would pass up the Murray Canal loaded with 100 cases of booze, and one bootlegger offered an owner of a yacht $400 a week for the use of same. One yacht made two trips loaded with whisky from carrying points to Mexico in one day. If the Conservatives were elected the law would be enforced the same for the rich as for the poor.

Major Belford also went into detail regarding the Shevlin-Clarke lumber deal, sharply criticizing the Government and eulogizing Hon. Howard Ferguson for the stand he had taken on that question.

Speaking of how the money had been spent on good roads, he said he was in Stratford lately, and asked where the Hon. Peter Smith lived. One citizen replied that if he would follow the paved road to the end he would find his home, and if he took the other road out of the city he would find his brother's road paved to the gate, and no farther.

He went on to explain how their money had been spent by furnishing apartments at Queen's Park for the U.F.O. members, and Hon. Manning Doherty had in his room one mahogany bedstead worth $82.50, besides a mahogany dresser and a walnut table. It looks, the Major said, as if the money is being thrown away. The Hon. E. C. Drury had in his room last winter, when coal was scarce, and at a price almost prohibitive to the poor, a coal scuttle worth $100 for his use.

He brought his speech to a close by asking the people to take the tax bills of 1919 and 1922, compare them and see for themselves how their taxes were going up.

Major Johnson.

Major Johnson, candidate for East Peterboro, made a short but snappy speech, as also did Jas. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., but as Major Belford had covered all the grounds, there was not much left for them to add, only that they hoped all present would get out and work for the Conservative cause.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing God Save the King, followed by three hearty cheers for Major Belford and Hon. Howard Ferguson.

YOUNG LAD DROWNED IN RIVER SPEED, GUELPH

GUELPH, June 5 (Canadian Press). — A young lad named Rourke, aged nine years, was drowned in the River Speed here last night, when he, with a companion, was in some manner precipitated into the water while paddling.

Rourke could not swim, and his companion, who was about the same age, made a gallant but unsuccessful effort to rescue him. He caught hold of Rourke and got him close to shore, but could not help him over the wall near the edge before he became exhausted.

A REFEREE DECISION CAME AS A SURPRISE

LONDON, June 5. — (Canadian Press.)—Roland Todd, England, was given decision over Augie Ratner, United States, in twenty round bout here last night. Men are middleweights. Referee's decision came as a surprise to the majority of spectators, who thought that Ratner deserved a better award.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, June 5.—Reeve W. T. Wood of Millbrook, who is chairman of the County Council's Committee on Roads and Bridges, writes Reeve Anderson that he will be here Wednesday, accompanied by Engineer Connor of Toronto, to look over the bridge across the Trent river as a preliminary to reflooring it. The engineer will ascertain the carrying capacity of the structure and the material to be used in the new floor will depend upon Mr. Connor's report.

The Ball Team

Nesbitt, Weston and Cowell, three of the best players on the local league team, will be in their places when Campbellford goes up against the Trentons on the grounds here Wednesday afternoon. The Campbellford boys made a poor showing last week at Brighton but allowance must be made for the fact that they were crippled by a number of their best men being absent, the places of the absentees being taken by substitutes who had had no regular practice. The public may rest assured that the home nine is capable of making a good showing when all hands are in the line-up.

The other league games Wednesday are in Hastings at Brighton; Harwood at Colobrne; Warkworth at Orland.

HOLIDAY NOTES

All places of business were closed here yesterday but there was no local celebration of the holiday. A large number of citizens attended the field day event at Hastings, at Havelock, the Northumberland Band being one of the main attractions of the latter town.

The Northumberland Band has been engaged to play at the Drury meeting here on Thursday.

The regular session of the Seymour Council, postponed on account of the holiday, will be held to-day.

Mr John Durran Injured

On Friday afternoon a very painful and serious accident befell Mr. John Durran of the Wilson settlement about seven miles from town. Mr Durran was endeavouring to close the large doors of his barn, which sits on a high foundation, when he lost his balance, falling a distance of nine feet to the ground. Medical aid was summoned, when it was found that several ribs were dis located from the spine, besides bruises on head, etc, causing unconsciousness at intervals. At the time of writing his condition does not show much improvement. Mr. Durran is one of the most highly respected farmers of the district and his many friends unite in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Born in Campbellford on Sunday, June 23rd to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Sergeant, Jr., a son.

School Convention

The annual convention of Religious Education for Seymour and Campbellford will be held on Friday afternoon and evening June 8th in Parish Hall. The address of welcome will be extended by the President, Mr. R. J. Bullen. The chief speakers will be Rev. W. P. Fletcher of Toronto, and Rev. C. F. McIntosh, M.A., B.D., who will give an illustrated address on the evening on "The Four-Square Boy." The music will be in charge of Mr. Fred Wigglesworth of St. Andrew's church and Christ Church choir. It is hoped that all who are interested in Sunday School work will be present.

Mrs. Robert Downing (nee Miss Dorothy Dunslow of town) and little daughter Doreen of Toronto, are visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Herbert Leonard, Front street.

Dr. and Mrs. George Gibson of Picton are spending the week end at the home of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Twigg and child of Toronto, motored down and spent the week end at the home of the latter's father, Mr. Norman Mason of Burnbrae, and with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Twigg of town.

Mrs. Thomas Dunk of Port Perry, formerly of town is renewing old acquaintances in town.

Election News

TORONTO, June 5.— (Canadian Press.)—Withdrawal of James Simpson, prominent Labor man, from the list of prospective nominations in West York, and announcement of the Independent Labor Party in East Hamilton that no "official" candidate will be entered there in opposition to George Halcrow, who was a member for that riding in the last Legislature, are both significant of the trend of labor organizations to unite in support of their strongest candidates in the present campaign for Provincial Parliament.

Seizing the opportunity for carrying his attack into the riding of Halton county, which was represented in the last Legislature by Premier Drury, Hon. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, changed his plans, which were to speak at Dunnville yesterday afternoon, and addressed big crowds between thunder storms at the picnic at Georgetown. Premier Drury is still out of action as a result of throat trouble, and Attorney-General Hon. W. E. Raney, and other members of the Cabinet, are carrying on the Government's campaign in various sections of the province. Wellington Hay, Liberal leader, is expected back from Northwestern end of the province this week and, with other prominent men and women of the party, will continue the campaign in closely populated ridings in east and south-west of the province.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other Laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in the confidence of those who use it

THERE are thousands of healthy, robust young men and women who have never in all their lives taken any other laxative for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Their parents were given it by their parents; the grandparents are using it today. It is the one laxative ideally suited to all the family, safe for the little ones, effective in grownups, so compounded that elderly people, who are constantly forced to take a laxative because the intestinal muscles are weakening, find increased dosage unnecessary. This wonderful constipation remedy has been used continuously for 30 years, and over 10 million bottles are now sold annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world! The cost averages but a cent a dose. Every druggist sells it, and under a guarantee to do as claimed or your money will be refunded.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, Mr. Henry Ricker, Chippewa, Ont., says it is the best, medicine they have ever used, and Mrs. M. Martin of Massey, Ont., uses it herself and recommends it to her friends. There is scarcely a day that someone in a family does not need it for constipation, flatulency, autointoxication, biliousness, intestinal poisoning, headaches, colic and cramps, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. The formula is on the package. As the popularity of this natural vegetable laxative increases, the public discards the harsher physics like calomel, coal-tar in candy form, salt waters and powders. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin empties the bowels more cleanly and without any danger.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 53 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

MILLBROOK FIELD DAY WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Attendance Surprisingly Good and Interest in Keenly Contested Events Sustained Throughout

MILLBROOK, June 5. — The field day, under the auspices of the C.S.E.T., organizations of Millbrook and district, which was held at the agricultural grounds yesterday afternoon, was a decided success considering the unfavorable weather, and punctuated as it was by frequent thunderstorms accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning. The attendance under the circumstances, was surprisingly good, and interest in the various events was sustained throughout. When the downpour became too heavy to remain out of doors, the jumping, etc., was carried on in the building, naturally at a considerable disadvantage to the competitors. D. Gervan, assisted by some others, were in charge of the sports, and were untiring in their efforts to make the afternoon a success. Some of the races had to be abandoned owing to the condition of the track which after the final storm was practically a lake, the storms during the afternoon being the heaviest here so far this season.

Score, 6-1 in favor of the Blacks; umpire, Rev. G. S. Gervan; linemen, Luella Shaw; Thelma Ball, A. Johnston; time-keeper, Miss Anna Russell.

The prizes for the Trail Rangers and the Tuxis Boys will be displayed in E. Doxsee's window this week and will be awarded as soon as the total individual percentage is finally made up, probably on Friday evening. Weight, size, age are among the points which count with the boys when their points in each event are considered.

MILLBROOK WOMAN VICTIM OF STORM

Lightning Damage Reported in Several Places in Town and District.

MILLBROOK, June 5. — During yesterday's storms, lightning played havoc with chimneys and roofs in this district, and in one case penetrated to a cellar.

In the morning storm a garage in the village owned by Albert Payne was struck, and the doors on the north-east corner were splintered, but the car owned by William West, which was inside the garage, was not injured.

At 5.30 p.m., lightning struck a house west of the village, occupied by George Brown, tearing bricks out of the chimney, and striking Mrs. Brown unconscious. She recovered consciousness after a short period.

In the same storm, the home of H. Staples on Main Street was struck, and shingles were torn from the roof. The lightning evidently passed down the chimney into the cellar, where a door was blown open and split.

This was the most destructive storm remembered in the vicinity for some years, and many narrow escapes are reported.

AN OSHAWA YOUTH WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

OSHAWA, June 5. Canadian Press —During a severe electrical storm here yesterday afternoon a seven year old son of James Campbell was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was playing in a loft near the house when struck.

A TEN YEAR OLD BOY WAS FATALLY INJURED

TORONTO, June 5. — Canadian Press — Ten year old Frank Quinn was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when a bicycle he was riding skidded on the pavement and he fell in front of an automobile, driven by Ernest Connors of Sommerville, Ont.

WEATHER CONDITIONS UPSET PLANS FOR THE HAVELOCK SPORTS DAY

Baseball Tournament Was Held But Many of the Racing Events Had to Be Cancelled.

Efficient Committee.

Unfavorable weather conditions mitigated against the complete success of the annual field day and sports day which was held at Havelock yesterday. In spite of the rain however, a sufficiently large crowd turned out to assure the committeee in charge of at least covering the expenses of the venture through the substantial sums which have been realized in past years will not be registered on the credit side of the books when all the bills are settled up. The proceeds from the event have always been used for the maintenance and general improvements to the park.

Many of the field and track events had to be cancelled owing to the rain which fell heavily at various times during the afternoon. The annual five mile marathon was successfully contested as was the relay race between the various church teams of the town but all other racing events were called off. The baseball tournament in which teams from Havelock, the Lakeviews of Peterboro and the Peterboro Examiner were entered, was concluded, the Lakeviews being the winners. A full account of the sporting events of the day will be found on the sports page of this issue.

Booths were conducted by various groups of ladies from the town, at which "hot dogs", soft drinks and other carnival necessities were dispensed, while music was supplied by the Campbellford band.

A feature of the afternoon was the sale of tags by the members of the I.O.D.E. assisted by a strong corps of young lady workers, the proceed of which will go toward the building of the beautiful memorial gate which is to be erected at the entrance of the park in commemoration of the boys of Havelock who laid down their lives for the Empire. This project is well under way, the architects plans having been accepted, and a large pile of red bricks near the entrance of the park bore mute evidence of the vigor and success with which the plans are being forwarded.

With the exception of the unavoidable interference of the weather everything passed off smoothly owing to the efficient plans and painstaking care of the committee in charge. Everything was done to facilitate the efforts of the contestants in the various events and the crowd which watched the double-header baseball game did so from behind a roped off area which allowed the players ample room for their activities.

The numerous automobiles which were parked within the grounds showed the widespread interest which is taken throughout the surrounding district in this annua event.

CHICAGO, Ill., (United Press)—Four new champions have been crowned and are on their way to France, where they will give inhabitants of the rural communities the benefits of their accomplishments. ENFORCE THE O.T.A. UP TO THE LIMIT

BROCKVILLE, June 5 (Canadian Press). — On the ground that the birth of thousands of Protestant children in the Province of Quebec were not being registered under the present system, Montreal Methodist Conference yesterday adopted a resolution petitioning the Government of that Province to bring into effect a more unified system of civil registration and compelling registration of births within fifteen days.

Rev. A. E. Runnels, Montreal, who spoke in support of the resolution, confessed that he had not much hope of the measure being adopted by the Government. No interference with religious registration of births was proposed, he said.

Dr. T. Albert Moore, of the Department of Evangelism and Social Service, scored the propaganda of the Moderation League as untrue insofar as it concerned the effects of the Ontario Temperance Act operation, and urged all Methodists when going to the polls on 25th June, to drop their ballots where they would say, "We want O. T. A. continued, and enforced up to the limit."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SOME ADVICE ABOUT SLEEPING.

The well, healthy babe has no problem about sleeping. He does very little of anything else. From the time he comes into the world until he is 2 or 3 months old he fills his small stomach and then sleeps; eats and sleeps, all through the day and night.

At 3 months he has longer wakeful spells. Perhaps instead of eighteen to twenty-four hours out of twenty-four he will only sleep twenty at the most.

At six months he will be sleeping about half the time and then up to 5 years or over, it is much better to always have at least ten hours of sleep at night.

Now it is mighty easy to say that the baby must sleep so and so much. Sometimes they will and then again—!

Even new born babies have a reprehensible habit of turning "night into day." This will have to be put up with until the baby is six weeks old. Then if there is nothing the matter with his digestion, if he is gaining well and has no physcal ailments he needs a measure of discipline. He should be put to bed at the proper hour, made comfortable in a quiet room and left alone. It took 2 nights to cure one little mite whom I knew well and the first night she raised the roof for an hour and a half, at which time the poor parents were limp as rags. But they stuck it out and the next time she whimpered for fifteen minutes or more and that was the end. There is positively no need of having babies up at all hours of the night, except that their parents haven't the backbone to train them. They must be taught from the first that night time is for sleep and not for gay carousing and it is surprising how easily they learn the lesson, and how well it stays with them.

All the time the baby is howling keep firmly in mind that it's better for the baby in the end—and you'll be able to stand it.

The Secret of Good Health

Assist Nature back to normal action

Take

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

GET THE NAMES OF INQUIRERS.

Every now and then, in the classified section, we find a message like this:

"Will the party who called at 1142 Main Street, Monday morning in a fliver, please call again or phone?"

A Want Advertiser who should have obtained the name and address of a prospective buyer,or seller—has neglected to do so. Later, he wants urgently to get in touch with a person whose name and address he does not know. He uses the classified section.

Very often, he finds the brief Want Ad. successful. However, that doesn't change the rule, which should be:

And don't trust to memory. Jot them down.

Names of inquirers should be obtained for at least one reason, often for more than one. First of all, that may happen which usually has happened preceding such an advertisement as here quoted. A visitor called, looked at the article offered for sale, and then discussed the price. Advertiser and buyer didn't agree on price and the latter departed. Later, however, no inquirers made better offers. The seller came to the likely correct conclusion that the price he asked was too high. He wanted to get in touch with the inquirer whose offer he was now ready to accept. And he didn't know his name.

Names should be obtained and kept, in specific situations, for other reasons. A market gardener on a carline has asparagus, peas, strawberries, etc., to sell in season. He has the same produce each year. He keeps the names of inquirers and customers, and each year, in addition to his classified advertising, these excellent prospects on the phone.

Employers of labour, real estate firms, business chance brokers, dress makers, painters, and numerous other advertisers can acquire valuable lists by obtaining names of inquirers and using them as occasion suggests. "Always obtain the names and addresses of inquirers," is a good rule for Want Ad. users.

STOPPED FIGHT.

DETROIT, June 5.— (Canadian Press.)—Because of indifferent fighting the bout between Jack McAuliffe, Detroit, and Martin O'Grady, California heavyweight, was stopped in the fifth round here last night night.

RECIPES

Salad Time,

There is nothing better at this time of the year than nature's own medicine to be found in the salad plants and fresh vegetables. Dandelion greens, the coarser leaves of lettuce, romaine, endive, chicory, all cooked toegther with an onion and then served with melted butter and a little vinegar is better than a tonic bought in bottles, and is much cheaper.

Many people object to oil on a salad, but it should be served a little at a time. Of course, cream is a good substitute and a quick dressing may be made by adding to stiffly beaten cream, oil, vinegar, salt and pepper in the usual proportions for French dressing.

Every one should eat plenty of onions.

Combining vegetables is often a satisfactory change. Peas and carrots., white turnips and carrots, turnips and spinach, spinach and beets, and many others, always choosing colors which go well together.

Potatoes, carrots, turnips, celery and peas, added to a cream sauce to which is added a little curry powder is not only appetizing but a good way to use left-over vegetables.

Cooked vegetables rubbed through a sieve may be made into a souffle or timbales. When served with a cheese sauce they are very satisfying and contain a goodly amount of fuel value.

JUST ASK OPERATOR.

LONDON, June 5. — "Hello, operator, will you please give me the weather forecast for to-morrow?" That's the way it's being done here now, providing the patrons call after 5 p.m.

GRINDING DATES

It is sometimesc difficult to grind dates, figs or raisins for puddings or desserts because they clog up the grinder. This may be remedies by adding a few drops of lemon juice occasionally.

A WORLD COURT TO ASSURE PEACE

NEW YORK, June 5. Canadian Press. — The tranquility of the world depends upon the existence of a permanent world court, just as the tranquility of the United States and its various states depends upon courts, Secretary of State Hughes declared yesterday at Kent Centennial Celebration at Columbia University.

"American love of peace and a sense of right," he said, "and a conviction born of our own experience, have made it a definite part of the American policy that we do all in our power to secure provision for a peaceful settlement of international disputes by the establishment of a permanent tribunal of international justice.

"Our peculiar interests as a nation require it in order to give more adequate protection to our own rights. Interests of world peace demand it.'

DRECO HELPS WHOLE FAMILY

The MacLachlan family, of 68 Regent Avenue, Toronto— Husband, Wife and Son—Find Dreco, a wonderful aid to better health.

"I feel better than I have for months," says Mrs. J. MacLachlan. "The first of this year I was attacked by what I took for rheumatism, the pains were so severe all through my limbs, making it impossible for me to get up and down stairs. My knees were terribly swollen. I couldn't get my proper rest and would feel all tired in the mornings. My food would not digest. It felt like lead in my stomach and gas woud form and press my heart, causing shortness of breath.

"But I'm simply feeling like a new person again and can move around and get up and down stairs as easy as ever before. I get up in the mornings feeling fine and have lots of energy. My food digests properly and my bowels are delightfully regular.

"I can heartily recommend Dreco, not only for the benefits I have obtained, but also on account of what it did for my son. Since his return from overseas he had not known a day free from gastritis. His entire system was run down and he was unable to get nourishment from his food. Regardless of how careful he was, he suffered agonies. We tried several remedies for him without result, until finally we had him take Dreco. Now he can sit down to the table and eat with great enjoyment. Everything agrees with him and he is beginning to feel his natural self again.

"Mr. MacLachlan has also started to take Dreco and is beginning to notice benefit, so much so, that he is continuing to take the treatment."

Dreco is a reliable household remedy for its success in relieving all disorders of the digestive system. Compound of herbs, roots, bark and leaves, it acts on stomach, liver and bowels and benefits the health generally. It contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs, and may therefore, be taken with perfect assurance.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation. and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

CITY TAXES DECREASE BUT WORK IS NO LESS

The tax collector, W. J. Green, and his staff are now busy preparing tax notices, which will be distributed throughout the city in ten or twelve days. It is a difficult business, and one that calls for great patience, the forms requiring division and sub-division in order to make the handling of them by the delivery boys easier and accurate.

Collections this year, partly on account of the lower assessment, will be smaller than last year by $10,000. The total city taxes this year amount to $691,867.56, against last year's total of $702,671. These taxes cover the appropriations for sewers, pavements, sidewalks, garbage collection, and the various institutions in the city.

The tax is payable in three instalments, on July 5, September 5 and November 5 of this year, and penalties are incurred for failure to pay when due.

Mr. Green is very well satisfied with the way in which taxes are paid, saying that people show a desire to pay promptly whenever they possibly can. The delinquents are probably people who have no system of paying debts, and so find themselves short of money when the time comes.

FIVE SPEAKERS ADDRESSED GATHERING LIBERAL LADIES

Issues of the Campaign Discussed — Mr. J. W. Meyers Was Among the Speakers.

(Advertisement).

The organization meeting for Liberal women, held last evening in the ladies' committee rooms, was well attended, and an enthusiastic spirit was manifested by the ladies present. Officers were elected for the newly-formed society, and the meeting was addressed by G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P.; F. D. Kerr, K.C.; R. R. Hall, K.C.; Capt. Jno. Dewart, and the Liberal candidate, Mr. J. W. Meyers. Mrs. C. Perry presided.

Officers of the Ladies' Liberal Association elected last evening were: President (acclamation), Mrs. C. Perry; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. P. J. Doris; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. G. N. Gordon; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. F. Whitehouse; Recording Secretary, Miss Mamie Langley McCarthy; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Luella Jobbitt; Treasurer, Mrs. H. McDuffee.

Addresses By Speakers.

After the aims and objects of the proposed organization had been outlined, Mr. Gordon, in a brief speech, pointed out the differing aspects of a Provincial and Federal election, and the possibility of Peterboro being represented in the coming election in a four-sided contest. The Liberal leader, Mr. Wellington Hay, was a man of sterling worth and integrity, whose honor had never been smirched, while Mr. Meyers, whose family, of Dutch origin, had been in America for three hundred years, and in Canada for the last century, was a citizen of high standing, honest and upright, whose success in life had grown out of ambitions worthy of a Canadian citizen, and whose business establishment supported nearly sixty families, some thirty of his employees being returned men.

References to Opposition.

F. D. Kerr, following Mr. Gordon, reiterated the former speaker's eulogies of the character of Wellington Hay, characterizing him as a business man who always kept his word. G. Howard Ferguson, Mr. Kerr asserted, as a Minister of the Crown, allowed the Government to be fleeced to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars, in his maladministration of affairs in connection with timber rights. Mr. Drury had said of him that he mis-quoted Scripture in his attitude, which said: "As I have been faithless in a few things, make me therefore, and put me over many." Mr. Ferguson had intimated that he would nail to the fence the hides of the Commissioners who sat in judgment against him in the timber enquiry, but the only hide visible after its deliberations were finished was that of Mr. Ferguson himself. "You could recognize it anywhere. It is nailed so tight that not even his good friend, Willy Nickle, can obscure it or pry it loose."

Mr. Kerr recommended to the ladies the task of buckling on the armor of their champion, J. W. Meyers, "a warrior," he said, "whose action at the present time stirs the imagination." After a lifetime of struggle in the business world, Mr. Meyers, instead of settling down to a life of ease, stood ready to offer his services for the good of his country.

Review of Finances.

R. R. Hall reviewed in a practical manner the financial administration of affairs under the Drury Government, contrasting the annual expenditure of five and a quarter millions of dollars in the last days of the Ross regime, when the population of Ontario was two and one-half million people, with the annual expenditure of the U.F.O. Government in its four years of office, an expenditure which reached an average yearly sum of nearly thirty-seven millions, or seven times as much as in the Ross period, while the population of the Province had increased by less than half a million people, or about thirty per cent.

The Liberal administration had left behind it a debt of eleven millions, which the Conservatives, in fifteen years of office, had increased to ninety-seven millions. The Progressives, in their short four years, had piled up an additional debt of one hundred and forty-three millions, making the total liability of the province at the present time nearly two hundred and forty millions. Of this amount, two millions had been spent in commissions appointed by the Government. The Conservatives had set the pace for an extravagant administration which had created a mortgage on the province of such an enormous amount.

When one considered the national debt of the Dominion itself, a direct liability of two billion dollars, with indirect liabilities of nearly a billion more, and realized that the assessed value of the Province of Ontario would not be sufficient to pay off the national debt itself, and that on top of this, there was a further debt on the shoulders of the inhabitants of the province of nearly two hundred and forty millions, besides the municipal liabilities, one had some idea of the extent of the financial burden under which the people labored. Increases in railroad fares and in rates for insurance of all sorts gave some idea of the results of such an orgy of spending.

The record of the Hon. Howard Ferguson, declared Mr. Hall, was such as to brand him as either dishonest or else absolutely incompetent to administer the affairs of the province as its Prime Minister. "It would be well to see that his candidate, Mr. Bradburn, was quietly left at home to manage in the most economical way he can the various properties he is interested in."

Taxation.

The various forms of taxation introduced by the Drury Government in a vain effort to offset its extravagant spending were characterized as unfair by Mr. Hall, who referred to the tax on amusements and the $2,900,000 collected from race-track gambling. The tax on gambling, he asserted, was a degrading system of taxation, similar to the tax collected by the French after the Napoleonic wars, which was afterwards abolished by an outraged people. This tax was sufficient to convict Mr. Raney of rank hypocrisy, as a direct contradiction of his being engaged, as he says, in a great moral uplift movement.

The Drury Government's systems of book-keeping and juggling of accounts so as to produce an apparent surplus also came in for some scathing comment.

Capt. John Dewart made a brief, business-like speech, in which he referred to the policy of the U.F.O. administration as idealistic, but impractical, and one in which the principal plank in its platform had collapsed under an era of spending by inexperienced farmers.

Mr. J. W. Meyers, who had just come from what he described as a strenuous session of the City Council, paid a tribute to the work of the women at election time. He recalled the times when election days saw seventy-five per cent. of the voters returned to their home in a bleeding, drunken condition, and said that he looked forward to the days when numbers of women would sit in the parliaments of the country, assisting in making the sound, reasonable legislation which he knew would result from their presence there.

Musical Programme.

The meeting was pleasantly interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. H. Doig, Mrs. A. A. Perrin and Miss Ernestine McManus gave vocal solos, and Miss Lucille Doris played. The Misses Muriel Bridge, Grace Reid and Lillian brown acted as accompanists.

Daughter of Peterboro Brings Honor to City.

Another of Peterborough's daughters has brought honor to the city in the person of Miss Physllis Verschoyle Young, daughter of Dr. T. W. H. Young, Medical Officer for Peterborough city, who has graduated with the first class honors in medicine at Toronto University. This versatile young lady not only excelled in her medical studies during the last five years, but took a prominent part in athletics. She has held the championship in diving at Toronto University for three years, and was captain of the University Basketball team which won the inter-college championship last year.

Miss Young also won the championship in attendance at St. Hilda's College for the last three years.

Miss Young will enter practice in Peterborough about the end of June.

Big Field Day Held at Havelock-Other Sport News of Interest

BASEBALL TOURNEY HELD AT HAVELOCK WON BY LAKEVIEWS

Rain Marred Big Sports Day--Five-Mile Marathon Was Won By H. Leng.

TWO BALL GAMES.

The Lakeviews won the baseball tournament which was the main event of the annual field and sports day which was held yesterday in Havelock. To do so they first defeated the Havelock team by a score of 7 to 0 and then the Peterborough Examiner team by a score of 9 to 0.

Whitehouse was on the mound for the winners for both games, and he showed exceptionally good form for the entire afternoon. He received first-class support from his teammates, who contributed materially to the double shut-out.

The first game was not as one-sided as the score would indicate, for the Havelock team had several men on the runways, but failed to register the necessary hit to send them home.

Whitehouse was, however, master of the situation throughout, and deserved to win. He had sixteen strike-outs to his credit, and in addition fielded his position in first-class shape.

Hooper, who did the hurling for Havelock nine, also turned in a good game, but could not hold the hard-hitting Lakeviews in check.

Towle, the Havelock third baseman, was the fielding star of the game, a couple of his catches being of the almost impossible variety.

The players were:

Havelock — Wamsbro, c; Armstrong, ss; Quinn, 2b; L. Wright, cf; Hooper, p; Rafferty, 1b; McGill, 3b; G. Wright, lf; McKee, rf; Towle, 3b; Brennan, rf.

Score by innings:

Havelock ..... 0000000—0

In the second game, the Lakeviews continued their winning ways. Whitehouse was again on the mound for the winners, and held the Examiner team well in check. Taylor was the only man to get a really good hit from his delivery, and he walloped the pill for two bases in the second inning, but was extinguished while on his way to third.

Scates started on the mound for The Examiner, and went three and a half innings, in which he allowed but two hits, but numerous errors on the part of his team-mates allowed six runs to be scored. He was relieved by Gray, who finished the game, allowing two more hits and three more runs, in which errors again played a large part.

The players were:

Examiner — Hensley, ss; Taylor, 1b, 3b; Dugan, c, 1b; Scates, p, lf; Long, rf; Collins, 2b; Outram, 3b, c; Gray, lf, p; Baker, cf; Garvey, cf.

Score by innings:

Examiner ..... 00000—0

Other sporting events for the afternoon included the annual five-mile Marathon, which was won by H. Leng, his time being 29 minutes flat. H Buchanan was second and H. Ketchen third. This event was hotly contested, and was the opening event of the afternoon programme.

Other racing events on the schedule had to be cancelled on account of the rain, which fell intermittently during th afternoon.

Jockey Rode to First Victory and His Death.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—After piloting Sweet Kiss to an easy victory in the steeplechase at Belmont Park yesterday, Rider Frank Hayes rode to the judges' stand and fell from the saddle, dead. It was the first time he had jockeyed a winning jumper.

When Sweet Kiss gracefully leaped the last barrier and straightened out for the run to the wires, Hayes was seen swaying in the saddle. He slipped to one side, then recovered. Attendants hurried toward him when the race ended, but the toppled to the track before they reached him.

Hayes was 35 years old. His death was said to have been due to heart failure, induced by weight reduction.

FANS ANXIOUS TO SEE CLASH WITH BELLEVILLE

A Record Crowd Likely When Trunks and Petes Come Together.

The first appearance for this season of the Belleville team at Riverside Park on Saturday in a Big Four fixture against the Petes is already being hailed by the fans as the big event of the season, and the indications are that there will be a huge crowd in the stands when the old rivals cut loose at each other.

Belleville, with last year's team intact and Oulette, the Lindsay smoke ball pitcher added, will prove a formidable opposition, and the Petes will have to be on their best behaviour both to-morrow in Belleville and here on Saturday.

Both games are likely to be of the hair-raising variety, and there will be fans in from all over the district for Saturday's fixture. It is expected that the grounds will be in good shape for the clash and considerably faster than on Saturday.

Tennis Champions Opened Ottawa Court.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Local tennis enthusiasts had a glimpse of real high class tennis here yesterday afternoon when William Tilden, formerly champion of the world, accompanied by Samuel Hardy, of Davis Cup fame; Lindley Murray, of Niagara Falls, and Willard Crocker, Ontario champion, played singles and doubles at the official opening of the new Tennis and Bowling Club's courts. Tilden and Murray played three sets of singles, the former champion winning 3-6, 6-4, 6-1. In the doubles Hardy and Murray won from Tilden and Crocker, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. Rain fell during part of the game and made the courts heavy, but despite this handicap the players played very fast tennis.

BOTH FIGHTERS IN GOOD CONDITION

Gibbons Has Been Boxing Regularly and Is Not Carrying Any Excess Weight.

SHELBY, Mont., June 5. —The coming week will see Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons rettled down to heavy training, Gibbons has had little work except in his exhibition tour through Montana towns.

Dempsey got into harness for a week, but suddenly cut it out and went for a fishing trip. He is back now at his Great Falls camp and eager for work.

Gibbons will be back from St. Paul with his wife and family to start off the week. He will begin work at once.

Tom does not believe that he will need a lot of work to condition himeslf for his July 4 battle with the champion.

He has been boxing regularly every few weeks and is not carrying much excess weight.

The challenger is confident. There is nothing of the braggart about Tom, but in his own unassuming way he convinces one that he is ticketed to take the measure of the so-called superman of Manassa.

If other fighters had their misgivings on being thrown into the ring with the champion they have not passed on that feeling to Tom. Gibbons can crack 'em a few himself and expects that his speed will keep him out of the champion's reach and hopes that he can bring him down with his right hand.

Dempsey, too, radiates confidence. The champ figures Gibbons as just another obstacle in his path, rugged but not unbeatable. He is talking already of coming fights with Firpo, Willard and Wills as though the July 4 affair was already checked in.

The immense arena that will house the crowd will be ready by June 20. Contractors are rushing work. Shelby is getting ready to handle the guests. Fourteen sidetracks are being laid to park the special trains.

TODD WON TITLE.

LONDON, June 5. — (Canadian Press.)—Roland Todd last night defeated Augie Ratner of New York, on points, in a twenty-round boxing contest, for the middleweight championship of England.

OUTFIELDER THREW BALL TO BLEACHERS

Roy Elsch Pulled a Bone Play That Might Have Been Costly.

Roy Elsch, recruit outfielder, who came to the Chicago White Sox practically unheralded, gives promise of developing into one of the sensations of the year.

Elsch has every asset, including brains, yet the wisest of ball players pull "bones." The Sox recruit pulled one the other day that will soon be forgotten because it didn't prove costly. Yet it might have gone down in history with other famous "bones" had it lost the old ball game.

The slip on the part of Elsch was somewhat similar to the stunt that "Doc" Gessler pulled many years ago as a member of the Chicago Cubs.

Believing that two were out, when in reality only one man was retired, Gessler on catching a fly ball that he believed ended the game, ran to the club house with the ball. A couple of runners on the bases scored before his team-mates could turn him around.

Elsch, a big favourite with the White Sox bleacher fans, has a habit of throwing the ball to the fans to scramble for, if he make the last out of the game. In a recent contest at Chicago, believing two were out instead of one, Elsch on catching the ball for what he thought was the final out of the game tossed it to the fans and started for the clubhouse. Then he came to.

Fortunately no runners were on the bases at the time. If two had been on and two runs needed by the opposition to win ,that toss by Elsch would have gone down in hitory as a costly "bone." Since it meant nothing it will soon be forgotten.

However, it has probably proved a worthwhile lesson to Elsch to keep a careful track of the outs.

Rochester Again Beat the Bisons.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Rochester was again the victor over Buffalo, yesterday afternoon's score being 4 to 3 in favour of the Tribe. The Bisons registered one hit off Judd in the first innings, collecting three in the seventh and eight to draw up on the heels of the leaders. Merkle hit his second home run, while Archdeacon clubbed out a pair of triples. Score:

BALTIMORE, June 5.— (Canadian Press.)— Baltimore made the series with Jersey City 3 out of 4 yesterday afternoon by downing the Skeeters, 5 to 2. Porter and Bishop hit timely home runs for the Orioles and Rube Parnham was able to tighten whenever the losers looked dangerous. Score:

Race Track Gambling a "Ferocious Menace."

SARNIA, June 5. — (Canadian Press.)—Concern regarding the objectionable influence of the modern dance, especially in the effect upon the lives of students; continued uncompromising hostility to race track gambling and the need for a continuance of the prohibition fight was expressed in resolutions brought in by the department of Social Service and Evangelism and adopted at the semi-final session of the London Methodist Conference here yesterday afternoon. The move to restrict the hours of dancing making it compulsory to close the halls at 11.30 every night and to remain closed from that hour on Friday night until Monday was also endorsed. Race track gambling was described in the resolution as a "Ferocious menace to the moral life and social condition of the people."

It was urged further that the government remove from the criminal code the privilege of conducting lotteries for religious or charitable purposes. The resolution in connection with prohibition set out that "No other law had ever been called upon to withstand such unscrupulous and conscienceless criticism as the Ontario Temperance Act." It urged the people of the Methodist church to give their support in the coming election to candidates committed to the support and strict enforcement of the act.

Track is Ready For the Olympic Games.

PARIS, June 5. — (Canadian Press.)—The running track at the new Colombes Stadium has been completed and is ready for the practice and training of Olympic athletes one year in advance of the date set for the opening of the games. Experts pronounce the track technically perfect.

The work on the stadium itself is progressing, according to schedule, and Olympic officials who visited the field Monday, headed by Baron Pierre De Goubertin, expressed themselves as "very much satisfied." Baron De Goubertin said he believed that the "Olympic Village," consisting of about sixty or seventy villas where the athletes of the various nations will live within a stone's throw of the stadium, was indispensable to the success of the games.

"To scatter the athletes over Paris would lead to the worst inconveniences of all kinds," he said.

President Millerand has accepted an invitation to attend a celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the annual revival of the Olympics, and will preside at the formal opening.

Do you know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

One—With runner on first and one out, batter with two strikes on him swings at a wild pitch, which the catcher never even reaches. What about such a play?

Two—Why doesn't the infield fly rule apply with a man on first only?

Three — Runners are on second and third and two out. The batsman triples, both runners crossing the plate. Batsman fails to touch second, ball is thrown there, and he is ruled out, retiring the side. Do the runs count?

Four K Runner on first who starts for second with the pitch. Batsman grounds sharply to first baseman, who touches bag retiring batter, and then throws to second to get the runner there. Is it a force play at second, or must the runner be touched?

Five — If, on an overthrow of first, the ball gets away from the fielder and strikes the umpire in foul territory, is the ball dead or does it continue in play?

Six — Several players are running a base runner down, when the runner interferes with one of the throws to get him and is called out for so doing. Do the players who took part in the play receive an assist?

One — Hith less than two out and a runner on first, the batsman is automatically out when he strikes out, regardless of the fact that the third strike was a wild pitch.

Two — because there is no chance for a double play if the batsman will run out his hit as he is supposed to.

Three — Both runs score. The fact that the batsman was declared out for his failure to touch second does not aect the play, even though it is the third out. The runners are regarded as having scored on the single.

Four — Runner must be touched at second. The force is removed when the batsman is retired at first.

Five — The ball is considered in play.

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

CHICAGO, June 5.—(Associated Press)—"We hold paramount the truth that advertising is a convenant with the public and that the spoken or printed word is as binding on performance as an oath in a judicial tribunal."

This is the outstanding article in a Code of Ethics adopted by the National Association of Retail Clothiers, 24,000 copies of which are being distributed among the trade throughout the United States in the campaign now in progress to keep the clothing industry at the highest notch of integrity.

The document also emphasizes that the cornerstone of commerce is integrity; that the assets of any commercial institution consist of honesty and business character first. After that, service and merchandise.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Relieved Her of Headaches

Headache seems to be habitual with many people, and some, if any, are seldom free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to the removal of the cause, and with the cause removed the headaches will vanish.

It is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of every description than can equal B. B. B., acting as it does on every organ of the system.

Mrs. Douglas Riseborough, 280 McKenzie St., Sarnia, Ont., writes: "Having suffered from severe headaches for a considerable length of time I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and found that it helped me wonderfully. It relieved the headaches, and I noticed a decided improvement in my health."

Burdock Blood Bitters is a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-four years, so you don't experiment with some new and untried medicine. It is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PLAN GAMBLING RESORT

BERLIN, June 5.—(United Press)—Heligoland, the little island in the North Sea, seeks the laurels and the income of Monte Carlo.

The island resort is about to build a gambling casino which, it is hoped, will bring sufficient earnings to the local government to make all the island folks free from taxation, just as the residents of Monaco, the principality where the Monte Carlo casino is located, are free from taxes.

This is to all intents and purposes a declaration of war by Germany against France, so far as getting the tourist gambling business of Europe is concerned.

Heligoland has always been a favorite resort, largely patronized because of its beach. Now, in addition, the local government plans to erect a casino which will draw a new and wealthier class to its shores.

She mowed the swains down right and left, and awoke to the shallowness of her soul only after she had involved her loved ones in grief and near-tragedy.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, June 5. (Special.) — Only fractional changes were recorded in a rather quiet opening on the stock market to-day, but the improved earnings of the railways and a generally better outlook for the transportation industry were reflected in a better demand for standard stocks of this class in the first hour. Issues which are in line for dividend resumptions or for a higher rate of payments assumed the leadership of the market. N.Y.C. reached a new high on the move at 98 3-8, while Baltimore and Ohio moved up a full point to 50 and Pere Marquette sold at 44 3-4, continuing its advance.

Selling continued among the medium priced oils but the balance of the industrials showed a disposition to break away from the oil group's recent covering attempts in stocks, which gave ground easily during last month's break have brought to light a decided scarcity in the floating supply. As an example Magma Copper jumped from 30½ to 34 on Monday on a single transaction of 360 shares. Associated dry goods advanced 2 cents on one hundred shares. Chicago Pneumatic Tool 1 3-4 on one hundred shares, Cluett Peabody 2 points on 100 shares; Lackawanna 2 points on 200 and Phillips Petroleum 1½ points on 100 shares.

It would require very little effort market observers maintain to move some stocks up sharply. There is little liquidation in evidence; most transactions in the active stocks can be traced to the professionals. The public shows very little interest in the movement.

Pere Marquette is up 2 points from the beginning of the week and the issue is said to be slated for dividends at a $4 rate soon. Other rails were firm at the opening to-day; Canadian Pacific at 152½ and Southern Railway 33 5-8, both recording fractional gains. Steels were slightly lower on the initial bulge, United States steel losing 3-8 on its opening quotation.

Diogenes looked down on earth
And sadly shook his head.
"Ah, would I were alive today;
What rest I'd get," he said.
"I would not walk with weary feet
To find an honest man.
I'd simply write a want ad out—
It's such an easy plan."

COOKING ODORS

If you wish to keep your house free from the odor of cooking do not let your sauce pans boil over and remove all pans directly from the stove when you have finished with them.

DRESSING-TABLE TOP

If you do not like the looks of a glass top cover your dressing table you can save the top considerably if you will keep a blotting paper over the wood, under the cloth cover. Anything spilled will be absorbed.

Bilious Attacks

Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

In spite of adverse weather, which accounted for the rather poor attendance last night, the schedule games were completed. Oke seems to have his eye on the cut-glass, although several rinks are close on his heels, and with the new points system working admirably, every rink is still very much in the running. Results:

THEATRES

Capitol Entertainment

The Maple Leaf Trio, late of Capt. Plunkett's Overseas Revue, took a large audience by storm at the Capitol Theatre last evening, when they opened a three-days' engagement. The act is easily one of the best seen at the Capitol this season. It presents an excellent cycle of songs, selected to suit every taste, and some clever comedy, and the attention paid to stageing the numbers places it considerably above the average.

The trio consists of H. B. Williamson, tenor, Harry J. Thompson, baritone, and F. E. Petch, bass, who also handles most of the comedy, his work being featured by a monologue that has some new twists in patter. The act comes here from a trans-continental tour that has taken it from Vancouver to Halifax.

The feature picture presentation, "The Flirt," also stands out from the rank and file. Clean, brilliant and dramatic, "The Flirt" is a vivid cross-section of small town family life. It is about "just folks"—typical of the kind who ask a blessing at the dinner table and dress up on Sunday. "The Flirt' is a picturization of Booth Tarkington's novel of the same name, and Tarkington's inimitable human touch has been carefully preserved in the screen version.

The story opens with the Madisons at the dinner table. Father at the head, daughters on either side and a kid brother where we could almost reach out and box his impish little ears.

Cora, "The Flirt," begins her conquest for hearts and her quest for power. Eileen Percy plays the role brilliantly.

George Nichols, as the father, is heroic. The unfolding of the story finds him battling against Cora's selfish greed and brutal pride for enough money to keep his home together and his name clean.

The Capitol has instituted its summer policy of matinees on Saturdays and holidays only.

BEAUTIFULLY COSTUMED 6 AND LOVELY GIRLS WITH JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS

Girls, of the Zeigfeldian type, and grils who could enter any beauty contest and emerge with the highest honors, will be seen in the gorgeous spectacle, "Peter Pan in Animal Land", the opening feature of the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals, which come here for afternoon and night performances and free street parade, on Wednesday, 13th June.

In selecting the principals for this beautiful extravaganza, the management of the John Robinson Circus, demands two essentials from the many applicants. First beauty, and then ability, and it was necessary they possess both, otherwise the interview was hastily terminated. It required much time to assemble the two hundred women that appear as ballet dancers, slaves, fairies, and other roles, but Charles Berry, equestrian director, never wavered a moment, and his patience was rewarded. And the spectators are certain to realize the beauty of the John Robinson girls, after they view, "Peter Pan in Animal Land."

Among the hundred girl performers with the big show are found all types of beauty—all garbed in really fetching costumes, turned out by the same designers and modistes that costumes the big musical productions on Broadway. Times change with the circus, and nowhere is this fact so pronounced as in the costuming of the circus girls. At least, she's come to her own—brave little heroine of the white tops, who scorns tempermental stuff and does her hazardous work willingly and smilingly.

Many of the star performers and also the strikingly beautiful girls of the "Peter Pan" spectacle will appear in the mile long parade, which leaves the circus grounds at 11 a.m. sharp, rain, shine or cyclone.

Ho do you

How do you know that someone, somewhere, isn't looking for you to hand you some money? Mr. Leigh of Cobourg would never have known that he had fallen heir to the estate of his grandfather, if he hadn't read a newspaper advertisement asking for information as to his, whereabouts. Perhaps that very thing would happen to you, and you wouldn't know anything about it if you didn't read the Examiner advertisments.

MEET POSTPONED.

In view of the fact that several of the contestants who are lining up for the twilight training meet were in Millbrook yesterday competing in the sports there, it has been deemed advisable to postpone the first of the series until Friday evening of this week. All senior and junior athletes of the city are invited to take part in these training meets during the coming few weeks. Each night they will receive the benefit of coaching from Mr. D. A. Loomis of the physical department of the Y.M.C.A. in both senior and junior events. The programme for this week consists of 100 yards dash, running broad jump and the mile. Events start at 6.15 sharp.

HUSBAND DIDN'T DARE LEAVE HER ALONE HER HEART WAS SO BAD

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, the all-gone sinking sensations which come on from time to time indicate a weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes:—'About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often I would just feel kind of faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got three boxes I took them and felt much better, so continued all Winter, and now I ever feel any such faintness. I sure ly do appreciate the good they have done for me."

Another Trial For Rev. Adelarde Delorme

MONTREAL, June 5 (Canadian Press) — The definite announcement that Rev. Adelarde Delorme will stand trial on the charge of murdering his half-brother Raoul, at the term of the Court of King's Bench [illegible] session, was made this morning by R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown prosecutor.

Another Judge would be appointed to clean up the cases. Among them would be that of Delorme, which Mr. Justice Wilson cannot hear because he was engaged as counsel when the priest was before the Courts last year.

In this way the impasse caused by the demand of the Crown Prosecutor that the priest's case be heard this June, the inability of Judge Wilson to take it, and the unwillingness of the authorities to appoint a special Judge to sit in his place for one case has been solved.

OBITUARY

MISS ELIZABETH HANLON.

The death occurred in Washington, D.C., recently, of Miss Elizabeth Hanlon, former teacher and principal of Erie Public Schools, and well-known in Peterboro and the district.

Miss Hanlon, who began her teaching career in 1875, and served successfully for twenty years as primary, intermediate grammar teacher and principal, resigned in 1896 to devote her life work to the teaching of the deaf, and her activity and enthusiasm in welfare work continued until the end, which came very suddenly.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Sloan announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Marion Edna to Mr. James Cumming of Niagara Falls, son of the late James and Mrs. Cumming of Peterboro. The marriage will take place the latter part of this month.

Messrs. Patrick Lynch and Alphonsus T. O'Toole, of Otonabee, are among the successful candidates in the recent examinations in fourth year Faculty of Arts.

Miss Forester Parsons has now passed the crisis resulting from her recent accident and her condition is much improved.

MARRIAGE.

KRUSE—BOSWELL.—At Edmonton, Alberta, on Friday, the 25th of May Agnes Boswell, widow of the late Walter Boswell, to Albert G. Kruse, of Wabamun, Alberta.

SHRINERS MARCH PAST PRESIDENT

Presented One of Most Colorful Pictures Ever Witnessed in Capitol of U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Pennsylvania avenue, the scene of many historic pageants, probably never presented a more colorful picture than it did to-day as twenty thousand Nobles of Mystic Shriners marched over its miles of "burning sands" from the Capitol to Washington Circle. As the procession moved through the "Garden of Allah," reproduced in front of the White House, it was reviewed by President Noble Warren G. Harding, and Imperial Potentiate George S. McCandless.

This parade, one of four planned for the forty-ninth annual convention of Shriners, was designed as a big spectacle of gathering of Nobles, and it proved all of that. The long line of marchers presented a riot of color that for vividness and contrast scarcely could have been surpassed. Each of scores of Temples had its own band and each apparently sought to outdo its immediate neighbor, with the result that there was no lack of music.

After the pageant had run its course the first session of the Imperial Council was opened, with President Harding delivering the principal address of welcome.

WEDDING BELLS

CHAMBERS—HARRISON

A quiet wedding took place this morning at eleven o'clock at Knox church when Rev. R. Pogue united in marriage Florence S. Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrison Indian River, Ont. and Leverne [illegible] Chambers, son of Mrs. Eva Chambers, Peterboro, Ont. The bride who was given away by her father wore a suit of navy poiret twill and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. Witnesses were Miss Mabel Harrison of Indian River and Mr. White of Westwood. Mr. L. E. Jeffries played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Chamber left on the noon C.P.R. train for a short honeymoon to points east and on their return will reside in Walkerville, Ont.

SPANIARDS AND MOORS WAGING WAR, MOROCCO

Four Hundred Spanish Troops Reported Killed and Wounded, Also Large Number Moors.

BAYONET CHARGE

PARIS, June 6.—(United Press.) —Four hundred Spanish troops are reported to have been killed and wounded in a battle with the Moors in Northern Morocco.

An even larger number of Moors was slain.

Details of the battle were described to-day in dispatches to the Journal, relayed through Madrid from Melilla, near where the fighting took place.

A Spanish column of ten thousand, including three air squadrons, was advancing near Tiziazza yesterday morning, when it was attacked by seven thousand Moors. The Spaniards charged the Moors with bayonets, aided by carefully dropped bombs from the air. The Spanish practically massacred the seven thousand rebels, the dispatches said.

Results of the conflict have not yet been published in Madrid.

A WOMAN BANDIT SHOOTS TO KILL

Jumped Into Victim's Car and Drove Away With Plunder.

CHICAGO, June 6.—(Canadian Press). — Unparalleled wantoness characterized the first slaying committed by a woman bandit in Chicago last night, when a girl and man held up Richard Tesmer, wealthy insurance man, and his wife, near their home. Just as Tesmer was backing his automobile into his garage a girl and man stepped out of shadows and commanded him and his wife at point of pistols to get out of the car and put up their hands

Her companion stood silently by and the girl searched both captives, whose purses yielded only about ten dollars. The girl demanded money, and as the male bandit struggled with Mrs. Tesmer to force the ring from her finger, Tesmer moved, and without warning the girl swung a revolver around and fired. Tesmer fell dead. Commanding her companion to follow her, the girl jumped into the Tesmer car and drove away as calmly as if embarking on a moonlight ride with her favorite beau.

SASKATOON FLOODED

SASKATOON, Sask., June 6. — (Canadian Press). — The section known as Idylwyld, Saskatoon's most pretentious residential district is threatened by the rising waters of the South Saskatchewan River, and householders living on the low-lying sections have been ordered by city authorities to pack up their goods and move everything to higher ground.

Chinese Bandits Clash With Troops On Korean Border

PEKING, June 6. —(United Press.) — Chinese bandits have assumed aggressive operations on the Korean border.

Brigands and troops met in battle at Ershitaoku, according to dispatches received here today. Six soldiers were killed and a score kidnapped. After dispersing the troops the outlaws kidnapped thirty laborers, who had been at work under protection of the soldiers. The remainder of the laborers escaped by fleeing to other towns.

LIGHTNING HIT SIX IN SHELTER

Men at Barn Raising Sought Refuge Under Metal Roof.

PORT HOPE, June 6.—Six men are confined to bed in the village of Garden Hill, 10 miles north of here, as a result of burns and shock suffered when a small outbuilding on the farm of John Worr was struck by lightning at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The injured are: Robert Gardner, J. Redman, Willard Lord, Wellington Gilmour, W. Challice and John Worr.

The men were engaged in assisting their neighbor, Worr, at a barn raising, when they noticed the approach of the storm and took refuge in a small outbuilding covered by a metal roof. As the storm passed overhead a bolt struck the building, throwing Worr for a distance of some feet and severely shocking the others. According to several of the men, the lightning appeared to strike Gardner, the tallest, first, and then to spread to the remainder.

The injured men were attended by Dr. A. C. Beatty, of Garden Hill. Worr is reported to be the most seriously hurt, but none of the injuries are thought to be of a permanent nature.

CUNO CABINET SUGGESTS NEW FORM REVENUE

Life of Cabinet May Depend on Result—Taxes on Brandy, Sugar and Tobacco.

REPARATIONS OFFER

(By CARL D. GROAT.
United Press Correspondent

BERLIN, June 6.—Life of the Cuno cabinet depends today on the reception of the new reparations offer on its way to the Allied capitals

It is learned authoratively that Cuno has proposed the reparations to the amount of a billion and a half gold marks be raised in the following ways.

Consumption taxes on such commodities as tobacco sugar and brandy and a customs monoply on the same three, these it is estimated would provide four hundred million gold marks a year.

Flotation of a gold mortgage amounting to ten billion marks at five per cent. interest against the railways yielding five hundred million gold marks annually.

Legal mortgages on industrialists, factories, land owners totalling possibly ten billion gold marks which it is hoped would provide one hundred gold marks a year.

ANOTHER PETERBORO BOY HAS MADE GOOD

Joseph C. Hughes Promoted to New and Responsible Position.

About seven years ago, on June 5th, Joseph C. Hughes of Peterborough entered the service of the Prudential Insurance Company of America as an agent. On June 1st, 1918, he was promoted to take charge of the Orillia, Ont., detached office from Peterborough as an assistant superintendent, and for the week of June 18th of this year he will assume new duties with the Prudential Insurance Company of America as a home office inspector. His territory will be from Halifax to Vancouver. He leaves Monday, June 18th, to take a six weeks' course of instructions at the home office, Newark, N. J.

Needless to say, his many friends in Peterborough will congratulate him on his successful career. He has been faithful and efficient.

To take the position made vacant at Orillia by Assistant Hughes, now Inspector Hughes, Agent Arthur Moffatt, who entered the service of the Prudential Insurance Company of America at Peterborough September 16th, 1918, has received notification as to his appointment. Agent Moffatt, now Assistant Superintendent Moffatt, will be remembered as having at one time run a barber shop on Simcoe street, and since he entered the company's service five years ago he has made a name for himself as an insurance man.

His many friends in Peterborough will be glad to hear of his promotion and wish him further success.

For a person who wishes to get ahead in the world the insurance business in Canada opens up a very profitable profession for them to follow.

Superintendent John I. Allen of the Peterborough district has had promoted from men whom he has started in the district, three superintendents and five assistant superintendent, who are now all employed outside of the Peterborough district, and the promotion of Inspector Hughes and Assistant Superintendent Moffatt are two more of his graduates.

"Mrs. Charles Perry,
"Peterboro, Ont.:

"Mr. Gordon has told me of the splendid success of the Liberal Women of Peterborough, in organizing the Peterborough Liberal Women's Club. MAROONED IN BLAZING OIL

In Saturday's issue of The Examiner, a new serial story will be offered our readers, in "Flowing Gold." The gripping character of the stories of Rex Beach is well known, and this story is a splendid example of the thrilling quality of his work. Adventure and romance vie with each other in a tale that is woven about the post-war Oil Boom in Texas.

There is a "bad man," a killer, his modern habiliments failing to obscure the realness of his strength; there is a hero who is a perfectly-clothed, athletic New Yorker, and a strong man to boot, and there is a real heroine in Barbara Parker, whose father had raised his girl like a son. "Bob" Parker could rope and tie an unruly mustang, and she had been brought up in one of the most select finishing schools of the east. When Calvin Gray went out to Ranger to sell diamonds, she had just started in at the oil business. Plot and counter plot, adventure and romance are woven about a thrilling, stirring tale of the "Flowing Gold" of the Texas oil fields.

J. W. WORTH RESIGNS BOARD OF EDUCATION

GOES TO LOS ANGELES

Six years a member of the Board of Education, untiring in his efforts in the interests of education—public school, academic, industrial and vocational—and enjoying the respect and esteem of his colleagues, together with public confidence, J. W. Worth tendered his resignation to the Board's chairman, A. A. Fowler, last evening.

Mr. Worth, at present connected with Canadian Woollens, Limited, is leaving this city at the end of June to join his brother Edgar at Los Angeles, California, where they are establishing a large spinning mill.

Acceptance of Mr. Worth's resignation, on motion by Mr. J. A. McKone and Dr. F. C. Neal, was accompanied by expressions of sincere regret and verbal bouquets composed of eulogy and commendation, measure full and overflowing.

Dr. Neal assured Mr. Worth that every member of the Board appreciated his earnest and effective endeavors for educational legislation in the community's best interests, and he would carry with him to the western coast the Board's earnest wishes for success in his new venture.

Chairman A. A. Fowler followed in a similar strain, and voiced his deep regret at accepting Mr. Worth's resignation. For six years, he added, Mr. Worth had given the Board regular attendance and active cooperation of a weighty nature, especially in regard to technical education; and now that his ambition for vocational training is in a fair way for consummation, by resolution of the Board, it seems a pity that he should be called elsewhere.

Elected Same Year.

Recalling that the retiring member and he were elected to the Board at the same time, J. M. Greene said he had always found Mr. Worth a perfect gentleman in every respect. He hoped his venture in the States would prove altogether profitable, and that in his new home he would find opportunity for doing as good work in the interests of education as he had succeeded in accomplishing while a member of Peterborough Board of Education.

Warmest Appreciation.

Mrs. W. R. Morris expressed the highest appreciation of Mr. Worth as a colleague in the Board, and warmly commended that indefatigable activity in which he never failed in putting the interests of the child first and foremost. An exemplary representative of the community, displaying good sense and even temper at time when differences of opinion naturally arose, she had every confidence that the informative seed regarding technical education sown by Mr. Worth would some day in the not distant future bear constructive fruit.

J. A. McKone eulogized Mr. Worth as a good citizen, a good Kiwanian and a good man on the Board of Education; in whose future business success he had every confidence.

Happy Years.

In reply, Mr. Worth characterized his experience on the Board of Education as six of the happiest years in his life. It had been, he said, a real pleasure to co-operate with a body where the best of feeling always obtained, even after at times somewhat heated discussions on questions where differences of opinion entered. While some had criticized his stand on the combined school question, that was, he pointed out, the platforms upon which he appealed to the people for election; and during his whole tenure of office he had ever kept in mind the interests of technical education. In the good fight for vocational training he had been fair, honest and above board, and now he was retiring with the comfortable feeling that every member on the Board was a staunch friend in the truest sense of the term.

J. W. WORTH,
For six years a member of the Board of Education, and who leaves for California this month.

THE WEATHER.

For several years Peterboro has been fortunate in escaping severe thunderstorms, but the one, or more properly, the series of them, that passed over yesterday afternoon and evening, were awe-inspiring while they lasted. The rainfall also was exceedingly heavy, and the total amount that fell during the day was 2.12 inches. As one inch of rainfall is equal to 100 tons to the acre, yesterday's deluge gave each 160-acre farm in this section the almost unbelievable amount of 34,000 tons (not gallons) of water! The rain was heavy, but no records were broken. I have looked over old records for the past 25 years and found more heavy rains than I expected, and nine that exceeded yesterday's dampness.

July of 1902, had a total rainfall for the month of 8.65, and had the largest rainfall for the month, as well as for the 24 hours.

Some heavy hail fell during the last storm that passed over. In the upper atmosphere there are at times miniature cyclones during a thunderstorm. Some of these whirlwinds suck the falling rain into much higher and therefore colder regions of the atmosphere. These raindrops freeze and form hail, and if the process of elevation to higher altitudes is repeated, the hail naturally increases in size and irregularity, and as it falls from a greater height it comes down with a greater impact.—W. CANADIANS LIKE GOLF

OTTAWA, June 6.—Golf is rapidly becoming the national game of Canada. A report compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that on May 1, 292 golf clubs were flourishing, representing an outlay in property and equipment of nearly $10,000,000.

The unusual popularity of the game is illustrated by figures which show that in 1916 there were only 76 golf courses in the Dominion. Last year there 218, so that the increase since the first of the year has been seventy-four (74).

It is also interesting to note that 81 of the courses are 18-hole layouts while 211 are nine-hole links.

SCHOOL BOARD MET BY LIGHT WAX CANDLES

ROUTINE BUSINESS

By the soft, but disconcertingly moderate light from four wax candles of varied lengths, the Board of Education started and continued its routine business last evening until the electric current made its welcome appearance fifteen minutes after the regular session opened.

Principal H. R. H. Kenner's request that the Collegiate Institute's Assembly hall be utilized for the closing exercises of the commercial department, when exhibitions of typewriting by the students will be a feature, was granted on motion by Mr. Worth and Mrs. Morris.

Another request from Mr. Kenner that new books be added to the Institute's Library by next September went to the supervision committee with power to act. This was the motion of Dr. Neal and Mr. Worth.

As the Departmental examinations start on June 12, Principal Kenner notified the board that it would be necesary to close the Upper School of the Institute on June 11 and the lower and middle schools on June 14. This was acquiesced in.

Physician's Report

School Physician Dr A. W. McPherson reported for the month of May 317 examinations of children made by him. 53 defect slips sent to parents, of which 25 were returned and the number of defective children receiving appropriate treatment as 8. The school nurse made 234 examinations during the month.

The doctor also reported a small number of school children suffering from tonsil and teeth ailments, and he suggested that they be accorded free treatment under arrangement with the board's supervision committee. This suggestion was adopted on motion by Dr. Neal.

Refused Treatment

School Inspector Mowat reporting in this connection one mother refusing to accept Dr. McPherson's proposition to treat her child free for a complaint which is keeping the little one away from school; the board advised that the school attendance officer take this matter up with the city health officer and thus enforce treatment.

Attendance Report

Attendance Officer Abraham, in his report for last month noted 19 children absent through sickness—15 kept at home by measles—irregulars 18, truants 3, removal from the city 8 and one who could not attend for lack of boots The sick children have all returned to school and the attendance of the irregulars has improved.

Summer School

In regard to a suggestion that a summer school be maintained during the summer vacation for the benefit of backward pupils, J. A. McKone advised the Board that Inspector Mowat reports project inadvisable for this year at least. Such also is the opinion of school principals with whom Mr. Mowat had consulted.

Supply Teachers

On motion by Dr. Neal and Mr. Worth the matter of engaging a second supply teacher went to the committee on appointments for action.

Present supply service runs into about $1,000 a year, and the teacher's time when not supplying is devoted to office work. When engaging a second supply teacher, Inspector Mowat advised securing one capable of taking the place of the principal of the Prince of Wales School when called away, as the principal of a sixteen-room school must be for an hour or perhaps more each day; the remainder of his or her time could be profitably applied to assisting backward children.

To Fill Vacancies

Moved by Dr. Neil, seconded by J. A. McKone,—"That the Committee on Appointments be authorized to fill any vacancies that may occur on the staff at the end of the present term."—Carried.

Coal for Schools

J. M. Greene reported that, as authorized the Property Committee advertised for tenders for the fuel required for the ensuing year, and have awarded the contract to Messrs. H. B. Taylor Son.

Supervision Report

J. A. McKone reported that in connection with the Supervision of Playgrounds the Supervision Committee recommend that the following be appointed to the staff for six weeks commencing July 4th, next, at salaries opposite their respective names:

R. J. Bolton, $25.00 per week; J. Abraham, $20.00 per week; Roland E. Doughty, $20.00 per week; Miss

ANNUAL MEETING OF PETERBORO BAPTISTS HELD AT LAKEFIELD

Both Women's and Men's Sections Appreciate a Gathering Replete With Profit and Interest—Home and Foreign Missions Discussed.

WARM GREETINGS

LAKEFIELD, June 6.—The 121st annual meeting of the Peterborough Baptist Association was held in the Lakefield Baptist church beginning at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, June 5th. The afternoon session was taken in two sections, the men's section and the women's section, the latter being the larger group they used the auditorium of the church while the men's conference was held in the school room.

Mrs. R. Weston of Campbellford, vice-president, was in the chair, owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, of Peterborough, through illness After singing a hymn, Mrs. Weston gave a reading from Scripture, after which Mrs. Gordon Mann, of Gilmour Memorial church, led in prayer.

Mrs. J. C. Harvey, of the Lakefield Mission Circle, gave an address of welcome to the visitors, assuring them of the pleasure their coming had given the Lakefield people. It is a privilige as well as a duty to have so many delegates and the members of the Lakefield Circle expect great inspiration from the gathering with the forming of new friendships and the renewing of old ones. A welcome to the church, the homes and the village was heartily extended.

Mrs. L. H. Coles, of Colborne, replied, saying that the visitors came as sisters representing the various Circles and Bands, who are all working for the Master. It means hard work for the hostesses and often they do not get full benefit of the meeting. Mrs. Coles urged the delegates to make it possible for their hostesses to enjoy every session.

Mrs. J. Young, of Gilmour Memorial church, was appointed secretary of the convention. Miss M. A. Nicholls of Peterborough, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, held last year in Murray street Baptist church. She also announced that any Circle who would like to have a missionary address could have the services of Miss Pratt after June 12th. Attention was also called to the literature table under the charge of Mesdames C. B. Routley and Porter S. White. There was splendid literature to be had and the ladies were urged to avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining it.

Excellent Reports.

The roll call of Circles and Bands followed and many excellent reports were given showing increased membership and offerings, the latter usually being divided equally between home and foreign missions. The following Circles reported: Belleville, Campbellford, Cobourg, Colborne, Gilmour Memorial, Lakefield, Norwood, Peterborough, Murray street, Peterborough, Park street, Murray street, Peterborough, Young Women's Circle reported also.

The following Bands reported: Campbellford, Colborne, Cobourg, Cramahe, Gilmour Memorial, Norwood, Peterborough, Murray street, Peterborough, Park street.

Miss F. Maybee, of Toronto, gave an address on Home Mission Work. Miss Maybee, who from early childhood, cherished a great wish to labor as a missionary in India, was denied this work, but received a definite call to social service and took special training for the work.

POWER PLANTS WERE DAMAGED

Hydro Generators Caught in Electric Surge—Repair Crew from Belleville Showed Efficiency

Damage to Hydro power property in this city by last night's severe electric storm demonstrated the efficiency and promptness of the Commission's repair staff in this district.

As soon as the Auburn power plant and also the sub-station on Simcoe Street, which provides the current for Peterborough's street railway, were hit, a message was flashed to Belleville, the headquarters of the Hydro-Electric Commission in Central Ontario.

Immediately several experts in generator repair work, meters, and other electric branches ,together with experienced and capable handy men for the heavy labour, were despatched to Peterborough, drove through part of the storm, worked all night, and this morning before noon rested on the results of their urgent toil.

A new machine had been put into service in the sub-station on Simcoe Street, one of the generators at the Auburn was again operating, leaving the third, which is also a spare, for attention under less pressure.

A switch controlling a transformer was also damaged at the Auburn station, but the damage was reduced to a minimum by the fearlessness and fidelity of the operators in charge. When the surge of lightning swept into the power house and flamed with a roar above the machinery, cables caught fire and might have been put out of commission with heavy financial loss but for the prompt work of the plant employee, who, with a pyrene extinguisher kept the burst of flame on the cables to a small spot, and thus quickly extinguished it.

"Not all the heroes are in the Army and Navy," said The Examiner's informant, who believed that the average layman would be helpless with fright at the noise and the pyrotechnics of a power plant in the line of an electric storm.

"We're shaking hands with ourselves," said H. O. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission to The Examiner "A couple of fuses were knocked out, but that was all!"

It was reported last night that a generator was also damaged at the Healey Falls power house, and when the storm was at its height yesterday evening the circuit was opened as a safeguard, and the power was not turned on again until 8.15 o'clock.

The Hydro obtained some power from the Quaker Oats Company last night, but the heavy rains of late and the large volume of water flowing in the river made up for any slight temporary deficiency in the Hydro's power supply.

The house occupied by A. E. Sedgwick, situated just on the other side of the Lift Lock in Otonabee was struck about 6.30 yesterday evening.

The bolt ripped the shingles off the west side of the house, passed through the attic and downstairs, passing through the open kitchen door. Several beams in the attic were broken, some of the pieces being thrown across the room. Mrs. Sedgwick was struck in the face by sand and debris but she and her son who was also in the house, escaped uninjured. Mr. Sedgwick estimates the damage at about $50.

BOYS' Y.M.C.A. CAMP ON CLEAR LAKE AGAIN

For another year the Y.M.C.A. boys' camp will open the season at the Rotary Club's splendid boys' camp on Clear Lake. Though the camp last year did not leave much to be desired in the way of site and equipment, yet the Rotarians and the newly formed auxiliary—the Rotary Annes—were not altogether satisfied, with the result that this year the different camps will find an equipment not easily excelled. A new building, to be used as sleeping quarters, is now under construction and will be ready for the Y.M.C.A. boys when they go into camp on July 2. This building will give separate sleeping quarters for groups of eight boys, thus giving an opportunity for a closer fellowship between boys and the development of a spirit of loyalty to a group. The spacious dining hall will in time be fitted up with a fireplace, etc., so that rainy days in camp will occasion no discomfort. The Y.M.C.A. boys' camp will occupy the site from July 2 to July 14, and although this camp is promoted by the Boys' Work Committee of the Y.M.C.A. through the members of the association, any boy in the city, who is not being looked after in the way of summer camp by any church or organization, will be taken care of at very reasonable rates.

RUG INDUSTRY LOSSES.

TIENTSIN, June 6.—(Associated Press).—The unprecedented boom in the rug-making industry in China, which followed interruption of the Turkish and Persian trade during the war, has suffered a severe check.

Out of 500 factories which were built in Tientsin during the first years of the war, developing a daily output of more than 10,000 square inches, fewer than 300 have survived a renewal of competition. During the heyday of the industry prices soared from $1.60 to $1.80 per square foot to $3.00 and $4.00. About one-fourth of the output was consumed domestically and of the rest America took the bulk.

The slump is attributed largely to inferiority of the product under the enormously increased demand, due to inferior wool, unskillful dyeing and inexperienced workmanship.

TRAGIC STORY 20 YEARS OLD WAS REVIVED

Two Boys Missing For Twenty Years Are Now Believed to Have Been Drowned.

FOUND WATCH.

KINGSTON, Ont, June 6.—(Canadian Press).—Reviving the tragic story of the death of two Sharbot Lake boys, Norris Babcock, and James Martin, which occurred twenty-one years ago, part of a vest and a watch, positively identified as having been worn by James Martin, were fished up from the bottom of the lake yesterday. The two boys are known to have gone out on the lake. A terrible storm came up and they were never seen again, neither their bodies nor any part of their clothing ever being found. Some people held firmly to the idea that they had been drowned, while others suspected foul play saying that the bodies had been taken away altogether.

The finding of part of the vest and the watch and chain is taken to confirm the contention of those who held that the boys had been drowned.

ASk YOUR NEIGHBOR

There is hardly a neighborhood in the United States where women cannot be found who have derived benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this botanic medicine has been overcoming some of the worst forms of female ills. One woman has been benefitted by its use she has told others who have used it with the same good results; so the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore, ask your neighbor; let her tell you from experience the benefit which ailing women derive from its use.

PREMIER CHALLENGES THE CRITICS TO SPECIFY EXTRAVAGANT OUTLAY

General Charges of Reckless Expenditure Don't Count For Anything, Hon. Mr. Drury Told Audience at the Grand Theatre Last Night—Not Ashamed of Record.

REVIEWED HIS WORK.

New emphasis was given the elections in West Peterborough, and particularly the candidature of Thomas Tooms by the visit of Premier Drury last night.

Coming from Fenelon Falls, where he addressed a meeting in the afternoon, the Premier motored through a violent storm that flooded the roads and seriously damaged electric power plants in the district, leaving the city without light until 8.15 o'clock.

By that time the thunder had rolled away and the rain that had lashed the streets for several hours was abating, but the elements had done their worst to spoil Peterborough's greeting to the leader of the late Government of Ontario.

At eight o'clock the downpour was still so heavy that the rally seemed doomed to complete failure, but at the half-hour the audience in the Grand Theatre numbered several hundred, including quite a number of intrepid women, and by nine o'clock the ground floor was fairly well occupied with a few persons in the balcony. Both city and country people who would undoubtedly have attended were unable to leave their homes, but those who did turn out took full opportunity of the Hon. Mr. Drury's defence of his administration in an address of two hours, that included a challenge to his opponents to specify the alleged extravagances of the Government instead of confining their criticisms to broad generalities.

The Premier's voice was worn and husky from frequent use of late on the hustings, but he husbanded it in his review of the accomplishments of the Government in which he attempted no oratorical flights.

"I am not ashamed of my record," Hon. Mr. Drury said, after a detailed analysis of the Backus deal, which he laid to the credit of the Government, and the Shevlin Clarke timber investigation, the finding of which he charged against the Hon. Mr. Ferguson, and described as "a political scandal of the very gravest sort."

Others on the platform were Mr. Tooms, Mr S. S. Staples, and Mr. E. N. McDonald, the Government candidates in East Durham and East Peterborough respectively, Ald. Crowe, Thomas McMurray, W. R. Shields, and E. Brown, president of the United Farmers of Peterborough.

Mr. Tooms' Position.

Mr. Brown briefly stated the position of Mr. Tooms as the Farmer-Labour candidate as the result of recent negotiations between the two executives on an agreement that was mutually satisfactory.

Mr. Staples and Mr. McDonald spoke briefly, referring particularly to their associations with Premier Drury and Mr. Tooms.

"Mr. Tooms was a member who was diligent on the job," said Mr. Staples, "and I fail to see any representative Peterborough ever had who did more for Peterborough in the local House than Tommy Tooms."

Mr. Tooms said he personally introduced fourteen Bills in the Legislature, of which ten were on the statute books.

"The Drury Cabinet was really composed of business men," Mr. Tooms affirmed. "They never set themselves on a high pedestal and cloaked themselves with dignity to hide their ignorance. When any deputation went before any of the Ministers they were always heard, and something definite was always arrived at instead of the old way of something being promised to be done."

Commenting on the charges of extravagance that were being made against the Government Mr. Tooms said both parties were also responsible if there had been any extravagance because there had been a sufficient number in the Opposition to defeat any such measures.

"I have advocated good roads, but that is a matter that has been in the hands of the County Councils. It was optional with them whether they would adopt the good roads scheme or not. Thank goodness Peterborough County saw fit to go into the good roads scheme, and as a result we have now good roads all around Peterborough, even as far as Toronto."

Mr. Tooms said he had been instrumental in securing for Peterborough a branch Provincial laboratory and also the office of District Officer of Health. He had undertaken nothing except at the request of some organisation in West Peterborough.

Referring to a local press editorial to the effect that the Farmer-Labour coalition had not been much of a love match, Mr. Tooms said: "I want to tell you that such is not the case. If it has not been a love match, we have been doing a good deal of courting, and I have done my share to bring it to a successful result."

Farmers and Labour had much in common, he continued. When a farmer took his oats to a mill he was told the price was 70 cents, for example, and the next week the price might be only 60 cents for oats which cost just as much to produce. In the same way with hogs, the farmer had to take whatever price was handed out to him by the big corporations. And when working men went to the factories they had to take or leave the wage that was offered him.

The Premier Speaks.

"After four years' administration the first Progressive Party in the history of Canada faces the people. I have been saying that the issue would be on the record of that government, and on that work we must be prepared to stand or fall," said Hon. E. C. Drury, in his opening remarks. Stating that one of the chief criticisms levelled at the government was on the ground of excessive expenditure, he said that he had thrown out a challenge to his opponents to bring down this matter out of the realm of generalities, where it cannot be debated, asking them to particularize. "Let them say 'Here is an item on which too much has been expended.'" So far no response has been forthcoming to the Premier's request, and the question, he said, could not be intelligently discussed.

Some of what the speaker termed "Ferguson's irresponsible utterances," were reviewed, including a representation of himself as the zealous champion of labor, and a charge that the government killed a bill which he brought in to benefit the working man. The government increased the scale of money paid to injured men but later a bill was brought in to amend the workmen's compensation act. The Opposition leader said to the leader of the House that all contentious bills must be abandoned. This included the amendment, and the government agreed to the withdrawal of this and other bills on the threat of waste of time by the leaders of the Opposition, although the Government believed in this measure.

The Backus Timber Deal.

It was charged that the Backus transaction was so objectionable that it had to be completed in secret. "That," said the speaker, "is indicative of the politics that are being played. If I make a secret deal I am not fit to be premier of the province. Ferguson discovered after the lapse of two years with all the facts before the public that the Backus deal was put through in secret. As you get further away from a thing it is easier to make more out of it." This "secret" deal, the premier said, was put through on Sept. 30, but on Sept. 17 the Globe published the story—two full weeks before the agreement was completed—remarking that the agreement for the English River limit would be decided at a Cabinet meeting to which

STORM DAMAGE IS NOT HEAVY THIS SECTION

LIGHTNING HEAVY.

One of the heaviest storms of the season passed over this city and district yesterday afternoon with a repeat performance in the evening. The result was a complete demoralization of street car traffic and a tie up in the light and power services. The heavy rain was more than the storm sewers could handle with the result that some of surplus found its way into cellars on some of the low lying streets.

The city is still without street car service, and five to six hundred telephones are out of commission as a result of the storm. Several buildings are reported struck in the city and vicinity, and some roads are blocked by fallen trees. There were seven fuses blown in the fire alarm system and the circuit was out of commission temporarily.

TWO HORSES KILLED

BETHANY, June 6.— During the heavy electrical storm that passed over this section yesterday afternoon lightning struck a barn belonging to Weston Hutchinson, about a mile south west of the village, killing two horses. Mr. Hutchinson had been working the horses and when the storm came on he placed them in the stable with the harness on. Very little damage was done to the barn.

On Monday a barn on the farm of Dalton Brown at Fleetwood was struck by lightning and set on fire. The blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

KEENE, June 6—This section reports a very heavy electrical storm but no damage. The crops are looking splendid and have had sufficient rain.

MILLBROOK, June 6. — Last evening the Methodist church here was struck by lightning and slightly damaged. Some of the shingles were torn off but the lightning did not set fire to the building.

LAKEFIELD, June 6.—A heavy rainstorm passed over Lakefield yesterday afternoon and evening but so far no buildings have been reported struck by the severe lighting which accompanied the storm.

NORWOOD, June 6.—So far as can be learned this morning this town and district came through last night's storm with no damage to report.

OMEMEE, June 6.—A washout on Frank Fee's hill was the only damage reported here. An automobile crashed into the washout and smashed two front wheels and an axle.

Sunken Vessel Lies in Forty Feet of Water.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., June 6.—(Canadian Press.)— With only her pilot house and smoke stack visible the steamer Schiller lies in forty feet of water about a half mile below Iroquois Light. The Schiller ran about five miles after she was struck according to stories by some of the crew from deep water to her position where she is now lying. Alongside her are the lifeboats to which the crew took when it was seen the steamer would be submerged. Most of them lost their belongings in the after cabins in the thick fog the crew waited for assistance and feer brought to the Soo by the tug Illinois. No arrangements have yet been made to raise her, but work will be started within a few days, it is thought. The crew are still being held at the Soo. Weather yesterday morning was thick and foggy. Navigation very slow after the rush of Monday night.

Horse Was Killed By Bolt of Lightning.

TRENT RIVER, June 6.—During the electrical storm which swept over this district early yesterday afternoon, a valuable horse owned by John Ruttan was instantly killed.

Mr. Ruttan is caretaker of Maple Grove cemetery, and has been in attendance at the funeral of the little Ernest Franklin Drain boy. He was in a storehouse, and on hearing the crash he ran out, finding the horse lying down. The animal mysteriously rose to its feet after being struck, although life must have been extinct.

Much sympathy goes to Mr. Ruttan, as this is the second horse he has lost in less than a year.

A new telephone pole on Browning avenue was also struck and shattered during the storm.

KILLED ON TRACK.

PORT CREDIT, June 6.—(Canadian Press.) — Struck by a westbound train Harry Allison, aged sixty, was instantly killed near here yesterday while gathering coal on the railway tracks. He did not notice the approach of the train.

DOCTOR STATES YOUNG BANDIT NEVER INSANE

FEIGNED INSANITY.

KINGSTON, June 6.— (Canadian Press.)—That the late Leo Rogers was not insane and never was insane, is the strong contention of Dr. E. Ryan, superintendent of the Rockwood Insane Hospital, who had occasion to closely examine the late desperado several times, and who each time found no trace of insanity. Dr. Ryan, in a thorough clinical study of Rogers states that after his attack on Inspector Duncan, Rogers feigned insanity, but never did he show real insanity.

Dr. Ryan says that the life of Rogers was not influenced in any way by his life in the penitentiary. "Too much emotionalism," says the doctor, "is expended on the Rogers' type, thus begetting the trend of mind dangerous to science and to justice."

Dr. Ryan says further, that the tragic course of the Rogers' case: "But emphasizes the urgent necessity for the creation of an independent board of mental experts to study carefully and to advise, not only at the trial of such men, but to study their subsequent lives and to advise constituted authority as to their disposition."

Baths Were a Luxury Unknown to Forefathers.

LONDON, June 16.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—There was an amusing discussion in the standing committee on the government's housing bill yesterday on the question of the provision of baths in converted houses.

It was argued that baths were a luxury unknown to our forefathers.

J. Wheatley (Labor, Glasgow) expressed the opinion that it would be better to have no houses and live in the open than houses without baths.

J. W. Lorden (Conservative) said the conversion of hundreds of houses would be upheld if the conditions were not made too onerous and another member said that baths seemed an obsession to some people. It was something like a piano which people wanted because they thought it a sign of respectability.

Neville Chamberlain suggested that the committee should ramble less in the discussion.

The amendment introduced by Captain Wedgewood Benn providing for fixed baths was rejected by 25 to 19 votes.

Fined For Driving Car With One Hand.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 6 (Canadian Press). — Wellington Cober, Hespeler, was fined $15.00 by County Magistrate Vance yesterday for one-handed driving on the Galt Highway. He was instructed to do his loving in future in parlours.

O. Fallstrom, who collided with C. H. Little, was fined $35.00, and costs, for reckless driving.

Russian Reply May Arrive To-Morrow.

MOSCOW, June 6.—(Canadian Press)—Russia's reply to Lord Curzon's latest memorandum on Anglo-Russian relations was forwarded to London yesterday, and will probably be delivered by Leonid Krassin on Thursday. The document is of considerable length and is understood to be a not unqualified acceptance of the British demands, though it is generally conciliatory.

In the Pravda, M. Probrashensky a noted publicist, declares that Curzon is "playing the policy of New York," in minimizing the importance of Russian trade to England.

"If Europe economically is gradually becoming a province of America then why," he adds, "should not English diplomacy, little by little, become the mouthpieceof of the American people?"

Moscow newspapers print at length alleged evidence of British interference in Soviet Russia, and take reference to a document containing an agreement of last September whereby the British promise to finance and arm anti-soviet forces at Bokhara, Turkestan.

CATTLE MART STEADY TRADE WAS QUIET

Butcher Prices Steady at Yesterday's 25c Decline—Export Steady — Hogs Lower.

Trade comparatively quiet and slow yesterday, but advices in the butcher section practically steady with Monday's decline of 25 cents from the previous week. There were quite a few cattle left over from Monday, but the run of fresh cattle was light, and the market, on the whole is not in such bad shape for a fair clean-up in the netx couple of days. In view of the sudden spell of warm weather, and the easier tone to the market, shippers are advised to hold their cattle back a few days rather than to overcrowd this week end markets.

In the export section, the heavy cattle are pretty well cleared at steady prices, Rogers and Maybee alone, in the two days taking over 1,000 cattle to be shipped east to seaboard this week. Prices ranged from $8.00 to $8.85 for the heavy export steers.

Stocker trade steady with a fair demand.

Calf market steady to strong, tops, $11.00 to $12.00.

Heavy sheep dull and not wanted.

Hog market weak, packers bidding for yesterday's hogs, $8.75, f.o.b., with 60c. differential fed and watered, at $9.35. For yesterday's tradings bids are 50c. lower or $8.25 f.o.b.

A HEAVY RAIN.

The rainfall yesterday was unusually heavy, and there should be no complaints of dry wells or lack of moisture in the soil for some time. The fall in Peterboro was 2 inches and 1-12 on the level. We have already had in June a full month's quota.

FIRE IN FREIGHT SHEDS.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 6 (Canadian Press). — Fire did damage to the extent of about $5,000 to the freight sheds of the Canada Steamships Lines, at the foot of James Street, yesterday afternoon.

DIFFICULTIES IN WOOLLEN TRADE ARE EXPLAINED

Under Consumption of Goods Has Been Caused By High Prices—Canadian Mill Closed.

WOOL EXPORTED.

OTTAWA, June 6. — (Canadian Press).—Mr Forke observed that the cause of the depression in the woolen trade was not over-production but under-consumption. If prices of woolens could be reduced to a point where the people could afford to purchase them, there would be a great demand. He wondered how many people in Canada were forced to go without woolen underclothing in winter because they could not pay the prices for it.

Sir Henry argued that the prices of woolens had increased last year. He also remarked that a Canadian woolen mill had closed down.

A. E. Ross, Conservative, Kingston, was opposed to closing down Canadian mills and admitting goods from other countries.

Mr. Fielding said that the argument of Sir Henry Drayton appeared to be that if duties were reduced prices increased. He refused to take this seriously. He also remarked that tariff changes which were regarded by Opposition speakers as insignificant during the Budget debate had now assumed vast proportions.

G. C. Coote (Progressive, MacLeod) favored a greater increase in the British preference and tariff reductions on woolens.

J. Malcolm, (Bruce North), said the British preference implied very little in the importation of cotton goods. Most cotton hosiery came from the United States. He urged that the small mills in Ontario should receive consideration to the point that would help them to compete with England and Scotland.

W. X. Baldwin (Liberal, Stanstead) attributed a large proportion of the difficulties which Canadian woolen manufacturers were experiencing to the fact that great American organizations were buying up Canadian wool.

J. F. White (Conservative, London) opposed the increase in British preference and declared that the Canadian mills already had to meet the keenest competition. If the burdens on the Canadian manufacturer he must reduce wages, with the result that workers left the country.

Mr. Forke expressed the opinion that middlemen were great factors in enhancing prices. He wishes to dispel the idea that farmers were opposed to the manufacturers. "We are not fighting manufacturers, we are fighting a system which we think has worked badly in this country," he added. He thought it would be a good thing if the manufacturers and farmers could get closer together.

Illustrating the argument that middlemen enhanced prices greatly, Mr. Forks referred to the case of a western farmer who had been charged $2.60 for a box of apples. He had found on opening the apples a card on which it was stated that the pro-

HOSPITAL HAS SERVED PERIOD OF 8 CENTURIES

St. Bartholomew's Celebrated Eight Hundredth Anniversary of Its Founding.

WALES PRESIDED.

LONDON, June 6.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Celebrating the eight hundredth anniversary of the founding of St. Bartholomew's hospital, which was first opened for service in the ancient priory of the church of St. Bartholomew, the pealing of pre-reformation bells yesterday summoned a congregation of doctors, students, nurses and delegates from the universities of Great Britain, the Dominions, India and the United States, who afterwards formed a procession to the hospital quadrangle.

A fanflare of trumpets announced "solemnity" and fourteen Augustine canons intoned an ancient latin hymn after which two episodes in the history of the hospital were enacted in the costumes of the periods, those of Henry First and Henry Eighth.

The Prince of Wales as president of the hospital had luncheon with the Lord Mayor in Guild hall where the delegates presented addresses to the Prince.

The celebration, which will continue for a week will include the revival of the St. Bartholomew fair and a series of historical tableaux.

TIME FOR ACTION.

Protests from manufacturing concerns as to the deplorable condition of Park street, south of Charlotte street, while they only confirm the general opinion as to the necessity of putting this piece of roadway into something like passable condition, are not a very good advertisement for municipal efficiency.

The thoroughfare is an important artery of traffic—yet it has been allowed to deteriorate until its present condition would not do justice to some of the colonization roads in the back townships.

Had Peterborough followed the example of other communities and carried out a definite and progressive policy of permanent road-making Park street would long since have been paved from one end to the other.

It has been false economy to postpone this very necessary piece of construction work until the road surface is so bad as to call for vigorous protests from industrial firms and from citizens generally.

Temporary repairs should be executed on this street without delay, and as soon as possible it should be included in the list of thoroughfares on which there should be a permanent surface laid as soon as possible.

All main arteries should be paved, for patch-work methods and neglect only lead to conditions that can only be described as deplorable.

SATURDAY'S APPEAL.

In reminding the people of Peterborough of the tag day on Saturday on behalf of the Peterborough Health Association the Examiner feels confident that its readers will realize the urgency of the call and will be ready to give cheerfully in aid of an organization that has done and is doing magnificent work in this city.

The Health Association's camp at Jackson Park for children of sub-normal health, the employment of a district nurse, the efforts on behalf of victims of the White Plague, the work in conjunction with the Rotary Club on behalf of crippled children—each of these departments has earned the thanks of and deserves the support of the community.

The Motor Show, successful as it was, has not supplied sufficient funds to carry on the full programme this year—hence Saturday's tag day, which provides an opportunity of rounding out the budget and making it possible for the plans of the association to be completed.

A generous response on Saturday should relieve the officers of the association of all worries in regard to finances for the current year and leave them free to concentrate upon the execution of the splendid work planned for this summer.

For the sake of the scores of children to whom the summer camp is a priceless boon during the hot weather, open your purse strings on Saturday and give the Health Association a mandate to finish its work.

HERE'S A BLOW!

Communities, like individuals, are inclined sometimes as they prosper to swell out their chests and imagine that they are very important centres not far removed from the status of a metropolis.

Often it is necessary to have the sense of proportion restored by a sharp shock.

Peterborough has just had such a sensation—perhaps not necessary in this enterprising community, but nevertheless a reminder that although the world is a small place and Peterborough seems in the eyes of its citizens at least a centre whose fame has spread abroad, there are people not so far away who have not heard of Peterborough canoes or the famous Lift Lock, or any of the local institutions in which so much pride is taken.

Erie, Pa., is not any more than just around the corner as distances are figured in these days of rapid transportation.

Yet in that city of beautiful trees lives an individual to whom Peterborough evidently only exists as a Hudson Bay Post or a hamlet nestling close to the virgin forests of the Hinterland.

To Mr. A. MacNab, station agent of the Canadian Northern, this benighted Pennsylvanian, intimating that he is coming up into this district on a camping trip, writes as follows:

"Kindly give me the name of the general store there as I want to arrange to get some supplies."

So to one man at least Peterborough is back in the days of one store—and little else.

NATIONAL RESEARCH WORK.

Dr. Wickett again returns to the subject of industrial research in Ontario. From the national point of view, it is a matter which is kept much to the fore by public speakers as well as everyone impressed by our country's necessities, and yet a surprising degree of public indifference is manifested, says the Hamilton Spectator. Professor Macallum, of McGill University, former chairman of the Canadian Advisory Council on Research, has pointed out that the national debt of two and a half billion dollars, to which must be added the debts contracted by the railways, the Provincial Governments and municipalities, estimated at considerably over three billion, can be liquidated only by the development of our national resources, and this implies research work on a far more ambitious scale than has hitherto been attempted. The developed wealth of Canada, according to this authority, does not exceed twenty billion dollars, nearly one-third of which is mortgaged. The develped wealth of the United States is estimated at 320 billion dollars, the total debt being about forty billion, or only one-eighth of its resources.

According to a census taken a few years ago, there were less than a dozen industrial corporations in Canada which maintained laboratories or employed scientists; whereas the United States has such research laboratories established in two thousand private firms. In addition to these there is the great Mellon institute at Pittsburg and the National Bureau of Standards at Washington. Canada's effort is negligible compared with this. Yet no country offers such prospects of handsome rewards.

POLICE ESTIMATES.

The City Council has decided to "stand pat" on its attitude towards the question of police estimates—that is, the reduced estimates are to stand, so far as the Council is concerned.

Without prejudice in regard to the merits of the dispute, it is perhaps just as well that the local Council has arrived at this decision, for their stand should result in a clearing up of the situation, not only locally, but in every city in Ontario where the Council and Police Commission have differed as to the power of the former in regard to the estimates of the latter body.

It is only by putting the legislation to an actual test that a definite interpretation of the amendment passed by the Legislature can be obtained.

Legal opinion at present seems to be divided in opinion, some lawyers contending that City Councils have the power to reduce the estimates and others maintaining that the amendment does not confer the necessary authority in this respect.

The framer of the legislation succeeded in leaving it so obscured that lawyers have no difficulty in getting several meanings out of it, and it looks as if the only way to get at a definite result is through the courts.

The local Council have taken a course that seems likely to have the tangle unravelled through the sole channel that seems to offer a logical opening.

THE LIQUOR RULING.

The United States Treasury Department has decided to obey the law of the United States as interpreted by the American Supreme Court.

That there should be any surprise or discussion about so obvious a statement as the above, says the Montreal Star, betrays how far we have all permitted the joking and jibing of the Americans over their prohibitory legislation to deflect our sane judgment. The startling thing would be to hear that the American Executive had decided to disobey American law or to defy a ruling of their Supreme Court.

Lady Astor—who is a real friend of amicable relations between her native country and her adopted country, whatever else may be said of her—implored the British people the other day to deny themselves the openly enjoyed pleasure of jeering at the Americans over their anti-liquor legislation. There is no doubt that the liberty-loving British and the wine-loving Latin nations have got a lot of fun out of it. But the fun has been at the expense of the good-will of the majority of the American people who do undoubtedly believe in prohibition.

Their belief is so sincere and determined that the Federal Government has taken what we may well imagine to be a reluctant decision to risk complications with foreign nations rather than even appear to "water" down the strength of the pro-water legislation which the American people obtained at the point of the "ballot" and insist upon enforcing as far into blue water as their writs can run. The Washington Government clearly have kept in mind the fact that the American prohibitionists will have votes in the next elections, while the British jesters and the French fun-makers will not.

NATIONAL REDISTRIBUTION.

In the rearrangement of the constituencies, as in regard to franchise and election laws, Parliament performs what is virtually a judicial function. Its duty is to see that fair play is done to all parties, but, above all, to the electors. In earlier days this was not fully recognized. It was charged, and with some reason, that the Government and the party having a majority in the House made unjust use of their power. The precedent now established at Ottawa is that the work of rearranging the constituencies after a decennial census shall be entrusted to a committee on which both or all parties shall be represented. The new plan is an improvement on the old, but it would be vain to deny that the duty is still a difficult and delicate one.

Each member of the committee is and cannot avoid being to some extent a judge in his own cause. He can hardly be expected to lose sight of the effect of the redistribution on his own political fortunes and those of his party. He cannot view without regret the wiping out of his own constituency and the creation of a new one in which his chance of re-election will be lessened.

But to say that the duty is difficult is not to admit that it can be shirked. It is one of the occasions when personal and party interests must be subordinated to the dignity and fair fame of Parliament and the rights of the electors. The House of Commons in this case is a trustee for the electors, and the betrayal of the trust would be a blow at the esteem in which our free institutions are held by the people.

The electorate has been very materially altered since the last redistribution. The population has been increased by more than a million and a half. The West is relatively stronger than it was ten years ago. The Prairie Provinces now contain 22.26 per cent. of the population of Canada, as compared with 18.53, as shown by the census of 1911. British Columbia has 5.97 of the total population, as compared with 5.45. Considerably more than a fourth of the population is now west of Ontario. The growth in a decade is not sensational, but a view of a longer period reveals the remarkable progress of the West, where, within the memory of men still living, the population was negligible. Ontario now contains 33.38 per cent. of the population, and Quebec 26.87, a slight deiline in each case from the proportion held in 1921, and all the Maritime Provinces have had a similar experience.

There has been a remarkable change in the relation of urban to rural population. The urban population of Canada has increased in a decade by considerably more than a million, the rural population by little more than half a million, and the two are now almost equal, the exact figures being, rural, 4,435,710, and urban, 4,352,773. The change is still more notable if we go back thirty years, when the rural population was more than twice that of the urban centres. In Ontario the urban population is 1,707,283, as compared with 1,226,379 in the countryside. Quebec shows an urban excess of nearly 300,000. The drift from country to city and town is deplored by some serious students of public affairs, but it cannot be ignored in the redistribution. Preferring city to country life may be in many cases unwise, but it is not a ground for withholding political rights. A substantial strengthening of urban representation may, therefore, be regarded as one of the certainties of the redistribution measure.—The Globe.

THE FIRST GUN IN LAKEFIELD

Fired at Political Meeting Last Night

LAKEFIELD, June 6.—The first gun in the political campaign in Lakefield was fired Monday night when E. N. McDonald, M.P.P., Progressive candidate, addressed a fair-sized audience in the Queen street theatre. E. J. Galvin, president of the East Peterboro U.F.O. presided and addressed the meeting for a few minutes giving a brief sketch of the rise of the farmer's movement fifteen years ago in Regina and the organization of the United Farmers in Ontario about eight years ago. When the farmers were elected in 1919 they were as much surprised as anyone else, he said. The question of choosing a candidate is a serious matter and should not be undertaken lightly nor should the priviledge of voting be overlooked.

Mr. McDonald was the next speaker, referred to those who go about among the people of every constituency making them believe that they are not satisfied and his advice was to go to all the meetings of all parties and take notes on the speeches made and from that decide which way to vote on June 25.

There have been complaints regarding the costs of good roads in some ridings as the county pays 20% of the cost of the provincial highways and some ridings have no highway such as East Peterboro. The county pays on the eight miles of the Peterboro-Port Hope highway which lies in the county.

A point has been raised by opponents of the Drury government that they have raised their own salaries. In the spring of 1920 during the first session of the Drury Government there was a demand from the members for the indemnities of $1,400 to be raised to $2,000 or $2,500 as the Dominion Government had raised the indemnities to $4,000. Premier Drury decided against a raise and lowered his own salary from $12,000 to $9,000. During the next year there was a renewed demand for a raise and Drury allowed a bonus of $600 to be paid to each man. All accepted and took this raise but a few of the U.F.O. members and W. F. Nickle, Conservative member from Kingston.

Mr. Ferguson says that the Drury Government has raised the taxes from 50 to 100 per cent. A study of the tax bill shows how absurd this is. There is a small addition for the mother's allowance and for the provincial highway.

The village of Norwood pays $300 toward the highway but the speaker was not informed as to the share of Lakefield. In no other way are the taxes raised. Under the old regime Lakefield received a government grant of $150 for schools, while under the Drury Government there has been $1,500 and $1,600. The reason is that under the old system Lakefield was classed an an urban district while now it is called a rural district. Lakefield may resent being called a rural district but under the new law villages with a population of less than 1,500 are classed as rural.

The Community Halls Act which gives a grant to community halls is one of Doherty's bills and under it Lakefield recieved about $2,000 for the new hall.

Regarding the roads in general but particularly the Burleigh road. Before 1919 the grants to colonization roads were made to the townships of Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther and had been for many years. There were many complaints as to how the money was spent and the speaker resolved to look into the matter. During the first year of the Drury Government a larger grant was asked for and a survey was to be made so as to make the road passable for tourists and the settlers who wished a road to bring out their produce to Lakefield and Peterboro. The survey was made this year and the grant is increased and the government is spending $5,000 on the Burleight to Apsley road this summer and they intend that the increased grant shall be continued till the road is made passible for travel.

Regarding the financing of elections and the expense of polling booths, etc., the municipality pays this and sends a bill to the department for the same. In order to save the expense which the enumerators cost the country at the last election (which only afforded a chance for a little patronage) the municipal election lists have been used with the addition of Part III which includes the names of all eligible to vote whose names are not on the municipal list.

Mr. Doherty has done a great deal for the farmers as the Minister of Agriculture and especially for those who were unfairly dealt with by the dairymen. The farmer government has tried to govern justly for both town and country. Mr. Doherty with his farmers loans on short and long term credit has helped many farmers and $4,000,000 has been loaned to the farmers of Ontario. The speaker feels that it is a shame that agriculture should be lowered to have to ask for loans. Mr. Doherty also has been instrumental in having the cattle embargo lifted and this year 400,000 cattle will be exported to Great Britain. This will of course be a benefit not only to the farmers but also the dwellers in towns and cities also. This only cost a small sum to procure viz Mr. Doherty's expenses while in England and his fare.

Regarding the provincial debt which in 1919 was 97 millions, Mr. Thompson said in Norwood at the nomination that year that 40 millions of that was not a debt but an investment as it was invested in Hydro and loaned to municipalities which paid interest. At present 117 millions are invested in Hydro and the whole amount of Ontario's debt aside from that producing revenue is only about 64½ millions. The provincial treasurer thinks it possible to pay off the debt in forty years by setting aside $600,000 a year as sinking fund. The housing loans in 1919 were $700,000 and in 1921 when this act was repealed the government had to furnish 6,600,000. This will of course be paid back in due time.

The speaker concluded by saying that they were going to the country on their record and would stand or fall by it. He expects to be in Lakefield again and will be prepared to answer questions regarding political matters which may arise at other meetings.

Mr. Wallace Anderson of Warsaw gave a recitation by special request, "How the Deacon Drove the Calf", after which the meeting concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

MINING TO FARMING.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6.—(United Press).—Agriculture is gradually replacing mining as the premier occupation of natives of South Africa, according to statistics of the National Institute of Progressive Farming here.

Statistics formerly showed 81 per cent. mining and 13 per cent. agriculture, but have changed to mining 63 per cent. and farming 30 per cent., the Institute said. Some credit for the growth of agriculture may be attributed to American labor-saving farm implements being introduced in the country.

THE problem of non-skid traction for your rear wheels with plain-tread steering ease on the front wheels is solved by the tread on Dominion Royal Cord Tires.

The advantage of interchanging rear tires to the front wheels and vice-versa, thus obtaining longer mileage for the set, is a very real one.

It is therefore important that the treads give you a maximum of traction on the rear wheels and no steering trouble on the front wheels.

Dominion Royal Cord Tires give you this advantage without the drawback of steering trouble caused by "climbing" on crowned roads or ruts.

"If there was one thing in the world,' the speaker said, "that this agreement was not, it was not secret. It was discussed before the people at the time it was made, but a man who is irresponsible in his public utterances now endeavors to tell the public that this was hidden from the people of the province. There is not a word of truth in the statement."

Discussing the merits of the case, Dr. Drury reviewed the history of the Backus acquisitions in the Lake of the Woods district and Keewatin. The Lake of the Woods limit was purchased from the old government, and Backus was being pressed to go on with the development of this section. The town of Kenora, expecting a new industry, prepared to receive the people who would be brought in by that industry, making heavy expenditures. The citizens were confronted by a rate of taxation that was deadly, and the town faced bankruptcy. Backus was handicapped by lack of water power, and it was agreed to lease him the White Dog Rapids, which is not the only water power in that locality. Backus agreed to surrender to the government forever the control of the Norman dam, for which the government would now have to pay $150,000, if compelled to purchase it. This concession was in addition to the usual fees.

A very special lease was drawn up safeguarding the interests of the province. Ferguson said that no cruise was made. But the cruise of a pulp limit is a very different thing from the cruise of a timber limit, not requiring the same accuracy. The government knew what was on the English timber limit, having reports from the Provincial Forester who estimated that at least 50 per cent. of the territory did no conain imber of any kind, being under water or burned over. There was one cord of spruce per acre. The government did not depend wholly on the report of the government officer but called an independent authority who had cruised this limit, and who was known to be a business rival of Backus.

"Are we open to the charge of selling these limits without sufficient data?" the speaker asked. A stipulation made in passing the limit to Backus was that they must be developed at Kenora.

Mr. Drury pointed out that the government gave ample warning by press notices of the impending deal, and scored Mr. Ferguson for not discovering until two years had elapsed that the proposition was not sufficiently advertised.

The Timber Commission.

Ferguson doesn't like commissions, the Premier remarked. "I wouldn't either if I was in his place. He does not like to hear about timber. I wouldn't either. I wouldn't go under a pine tree as long as I lived." When the present government came into power the speaker said, it found that the revenues from timber were ridiculously small. Stories came in that the timber areas were not being properly administered, and the government appointed the first of its commissions which included two of the greatest Judges of the Ontario bench, whom the government could secure, Latchford and Riddell. Ferguson adopted a strange attitude toward these judges, as a representative of a party that has prided itself on standing for law and order. "He said that he would make their names a bye-word throughout the province. He talked of hides on the fences. I think he called them skunks." This commission found a terrible condition of affairs. It found government officers who were more zealous for those buying from the province than they were for the government. It found returns that were sworn to without being correct. It found the government leading the way in breaking the law. There was a regulation in the department with the force of a statute, that timber limits should not be sold except after proper valuation and by public tender. Ferguson said that he considered himself superior to the law and he had the right to disregard the regulation. This is indicative of the character of the man. No man in this British realm can be superior to the law. He is a dangerous man to put in authority. What will bind him?"

Mr. Drury read extracts from the evidence given in the Shevelin-Clarke timber commission, showing that those who were charged with the duty of cruising and reporting on the timber limits to be sold did not do their work, were not qualified to do it, and were under the patronage of the old government That is the record of the man who boasted up and down the province that he would chase into private life two eminent judges; that is the record in office of the man who now says, unrepentent of his past misdeeds, that he is going to be the next premier of the province. He says: 'I have been unfaithful in a few things, make me ruler over many.'"

Mr. Drury reviewed minutely the record and achievements of his administration, including the educational work, mothers' allowance act, removal of the cattle embargo, highway construction, disposition of Hydro-Radials, and the enforcement of the O.T.A. He dwelt especially on the expenditures of the government, justifying them, and pointing out where great sums had been saved the province by careful management and close investigation. In the matter of Hydro-Radials, he said the proposal was to establish a system of radials which could only profit by stealing the traffic from the steam railroads. "We earned the permanent enmity of the Toronto Globe when we said 'We will not go on with this thing without investigating it.' We knew that we were taking our political life in our hands, but it was duty. We found that the Radials could not be run at a profit, and we said the province could not go into that business, thus saving that expenditure. Our opponents say that we have been extravagant. If we have been, is there not some particular item? General charges do not count for anything."

The Premier detailed the expenditures made on projects commenced by the previous government, including the Chippewa and Hydro-Electric developments, for which the government had to find one million dollars a week for a time. He was proud because the province retained its credit through that period. The T. and N. O. line necessitated an expenditure of $3,300,000, but that line has opened up the great north country with all its wealth, and the line will not only clear expenses but will pay a profit

A sum of $6,200,000 was advanced towards the housing scheme, which was a legacy from the previous government. Northern development cost $3,700,000; $1,400,000 was expended on fire ranging, in establishing roads through the bush, and look out posts The good road building cost $36,900,000.

Enumerating the current expenditure, the premier showed that the late government spent $60,000 less than its predecessor, and had shown more efficiency. "Will our critics come out and put their fingers on the place where we have spent too much?" he asked.

The O.T.A.

Remarking that he would not be doing his duty were he to neglect announcing his policy on the Ontario Temperance Act, Mr. Drury ridiculed the attitude of Mr. Ferguson on this question.

Ferguson policy, the speaker said, "is a wink to the wets and a nod to the drys. He will be all things to all men if by any means he may win some.

My attitude and the attitude of my government is fixed. The principle of prohibition has been affirmed by the people of the province. There was an emphatic demand for it and never an adverse vote. It is the verdict of the people. It has demonstrated its rightness and effectiveness, and I am prepared to maintain that in the face of figures on poverty and crime. It has been impartially enforced by the government, which stands for the careful and progressive enforcement of the law in conformity with public opinion. This is my confession of faith, and the confession of faith of the people of this province."

Appreciates Mr. Tooms.

The speaker paid a tribute to the government candidate for West Peterborough, Thomas Tooms, saying that during the four years he had been in the Legislature the Peterborough representative has won the respect of the House. "He does his duty carefully and conscientiously. He is zealous for the constituency he represents, and the government wants all members to look after the needs of their constituencies. I am glad that his local difficulties are straigthened out, and that the Progressive forces will give him their united support."

School News.

The High and Public Schools with the exception of the entrance class observed the holiday on Monday, as did also the Bank of Toronto.

The High School scholars accompanied by their teachers, Mr. Leighton and Miss Alderson, enjoyed a pleasant outing to Thurstonia where they had previously arranged to hold their annual picnic.

The weather was far from the desire of the picnicers, continuous showers having prevailed throughout the afternoon; but evidently picnic parties planned by the O.H.S. are not to be tampered with by the weather man, for they returned home brimful of the days pleasures.

Sad Taking Away.

On Thursday evening about eleven thirty p.m. Mr. H. Onyon of Trenton, paymaster for the Standard Paving Co., here, received the sad news that his little nine-year-old son was lying at the point of death. He immediately left for home by motor, arriving there at about 3 a.m. only to find the child in an unconscious condition, from which he never rallied, but passed away the following morning.

The little fellow was last seen playing with some school mates on the top of the mountain behind the public school, and when found by his mother was lying unconscious at the foot of same, where a large excavation was made in taking out gravel.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved parents.

PRAYERS ASKED TO AID SOLDIERS

The Dominion Veterans' Alliance Proposes That the Requirements of ex-Service Men Be Made Subject of Prayer.

OTTAWA, June 6 (Canadian Press). — A proposal that the question of proper legislation in order to bring "full measure of justice" to ex-soldier and dependent pensioners be made the subject of prayer in all the churches throughout Canada has been placed before the executive of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance by the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, one of the constituent organisations.

The suggestion originated in the Victoria unit, and asked that the officers of all denominations shall "offer prayers in their churches to the God of justice that He will now imbue the Government of Canada with courage, strength, and determination to do justice and equity in regard to pensions and medical care of those men and women who, by reason of their sacrifice at the call of the Government of Canada are now bereaved, disabled, or incapacitated."

It is also proposed that such prayers shall be offered continually until they are answered.

TELLING WHY

ROMAN MEAL

is a "cooling" summer cereal

Why? Because it is the only alkaline cereal. "Alkaline" means opposite of acid. The blood must be alkaline, or we are hot and miserable. It is alkaline when our foods are rich in alkali. Unrefined whole-grain cereals, beans, nuts, milk, vegetables, fruits are rich in alkali. Grains carry their alkali in their dark parts. These are refined out of white flour and modern dainty cereals, leaving white flour, modern corn and wheat cereals, from 150 to 200 parts in every 1,000, and modern oat cereals about 50 parts in every 1,000 parts "Excess Acid." Acid cereals cause acid blood. Acid blood is called "heated" blood. Alkaline, whole-grain cereals keep the blood as nature intended it, alkaline or "cool." Acid blood is no hotter than alkaline but it causes that "all in" feeling so common on a hot day to civilized people, who live largely upon "Excess-Acid" foods. Roman Meal is 400 parts in each 1,000 parts "Excess Alkali" because it is one-quarter Flaxin, the richest in alkaline salts of anything that grows. It "Cools" the blood, energizes and electrifies the mind and body on the hottest day. It corrects the "excess acid" of white flour, other cereals, meats, fats and sweets. Eat it in some form every day served with milk, or with milk as drink. Use plenty of vegetables and fruits and note the high pressure sense of fitness and well-being that is yours on the hottest day. The hottest tasting Roman Meal Product will keep you feeling cooler than the coldest tasting refined cereal, because it is alkaline. But you can now eat Roman Meal icy-cold and more deliciously tempting to the palate on a hot morning than is any other food.

DEYELL'S REPLY TO ANDERSON

To the Editor:

Dear Sir,—There appeared another letter over the signature "W. A. ANDERSON" with the word "CHALLENGE" attached. Now I will substitue the word challenge with the word BLUFF and I presume that the reader will come to the same conclusion when he has the correct citations placed within his reach. He stated that I was blaming him in the first place for the non expenditure of extra money on the Block Road, Otonabee. I was giving him credit for trying to father such foolish expenditure and I was giving the Government or Highways Department credit for not approving of a foolish expenditure on the same road.

The assumption of a part of the Block Road as a part of the Sub-Area system, and, the non approval by the Department with regard to a By-law forwarded to the Department to approve of one mill extra on Otonabee on the balance of the Road from the bend where it swings off to Keene, thence East to the sixth line, where the Norwood road comes to the City—are two different matters. He knew the Department would reply that the Sub-Area Commission did not ask for approval of the assumption by said Commission for he knew for reasons that will be observed as the reader looks over this letter; that is, the Commission did not assume such Road therefore did not ask approval. The Sub-Area Commission attended the Session of the County Council last January and when Mr. Anderson was trying to coerce the Commision to promise him that they would assume a part of the Road in question, as a part of the Sub-Area system, he made the following statement. He said that the People of Otonabee were willing for the Township Council of Otonabee to pass a resolution requesting the County Council to pass a By-law striking an extra rate of one mill on the Dollar on the Township of Otonabee to be expended on this same Road in 1922. The resolution reached the County Council and the County passed such By-law and worwarded a copy of the same to the Department for approval.

The question arose "had the Department approved of the By-law." Mr. Anderson in answer to the question as to approval by the Department made the statement that he "had been up to Toronto a few days ago and "had taken the matter up with the Department of Highways" and that the Department had informed HIM that no copy of such By-law had been received by the Department from the County of Peterboro."

But his dream was exploded when the acknowledgement by the Department signed by the Chief Engineer and dated June 22, 1922 was placed before him for perusal. Said acknowledgement citing that copy of By-law 1208 re levy on Otonabee would receive consideration. He was not dreaming on the Keene platfrom when there was nobody to wake him up or cared to disturb him, neither was he quoting dead men who are beyond the chance of checking him, but he was bluffing at "Headquarters" and they as usual, under similar circumstances, called his bluff. The Sub-Area Commission after viewing the Road from all angles came to the conclusion that they would not assume any part of it other than that part now assumed west of the bend to Keene from the fact that the Keene and Norwood Roads were carrying 98 per cent of the traffic to the City over the same distance and have now good gravel bottoms which looks like better business than practically opening up a long stretch of a Road at a cost of thousands of Dollars and the other Roads have to be kept up in any case. Referring to the refusal of the Department to approve of By-law 1208 is what I meant when I said that the Department had refused to approve of extra expenditure on said Road and instead of there being any blame attached, it must be recognized that the Department deserve much credit and it is but characteristic of all dealings of the Department that have been carried out both in the interest of the Province and the Local Municipalities. There is one thing that we appreciate as a Sub-Area Commission and that is, that the Department never deceived us. He stated in his letter that he would have put the complaint off until the June session only he wanted to give the Government a fighting chance at the approaching election, so to speak, but when did he again get converted for it is alleged that he refused the ballot at the 1919 elections and there was not Grit in the field. At all events Mr. McDonald received a fairly handsome vote without him. Again what have I got to do with the County Council unless I have business with them, but if Mr. Anderson has anything to say to the Commision or of the Commission, the Commission will only be too pleased to give him a courteous hearing, while convened at any time. There is another evidence that Mr. Anderson knew that the Sub-Area Commission had not assumed the part in question and I think Mr. Anderson owes the County Council and the Chamber of Commerce an apology. In February Mr. Anderson in conversation with some member or members of the Chamber of Commerce referred to the desirability of the Commerce using their influence with the Sub-Area Commission to have a part of said Road assumed by the Commission. He also said to such member or members of the Commerce at that time that HE would see to it that the By-law assuming the Road from Young's Point to Burleigh as a County Road would be passed at the next Session when he knew that Such By-law had been passed by the County Council on November 25th 1922 and numbered 1214 and a Copy of the same forwarded to the Department for approval, and that an acknowledgement of the same having been received by the Department, had been received by the County.

A proof of the Department refusing to approve of the said extra expenditure on the Road in question in Otonabee is the fact that $2,270 is now lying in the Treasury of Otonabee Township that was collected from the ratepayers last year for the purpose.

It is very strange that Mr. Anderson is the only Reeve that butts in on the authority vested in the Commission by Statue, but I suppose he must be busy With reference to his 'CHALLENGE". Now it is very unfair of Mr. Anderson to put up such, for he must know that I am kept continually at full speed providing for a family and has not the 100 to spare, but if he, that is not blest with such responsibilities, would donate 100 to the Children's Aid Society and who must have the dough ready when he made the famous "Challenge" he would add more to his popularity than reaching out his little fangs for gentlemen who refuse to attempt to jump from Genesis to Revelatoons as he is credited with doing and no doubt the Public are amused awaiting the next exhibition.

He sets out his "challenge" after the fashion of the Patriarch Clergyman setting out his sermon namely: Firstly, Secondly, Thirdly, etc.

Firstly—That he ever gave any evidence of deserting Liberalism.

Answer (Question)—Did he request that his name be severed from the Executive of the Liberal Association before the U.F.O. convention in 1919 and did he request after said convention to leave the light in the Window as He was coming back?

Secondly and Thirdly—That he ever aspired to be U.F.O. Candidate or endorsed or condemned the U.F.O. Platform.

He was at the Convention and he was a full fledged member of a Branch of such body in Otonabee and he knew as much about their Platform before such Convention as he knew after, save one thing, that he was not mentioned as a Candidate. After the said convention, he assured an outside Drover when he was asking such a Drover to buy his Bacon Hogs, that he "had severed his connection with the U.F.O. for Political Reasons."

Class Legislation is considered one of the most dangerous forms of legislation and most detrimental to National advancement and it is one of the worst stigmas that could be attaced to any Party. Read the Examiner reporting his Speech at the West Riding Convention of the Liberal Pary in 1919 and see what Mr. Anderson says about the U.F.O. and class legislation.

Fourthly and Fifthly—That he ever made an offer to act as County Road Superintendent at $2,000. a year or ever solicited the Council for such position.

I do not know anything about solicitation for I have never heard any member of the Council refer to him particularly but he will have to take a balloon to evade stubbing his toes in clearing the following hurdle.

Copy of Minute of Open Council "County Council Chamber. July 25th, 1919, 2 P.M."

"Council met in Special Session called by the Warden for the purpose of ratifying the appointment of a County Road Superintendent, ect., pursuant to adjournment June 30th, 1919, to receive recommendations of Committee re County Roads."

"All present" "THE Warden in the Chair"

"On motion Mr. Anderson was heard and stated that he would act as Superintendent at the rate of $2,000 per year when employed and Messrs. Eason and Matheson moved that the offer be accepted."

(Sgd) "John McIntosh" "Warden"

You can see in the Minutes of June 30 prior, that he was one of the Committee re County Roads appointed to bring in recommendations and it is evident that he made one sound recommend to "Headquarters" and a sound wage attached for an amature.

By the way I have overlooked Sixtnly.

That he ever solicted a member or members of the County Council to appoint him as one of the Sub-Area Commission.

Well it was very kind indeed of Messrs. Eason and Lawrie who were Revee and Deputy Reeve of Otonabee during 1920 and 1921 to bring up his name without having been solicited. Would the same be the reason that Mr. Anderson at every opportunity during the fall of 1921 when he was shaping himself to crowd Mr. Lawrie out to get back himself, pointed to the extravagance of the then Township Council and urged me to crowd or attempt to crowd out Mr. Eason. But it did not take the Ex-Rays see his little game of getting somebody to act as ungrateful as he, in order to again get into the limelight. When I was retiring from the Otonabee Council I nominated Mr. Anderson for Reeve again, and he in reply said that he would much rather that he could nominate me, and that he was sorry to loose me, as he "had leaned on my judgment to a large extent, when we represented Otonabee as Reeve and Deputy Reeve."

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

ILLEGAL CONTRACTS.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 6.—(Associated Press).—The trade term "exclusive agent" has just about been crossed off the Kansas business lexicon through a recent decision of the Supreme Court. As a result so-called agents' contracts are undergoing a general revision to place them on a more sound basis, dealers assert. The court's decision was that all fixed price contracts between manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and general distributors on the one hand and retail agencies on the other, are illegal.

Charles G. Mills of Sedgwick County sued the General Ordnance Company for breach of contract. He claimed he had a contract as exclusive agent in a given territory to sell the company's tractors at a specified price, and that the company had violated the contract by making deliveries within his territory at less than the fixed price. Both the Lower Court and the Supreme Court held that such contract was illegal and therefore the agent had no standing in court.

Demonstrations Made Against the French.

STRASSBOURG, June 6 (Canadian Press). — An anti-French demonstration of large proportions occurred in Saarbrucken, Rhenish Prussia, last Sunday during the laying of a corner-stone for a new church. The Bishop of Trier and two German bishops officiated, and later reviewed a procession of some 70,000 persons carrying banners and headed by bands of music.

Later, the crowds gathered in all the available halls of the town and adopted resolutions rejecting a proposal to establish a Saar Diocese with a Saar bishop, and insisting upon remaining under German ecclesiastical jurisdiction.

The meeting expressed unshakable faith to Germany and in the local German creed.

DON'T BE FOUND WANTING

The Peterborough Health Association does its work in such a quiet manner that but few people know the full scope of its activities. In addition to giving 220 underprivileged children three happy, healthful weeks a piece at Jackson Park in the summer, the Supervision Committee, headed by Mrs. R. R. Hall, follow up and see that these children are properly nourished throughout the winter. If necessary milk for this purpose is furnished by the association free of charge.

The Crippled Children's Committee, of which Dr. W. D. Scott is chairman, and Doctors Morgan, McPherson, Neil and Cameron, examined last year about twenty-five crippled children, and those whom it was possible to help were sent to the Sick Children's Hospital at Toronto for expert treatment.

In the regular work which is all the time going on, the association employs a nurse by the year, who visits the homes in every part of the city wherever called, gives instructions and assists in the care of under-nourished children, rendering valuable aid. The regular work also extends very largely among tubercular patients. These are visited and instructed as to best methods of adding outside sleeping porches, sanitary drinking cups are provided, and proper diet prescribed, not only prescribed, but in many cases furnished free of charge.

This is a work that will always be with us, a work which can not be neglected, and a work that requires funds. The officers and those interested in the Health Association are giving their time freely, but they can not carry on the work alone. The association looks to Children's Tag Day on June 9th to provide them with funds to carry on. The success of this tag day depends altogether upon the citizens of Peterborough. May you not be found wanting.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Revolution Plotted Against Bolivia Govt.

BUENOS AIRES, June 6.—(Canadian Press).—The Bolivian Government has decreed a state of siege in some departments, alleging that the mine workers are plotting a revolutionary strike, according to the La Paz correspondent of La Nacion.

It is asserted that open rebellion began at one point; but that the measures taken by the Government prevented a spread of the movement.

To the Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

At the recent Liberal-Conservative Convention, held to select a candidate to represent the Riding in the coming election of a member to the Provincial Legislature for the Riding, I received the unanimous nomination, and I desire, very briefly, to present my views on some of the questions which are involved in the contest, and to request your support.

I am fairly well known to many of the electors, having been a resident of the Riding all my life, and have taken considerable interest in public matters relating to the district.

I was, for some years, Alderman of the city of Peterborough, and for two years I held the office of Mayor, and since my retirement from the Council, have been honored by the election to the important office of Utilities Commission.

I believe that my services in these matters have been appreciated by those who have given the subject consideration, and I feel that my experience fairly its me to render the Riding further services in the more important matters which are to be dealt with by the Legislature.

I unhesitatingly endorse the Hydro Electric, because the Province owns, directs and serves its people free from either departmental or private control.

Public ownership of all natural utilities, and the useful development of our natural resources, all for the benefit of the people.

Economy, (which we have not lately had in our Provincial administration) so that the burden of our growing taxation will cease to increase and presently be lessened.

That the Ontario Temperance Act must be strictly and faithfully enforced as it stands, unless the people by referendum indicate their desire for a change.

I am in favor of and will support our good roads system, but will demand that where the Province spends $1,000.00 it will get $1,000.00 worth of good roads, which is certainly not now the case.

W. H. BRADBURN

While I held the office of Mayor, proceedings were taken by which the city acquired its own light and power system. I am a strong believer in a public ownership of all natural utilities, and feel that the acquisition of the system has been of an immense advantage to the citizens of Peterborough, and those in the neighborhood who are sharing in its benefits.

The Ontario Temperance Act will no doubt be more or less discussed during the pending campaign, and I desire to clearly express my views in connection with that important matter.

The Act was adopted by vote of the whole people, after the questions involved had been carefully submitted to them, and the general provisions of the Act were adopted at the time by a very large majority. It is clear that the wishes of the people must be fully respected, and unless, and until, by a similar referendum the people show a desire for a change, the provisions of that measure must be rigidly enforced.

I recognize that upon the prosperity of the farmer depends, to a very considerable extent, the prosperity of the country as a whole, and I trust, if elected, that the farming community will submit and discuss with me all measures which can be advocated and which will tend to improve the conditions of those resident in the rural portions of the Riding.

The labor questions have always received due consideration from the Liberal-Conservative administration, and it is to such administration such valuable legislation as the Workmen's Compensation Act, and other measures for the protection of the working man, are due.

A vital question for the new Legislature will be that of economy. In regard to this and in other respects, the Drury administration has been an absolute failure. Elected on the platform of economy, annual expenditure during the past four years has been almost doubled, iwthout any material benefit to the people as a whole.

I shall, in the little time at my disposal, endeavour to present my views more at length at meetings to be held in my interest throughout the Riding.

Trusting for your support, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

W. H. Bradburn

All these mean waste, so much money thrown away.

And more, they constitute a menace to the kiddies, to father and to you. They spell "Danger."

REGULAR MEETING SEYMOUR COUNCIL

Allotments Are Made For Work on Roads in District—Accounts Passed.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6—John Brown appeared before the Seymour Council at the regular June meeting and asked that his farm property be transferred from the school section at Trent Bridge to the Fleming Union school, which is much closer to him. Mr. Brown told the councillors, every one of whom were present, that his children now have three and a half miles to walk to school by actual measurement, made by auto and that the distance to the Fleming school is 40 rods less than three miles. The trustees of both sections have no objection to the proposed change and the council also went on record as being in favour of it.

Wants Road Repaired.

Garnet Redden of Stanwood, asked that a piece of road near his premises be repaired as he claims it is impassable in wet weather and that an auto cannot get through it until the dry weather sets in. The place in question is part of the most direct route from Stanwood to Havelock. The council promised to investigate and it is likely that a contract will be let to a resident of the vicinity to make the necessary repairs.

To Fix Boundary Road.

Reeve Van Volkenburg reported that Reeve Thompson of Rawdon had asked that the two councils meet at an early date on the boundary road between the townships in order to discuss necessary repairs to that highway. The invitation was accepted and the meeting will be held on Friday afternoon.

Township Health Matters.

It was decided to make a grant of $2,800 to pay salaries and other expenses in connection with the township board of health.

Outlay on Roads.

It was decided to make the following allowances for work on the roads in the districts represented by the various members of the council :Reeve Van Volkenburg, $1,000; Deputy Reeve Nelson, $1,000; Councillor McKelvey, $1,100; Councillors Milne and Peake, $1,200 each.

Sidewalks in Township.

William Anderson, who resides near the town limits asked that a road be repaired near his home and this is another matter which the council will look into. Mr. Anderson also called attention to the fact that the town is building a sidewalk up Denike's hill and he thought it would be a good idea to continue the walk as far as the entrance to the cemetery, only a short distance beyond the limits, the expense to be borne equally by the town and the township.

Mr. J. M. Arnold backed up Mr. Anderson's suggestion. The walk, he said, is badly needed by the residents of Campbellford who have friends buried in the cemetery, and the time for doing the work is opportune as all the necessary apparatus is on the ground. It is proposed to bring this matter up at the regular meeting of the town council Monday night and Mr. Arnold thought that the case of the advocater of the improvement would be strengthened by an expression of opinion from the Seymour council. The expense when spread over the tax roll, he said, would be light.

The road upon which it is proposed to build a sidewalk forms part of the county provincial highway, and Reeve Van Volkenburg said that if the town council is in favour of the walk the county could be asked for a grant at the January session of the county council. At the same time he was inclined to believe that it was a dangerous precedent to establish as sidewalks were likely to be asked for on other roads outside the corporation boundaries.

Bills Ordered Paid.

The payment of the following accounts was authorized: P. J. Flynn, sheep injured by dogs, $15; David Akins, work on roads, $13.80; James Casement, work on roads, $9.40; Joe Hoey, work on roads, $7.20; W. H. DOUBLY SECURED BONDS YIELDING 6.75%

Fine paper enters into the every day life of everyone—as towelling, shelf covering, for dress patterns and many other home uses.

Reams are consumed by manufacturers and merchants for packing delicate fabrics, wearing apparel, glass or jewellery. Business correspondence and filing systems would be impossible without it.

Fine, thin paper is a staple, the uses of which are constantly increasing. So great is the demand that practically the entire first year's output of Western Quebec Paper Mills at St. Andrews, Que.—1,800 tons—is under disposal already, giving estimated net earnings of $65,000.

This company offers you an opportunity to participate in its new issue of First Mortgage Gold Bonds, backed by an element of safety rarely encountered. This issue is insured as to principal by the Travellers' Life Assurance Company of Canada on a fully paid-up policy, in addition to the assets represented by the company's plant, real estate and power privileges. These bonds are further backed by a reserve fund to be created with the Trustee, equivalent to two years' interest on the bonds and stipulations that no dividends on stock may be paid in any year when the net earnings are less than three times the required bond interest, except when there is an existing surplus equal to five times one years' bond interest.

Can you conceive of a safer investment? Write or telephone for full particulars.

RECIPROCITY MOVE STILL IN ABEYANCE

But Mr. Fielding Intimates That He Would Be Prepared With Amendment.

OTTAWA, June 6. Canadian Press—The increased customs tariff on raisins will not go into effect until a trade agreement has been concluded with Australia. This is the effect of an amendment to a budget resolution proposed in the House by Hon W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, last night, and adopted.

One Progressive criticized charged that under increased duties, the Canadian consumer would have to pay four cents a pound more or a total based on last year's consumption of nearly a million and a half dollars.

Reciprocity Held Over.

The resolution to grant an increase in the British preference on imports entering Canada by Canadian ports was carried. That embodying another offer of reciprocity with the United States was held over though Mr. Fielding intimated that he would have an amendment to provide that if the President of the United States determined to reduce the duties on specified items Canada might act similarly. The original resolution read "reduce by 50 per cent." The amendment strikes out reference to 50 per cent.

Members of the family and a number of cows who were near the barn at the time received a slight shock.

BELFAST, June 6. — (Canadian Press.)—In the Northern Parliament yesterday, the Home Minister, Sir Dawson Bates, justifying the present strength of the police, declared that the hostile movement against Ulster had been scotched, not killed. The Government had reports of an underground movement designed to overthrow authority.

The Government, added the Minister, was careful not to interfere in any way with the domestic concerns of the Free State, but could not close its eyes to what was happening there and recent events on the border confirmed its fears.

URGE MAINTENANCE OF BIG LAKE LEVELS

TORONTO, June 6.—(Canadian Press).—At a well attended meeting of the Executive Committee of the Dominion Marine Association here yesterday, instructions were given to urge the Dominion Cabinet to intervene and ask for prompt measures to restrain the diversion of more than the permitted amount of water from the Great Lakes through the Chicago Drainage Canal. The diversion to the Gulf of Mexico of water which should reach the Gulf of St. Lawrence has already had a serious effect upon lake levels, with a corresponding effect on the carrying capacity of ships, which may lose from 35 to 75 tons for each inch of draft.

Election News

TORONTO, June 6.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Adam Beck will be "Hydro candidate" for his home city of London at the forthcoming Provincial elections. Asked last night whether he had reached a decision on the invitation of the Conservative convention to contest the London constituency, the Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission replied: "Yes. I have decided to accept the London nomination, and this is why: Two great issues affecting the future of the Hydro-Electric power system of Ontario must come up for settlement during the term of the Legislature soon to be elected. It is essential that members of the House shall be put in possession of the best available information when these subjects come before them for consideration. The matters in question are the revision of the waterways treaty, to permit of increased diversion of the waters of Niagara, and the making of agreements between the Governments of Canada and of Ontario on one side and the Government of the United States and the State of New York on the other, for the proper utilization of water powers of the St. Lawrence.

"The Dominion Government has the right under the British North America Act and waterways treaty to divert from the St Lawrence and Niagara Rivers a volume of water needed for navigation purposes. The remainder of the water is the property of the people of Ontario, and from this source the Province must for all time draw the bulk of its supply of white coal, which is the more necessary because we have no coalfields and must import all fuel used for heat, light and power purposes."

AT LONDON.

Speaking at London yesterday, Hon. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservatives in the Provincial election campaign, is reported to have prophesied the return of twenty five candidates of his party in the south-western ridings on June 25. In the last Legislature the Conservatives held only three seats from that part of the Province: Huron North, Wellington South and Simcoe West. The rest of the 25 Conservatives in the House at dissolution were drawn from the traditionally Conservative districts in Toronto and its environs and from the east and north-west ends of the Province.

Mr. Ferguson apparently anticipates, as the result of his observations on his present speaking tour of South-Western Ontario, a heavy reversion of support from the United Farmer Alliance—which was strong from that part of the Province in the last House—to the old party standards, especially to the Conservative side of the fence.

Occupational Government.

Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader, as well as other prominent Liberal supporters, are equally positive in their expressed expectations of a turn of the tide in this Province from which they call "class or occupational government."

On the other hand, Premier Drury, having recovered from his throat trouble, speaking at Peterborough last night, expressed high confidence that the Government would be returned with as many, or more, straight supporters in the next Legislature than in the last.

The acceptance by Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission, of the Conservative nomination in London, and the Toronto Globe's editorial appeal to the Liberals of London to look upon Sir Adam as a public servant, not as a party candidate, and refrain from putting a Liberal candidate in the field, is an interesting development of the situation overnight.

Woman Nominee?

The Liberals in that city have been talking of nominating Miss Isabel Armstrong at their convention on Thursday next. In any event, Sir Adam will probably be opposed by Mayor Wenige as an Independent Conservative, and Dr. H. A. Stevenson, the Labor member for London in the last Legislature.

REV. C. APPLEGATH WAS ADMONISHED

Conference Warns Former Port Hope Pastor to Be Careful of His Utterances.

BRANTFORD, June 6. Canadian Press. — Rev. C. S. Applegath, formerly of Port Hope, but now of Hamilton, was yesterday admonished by the Hamilton Methodist Conference to be more careful of his utterances in the future.

This was the result of the appeal to Conference on the findings of the board of trial last year dealing with certain charges against Mr. Applegath by W. T. R. Preston, of Port Hope. One of the charges was that the minister had referred to Jesus Christ as a "little yellow-skinned Jew."

The Conference concurred in the opinion of the board of trial that circumstances and intention of the remark, removed it from the realms of sacrilege, but it was an extremely unfortunate remark to make.

The Conference added that it was impressed with the fact that Mr. Preston's charges were apparently framed in the most damaging way possible, and the publication of them prior to their hearing, was an act of grievous injustice to the defendant.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

LONDON, June 6. — (Canadian Press).—A Copenhagen despatch to the Times says the Danish Government has forwarded a protest to Washington against the United States liquor law as relates to foreign ships. It is contended that this law is contrary to international regulations.

POINCARE UNDISTURBED.

PARIS, June 6.— (Canadian Press.)— Premier Poincare sat unperturbed throughout the stormy session, ignoring the repeated shouts and ironical gibes of the Communists, urging him to tell the Chamber what the Government was going to do. There was some idea that the Premier might consent to make a declaration later for the sake of clearing the atmosphere, but he finally left the chamber without speaking.

ASK REFORM IN LIQUOR CONTROL.

But Methodists Realize the Delicacy of Question to Submit to Quebec.

BROCKVILLE, June 6.—(Canadian Press.)—A marked difference of opinion regarding the advisability of requesting a reform in the administration of the Quebec Liquor Commission developed yesterday afternoon in the Montreal Methodist Conference, it being felt by a number of delegates that the situation of conference, two-thirds of which was composed of representatives of Ontario stations, and which was in session in an Ontario town, asking for action by Quebec Provincial government, was a delicate one. Representatives of Quebec urged that recommendations of the strongest type should be made to the Taschereau Cabinet.

Original recommendations of the Evangelism and Social Service committee, however, carried. These asked for legislation to reduce the sale of liquor to a minimum with the object of its entire suppression, deplored facilities for "development of bootlegging between Quebec and adjoining Provinces and States," urged an energetic campaign to overcome the narcotic drug evil, supervision of commercialized dance halls, endorsed the policy of the Federal Department of Health on venereal disease, and lamented the increased use of automobiles for "Sabaath desecration."

The Mexican government has offered to co-operate by paying all the travel expenses of the Swedish visitors while in Mexico.

The Swedes plan to buy petroleum, jute, precious metals, and certain tropical products, selling in return wood pulp, paper, cement, electrical equipment, cutlery, tools, and salt fish. The expedition starts at once and will spend about one month in Mexico.

RAISE PRICES IN PARIS.

PARIS, June 6. — (Associated Press.)—The favourite topic of conversation in Paris, the high cost of living, displaced from time to time by the changing situation in the Ruhr, never is long neglected. Today it is flourishing. The vanguard of the 1923 crop of American tourists is here, and the retailers of the city are playing the game with the limit removed; any price goes.

But the truth of the situation is hard to determine. There arrived recently from the coast two heavy consignments of sea food, lobsters and cod. The lobsters were seized upon at 15 francs a pound, and the stalls quickly cleared. Nobody wanted the humble cod, at three francs a pound, and several thousand pounds had to be thrown away.

Margarine is made from milk and fat, usually cocoanut oil.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterborough, Ont., June 5, 1923.

The Editor, Examiner, City:

Dear Sir,—I was very glad to see in last night's paper a letter written by Mr. Stinson who is in our office. I am a returned soldier and proud of it and not only proud of that, but proud to belong to the Peterborough Cereal Company organization. I returned from overseas four years ago after serving two years and was discharged on account of disability. When I returned to Peterborough Mr. Meyers was the first man I asked for a job and when I told him I was a returned man he immediately took me on. I left him two years ago and was away from him for nine months. I returned and asked him to give me back my job again and he did so and I sure was glad to get back. There are a bunch of returned soldiers in the mill working with me and we all think that the Peterborough Cereal Company is the only company to work for and that J. W. Meyers is the best boss we ever had.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space.

Yours truly,
Patrick J. Tobin,
Returned Soldier.

To Editor, of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—At a meeting held last evening between members of the Executive of the Independent Labor Party and of the People's Progressive Party in West Peterboro, a perfectly satisfactory understanding was reached in regard to the candidature of Mr. T. Tooms in the present provincial election and also as regards future elections. Mr. Tooms' candidature therefore is approved by the Progressive Party in West Peterboro.

The report in last night's Examiner of Saturday's meeting gives a wrong impression of the final decision reached. Some of the farmers in West Peterboro objected to the action of the Labor Party at the Dominion bye-election in putting a Labor man in the field against the Progressive candidate. It was decided on Saturday that in order that there might be no misunderstanding in future, a definite arrangement should be made with the representatives of the Labor Party. In the event of such an agreement being reached it was decided that as Mr. Tooms had already been nominated by the Labor Party, he would be accepted as the joint candidature in the present provincial election.

At the conference held last evening this suggestion was approved and a definite arrangement to that effect was entered into. It is understood that the nominees in both cases shall be mutually acceptable to both parties. We feel that in justice to Mr. Tooms and all concerned that this information should be made public.

(Signed) E. H. BROWN,
President People's Progressive Party of West Peterboro.

RE THE ATONEMENT

To the Editor, Examiner,—

Sir,—Jesus' own favorite title for Himself was "Son of Man," and, foreseeing His own sufferings unto death, He saw them as a moral means of winning the love and discipleship of others, and applied the same principle of moral success to Himself that He applied to others. For it was primarily with reference to His own death and its moral results that He said, "Verily I say unto you, except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die it abideth alone, but if it die it beareth much fruit."

I understand from this that He was assured of the success of His death as a means of winning or saving men, not on the ground that because He was God, miraculous power would inhere in His death as a sacrifice, but rather because, as man and for men He suffered and died, therefore His love and faithfulness manifested unto death would exercise such moral power over men that many would take up each his own cross and would follow Him. That is, they would be saved in the only sense that really matters, that in which salvation equals moral renewal. It seems we must choose between the two atonement theories briefly and simply stated above. Atonement is either a miracle of divine power without us, in which we have no part, or it is such an appeal to heart and will as can only come to a human being through humanity, and so coming is potent enough to stir his will to victorious strength. There is no more important question for each of us, "have we only to rest on a miracle? or have we to join in a moral relationship?"

Want Ad Tips
by John T. Bartlett

A BOY'S POULTRY BUSINESS

It is easy for a boy to make a poultry or pet stock business profitable, provided he follows several basic rules.

First, keep a popular variety. It will be far easier, for example, to market Rhode Island Red breeding stock or hatching eggs than stock and eggs of non-popular variety, such as the Sussex. Second, have pure bred stock. Third, use the Want Ads.

The boy with chickens has several products to sell. Let's consider eggs first. There are two periods when it is very easy to obtain cash egg customers through Want Ads. One is the late fall and early winter, when fresh eggs are invariably scarce and high in price. Another time is in the spring during the egg preserving season, when thrifty housewives "put down" eggs in waterglass, and like to be sure the eggs they use are absolutely fresh. A Want Ad on fresh eggs at this season will offer them as, "Fresh eggs for waterglassing," and state that they are infertile if they are. The boy should mention, "Free prompt delivery".

If the eggs are large, and if they are of the color most popular locally (brown or white, as the case happens), mention those things.

A special plan at any season is to advertise, "Fresh eggs for invalids and convalescents," citing the healthy flock, fed wholesome food, etc.

There are many families which have chicken dinners frequently all through the year. Want Ads on broilers, as they are ready for the markt in the spring anl early summer, then on fries, and finally on roasters, will get the youngster in touch with customers. In these Want Ads, feature two adjectives, "plump," and, "fresh-killed."

Make it a rule to follow up first sales by phone. In this way, many new customers can be made regulars.

Finally, advertise reasonable prices. High prices are the quickest plan for a failure there is, reasonable prices the surest recipe for success. Let the Want Ad state reasonable prices.

Imagination in Children.

Most mothers know that they don't have to teach a child to be imaginative; he is born with that ability and left to himself will develop it. They also know that unless they watch carefully even this tendency can be overdone and the child develop into a nuisance to itself and its associates.

All of us know of the child who quite solemnly tells us that the doctor has just been at his house and has cut off his sister's hand. No argument will shake such a child from his story and the usual parent is so entertained that he refuses to take him seriously.

Nothing else can equal in future benefits the stimulation of the childish imagination in legitimate ways. Fairy stories he must have, and stories in which the youthful listener is called upon to furnish the beginning or the end.

Games in which the small person has a part, allow him to view life in a way which would otherwise be impossible. The child cannot take part in duels, he cannot fly or ride or swim alone. He cannot follow the activities which he sees all about him except in make believe; but in this way he can engage in all the perils of land as surely as though he actually took part in them. Blocks and all constructive games offer limitless possibilities and because of this are builders of the healthful imagination.

It does not seem logical to suppose that we can allow a child to feast his imagination and still remain truthful; but very early the line between fact and fancy can be made plain so that even while the child is entertaining himself with flights of imagination he understands that no one is deceived, or made unhappy.

BELGIUM ANXIOUS TO SETTLE ISSUE

Would Like to See the End of the Ruhr Situation

BRUSSELS, June 6. — (Canadian Press).—No attempt is being made in the Belgian capital to hide the fact that Premier Poincare and Minister of Finance De Lasteyrie, of France, and Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar of Belgium are meeting to-day in conference with widely divergent viewpoints as to the scope the conference should have. Belgians practically openly have announced their intention of asking for full discussion of the reparations problem, while Poincare prefers that they should deal only with the exploitation of the Ruhr. Belgium is also very anxious to end the Ruhr situation.

The conference began shortly after the arrival of Premier Poincare and his party at 1.30 this afternoon. Premier Poincare will stay at the French Embassy.

Silverplate of Greater Merit for the Bride

Its gleaming hand-burnished lustre alone proclaims its superlatively rich quality. Exquisite too, in their charm and simplicity are the facinating patterns—patterns whose exclusiveness is appealing in itself.

But crowning all these merits "Holmes & Edwards" offers tenacious, life-long utility and joy because pure silver is generously used in making it.

Your jeweler will be interested in explaining to you, the two superior qualities in "Holmes & Edwards"—"SILVER INLAID" and "SUPER PLATE"—both protected at the wear points.

SWIMMING CLASSES ARE AGAIN UNDER WAY AT Y

So many boys made application to the Y.M.C.A. for a place in the classes now receiving instruction in swimming that it was found impossible to take care of the late-comers this week. Three classes with approximately thirty boys each will be given five lesson periods during the present schedule. Boys who were not so fortunate as to be included in the present class before registration closed may leave their names at the Y.M.C.A. office for one additional class, to be taught during the early part of next week. Splendid results are being achieved, and already a goodly number of boys have entered the ranks of swimmers.

Rusty Hoop Found on the Derby Course.

LONDON, June 6 (Canadian Press Cable). — The Derby festival opened yesterday in dull, cold weather. For hours early yesterday morning a force of men was engaged in sweeping and clearing the course while a small band of enthusiasts viewed the candidates for to-day's classic race. The horses were given light exercise.

Just before Town Guard was brought to the starting point for a workout Victor Gilpin, the son of Town Guard's trainer, discovered a large rusty iron hoop and some stones about four hundred feet from the post which, had they not been discovered, might have injured the horse in the gallop. How the hoop came to be on the course, which had been thoroughly cleared is a complete mystery, but it is not believed that it was placed there with malicious intent.

Johnson's Feat Was Greater Than Scott's - By ED. HUGHES

Through a strange twist of fate Everett Scott played his 1,000th consecutive game the same day that Walter Johnson accomplished his 100th shutout—May 2. "I.N. Doubt" writes asking which we considered the greater achievement.

The first impulse is to say Scott's, of course. But the first application of reason to the question ridicules the impulse. Johnson's exploit makes Scott's appear insignificant, as astonishing as his (Everett's) feat was.

The brilliant Yank infielder could quite possibly have missed twenty games in succession and yet affected but little the destines of his Red Sox and Yankee units. Some one would have replaced him. The results in general would probably have been the same. The shortstop has not the same individual bearing on the results of diamond battles as has the pitcher.

One hundred shutouts! You can almost say that Walter Johnson's iron right arm won them all. It would be daring to point to one-tenth of Scott's array of 1,000 games and claim he wsa responsible for winning that share. Which is what you'd have to do to class his feat with that of Walter Johnson's.

Why not get your brother, "N.O Doubt," to write next time?

OULETTE LIKELY TRUNK'S GUNNER HERE SATURDAY

Fans Looking Forward to Clash With Great Interest.

The Petes are battling in Belleville today and it is expected that Jack Williams the Indian portsider will be the Trunks' gunner against the Solomon outfit. That means that Jack Oulette from Fenelon Falls via Lindsay will draw the assignment of trying to take a fall out of the Petes at Riverside Park on Saturday. Oulette's smoke will be at treat after the deliberate slow ball of Moore the Kingston twirler.

Saturday's game is attracting great attention and the usual large attendance will be augumented by delegations from all over the district, including some leather-lunged rooters from Belleville. A Belleville-Peterboro game is always full of fireworks and because of that fact the fans are looking forward to Saturday's fixture with unusual interest. The leadership of the section will undoubtedly depend upon the result of the clash and both teams will be on their toes all the way.

It will be a case of go early Saturday for everybody is lining up for the best game of the year.

Fast Work-Outs For Dempsey Have Started.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Speed was the word at the Dempsey camp yesterday, the world's heavyweight champion going eight round with the little fellows. This was the first sparring he has done since his lay-off of last week. He went two rounds each with Frankie Grendetta, flyweight; Lee Moore, lightweight; Joe Benjamin, lightweight, and Harry Wells, English welterweight. The sparring was for speed and Dempsey showed he was fast. The champion also did some shadow boxing and bag punching and at the end he was not breathing hard.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announced yesterday that Joe Benjamin had been tentatively matched with Benny Leonard for the world lightweight championship Labor Day, the fight to take place in Great Falls. The fight is conditional on Dempsey meeting Harry Wills here or in New York Labor Day and will not take place in event of a Dempsey-Wills fight that day.

Do you know baseball?

Questions

ONE—Can base runners advance on a third strike that touches the person of the batsman, he being declared out?
TWO—Ball is batted over fence, strikes pole a few feet from fence, and bounds gack into playing territory. What is the ruling?
THREE—Batter dodges badly pitched ball, which strikes his bat and results in a fair fly ball, which is caught by the third baseman. Is the batsman out or is the ball dead?
FOUR—Runner tags fielder with back of gloved hand which has the ball. Umpire rules runner out. Captain of team at bat contends runner was not actually touched with the ball and should be called safe.
FIVE—With runner on first and one out, batsman hits fly to right field. The runner on first believing ball will fail safe, stands midway between first and second. Batsman runs out hit and has just passed other runner when ball drops safe. He hesitates, and allows preceding runner to go on. Runner on first reaches third and batsman second. What about it?

Answers

ONE—Ball becomes dead when third strike comes into contact with person of batsman and no runners can advance on such a play.
TWO—Hit should be credited as a home run. The moment it passed out of playing territory it became such. No attention should be given the fact that it hit a hole and bounded back on playing territory.
THREE—Batsman is out. On such a play whatever happens is legal.
FOUR—Runner is out. It is not necessary that a base runner be actually touched with the naked ball.

Gibbons Now Has a Real Rabbit's Foot.

ST. PAUL, June 6.— (Canadian Press.)—The left hind foot of a buck rabbit said to have been killed at midnight in a cemetery under a full moon was the good luck gift of Mayor Arthur E. Nelson to Tommy Gibbons when the latter left here yesterday for Shelby, Montana, to begin training for his heavyweight championship battle with Jack Dempsey July 4.

The rabbit's foot was given Mayor Nelson before the last election by a southern negro and had been carried constantly ever since by the city exectuive.

The Mayor said good fortune had attended him ever since he came into possession of the foot and he expressed a wish that its good luck will go with Gibbons.

Judgment Reserved in J. A. Currie Case.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 6 (Canadian Press). — Justice Lennox, in the Supreme Court here yesterday reserved judgment on a motion that an action in which Colonel J. A. Currie is concerned, be postponed, as he is a candidate for the Legislature, and is too busy with election matters to proceed to trial.

Counsel for plaintiff in the action objected to the motion.

Eight Ladies Left in Golf Tournament.

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 6. — With six Toronto and two Hamilton ladies remaining in the running for the Ontario Golf Championship after the first round matches the event takes on a very similar aspect to the situation that existed last year at the same time when six Toronto and two Hamilton players survived. The same Hamilton players are in this year, Miss Effie Nesbitt, and Mrs. Hope Gibson, while Mrs. More, Mrs. Murdock, Miss Pepler and Miss MacKenzie were undefeated at the end of the first round last year. Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Whittington are the newcomers this year, replacing Mrs. Riddle of Scarboro and Miss Jean Mosten of Toronto.

BIG MEETING HELD AT HALL'S GLEN

E. N. MacDonald and S. Armstrong Were the Two Speakers of the Evening.

HALL'S GLEN, June 6.—A largely attended and rousing meeting was held on Friday evening in Hall's Glen school-house in the interests of the United Farmer candidate, E. N. McDonald.

A football match between North Dummer and Warsaw, which preceded the meeting, resulted in a tie. A large crowd witnessed the game, and carried the buoyant enthusiasm from the playground to the political meeting. Rufus Payne, U. F. O. Director for Dummer Township, occupied the chair.

North Dummer is known throughout the riding for its community singing, and it was only natural that the meeting should be opened by singing "Pack All Your Troubles in Your Old Kit-Bag" and "Roaming in the Gloaming." Sam Armstrong of the 6th line, Otonabee, was the first speaker, and brought good tidings from his township. He dealt with the commercial side of the United Farmers' organization before touching on the political side of it. He outlined the history of the United Farmers' stock-shipping department and proved to all present that it had been a boon to farming generally as well as those within the organization. Mr. Armstrong very aptly compared the three-fold activity of the United Farmers' organization to the three-leaved clover, showing how they all branched from the central stem. This was followed by community singing of "Jordan Is a Hard Road to Travel."

Mr McDonald was received with enthusiastic applause, and gave a half-hour address on the political issues of the day. He eulogized Mr. Drury as the greatest statesman in Canada today.

In referring to the life of the last Parliament, he said that for the first three years in the Legislature all groups worked together for the good of the Province, but he drew the attention of his audience to the fact that much of the fourth session was spent by the opposition in trying to gain political capital to crush those on the Government side that they might sit on the treasured benches. He asked the electors to give their support to the present Government that they might continue to help the working people of the Province and give good sound administration to its affairs.

Government Should Appoint Chairmen.

OTTAWA, June 6 (Canadian Press). — "It is absurd to suggest that the Government of the day, which has power to appoint Supreme Court Judges, is not competent to select chairmen for boards of conciliation appointed under the industrial disputes investigation," said A. R. Mosher, grand president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.

Mr. Mosher's reference was to an amendment to the Act, proposed in the Senate by Senator Lynch Staunton. The amendment provides that where the parties to be dispute fail to agree on a chairman, he may be appinted by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

At present, the chairman in such a case is appointed by the Minister of Labour.

BELLEVILLE GAME IS CALLED OFF

Wet Grounds Prevent Clash—Old Rivals Here Saturday.

The dampness in the atmosphere and the wet condition of the Belleville grounds were responsible for the calling off of the Belleville-Peterborough Central Ontario League game scheduled to take place at Belleville this afternoon.

The Petes were in their cars ready to leave at 8.30 o'clock this morning when word was received from Belleville advising them to wait until ten o'clock.

A later message stated that it would be impossible to play.

The first clash of the season between the two clubs will therefore take place at Riverside Park on Saturday, and as they are tied for the leadership, and a win means the undisputed possession of first place, the Saturday battle should have all the elements of a most exciting tussle.

The postponement of to-day's fixture only adds to the interest in Saturday's meeting between the two old rivals.

ONLY TRAINED BABY HIPPOPOTAMUS FEATURED BY JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS

Practically every circus has a feature, a hippopotamus in its menagerie, but the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals, coming here on Wednesday, June 13, have a double feature in "Little Viv," as she is the youngest "hippo" in the country, and then in addition is the only trained baby hippopotamus in the world.

"Little Vic" has just celebrated her first birthday and she is truly American, it was necessary for her keepers to prepare a meal of red beets, and white turnips and then wash it down with blue grape punch on the anniversary of her nativity "Little Vic" was born in the shadow of Washington's monument in the United States Government zoo.

Vic's growth is causing her trainers and keepers much worry, as she now tips the scales at 1051 pounds and gives every indication of within a few years being larger than her mother. The old saying of "like father, like son," should be reversed in English and turned around to be "like mother, like daughter," as she detests men, and at every opportunity she attempts to bite Abie Goldstein, one of the clowns, to whom she has taken a strong dislike.

This year old debutante will be seen in the John Robinson parade, in the double menagerie, and one of the steel arena animal acts, which form a background for the three rings, two arena performance of four hundred and sixty-four circus artists with the big show.

The circus tents will be pitched on the Exhibition Park circus grounds and the two performances will be given at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. with the mile longer street procession, scheduled for 11 a.m. sharp. For the convenience of the women and children, a downtown office will be established on circus day at the Kent Drug store, where tickets will be sold at exactly the same price as charged on the grounds.

GRIFFITH FEATURE PRODUCTION ANNOUNCED

"The Mother and the Law" a D. W. Griffith feature production, with a typical Griffith cast of players, will be the attraction at the Capitol Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Griffith describes "The Mother and the Law" as a play of today founded on fact. The vivid imagery with which Mr. Griffith propounds his dramatic philosophy of life—prominently brought out in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World"—is found in this superplay. The cast, too, is up to that high standard always maintained by this wizard of the drama, and contains such names as Mae Marsh, Robert Harron, Miriam Cooper, Ralph Lewis, Walter Long, Alberta Lee, Margaret Marsh and Tod Browning.

There are many sensational scenes in "The Mother and the Law," including one wherein an automobile races with an express train to save a human life.

As an added attraction there will be shown the exclusive sensational fight pictures of the fight between Battling Siki and Mike McTigue.

AT THE ROYAL.

The management of the Royal wishes to remind the patrons who missed the show last evening because of the severe storm that to-day is the last showing of William Fox's great production, "Silver Wings," with Mary Carr, remembered for her work in the part of the mother in "Over the Hill." This noteworthy achievement in motion picture production is being shown at the usual Royal prices. Matinee and evening performances daily.

ANNUAL MEETING

Three years and a half ago work was begun at Royce Avenue, Toronto; a year later the Memorial Institute at Tecumseh Street was opened; a year later still John Street Mission followed, and now the women have a mission at Eastern Avenue Baptist Church. Work is chiefly among the Italians, Poles, Russians and Ukranians, and has met with great success in spite of opposition from the Roman Catholic schools. Work is begun with the children and the speaker has a class of 40 youngsters all under school age, who come every morning for instruction. One Polish boy, who is a convert, is the son of one of the strongest Bolshevists in Canada. There are six Bolshevist schools in Toronto, where they teach God is a devil. These people are not Catholic; they are much worse, they are nothing at all. Hundreds of Bibles in the Italian, Polish, Russian and Ukranian language have been distributed and the results are gratifying. The speaker was personally responsible for the removal of 60 children from St. Mary's School, and hopes to close it and have all the children attending public school. Among the adults, nineteen have renounced Catholicism and have been baptized, and twenty-two more purpose doing so. This year a mothers' group has been organized, and next year a mission circle will probably be formed. The fathers have been organized also, and a Polish library has been opened, piled with books explaining the Bible. Three young men are in training to be missionaries.

Gifts of fruit for the mission students are always very acceptable and are gratefully received. Miss Maybee stressed the value of good music in this work.

Talk on India.

Miss Robinson, a missionary on furlough from India, was the next speaker. India, with its population of 320,000,000, and China with 400,000,000, none of whom know that Jesus is the light of the world, is a problem for the Christian world. In India there are 147 different languages, and religions almost too numerous to mention; there are 220,000,000 Hindoos and 70,000,000 Mohammedans, and 11 millions of Buddhists. These are the three strongest native religions. The superstition is simply appaling. Among the difficulties which make work especially hard are such things as the Hindoo belief in the transmigration of souls, the caste law, the low status of the woman, child marriage (gradually lessening), famine (not at all uncommon), pestilence and plague, leprosy (the census gives us as facts that there are 110,000 lepers living in India). Nearly 20,000 died last year of snake bite. There is great wealth in some quarters of India among the natives, but in the main they are very poor. The Canadian Baptist Mission to India will be 50 years old in March, 1924, and has a field with a population of five millions. It may not be generally known that the churches divided the foreign field so that there would be no overlapping. The Canadian Presbyterian Church has a portion set aside, but not the Canadian Methodist, who, however, have numerous missions in China. There are 96 missionaries connected with the Canadian Baptist Mission and 14,000 communicants. There are ten boarding schools, including one high school, where everything is taught that is taught in Canadian schools, plus daily Bible instruction. Miss Robinson told of the boys in the school where she worked and how the efficacy of prayer was proven over and over again.

Help For Missionaries.

Mrs. J. Young, of Gilmour Memorial Church, said a few words regarding parcels sent to missionaries and advised the words "of no commercial value" to be put on parcels otherwise missionaries have to pay excessively for them. She also urged a more selfless devotion to the work and was sure of greater results in the event of more thought for others and less for self.

The report of the Nominating Committee was given:

President—Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, Peterboro.

Vice-President—Mrs. R. Wistor, Campbellford.

Director—Miss M. A. Nicholls, Peterboro.

Assistant Director—Miss Hume, Port Hope.

Tea was served to the delegates in the basement of the Methodist Church.

The Men's Section.

The men's section was in charge of Rev. L. H. Coles of Colborne, who after the opening hymn and prayer, expounded the 93th Psalm; there are three outstanding elements in worship, (1) humility, (2) faith, (3) devotion. We have not all learned these elements. If we could learn them, if they were present then the work would be accomplished in the churches which we would love to see. A season of prayer followed.

Rev. C. H. Schutt, superintendent of Home Missions in Ontario and Quebec, gave an address on "What the Home Mission Board has sought to accomplish:

1. More homes for pastors; 45 guilds assisted during the year in the erection of parsonages amounting to over $50,000.

2. Attention given to better church buildings, more progress has been made during the past year along this line than in the past 15 years. Eight new home mission chapels were opened during the past year .Seven or eight more will be opened before next October, making a total of 15 or 16 in one year.

3. The publication of a Home Mission text book to meet the need for greater information, "The Call of Our Own Land."

4. Wider operations. Aggressive evangelism has been emphasized by the Board as an all important basic principal.

5. Higher salaries. The minimum salary by Oct. 1st, 1923, will be $1,300, with a house and $100 transportation.

Series of Addresses.

A series of addresses on the "Lordship of Jesus Christ" followed under the following headings:

1. In the Home, by Rev. T. J. Rich, of Norwood.

This is a subject for the times which should be emphasized in these days, because the home was in existence before the church and the home is naturally the nursery of the young life where the earliest conceptions are formed. The ideal home should be a miniature heaven; it involves the right of way for the word of God and the restoration of the family altar which has been too often allowed to disappear from family life.

2. In the Bible School, was taken by Rev. H. Wood, of Port Hope. The great emphasis laid on Christ as the Redeemer and Saviour oftimes makes us forget His Lordship. Let us think of Him, speak of Him and live with Him in His full relationship. No one is more susceptible to the love and authority of the Lord than the child and the heart of the child therefore,is the most suitable soil to plant the seed of the Lordship of Christ. The Bible school exists in order that we may reveal God's relation to man and man's relation to God and the teacher must recognize the Lordship of Christ first in order for it to be taught in the school.

3. In the Church, by Rev. W. S. Edgar ,of Gilmour Memorial church.

Where Church Began.

When Christ finished the church began. Christ provided salvation, the church preaches it, to devitalize the gospel men must first dethrone Christ.

The exalted and triumphant Christ above explains the exulting and triumphant church below. The medium of the power is prayer and all our power will depend on the elevation of our spirits. Christ ascended to heaven because the throne of heaven is the only throne for the Universal King and if we unseat Christ we destroy the perfection of the Bible. The Lordship of Christ means activity, power and missionary zeal.

4. In Business, by Joseph Wearing of Peterborough. The application in business of the fundamental principles of right living of which Christ is the exponent. We should keep in our minds the living Christ rather than holding certain religious dogmas.

Evangelism was the next subject dealth with.

Evangelism in the prayer meeting was the subject of an address by Rev. E. Butcher of Brighton. We should recognize the prayer meeting as an opportunity to preach the gospel and to emphasize the three motives in God's salvation in Christ, (a) We should be created in Christ Jesus into good works, (b) We have been saved by Christ that we should not perish everlastingly, (c) We must have faith and belief in God's kindness to us in the ages to come.

Evangelism in song by Rev. T. L. White.

The words of God declares that whenever a mighty work of grace took place men had to express their joy in song. Singing the gospel message has been wondrously used in evangelism. Luther, Wesley and others wrote the gospel songs to reach the hearts of men. There are four essentials in hymns: (1) They must be full of Christ, (2) They must be born of experience, (3) They must be pure and simple in truth and doctrine and (4) They must be filled with spiritual life.

Rev. F. L. Chorley of Indian River, was to have given an address on Evangelism in pastoral visitation, but he was unable to be present.

Evening Session.

The devotional exercises were taken by Rev. J. N. Norton, after which Rev. N. S. McKechnie of Belleville, led in prayer.

Rev. C. S. Reddick, of the Lakefield Methodist church, extended the greetings of the Methodist church to the association in a pleasant little speech that spoke of good will and friendly feeling not only for the members of the Lakefield Baptist church, but also for the association in their work.

Rev. T. L. White, pastor of the Lakefield Baptist church, gave an address of welcome, assuring the delegates of the pleasure their coming had given his people and himself and his hope and prayer was that hosts and guests would be greatly blessed and strengthened in the faith of Jesus Christ.

Rev. Wm. Morrow, of Park street Baptist church, Peterborough, who was billed to reply, was unable to be present owing to illness in his home, so Rev. J. P. McLennan, of Cobourg, took his place, and while regretting the absence of Mr. Morrow, he assured Mr. White of the good impression the hearty welcome received had made on the visitors and felt that through God's blessing the objects of the meeting would be reached.

A verse of Joseph Scriven's famous hymn was sung. Mr. Scriven was at one time Baptist pastor at Bailieboro.

Miss M. A. Nicholls of Peterborough, presented the directors' report. This is the 37th annual report and is a milestone in the history of the Association. We take a backward glance and miss many faces which we were accustomed to see. Several have been called by death. Miss Hood and Mrs. Ellis of Murray street, have been called home since last year's conference. Mrs. Chorley has also passed away. We etxend sympathy to the bereaved families and commend them to the good God who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind. Of the 19 churches in the district, 16 have Mission Circles, and present excellent reports this year.

Several Circles have added life members during the past year, but the object of every woman in the church a member of the Mission Circle has not yet been reached, with the exception of Colborne and Haldimand. The latter remains the banner Circle as there are more members in the Circle than there are women in the church. Port Hope is in the lead in average giving.

In 1922 $594.36 was given to Home Missions by the Circles and in 1923 $771.37 was given, showing a decided increase.

In 1922 for Foreign Missions, $81.84 was contributed, while in 1923 the amount was $959.98.

In 1922 $25.55 was given to the Indian fund, and in 1923 the amount was $33.50.

To other purposes $55.00 was contributed last year. The Young Women's Mission Circles raised $217.25 and are raising enough extra to support Miss Pearl Scott, a missionary in India. While the giving was increased during the past year it was not up to 1921.

Referring to the Band work. Miss Nichols said: "Our aim is a band in every church" and at present in the district there are 12 bands with a membership of 430 showing an increase of 120 since 1922.

Colborne has re-organized their band and one boy has offered himself for life service.

The total amount raised during the past year by circles and bands is $2,176.91 which is $353.06 more than previous years.

Miss Nicholls closed with an earnest plea for greater zeal and more co-operation with the Band leaders She wished all women to be touched with the obligation to the Saviour.

This report was adopted enthusiastically.

The choir rendered an anthem.

The following committees were appointed by Mr. A. J. Madill of Peterboro, the moderator:—

Nominating committee—Rev. H. Wood, Rev. T. J. Rich and Rev. L. H. Coles.

Resolutions committee—Rev. Dr Rose, Rev. N. S. McKechnie and Rev. H. S. Bennett.

Arrangements committee: Rev. T. L. White and Rev. W. S. Edgar.

Mr. Madill gave the moderator's address and touched a keynote which should be felt in every heart by queting Capt. Tom Best, the Religious World Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. and saying that what the world the church and the individual needs most to-day is peptomism. Peptomism is closely related to optimism but is plus active service. A peptomist is needed to supplement the excess zeal of the optimist and to counteract the gloom of the pessimist. There is a great need of service to-day, it is the keynote of active Christian life. Conditions in the world are not cheering to-day, not at all what we had hoped for at the end of the war. Young people are not as serious as we feel they should be, they are crazed with pleasure and lured with the lighter things. Christ was tempted even as we are and his temptations are common to all.

(1) J—The appeal to indolence and indulgence.

(2)—The desire for popular favor and display and being in the limelight.

(3)—The love of power in politics, business and society.

Christ's reply was "Get thee hence Satan,' he made his choice and chose service.

The recent B.Y.P.U. convention held in Brantford and attended by 1,500 young people proves that in spite of the freely given criticism the young people are in the earnest and have not lost their interest.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Rose of Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterboro, gave an adress first giving a brief review of the work in the Maritime provinces. His text was taken from the 13th verse of the 4th Chapter of St. Paul's epistle to the Phillipians: 'I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me."

St. Paul was a fearless apostle of Christ and proclaimed him boldly even under adverse circumstances and in the face of danger.

When this epistle was written he was old and nearly blind and in prison and in this text he expresses in a nutshell the sense, the scope and the secret of his ability. Christ is a great dynamo of power and his strength and help are treasured up for our use. We can do with God's help all he requires of us.

The evening session here adjourned.

HOUSE IN DOURO STRUCK

DOURO, June 6.—A house owned by Robert Heffernan in this township and occupied by Mrs. Skelcher was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The chimney was knocked off ,flooring torn up and one end of the build ing razed. The electric fluid also struck the driving shed.

Mrs. Skelcher was shocked into unconsciousness by the lightning. but she is much improved to-day. The two children at home when the building was struck escaped unhurt.

The damage to the dwelling and driving shed has not yet eben estimated.

OTHER INCIDENTS

The alarm circuit at the Fire Hall was temporarily cut twice during the storm and seven fuses were blown out. The electrician promptly righted the trouble, and the firemen were standing by continuously in expectation of calls.

A small washout occurred on the Canadian National line between Peterborough and Omemee. It was not of a serious nature and no delay was occasioned.

An underground cable suffered damage last night, rendering useless five or six hundred telephones in the south end of the city.

FREAK OF LIGHTNING

J. C. Morrow's house at 610 Chamberlen street was hit in yesterday's matinee display that preceded the evening performance. The material damage was slight, only a piece of the eve-trough being torn. Inside, however, the lightning was malevolently prankish in its travels. It burned the trimming off a wire hat frame, in one of the closets, and blew a lot of soot from the stovepipes over freshly varnished floors.

RUBIDGE STREET HOUSE

The house occupied by Mrs. Margaret Daly, 420 Rubidge street was struck in the late afternoon and considerable damage done. The lightning appeared like a ball of fire. Mrs. Daly said, and a neighbor was stunned by the bolt.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY PLANNING

Laborites Up in Arms at Being Left Off Committee.

LONDON, June 6. (Special.) — The British Labor Party is planning an appeal to the labor elements in Canada and the other British Dominions for a combined labor demand that labor matters shall occupy more attention than is at present proposed during the Imperial economic conference.

The British Government in appointing an advisory committee to arrange the daily programme for the conference did not select a laborite as one of its members and the party is up in arms. They suspect an effort to put Labor in the background and infer a lack of interest in the International Labor Bureau of the League of Nations.

There has been strong criticism of the British expenditure in connection with that bureau and the British Labor leaders feel that cooperative effort between them and their colleagues in the Dominions is necessary if Labor is to play its proper part in this important meeting.

HON. ROBERT ROGERS FULL OF OPTIMISM

MONTREAL, June 6 (Canadian Press). — The Hon. Robert Rogers reached Montreal yesterday full of optimism regarding the crop conditions in the West.

"After forty years in the West, I believe I am justified in saying that never have I seen crop conditions so good as they are at this time of the year," he declared.

"Notwithstanding all the talk we hear in respect to the discontent and disappointment, we have a larger acreage planted than ever before."

With a twinkle in his eye, the Hon. Robert added that the only thing necessary to ensure proper safeguards to the multitude of people engaged in farming in Western Canada was to return the Conservative Party to power.

Financial News and Views

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, June 6. — (Special). —Trading was light in the early dealings on the stock exchange today but some confidence was in evidence in the general list. Buoyancy in New York Central was the outstanding feature, the issue advancing to a new high ... the move at 100 1-8, presumably discounting a dividend increase at the June 13th meeting. Pere Marquette's movements did little to bear out the belief prevailing in the speculative community that dividend payments would be inaugurated at the directors' meeting scheduled for noon. This stock showed only a fractional gain at 43 7-8... Steel Common was in demand at the best levels of the week and other leading industrials were generally higher.

Fluctuations in the latter half of the first hour were meaningless. The changes were mostly confined to fractions and stocks which had a flurry of activity in the early dealings lapsed into dullness. The general opinion seems to be that the market has been sold to a standstill. One broker said that if the professional activities were left out of consideration the transactions would not exceed 150,000 daily. When the professionals and floor traders are doing nothing the ticker is almost at a standstill.

Some stocks in normal periods are considered active do not make their appearance on the tape for an hour or more at a time. Up to noon on Tuesday there was not a transaction in alcohol. Transactions in stocks like American Sugar, Texas Co., Kelly and Sinclair, were few and far between. Some traders take this dullness as meaning that a foundation is being laid for an upward swing.

...Production and consumption of steel, copper, crude oil, gasoline, automobiles, and other leading commodities continues at high speed and the dearth of skilled labor is as pronounced as ever.

In New England some slowing down in production is noticeable but this has been due largely to weather conditions and may be temporary. This is remarkable when it is considered that the major decline in security prices started six weeks ago, and has continued ever since with occasional rallies. Steel common struck a low for the year last Saturday. Professional operators have used their best efforts to depress prices and would consider it a master stroke if they were able to force a panic and throw the business into depression; bear propaganda sent broadcast over the the country the last six weeks would bear investigation; never in the history of Wall street has the public been treated to such a variety of baseless rumors and reports.

WEDDING BELLS

JARVIS—PARKER.

BELLEVILLE, June 6.— In the presence of a large number of friends this morning in St. Thomas' church, Belleville, Josephine, only daughter of the late Captain Joseph Parker, and sister of Sir Gilbert Parker, Bart., novelist, was united in marriage to Edgar Beaumont Jarvis, formerly of Toronto, now of Belleville, cousin of Commodore Jarvis of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon G. Ross Beamish. The bride was handsome in her travelling suit of grey and blue and wore a corsage bouquet of orchids. Her only ornament was a beautiful cut crystal necklace, the gift of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Thomas' church, of which Miss Parker has been president for several years. The members of the Auxiliary were also responsible for the profuse floral decorations in the church.

The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. George Simmons, of Belleville, was unattended. Immediately after the ceremony, amidst showers of confetti, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis left for a short honeymoon to be spent in the east. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

Mother and Father Cannot Forget.

IN MEMORIAM

FOWLER — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. D. H. Fowler, who departed this life, 6th June, 1922.

The midnight stars are gleaming
On a lone and silent grave;
Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,
But whom we could not save.
Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past;
Her ever-patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still.
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.

A HEAVY LOSS FROM WEATHER ON ALL CROPS

Bad Reports From England — The Weather Has Been Cold and Backward.

PRICES ARE UP

LONDON, June 7.—(Special). — The Department of Agriculture announces that a huge loss on all the crops are to be expected unless the weather shows signs of immediate improvement, the continued cold hindering growth in all districts.

The growth for hay is the only crop that has not felt the untowardness of the climate.

London housewives are already complaining of the excessive costs of vegetables, and native fruits and apples, cherries, currants, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries, asparagus and beans are all backward from the lack of warmth. Pears and plums this year are expected to be a total failure, and all cereals are greatly retarded.

MISSION PAGEANT GIVEN BY JUNIORS

All Saints' Junior Women's Auxiliary Completes Year's Work.

The closing meeting of the Junior Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church, held in the Parish Hall, took the form of a pageant, based on "Our Church at Work," the figure of "Canada" (Miss Isabel Connolly) being addressed by various children representing the provinces of the Dominion and the foreign fields of endeavor. Twenty-five of the junior members took part in this graceful little affair, and went through their several parts in splendid fashion.

Fifteen of the junior members who had passed examinations in mission study were presented with certificates by Rev. R. B. Grobb.

At the conclusion of the programme, the Junior Superintendent, Mrs. H. E. Connolly, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of carnations.

A SECOND VICTIM OF KEROSENE EXPLOSION

CHATHAM, June 7.— (Canadian Press.) — Mrs. Ambrose Lausen, aged 22, died last night, the second victim of a kerosene oil explosion which occurred earlier in the day. Her two-and-a-half year old baby boy succumbed to burns late in the afternoon. The explosion, which set the house on fire, occurred when Mrs. Lausen emptied kerosene from a can on the fire in the kitchen stove.

MURDERED THIRTY-THREE

MOSCOW, June 7. —(Canadian Press).—Vasili Komaroff, convicted of the murder of thirty-three persons, and his wife as his accomplice were to-day sentenced to be shot within 72 hours. Neither betrayed any emotion as sentence was passed but there were loud cries from the crowded court that sentence be carried out immediately.

Peculiar Tricks of The Electric Storm

Lightning played some peculiar tricks during the thunderstorm on Tuesday, but perhaps the most freakish occurrence was on McKellar Street, near the river in the south-end of the city.

The bolt struck a pine tree a few yards from the house occupied by Ernest Saunders, split the tree, and passed along a clothes line. Striking a pole which was supporting the line, the bolt made a groove in it, and jumped to a wire fence. An open gate in the fence failed to stop the current, which ploughed a furrow through the ground until it reached the opposite fence. A Hydro pole next obstructed the current, and this was stripped of its outer covering.

Passing along a wire to the cut-out above the transformer, the bolt split the cut-out and drove it six inches into the ground, evidently ending its own spectacular career at the same time.

LAW GETS MAN AFTER 3 YEARS

Warrant Issued in 1920 Satisfied in Police Court This Morning.

The tenacity of the law in securing its men was shown in Police Court this morning, when a man who committed a crime in the city three years ago was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley.

In November, 1920, according to the charge laid against him, Robert Cross, of Coe Hill, obtained $100 from George Stevens, of Mark Street, by false pretenses. The information was laid, but Cross had disappeared from the city. Chief Newhall instituted enquiries, and recently located the wanted man in Toronto, where he was arrested.

Cross was brought to Peterboro last night by Detective-Sergeant Meagher, and when arraigned this morning, pleaded guilty to the charge. After agreeing to make restitution and pay the costs of the hearing, he was released on suspended sentence. The Magistrate took notice of the fact that Cross has a wife and several small children dependent on him, and that he had a lengthy war record.

INCREASE IN PERMITS FOR PLUMBING IN MAY

Plumbing permits issued last month numbered 43, as compared with 31 in April. During the month there were 16 outdoor closets done away with, bringing the total for the year up to 47, according to A. G. Metheral, city plumbing inspector.

The May permits included 29 water closets, 20 baths, 25 basins, 28 sinks, 4 laundry tubs, 2 combination trays, 1 soda fountain, 7 floor drains and 1 drinking fountain. The drinking fountain is being installed in Victoria Park.

Inspections to the number of 119 were made, including 33 water tests, 32 smoke tests, 11 layouts and 43 miscellaneous. On satisfactory completion of the work permitted, 68 certificates were issued.

A PEERAGE HAS BEEN OFFERED SIR F. BANBURY

LONDON, June 7. — (Special).—Sir F. Banbury has been approached with an offer of a peerage with the object of creating a vacancy in a City of London seat for the party. He has refused the offer, declaring that he doesn't desire to relinquish his work in the Commons at present.

The Conservative leaders, realizing the great services Banbury has given to the party, are not pressing him to accept the offered peerage.

Efforts are being made to find Mr. McKenna a safe seat in the London area, for the Premier requires his assistance in the Cabinet at once.

THE BELGIANS WANT BRITAIN BACK IN FOLD

France and Belgium Working Together for Resumption of War Time Relations.

CONFERENCE TODAY

(By Webb Miller, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, June 8.—France and Belguim want Great Britain back in the Entente. They hope to bring about a resumption of the old cordial relations of war time harmony with agreement upon the next German reparations.

Plans for seeking British co-operation as well as that of Italy, were formulated at Brussels Wednesday between Premier Poincare and Belgium Foreign Minister Jaspar.

It was Belgium who proposed advances to Britain that are believed likely to lead to a renewal of the Entente that fought the war. The situation as between France and Belgium is entirely unchanged by the conference. The decision to approach Stanley Baldwin, British Premier, who is understood to be in a receptive mood, is based on a Belgian belief that Great Britain is willing to join her former allies if the latter undertake strict control of Germany ,industrially and financially, while discontinuing occupation of the Ruhr.

Meanwhile it is learned that Belgium has received unofficially the contents of the next reparations proposal of the Cuno government and found the offer unacceptable.

Rhillipe Millet, writing in the Petit Parisien, says that Jaspar in yesterday's conference favored immediate pour parlours with London on the subject of a joint front. Poincare insisted, according to this writer, that such a move await completion of a Franco-Belgian programme and "official" receipt of the German offer. Poincare and Jaspar are said to have agreed to get out of the Ruhr as soon as Germany recognizes the right of their countries to priority payments.

CHARGE WILL BE HEARD NEXT WEEK

Dr. A. W. Richardson Will Answer Accusation of Performing Illegal Operation.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 7.—(Special.)—The case of Dr. A. W. Richardson, charged with performing an illegal operation, has been set for hearing at the June sessions of the peace which will open here next Tuesday afternoon, Judge Madden presiding. The charge against Dr. Richardson followed the death of Miss May Dunnett, formerly of Peterborough. The case was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Farrell and committed for trial.

GERMANY RE-AFFIRMS GOOD WILL FOR ALLIES

BERLIN, June 7. — (Canadian Press.) — According to Germany's new offer of reparations, annuities would become effective in 1927 and their number and amount would depend wholly on the degree of Germany's economic recovery. The memorandum declares an inevitable requisite to a practical solution of the reparations problem is early convocation of a general conference to which Germany would be admitted on an equal basis.

The memorandum reaffirms Germany's good will and readiness to meet her reparations obligations and asserts the conviction that the entire problem should be submitted to an impartial inquiry, the verdict of which, it declares, would be accepted by German government.

WORKERS IN BRITAIN MAY DEMAND A SIX-HOUR DAY

Resolution to This End Will Be Submitted to the Next Trades Union Congress to Be Held in London

LONDON, June 7 (United Press). — The Executive Committee of the National Railwaymen's Union on Wednesday decided to present a resolution at the next Trades Union Congress, asking all organised British workers to demand a six-hour day.

Extremists declare a great strike of all labour in Britain may be called in sympathy with the measure.

It will be recalled that the railway strike in 1921, which threatened to tie up all English industry, and was scotched by Lloyd-George's mobilisation of the Home Guards who occupied London, hung largely on the six-hour day issue.

PREVENTED WAR IN NEAR EAST

Lord Curzon Responsible For Success of Conference -May Now Resign

LONDON, June 7.— (United Press.)—I learn on the best authority that the Marquis Curzons' health will force his reliniquishing his Cabinet post in the near future. The success of the Lausanne Conference, for which he is largely responsible, has effectually prevented war in the Near East and this removes the obstacle that has kept him in his place. The settlement of the Russian dispute is believed near, which was another objection to withdrawal while the reparations problem in the Ruhr remains the sole remaining difficulty for the Foreign Secretary.

SCHOOL TESTS COMMENCE SOON

Passing Examination Not Half So Important as Possession of Sound Knowledge and Ability

In one week more, the annual Departmental examinations will be upon the pupils of our schools. They will then give an accounting of their year's work. If successful, they will receive certificates that they have measured up to a certain intellectual standard and that they have completed a stage in their mental development.

It is necessary at this point to sound a note of warning. The "passing" of the examination is not one tithe as important as the "possession" of the knowledge and ability which makes the passing possible. The power behind the certificate is of more value than the certificate itself. Hence we need to be on our guard against the danger of considering the mere passing of examinations the mark of a successful year's work. To do so is to lose sight of the whole purpose of education.

The object of our educational system should be to import knowledge and develop power—to bring out the full capacities of the pupil. The examination is only a tool—a mental yardstick—by which in a more or less mechanical way we measure the progress of the pupil from time to time.

To mistake the tool for the work to be done has serious consequences. It has occasionally led to a policy of "cramming" preparation for passing examinations instead of honest study. It has, at times, degraded education into a sort of guessing contest in which attempts are made to "hit" the parts of the work likely to be "on." here have been instances where inferior pupils by "plugging" the last few days and making a "stab" at possible questions, have been successful, while others infinitely better educated have failed or taken a lower mark.

Let no one, however, be misled by this seeming miscarriage of justice. A certificate, diploma, or degree is not a through ticket that takes one along the highway of an increasingly successful career. They merely give the possessor an early chance to prove his worth in the struggle for existence. If they are not backed by the solid mental attainments and training which their possession implies, the world, which plays few favourites, will detect the fraud. The world will not always accept this paper at its face value unless there is real worth behind it. The world requires a man to deliver the goods; if he can't, he will be thrown into the discard.

Success in life depends upon opportunity and the ability to seize the chance when it comes. The certificate, diploma, or degree stakes a claim in the field of opportunity; but ability alone will give permanency of tenure and make a mine of it.

Examinations are necessary and important, but it isn't enough to have "made a pass." The pupil must be prepared for the test that comes when life sets the problems.

Four Hundred Will Be Added to Rolls

Over four hundred names are to be added to the voters' lists for Peterborough City alone, according to a rough count of the applications received at the City Clerk's office.

The majority of the persons seeking to have their names put on the list have made their application through the candidates' committee rooms, but there are many individual applications.

Official figures for both city and rural districts will be available at the conclusion of the Revision Court sittings, which are expected to end in both Peterborough ridings this week.

200 GIVEN JOBS IN MONTH OF MAY

Demand Now is for Building Trades and Laborers

Nearly 200 placements were made by the Peterborough Branch of the Government Employment Bureau in May, and at present there are many applications on hand for laborers and domestic help. Mr. H. Robinson, superintendent of the Bureau, said he could place all the laborers who offer themselves, many of the positions being local and many hundreds of applications being on hand from out of the city.

Carpenters and painters are also in demand in the city, and bricklayers are wanted in outside points. One demand from out of the city for roadmakers offers $45 a month and board, and specifies no lost time. The majority of the labor jobs pay from 30 cents to 45 cents an hour, but some call only for casual labor. Not many applications are being received from farmers, Mr. Robinson said.

VOTERS' APPEALS HEARING FRIDAY

Revision of Voters' Lists Will Be in Progress for Two Days.

Voters' list appeals will be heard at the Court House on Friday and Saturday beginning at 10.30 a.m. Every person who has entered an appeal to have his or her name placed on the list or corrected must appear in person before the revising officers to give evidence, or must be represented by some one who has personal knowledge of the facts.

Appellants from Ward No. 1 will be heard on Friday, June 8 in the court room by Crown Attorney Hatton.

From Ward No. 2 also on Friday in the County Council room with Mr. George Sherry, clerk of the county court, presiding.

From Ward No. 3—On Saturday, June 9th in the County Council Chamber by Mr. Sherry.

From Ward No. 4— On Friday, June 8th in the Judge's Chamber, where Judge Huycke will preside.

Ward No. 5—Saturday, June 9th, in the Judge's Chambers by Judge Huycke.

To vote in the Provincial elections electors must have their names on the lists, and it is to enable everyone to meet this condition that the revision is being made.

THE WEATHER.

This is "Gauge Day" for the summer months. If there is any foundation for the old— (I was going to say "superstition," but will not, as many believe in it implicitly — we will this summer have a preponderance of east winds, cloudy and cool days and frequent summer showers. Don't pooh-pooh it now, say little, but watch and see, and have the satisfaction of remarking to the other fellow, "I told you so!" should it prove correct.—W.P.

PROGRESS BY BAPTIST ASSN. WAS REPORTED

Annual Convention at Lakefield Continued Yesterday When Many Reports Were Heard.

TWO SESSIONS

LAKEFIELD, June 6.—The morning session of the Baptist Association annual meeting opened with devotional exercises in charge of Professor Curr, of McMaster University, after which Rev. L. H. Coles, of Colborne, acted as moderator. The Church letters were read by Rev. H. Bennett, of Campbellford, and Rev. Ernest Butcher, of Brighton, and in most cases progress was reported, and in no case was there a word suggesting retrogression. Campbellford was reported as in great need of the gospel, but, unfortunately, the need is not realized as it should be. Haldimand, the oldest church in the association, will celebrate its 12th anniversary in July, and extends an invitation to members of the association to be present. Park Street, Peterboro, reports increased interest of the young people in church activities. Murray Street reported increases of a gratifying nature in the Sunday School.

Many churches reported revivals following evangelistic meetings under various leaders, with the names of Mr. anid Mrs. Alexander Torrie most prominently mentioned as evangelists.

The nominating committee presented the following report:

Moderator—Rev. W. E. Morrow, of Park Street Church, Peterboro.

Alternative Moderator—P. C. McLaren, Belleville.

Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. H. S. Bennett, of Campbellford.

Associate Clerk—Charles Bradley, of Grafton.

Preacher of Annual Sermon—Rev. L. H. Coles, of Colborne.

Alternative Preacher—Rev. W. S. Edgar.

Home Mission Committee — Rev. N. S. McKechnie, Belleville (convenor); L. J. Pettit, of Peterboro; T. K. Graham, of Gilmour Memorial; R. C. Weston, of Campbellford, and Rev. H. Wood, of Port Hope.

Foreign Mission Representative—Rev. F. Chorley, of Indian River.

Sunday School Board Representative—Rev. J. N. Norton, of Cobourg.

Educational Representative—Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., of Peterboro.

Representative on Convention Committee—Rev. H. Wood, of Port Hope.

An invitation was given from Port Hope to meet there next year, and on motion it was accepted.

An address was given on the work of the Grande Ligne Mission by E. A. Thierrien, who is a member of the staff of the Feller Institute staff. The work of this institute is to bring the gospel of Jesus Christ to the Roman Catholics who are under the ritualistic teachings of the priests, who teach salvation through fulfillment of sacraments, not through the grace of God's goodness. They are led away from the fundamental truths which are the basis of religious experience. This is a large field with a population of two million people, who have not the gospel of Christ one may say, as 85 per cent. of the population of Quebec are French, and of that 86 per cent. are Roman Catholics. The purpose of the Roman Catholics is to gather in communities. It is said that they comprise 50 per cent. of the population of Moncton, N. B., and in Ontario large centres are entirely French - Canadian, and it is our mission to take the gospel to them. Methods used are varied and include colporteurs, education and evangelization.

Sought Further Knowledge.

Mr. Thierrien's great-grandfather was given a copy of the New Testament by a colporteur, and he and his wife read it, and, seeking further knowledge, they drove 30 miles to Grande Ligne to talk to Madame Feeler and receive explanation of various passages of Scripture. From that beginning a whole family was led to Christ, and then their 75 direct descendants of this old gentleman, who are Baptists. There is a great deal of opposition of course, but that is being overcome. Work is going on in lumber camps of northern districts also. The Feller Institute can take 180 students, and at present there are 165, and there was never a better spiritual condition than exists at present, due to the young people's efforts. Twenty-six have professed their faith during the last few weeks. The Institute has a well-equipped laundry and gymnasium, and manual train-

WERE AMAZED AT EXTENT OF RACE BETTING

Attempt to Prevent It Would Be As Feasible As the Turning Back of Niagara.

CANADIANS AT DERBY

LONDON, July 7. — (Canadian Press.)— Canadian members of the House of Commons committee, which is investigtaing the question of taxing betting, attended the Derby at Epsom Downs yesterday as guests of the Jockey Club. Several of the committee men, habitual frequenters of the race track, acted as guides for their colleagues who, until yesterday, had never seen horses run. Their main impressions as recorded in interviews concerned universality of betting on the course and the insignificant part the actual racing played in the pleasure of the enormous crowd, only a small fraction of which was able to see the running of the Derby.

Isaac Foot, one of the novices, said he and his fellow innocents were amazed at the extent of the betting business and staggered by the amount of money which changed hands. They came to the conclusion, he added that an attempt to prevent betting would be about as feasible as trying to turn back Niagara.

David Grenfell, a miner M.P. from South Wales, said he never understood what people meant when they said racing could not be conducted without betting, but he now realized that after watching a few races one would find it monotonous unless a bet were placed. He believed race course betting was, likely to be less injurious to a community than gambling at a gaming table.

Sir Beddoe Ross, Liberal, was also impressed by the remarkable code of honor that seemed to exist between backers and bookmakers, the former never argued and the latter paid up without question.

PRESIDENT SAYS ENFORCE THE LAW

Newly Elected Leader of Methodist Conference Speaks on Prohibition

TORONTO, June 7. —(Canadian Press). — Rev. G. R. Turk, of Brampton, was elected president of the Toronto Methodist Conference to-day. Rev. W. J. Smith was re-elected secretary. Mr. Turk roused great enthusiasm by his presidential declaration that the conference was a unit on the question of prohibition.

"I am not going to tell you how to vote," he said. "That would be the foolishness of folly. But I want to say that it is not so much a question of changing the law as it is of enforcing that law. We want an increased stringency and an enforcement on all sides. He referred to Sir William Hearst's remark last night that the need now was not so much long prayers and deep sermons.

"I don't think the Methodist Church is suffering from either, but we know what Sir William meant," he said.

ANNOUNCED THE TRUTH ABOUT POET AVIATOR

ROME, June 7.—(United Press). —Premier Mussolini's newspaper, the Popolo D'Italia, on Wednesday demanded that the mystery of Gabriel D'Annuzio's disappearance be cleared up by the Press Department of the Ministry of the Interior, "which knows the truth," the paper says, and should issue a communique. The last rumors regarding the poet aviator were that he was heading by airplane to lead an Ottoman army in Anatolia.

BODY OF MISSING BOY FOUND IN A RIVER

GUELPH, June 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Shortly before noon to-day the body of Walter, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gleeva, was discovered in the river near Carpet Mills. It had evidently been in the water for several days, as the boy was missing from his home on Monday and had not been seen or heard of since.

LAKEFIELD AND STONEY LAKE.

ON THURSDAY, JUNE 7TH, STEAMER WILL LEAVE LAKEFIELD ON ARRIVAL OF NOON TRAIN FOR THE LAKES. STONEY LAKE NAVIGATION COMPANY.

Say--- Listen!

There are many things that a candidate like Mr. Bradburn may not say for himself, but others can, and will.

That is the reason why this column claims your attention. To help you to decide—not who to vote for—but to cinch your before-made resolution to vote for Mr. Bradburn.

If years of life in your town and city count for anything, years spent in watching and in helping in its growth and its importance, and pushing it along, surely the work of those years deserves recognition. He only asks your friendly support. Your vote will be evidence of that.

And if he was good enough for us to make use of, sort of sterling-silver reliability, judicious in any forward movement, never a hold-back or a piker, then he is good enough now, if not better. For added years have brought added experience, right up to the minute experience, too.

You selected him for the position of Chief Magistrate of your city; picked him out and put him in by acclamation. That should count. He graduated from Aldermanic service, having served in the Council, If he was good enough then isn't he good enough now. You bet he is.

Afterwards, in looking for a man to share with two others the responsibility in handling the affairs of your Utilities Commission, (your water and light services) you carried him on to the Board. Has he played you false in any little particular. Not much. He isn't built that way. Why not give the man credit for what he does. Pass him your vote and say he deserves it.

When you send him to the Legislature will he go back on you? Not much, not any. Straight, square, reasonable, thoughtful and judicious in action. Make a safe and sane representative.

Why bother about trying someone else when you have the right man at your call. If any business director could get men of the calibre of Mr. Bradburn to pitch in and help him, he'd grab at the chance. Then why should you hesitate?

As a man he is above reproach. Surely that should count. It does with us when we make friends. He has never been a faddist. Has no axes to grind, no rings to cater to, no projects to influence, except those for the benefit of your city.

He will give you straight-out Legislative service without any "Group" nonsense. To push the things that will be good for all people will be good enough for him, and should be good enough for you.

To him the interests of the Riding, the City and your interests will mean more than any highfalutin' theories or up-lift, (if anyone knows what "uplift" means). What this Province needs just now, and badly, is men to catch hold and lift.

Mr. Bradburn has a stake in this community that ensures that he will be careful for himself, and being so, will be careful for you. That is just what economy means, as a plain and simple truth.

So, decide right now, to vote for Mr. Bradburn, and stick to the resolution. Bradburn will win. You can make it a certainty.

MR. F. SHERWOOD RADIO INSPECTOR

Received Notice of His Appointment This Morning—The Duties.

Mr. Frank Sherwood, 110 Lock Street, has been appointed radio inspector for the city of Peterboro and district. W. C. C. Duncan, radio inspector at Toronto, interviewed applicants for the position here a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Sherwood received confirmation of his appointment this morning from C. P. Edwards, director of radio service at Ottawa.

The duties of a radio inspector included inspection of radio sets, issuing of licenses and examination of candidates for proficiency in radio telegraphy. All sets, both receiving and transmitting, must be licensed, but persons operating receiving sets only do not require to pass an examination. A penalty of fifty dollars is imposed by law for operation of any radio telegraph apparatus without a license. Licenses may be procured at the Post Office, or from Mr. Sherwood, at his home at 110 Lock Street, or at the Canadian National Telegraph Office in the evening.

Mr. Sherwood has been interested in radio-telegraphy for a number of years. He had the first radio set in this vicinity, and received the first radio programme to be broadcasted, which was sent from the Westinghouse Electric Company's Station KDKA, Pittsburg, in 1920.

ALLIES WILL PRESENT UNITED FRONT ON THE REPARATION PROBLEM

Settlement of the Ruhr Trouble May Come as Result of Conference Held Yesterday.

NOTE EXPECTED.

BRUSSELS, June 6.— (Canadian Press.)— A solid and united Allied front by France, Belgium, Great Britain and Italy on the question of German reparations, with France and Belgium agreed on a policy with regards to the Ruhr, appears to be forecast in consequence of a meeting here to-day between Premier Poincare of France and Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar of Belgium.

A striking feature of the session, according to both the French and Belgians, was that a way was left open for Stanley Baldwin, the British Prime Minister, to propose a solution should it prove impossible to arrange a joint Allied reply to new proposals Germany is expected to make almost immediately on the subject of reparations.

The French express willingness to meet any reasonable German plan in a spirit of conciliation, and aside from insisting that payment from Germany must be forthcoming before the French soldiers march out of the Ruhr. M. Poincare declared he was ready and willing to entertain settlement suggestions from friendly quarters. It is asserted that when the French Premier made this statement, Mr. Baldwin was particularly in his mind.

The French, with the Belgians supporting their view, still held out for a cessation of German passive resistance as an inflexible requirement before Germany's new offer is examined; but M. Poincare's attitude on the whole nevertheless is construed here as decidedly less uncompromising than heretofore. The two allies, France and Belgium, again at to-day's meeting, reaffirmed their decision to evacuate the Ruhr only as Germany has paid.

Grave fears had been voiced that the French and Belgian viewpoints would prove irreconcilable, but after a private talk of more than an hour between M. Poincare and M. Theunis and M. Jaspar, which was considered the most important feature of the day, it was announced officially that "an understanding has been reached."

The meeting of "The Board of Directors of the Ruhr Occupation Company, Limited," as the French Premier described to-day's session, proved to be a general discussion of the reparaions question.

When the delegates met to-night at the French Embassy for dinner, M. Poincare and M. Jaspar decided that another meeting set for to-night was unnecessary. M. Poincare, therefore, will return to Paris about 8 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The new German note, which some thought might arrive in Brussels today, failed to make its appearance. The Premiers, however, were enabled to outline their eventual reply. The Belgians, while skeptical as to the acceptibility of Germany's new proposals, expressed the opinion that the offer should be examined into and answered. As the note will be addressed to all the Allies, the Belgians were of the belief that it would afford an opportunity to restore the Allied front by a joint reply. M. Poincare assented to this.

An official communique, issued after the conference session reads:

"The French and Belgian Governments continued to-day their joint study of various questions raised by the occupation of the Ruhr. They maintained integrally their former decisions, notably in what concerns the conditions under which the evacuation of the Ruhr would take place after the payment of reparations, and also concerning the obligations for Germany to cease her passive resistance before there can be an examination of her proposals.

"The two Governments have laid down a programme on new measures to be taken in order to accentuate their pressure to coerce Germany into complete fulfillment of her obligations."

King Albert received M. Poincare at 7 o'clock this morning and conversed with him until it was time for the French Premier to leave for the dinner. The plans agreed upon by the conferees to increase the effectiveness of the Ruhr occupation as a producer of returns, both in kind and in cash, included the creation of an international syndicate to exploit tobacco and alcohol monopolies in the occupied regions. This measure in the Belgian plans bears the notation, "must be submitted to Great Britain." It was accepted by M. De Lasteyrie, the French Finance Minister, on behalf of M. Poincare.

The Belgians feel that Great Britain again has been made an active party to the settlement of the reparations questions, owing to this reference to her for proposal of provisions accepted by the French. The Belgians entered the conference in the hope of serving as a link between the French and the British, and afterwards M. Jaspar, who for months has been an exponent of the British views on co-operation with France, was able to say: "We have done good work," and the French delegates likewise, "we are quite satisfied."

British Credits Will Meet Interest Charges.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Great Britain is understood to have purchased Liberty bonds and established Dollar credits here sufficient to meet the next installment of $80,000,000 on her war debt to this country, due June 18. Sixty million gold marks recently shipped here for the account of the Bank of Belgium, are understood to have been sold to the Treasury Department and the proceeds credited to Great Britain, which presumably bought up the German note after it had been discounted by Belgium.

CHURCH UNION WAS OPPOSED AT CONVENTION

VOTE WAS TAKEN.

OTTAWA, June 7. Canadian Press —The opponents of church union had their innings yesterday afternoon at the 17th annual meeting of Congregatonal Union of Canada, when Judge Seth Leet spoke strongly against the Union. In the now proposed union, he declared, some of the main points of Congregationalism were being ignored. In the past the Congregational church had rendered a great service, and it was still possible, without uniting, by by greater cooperation than heretofore, to render a much greater service than they could by uniting, and yet preserve their religious entity.

Again in uniting, the church was breaking away from a great Catholicism, which had its roots in every corner of the globe; while the new church might be distinctly Canadian it lacked that universal Catholicism, and of choice between the two the catholicism with its roots in all parts of the world was to be preferred.

Dr. D. L. Ritchie, principal of the Congregational Theological College, Montreal, then paid a fine tribute to the way Judge Leet had handled the case all through; it had not been marred by any unworthy argument or mean remark. He went on to say that the Congregationalists were proud of their religious lineage, and they were not going to subordinate themselves, but carry on as an integral part of the new church. The people never did need the leadership of a church as much as they do now and the united church would provide the proper leadership.

A vote was then taken on the legislation pertaining to church union. It outlines in a general way the form that the new church will take and the rules pertaining thereto.

The motion that the legislation be accepted (with a few minor changes already sanctioned) was 54 in favor and 3 against.

This vote represented the vote by churches as representd by their accredited delegates.

C. V. DYKEMAN POTENTATE OF THE SHRINERS

Annual Convention Was Held in Washington, D.C.--President Harding Serenaded.

REGATTA HELD.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Shriners, in session here, yesterday selected Kansas City as their 1924 convention city, and elevated Conrad V. Dykeman, of Brooklyn, to the post of Imperial Potentate, succeeding James S. McCandless of Honolulu.

Mr. Dykeman advanced from the office of Imperial Deputy Potentate in accordance with the Imperial Council's custom, and all other members of the Imperial Divan went up one step nearer the top. Clifford Ireland ,of Peoria, Ills., a former member of the House of Representatives, was elected to fill the vacancy thus created for Imperial Outer Guard.

Arthur W. Chapman, of Winnipeg, was eelcted member of the Board of Trustees of the Shriners' Hospitals for crippled children, four of which have been completed, with six more projected.

A number of Temple bands serenaded President Harding, who is a Shriner, and Mrs. Harding, during the day, and presented a number of gifts. Mr. Harding entertained thirty wives of visiting Shrine officials at luncheon.

Former President Wilson was serenaded at his home by the Greenville, S.C., patrol, and exchanged greetings with the visitors.

Army, navy, coast guard and air service exhibitions weer held during the day for the benefit of the Shriners. The Southern Rowing Association also staged a regatta on the Potomac, and a swimming meet, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union, was held in the tidal basin, while a massed band concert, in which army, navy and marine bands took part, was held near the Washington monument.

The uniformed bodies of the Shriners, numbering more than 20,000, held their second parade last night, marching on Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to Washington Circle, nearly two miles, under a brilliant canopy of red, yellow and green lights.

Two accidents marred the day. A workman was killed and another injured in the "Garden of Allah," which extends in front of the White House, when a truck collided with a repair scaffold. Ten persons, most of them Shriners or visitors here in connection with the convention, were injured in a collision at Riverside, Va., between two electric trains. One of the cars was returning to Washington from Mount Vernon and the other was en route there with a crowd of sightseers. Physicians later reported that none of the injured was in a serious condition.

DEATH OF WOMAN AND CHILD PROBED

The Bodies of Mrs. Alex. Brown and Her Daughter Were Found Floating in the Lachine Canal.

MONTREAL, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Pending further investigation into the circumstances surrounding their deaths, Coroner Mahon yesterday morning postponed till to-day the inquest in the case of Mrs. Alex. Brown, aged 30, of 480 Atwater avenue, and her one year old daughter, Thelma Brown, whose bodies were found in the Lachine canal, 150 feet above the Cote St. Paul bridge Tuesday night.

Napoleon Parent of 207-A. Chabot street, while walking along the edge of the canal saw the bodies floating on the surface of the water and notified the police. A wedding ring which the woman wore and on the insideo f which were the initials "M. R.B." led the identification. At the opening of the inquest yesterday morning it was established that Mrs. Brown had not been seen since the evening of May 30, when she left her house with her young daughter, apparently to go to the movies. Whether she met with foul play, or fell accidentally into the canal or was drowned while trying to save her little girl, morgue investigators are trying to determine.

Birmingham Will Buy German Goods.

BIRMINGHAM, June 7.—(Canadian Press Cable.) — The city of Birmingham which in Joe Chamberlain's early days gained under his direction a world-wide reputation for civic patriotism, has been keenly excited lately over the corporation's proposal to purchase a fire escape and water tower of which most of the mechanism is German-made.

A Birmingham deputation visited London and other centres in an effort to discover a machine of British make and of equal efficiency. The majority returned impressed with the superior qualities of the German article of which two have already been purchased for Paris. The Birmingham council decided to purchase the German machine.

CLAIMS HEARD FOR DAMAGES CAUSED BY WAR

Canada Steamship Line Has the Largest Claim Against Germany — Steamer Was Torpedoed

CASES POSTPONED.

MONTREAL, June 7. — (Canadian Press. — Thrown into the water when the Steamship Hesperian, on which he was travelling to Canada, was torpedoed by the Germans in 1915, and later suffering hardships in a water logged lifeboat, for some 6 hours, H. Quintal of this city, suffered losses aggregating $4955, according to his evidence here yesterday afternoon before Hon. Dr. William Pugsley, who is hearing cases of Canadian claims against Germany.

Dr. Pugsley thought it doubtful whether Mr. Quintal could claim damages for injury to the person as he was a soldier at the time and the act governing reparations was confined to civilians.

Evidence in connection with the largest claim before the tribunal, that of the Canada Steamship Lines, for $3,798,017, comprising nine vessels torpedoed during the war, was commenced yesterday morning, and continued into the afternoon. The hearing was adjourned in this case until next September to permit of affidavits being secured from England in connection with these sinkings. The day las largely taken up with investigation into the justification of the company's action in asking for $200 a ton dead weight damages, that being the stated value at the time of the ships' destruction.

The claim of the Western Electric Company for loss of property to the extent of $1,700,000 in Belgium, was postponed indefinitely. It was stated that the company was owned by United States interests who were claiming reparations before a commission at Washington.

THE POOR PROFITEER.

There are no half-way measures—no anti-combines acts or fair price boards or Government commissions—about Bulgaria's plan of dealing with profiteers.

The Bulgars evidently believe that a man who takes advantage of a shortage in supplies or an unusual demand for any particular commodity to gouge an unduly large profit out of the consumers is worse than a highway man.

In order to make the punishment fit the crime, it is proposed that convicted profiteers shall first of all be publicly beaten with lashes, and then after their property has been confiscated by the state they are to be permanently disbarred from any further participation in business.

That is a list of penalties that is likely to make the most greedy merchant or agent hesitate.

The old slogan of business, "All the traffic will bear," will probably be heard very little in Bulgaria if the proposed bill is passed by the National Assembly.

About the only thing that has been overlooked is to provide for having the worst offenders boiled in oil, and perhaps that will be provided for in an amendment.

AID OF BUSINESS MEN.

The wonderful results achieved in Great Britain in the way of piling up national surpluses while at the same time reducing taxation, and in the face of the most discouraging circumstances, are a subject of pride and interest to all the states of the Empire, says the Hamilton Spectator. How has the motherland contrived the miracle and could it not be repeated in the Dominions? Here in Canada we have not reduced our debt nor our taxation, and the prospect is not hopeful for such a happy eventuality. If we can learn a lesson from the parent country, and take a leaf out of her great book of experience, it is surely wise to do so.

Lord Inchcape, who was chairman of the Economy Commission in India and a member of the Geddes Commission in England, has been telling the people of Paris a few secrets as to the manner in which Great Britain accomplished its great financial achievement. He attributes the gratifying result largely to the calling in of business men to assist the Government in the great national task of effecting economies, reducing debt and lowering taxation. If the effort had been made solely by politicians, he maintains, in the atmosphere of a Parliamentary commission, it would inevitably have fallen far short in its results, as compared to what was actually done by the Geddes Commission, by the inclusion of a number of practical business men. The effect of the discussions and recommendations made was felt, not merely in national Government finance, but in municipal administration and in the conduct of practically every organization which had been indulging in the general extravagance incident to the delusive trade boom following the war.

COMING HOME.

Immigration officials at Windsor report that a good many Canadians are returning to Canada from the United States.

They have found that the Republic is not exactly the land of milk and honey they expected, and they are glad to come home.

Many Canadians, of course, have been successful in securing excellent positions in Uncle Sam's country—but they have found that their expenses have been greater than they anticipated and the net result scarcely worth the move.

Others have not done as well in the matter of positions, and they are turning homeward again.

As a matter of fact, there is a lot of false prosperity in the industrial boom in the United States.

Most of it is caused by the activity in the automobile business, which is responsible for the high wages that are being paid.

It is not expected to last because the general conditions do not warrant the present appearance of great prosperity.

Canadians will find in the long run their own land offers them plenty of opportunity to make something of themselves while doing something for Canada.

And because they realize that many of them are heading north again.

GET DOWN TO BUSINESS.

The Examiner's argument that all three leaders having declared that the Ontario Temperance Act will remain on the statute books and be enforced until the people by their votes demand its repeal or amendment the measure cannot logically be regarded as an important issue of the Ontario campaign, is endorsed by several Provincial newspapers.

For instance, the Woodstock Sentinel-Review says:

"A curious feature of the Ontario election campaign is that the three principal parties seem to be attempting to make an issue of a subject on which all three are practically agreed. Everywhere a prominent place is given in platform speeches to the Ontario Temperance Act; and everywhere the voice is practically the same. The party leaders seem to be vying with each other in their declarations that the law must stand and that it must be enforced.

"But as there is no disagreement, could not these declarations of duty and devotion be taken for granted in the future? Have the politicians nothing else to talk about? Are there not public questions on which there are differences of opinion?"

That is sound common sense.

There are many questions in Ontario that are of more importance just now than the famous Temperance Act, and if we are going to elect candidates either because they are "dry" or because they are "wet" without considering their personal qualifications or the policies of the parties which they represent, we are likely to get a Legislature that will put this Province completely on the rocks.

What is really needed in Ontario just now is a little less agitation over a moral reform measure and a great deal more attention to administering the business affairs of the Province.

A WORD OF WARNING.

The city's bathing beaches are open, and the coming of warm weather has caused the younger bathers—always the first to try the water—to seek the river once more.

A word of warning seems necessary.

The Otonabee has been unusually high for the past two or three weeks, and while it has dropped to some extent, the current is still so swift, particularly at the Inverlea Park beach, as to make the conditions far from safe for inexperienced swimmers.

The river is racing along at a rate that calls for strength and skill on the part of the person who trusts himself in its grasp, and an inexpert swimmer might quite easily be carried down.

With the water not yet at summer temperature and the current so strong, it would be advisable to keep smaller children and older ones who are not thoroughly capable of taking care of themselves in the water away from the river until the conditions get back to normal, which they should do shortly.

"Safety first" is as good a principle in regard to swimming as it is to railroading, and parents should see to it that their children are advised that there is considerable risk for all but the strongest swimmers.

BUILDING AND BUILDING VALUES.

New building is now going on in Canada at the rate of far over $100,000,000 per annum. Permits issued in 56 cities during the past three years have been as follows:

1920	$109,926,923
1922	133,812,688

There would also be a large sum represented by building in towns, villages and rural districts. These figures, moreover, cover only houses, stores, factories, etc.—They do not include roads, bridges and other works of a purely engineering character.

Nineteen fourteen was a big building year, but construction during the war was less than one-third of what it was in 1922. There is no doubt but that there was a building shortage, noteably of houses and factories, in 1919, but the movement of "catching up" has outrun itself. Factories have been financed and built to cope easily with the demand for goods. House building is not so easily checked, however, for there is a theoretical view that until every family has its own house or apartment, there is a "housing shortage." This view overlooks the practical difficulty that every family is not able to pay for complete and "adequate" accommodation and we have therefore congestion, tenements and over-crowding.

The recent building activity has gone on in the face of costs, which are not only the highest to date, but which also exceed costs in other industries. Compare the following figures:

Building materials	141.6	280.3
Grains and fodder	136.0	184.6
Animals and meats	183.1	231.9
Dairy products	158.4	179.3
Other foods	116.6	190.4
Textiles	128.8	241.2
Hides and leather	161.9	167.5
Metals and implements	116.3	201.6
Fuel and lighting	119.4	256.9
House furnishings	126.2	269.6
Drugs and chemicals	112.7	176.8
Miscellaneous	175.7	306.0
All commodities	136.3	227.4

These are index numbers of wholesale prices in Canada, and the spread of retail prices between 1913 and 1923 is even greater, for with each addition to his costs the merchant must add to his profits. Building materials are practically double what they were ten years ago, this increase being exceeded only by the increase in the cost of fuel and lighting and house furnishings, for which there are special reasons.

How, then, does building go on at these abnormal costs? Because people buy houses and rent apartments, it may be answered, but when further inquiry is made as to how they pay for them, the answer is that they do not. Instead they borrow and the prevalence of not only first, but also second and third mortgage financing is shown by the activity of concerns dealing in such junior securities. Discounting second and third mortgages has been a profitable business for these concerns and for individuals, and will be until values fall.

It is said that building values cannot fall so long as costs are high. But may it not be equally true that so long as values are high, costs, made up of wages and materials, will also be high? It is true of building as of other lines that the first downward step nearly always comes in a falling off in demand. When houses become hard to sell, as they already are in some communities, will be a dangerous time for owners and builders, and a time when second and third mortgage holders can prepare to write down instead of write up the values of their securities.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The only good thing about three-cornered contests is that they furnish the defeated candidates with an alibi.

Stories of deaths caused by the heat do not jibe very well with the predictions that 1923 would be a summerless year.

Although the season for farmer picnics is drawing near, it is evident that many of the Farmer candidates are not having a picnic just now.

Strawberry festivals and politics are being combined this month. The strawberries are, as a rule, more avidly swallowed and more easily digested than the political arguments.

Japan is rapidly picking up the habits of the western world. A baseball umpire was mobbed there the other day.

It looks as if there will be about 300 candidates for the Legislature, which means that approximately 189 will be disappointed.

The latest "week" on the other side of the line is a "Better Home Week." Move that it be amended by inserting the word "stay" after "better."

People who imagine a June campaign is all roses should try the North Country just now when the mosquitoes are showing what real heckling means.

Fruit Prospects Good

For several years there has not been so bright prospect for a good crop of fruit as there is at present. The apple, plum, cherry and smaller fuirt trees are laddened with bloom. Then recent rains have been a wonderful help to crops in general. It had been feared by farmers that their hay crops would be poor, but the late rains will no doubt relieve the situation.

The ceremony on Monday was most impressive, and was attended by a large number of the alumni, and participated in by dignitaries of church and state.

The programme began with the academic march from Hart House, followed by the singing of the grand old hymn. "Forward be our Watchword." The "Introductory Service' was conducted by Rev. Canon Plumptre, rector of St. James Cathedral, Toronto, and inspiring addresses were delivered by Most Reverend Dr. Thornloe, Lord Archbishop of Algoma, and Metropolitan of Ontario, Right Reverend J. Swamped By Brighton in Northumberland League Fixture—Score 10-1.

BRIGHTON, June 7.—Brighton won at home from Hastings yesterday in a Northumberland League fixture. Shannon for Brighton and Caldwell for Hastings both pitched well, but the Hastings infield wobbled badly on several occasions. Brighton's fielding was snappy. two fast double plays helping to cut off the visitors' chances. Archers work in centre field was extra good. Solomon, McKee, Herrington and Cald well were the big hitters.

TRENTON VICTORS AT CAMPBELLFORD

Fine Exhibition of Ball Excepting in First Inning —Score 13-9.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 7.—With the exception of the first innings, when Trenton, first at bat, piled up seven runs and the Campbellford boys in their half went the visitors one better, yesterday's game on the local diamond was a fine exhibition of baseball. Trenton then changed pitchers, and Anderson, who replaced Teasle, finished the game, allowing only one run in the eight innings. The visiting team tied the score in the second and the result hung in the balance until Trenton got a lead of one in the fifth, cinching the victory in the seventh and eighth.

After the first inning the only Campbellford man to cross the plate was Weston, who hammered out a run in the seventh.

Charlie Holmes, the well known lacrosse player, was on the Campbellford line-up for the first time and played a good game behind the bat, besides getting the first hit and run that were tallied.

The most spectacular play of the game was made by Hume in right field. He got his hands on a long fly after a hard run and fell, rolling over on the grass, just as he caught it, but he managed to hold the ball tight and made the put out. The line-up was as follows:

Campbellford — Eagleson, p.; Holmes, c.; Weston, 1b.; Montgomery, 2b.; Cowell, 3b.; Nancarrow, s.s.; Hume, r.f.; Shillinglaw, l.f.; Brady, c.f.; subs, Hutton and Blakely.

AT EAST EMILY AND DISTRICT.

Horse Killed By Lightning and House Was Struck—Funeral of Life - Long Resident.

EAST EMILY, June 7. — The recent electric storm, accompanied by a very heavy rain, has inflicted some damage in this neighbourhood. William Brown had one of his valuable horses killed and Wilbert Clarke's house was struck by lightning and the plaster stripped from one room upstairs, but fortunately the place did not take fire.

Crops in this district are progressing favourably, although the heavy rains have flooded some of the lowlying land where grain is sown, and the farmers fear that a quantity of the seed will be drowned out. There has been splendid growth this season so far.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral took place recently of the late Mrs. W. Storey, from the residence of her son Evans, where she had made her home since her husband predeceased her some years ago.

The late Mrs. Storey was in her 89th year, and had lived in East Emily practically all her life. She was highly respected by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. Deceased was a staunch Methodist in religion.

She leaves to mourn her loss one son Evans, in East Emily, and two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Switzer in Peterborough, and Mrs. Alex. Lang, in Emily Township.

Many and beautiful were the floral tributes, showing the high esteem in which deceased was held by her many friends.

Interment took place in Emily Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Stillman conducting the service.

The pall-bearers were six of her grandsons.

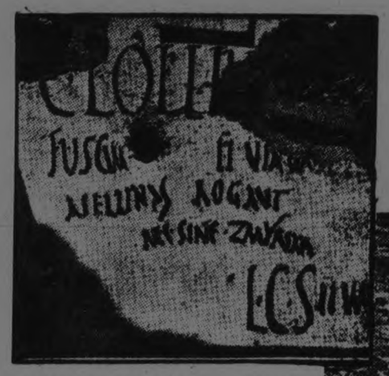
The City Where Every Wall Was A Newspaper

How Old Pompeii's People Made Every Building a "Latest Extra" by Covering It With News, Advertisements and Appeals for Votes



An election appeal in one of Pompeii's "newspapers" asking citizens to vote for Caius Lollius

POMPEII, that wicked and lovely city which came to such a woeful end in the year A. D. 79, when the crater of Vesuvius suddenly belched forth a deadly flood of burning dust and lava, had nothing quite the same as our modern newspapers.

But it had, as recent excavations in the ruins are revealing, a very ingenious and satisfactory substitute for our morning and Sunday journals, our home editions and final sporting extras.

In old Pompeii the outer wall of every store, house and building of every sort served as a newspaper. On these surfaces the citizens themselves scrawled the news of the day, the advertisements of things they wanted to buy or sell and any messages they happened to want to pass on to their friends.

Appeals for the support of different candidates who were running for office were given publicity in this way, and so were many of the gushy notes which men intended for the eyes of their lady loves.

Every citizen who could write thus helped edit the city's newspapers from day to day, and the walls lining the miles of streets gave him space enough so that he could display his particular announcement in as large type and under as flaming headlines as he pleased.

A real estate advertisement —"to be let, from the next Ides of July, shops with their rooms in the upper story"

The writing was cut into the stucco or other material forming the walls with a writing instrument known as the stylus, which almost every Pompeiian seems to have carried and known how to use. It was cut deeply enough, so that it has survived the volcanic flood that covered it and the hundreds of these wall inscriptions that are being uncovered throw most interesting light on the life that was lived in Pompeii nineteen centuries ago.

The method of building construction made the streets ideal places for scanning at one's leisure the announcements that were spread forth on the walls. As in Naples, most of the houses had little balconies, little covered terraces and roofs overhanging the narrow streets so far that the sidewalks were completely protected and no one ever needed to carry an umbrella when walking out to read the latest news.

This sort of construction made Pompeii not only a city where news of every kind spread quickly, but also one that was unusually neighborly. The houses were brought so close together by the overhanging balconies that people could converse with families across the street as well as with those on either side.

Dr. Vittorio Spinazzola, foremost of European archæologists and the man who has finally restored all that remains of Pompeii, has many remarkable things to say about the city's wall newspapers in a recent issue of "Arts and Decoration."

"There was no press," he says, "in Pompeii, but nearly every inhabitant carried a stylus, and every wall and pillar was a scribbling pad. By going beyond the flaring political notices and deciphering the general advertisements and the intimate and innumerable personal notes, we realize that to the people of Pompeii publicity was paramount and its place was in the street.

"Pompeii was the advertisers' paradise. The spirit of it was inwrought into the people from childhood. We see a most vulgar survival of this tendency in the picnicking habits of tourists and others who carve names and dates on long-suffering trees. But with the people of Pompeii the passion for publicity had as its only outlet walls and pillars of the city, and what they had they utilized to the full.

"Education was far more popular and enjoyed than later ages can possibly conceive, so that mingled with the multitude of advertisements there was a perfect saturnalia of personal scribbling which we find included in the evident chirography of students of Virgil's opening lines: 'Arma virumque cano Trojae qui' . . . probably the only words of that great poem the youthful writers could set down offhand.

"That these walls attracted the populace daily both to read and to write is made clear by the almost infinite variety in the inscriptions. They were not always serious and many of the messages were obviously designed to serve only the purpose of the moment, the publicity media thus serving the facilities of a postoffice as well as a hoarding.

"Artists and artisans left on the walls and pillars greetings for friends who should come that way. We come across, for example, the inscription 'Priscus cælator Campano genmario feliciter,' which, instead of being a solemn memorial, is simply a message from Priscus, the engraver, 'wishing all happiness to the jeweler Campanus.'

"In addition to such expressions of sentiment, which are many, there are legends on the walls which had to do with more practical matters.

"For example, a poster painter for a theater who did his work at night and depended on a man below with a lantern to hold the ladder on which the painter stood, had scribbled along the wall just where the rays of the lantern would reveal the words 'Lanternari, tene scalam,' which, far from having a symbolic significance—a poetic 'Watchman, tell us of the night,' interpretation—was a matter-of-fact instruction to the man below with the lantern to 'Hold the ladder fast.'

"Thus the actual diurnal life of Pompeii, as now in a thousand similar ways revealed, is far more fascinating than the legendary fallacies regarding the city that was swallowed up. We now know that constant groups and processions of the people made daily and eager pilgrimage to these scribbled walls, to read the new issues and 'communications' and discuss them and to leave, as interest or fancy prompted, fresh inscriptions of their own.

"In front of the huge billboard that formed part of the wall of the house of Trebius and which was plastered at the moment of Pompeii's overthrow not only with political appeals for him but with alluring announcements of current theatrical attractions, neat benches painted red, had been placed, and from these convenient seats people readily read the manifestoes and the advertisements.

"Doubtless Trebius himself provided the benches that were fixed firmly to the ground, and who knows but that alert political or merchant or theatrical advertisers supplied the paint! Cool water spouted from a fountain in the center of this publicity rendezous.

"It will give some idea of the scope and intention of the new excavations to remark that billboard, benches and fountain are now to be seen restored just as they were in that far century in Pompeii when Popidius sought the edileship and Parides was the theatrical favorite.

"One of the inscriptions found here reads: 'Svedio Clementi, sancto judici, feliciter'—'to Svedius Clemens, saintly judge, all happiness'—possibly written on his way home the day before by some successful litigant or some hard-pressed defendant who had escaped condemnation and sentence.

"An artist, signing his work 'Occellus,' had painted here a beautiful and spectacular advertisement of gladiatorial combats and had dedicated this enviable piece of publicity to his sweetheart: 'O tu Nigra, vale—'Oh, thou Nigra, farewell.'

"Other love greetings were mingled in the adorable medley of manifestoes, advertising signs and symbols that mark the house walls of the patrician Trebius, such, for example, as a greeting likely by gay youths after an evening's delight, beginning: 'Marinal et Valeriæ, salutem.'

"Another more homely sentiment and indubitably kin to the not at all cryptic legends left by lovers in every lane and cooing grove throughout the world, reads: 'Here we two have been, dear and loving friends forever.'

"Nor was the humorous side of some of this raging itch for publicity ignored, one inscription, for example, addressed to the wall itself, wondered why it had not fallen in ruins, forced as it was to bear the burdens placed there by so many hands; and it is on record, too, that one Samius instructed his friend Cornelius to 'go hang yourself,' putting it thus publicly in Latin: 'Samius, Cornello: suspendre.' Clearly, the people of Pompeii were light hearted and very human, but they were diligent in business, too."

The newspapers of old Pompeii had their illustrations just as those of today do. Election appeals were often accompanied by cartoons in which the virtues of one candidate were held up for praise and the alleged vices of another for scorn.

The announcements of the gladiatorial combats that were frequently held in the city's great amphitheater were almost always accompanied by crude but spirited drawings of some of the arena's most admired heroes.

The Italian law is that no foreigners may dig in Italy, and the government, bent on economy, is not able to spend much at a time. Thus the Pompeiian excavations, having been dropped since 1914, have given but few results lately because there were few men digging there.

But Professor Spinazzola has been working hard, with the result that recently half a mile of ancient homes has been brought to light for the tourist and the curious.

Instead of having the domestic furniture, utensils and decorations taken to the museum, the professor has left them just where he found them. In this way he has already reconstructed ten Pompeiian homes. Some of these have frescoes of wonderful freshness reproducing that most popular story of old days, the adventures of lovely Helen of Troy and the Trojan wars that followed. White stucco work, marble incrustations and marble statues adorn the other houses.

The human skeletons give a dramatic impression; some, evidently of men and women killed by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in their sleep, look peaceful; others have all the horrible contortions of their long-dead owners who perished in the agony of vainly trying to escape from the lava that enveloped them.

Nearly every house boasts, at the entry, a small stone altar for sacrifices. And here, as were discovered last year in another part of the city, election posters in black and in Pompeiian red laud the candidates for municipal office. Some of these are in Latin, others in Greek, which proves how mixed was the city's population.

One barroom, where drinks were sold, was found almost untouched by the professor; it holds a quantity of urns and glass for drinks and a caldron for keeping the same hot. The professor has had the gardens and terraces again planted with flowers, so this dead city has taken on a new lease of life.

Only one large villa has been dug up so far; this has a garden and a fountain and cascade, and the water runs again after being stopped for centuries.

One of the best discoveries, from a human point of view, is that of a fuller's workshop. It contains an open strong box, and inside this were found nearly a thousand gold coins; doubled over were found two skeletons, the fuller and his wife, who when disaster came rushed to grasp their savings.

But the pitiless lava overtook them. Only their bones remain, but their gold is as good as ever it was.

This part of Pompeii will not be opened to the public until all the things dug up are properly placed in the houses and stores. And then a large army of custodians will be wanted, for the "souvenirs" cannot fail to tempt many and many a collector.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS ON JOB

Fruit Growers Report Pest —An Unsolved Mystery

NEW YORK, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Seventeen-year locusts have arrived, according to reports from the growers received yesterday.

The plagues, which for centuries have remained a mystery, have been explained by scientists who know where the locusts go for their seventeen years 'vacation.

The Cicada, which these locusts are called, appear at the beginning of the mating season, stay about five weeks, and disappear.

The female drills holes in the fruit trees and deposits eggs, causing the leaves to shrivel and turn yellow.

When the eggs hatch, the grubs fall to he ground and start digging, to appear again in seventeen years.

Scientists suggest that the growers shake the trees and let the grubs do the rest.

Men Were Rescued When Barge Sunk.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Fourteen men were rescued late yesterday afternoon after they had been thrown into the harbor when the Clyde Liner Norfolk, outward bound, crashed into a barge used in place of the Broadway-Locust Point Ferry and the tug Solicitor that was towing it.

Both the tug and the barge foundered almost immediately after the crash.

Other tugs and small craft dashed to the aid of the men floundering helplessly in the water and succeeded in rescuing all.

Four of the rescued men were on the tug when the collision occurred. The other ten were on the barge.

NEW GERMAN NOTE A DISAPPOINTMENT

Another Eight Hundred Word Note to Be Issued Late Today.

LONDON, June 7 (Canadian Press). — The new German reparations note, which the German Ambassador will present to Lord Curzon this afternoon, is considered as offering a distinct advance over the previous note, but is expected to be disappointing to the French, as it is understood not to mention the specific amount of reparations.

The German Embassy officials declined early this afternoon to discuss the document in advance of its delivery.

It was declared, however, that the Berlin forecasts already published had accurately reflected Germany's offer.

The text of the note, which is about 800 words in length, is expected to be issued late to-day.

REV. DR. GANDIER NEW MODERATOR

Principal Knox College, Toronto, Heads General Presbyterian Assembly.

PORT ARTHUR, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, Principal of Knox College, Toronto, is the new Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, elected last night to succeed Rev. Dr. W. J. Clarke of Montreal. There were no other nominations.

"There is a call for a man with vision in these days and I believe that God has raised Mr. Gandier up for just such a time as this," said Professor Clarence McKinnon of Halifax, in nominating Dr. Gandier. Rev. Wylie Clark of Saskatoon, seconded the nomination .

In a brief address of thanks for the honor that had been conferred on him, Dr. Gandier stated that never in the history of the Presbyterian church in Canada had there been such a meeting of the Assembly as this. Referring to church union, Dr. Gandier said that it was the feeling of all parties in the church that the time had come when, in interest of, not only their own denomination, but of others, a decision must be arrived at.

"If the forthcoming debate is conducted in the spirit of Christ, whatever decision is arrived at, God will use it for the advancement of His kingdom in the world,' said the new Moderator.

Following his address the retiring Moderator, Dr. W. J. Clarke, formally constituted an Assembly, after which the new Moderator was elected. With the presentation of the report of the Church Union committee to-day the writing of a new page of church history will commence. What the outcome will be none can say.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

An Interesting Point of Law on Indian Reserve—News of Interest.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 7.—Rev L. Slingerland, presiding elder of the Free Methodists in this district, reports that the open air meetings which the denomination was conducting so successfully at the Indian village of Alderville, near Roseneath have been brought to a sudden conclusion. A complaint was made against the evangelist conducting the services on the ground of trespass, and the charge was sustained.

An interesting point of law affecting Indian tribes, was involved in this issue. The evangelist who had charge of the meetings was Mrs. Julia Smart, a prominent mission worker from the Free Methodists, and who is a member of the Mohawk tribe on a neighboring reservation. Mrs. Smart lived, while conducting the services, among the Indians at Alderville, who belong to another branch of the race.

Mr. Dodsin is the teacher of the school at Alderville, and besides has charge of the mission church, which the regular Methodist denomination maintain in that village. It was Mr. Dodson who brought the charge for trespass against Mrs. Samuel Smart, basing his case upon the statute which forbids members of one tribe of Indians locating on the reservation of another.

As soon as Presiding Elder Slingerland heard of the charge he engaged I. A. Humphries to defend the case, and Mr. Humphries went ot Alderville to investigate. His ruling was that the statute makes the provision claimed by the complainant. Mrs. Smart could visit the reservation at Alderville provided she did not take up her residence or make her home there even tmporarily. In view of this interpretation of the law Presiding Elder Slingerland decided to call off the meetings and the tent in which the services were held was removed.

Large crowds attended these gatherings day and night. Among those who assisted Mrs. Smart were Rev. W. H. Gregory of the Free Methodist church at Warkworth.

The annual camp meeting for the district will be held at Havelock July 4-18 inclusive. It is expected that the Agricultural Society's grounds will be secured for the occasion.

Town Loses Case.

The case of Mason and Hawkrigg, against the town for extra compensation for excavating the Front St. sewer was concluded at Belleville yesterday, Judge Smith giving the plaintiffs judgment for $1050 and costs, which have not yet been assessed, but which are likely to almost double the amount of the award of the court. The amount claimed was $2200.

The engineer who prepared the specifications for the sewer was on the stand yesterday from 9 in the morning until an hour past noon.

The suit for damages was based on the claim that the levels as set forth in the specifications were not correct and that the contractors were forced to make a deeper excavation after their tender had been accepted. By way of compensating them for this extra work the town council shortened the sewer by 60 feet, and this was the main point in the defence.

Town Solicitor I. A. Humphries appeared for the municipality and G. A. Payne of Campbellford, and T. Phelan of Toronto, for the contractors.

Power Plant Weathers Storm.

The municipal plant weathered the recent severe thunderstorm with only two minor accidents—a couple of transformers being burned out. There was no interruption in the service and the plant is now being operated to the limit of its capacity to take care of its own customers and to help out the Hydro which suffered severely in the storm.

Testing the Bridge.

Reeve W. T. Wood of Millbrook, who is chairman of the County Council's Committee on Roads and Bridges, was here yesterday accompanied by Engineer A. W. Conner of Toronto, on business connected with the proposed re-flooring of the bridge. Mr. Conner took full measurements of the structure and sometime next week will make a report as to the weight it is capable of sustaining.

Reeve Anderson of town will endeavor to have the sidewalks on each side of the bridge repaired when the main roadway across it is refloored. His idea is to have the boards taken up and relaid lengthwise so as to make the way safer for foot passengers. In this way the wooden stringers can be done away with and the boards laid on the iron.

News Notes.

Dennis Perdue of Ennismore, Dominion Live Stock Inspector, paid the district an official visit. He says that no better class of stock is to be found anywhere in his territory than that kept by the farmers of Seymour township.

NEWS HAPPENINGS LAKEFIELD VILLAGE

Successful Tea and Sale—Need For Choral Society —Motor 'Bus Service.

LAKEFIELD, June 7.—The Pansy Mission Band of the Presbyterian Church held an afternoon tea and sale of home cooking and candy over Leonard's store on Saturday afternoon. The room was prettily decorated with flowers and presented a very attractive appearance. Miss Myrtle Kidd, President of the band, was in charge and among the assistants were Misses Heetha Preston, Lelia and Helen Burgess, Ival Hendren, Clarice Kidd, Sadie Young, Jean Ridpath and Edna Braden.

Music was provided during the afternoon, and the young ladies realized a neat little sum for the work of their society.

Choral Society.

An effort was made last week to organize a choral society in the village, but the lack of success with which it was met was discouraging. Lakefield is quite up to the average in musical talent and it seems unfortunate that it cannot be organized for the benefit of the community. Thirty or forty years ago Lakefield had a group of musical people with talent above the average, who gave of their talent unsparingly and splendid concerts were the result. Cannot history repeat itself, for musical talent is not dead in the village, but it is in great need of a revival?

Motor Bus Arrives.

The Stoney Lake motor bus has arrived in town and is very much admired. This will be a very welcome addition to the summer service as it will enable cottagers at Stoney Lake to spend a day in Toronto if business calls and return the same night to the lake, something hitherto undreamed of.

Referred to King.

Special reference to the King's birthday was made at the services in St John's Church on Sunday, and the National Anthem was sung both morning and evening.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Blewett of Peterborough spent Sunday in the village with friends.

Mrs. T. Darcy of Peterborough is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Darcy.

RIGHT TO SELL MARGARINE IN CANADA CEASES

September Next the Date on Which Restriction on Substitute for Butter Effective.

CARRY OUT PLEDGE

OTTAWA, June 7.—(Canadian Press).—After a debate which lasted till after two o'clock this morning and divisions which occupied three-quarters of an hour more, the House defeated the motion of W. F. Carroll, Liberal, Cape Breton South, to permit indefinite continuance of import and manufacture of oleomargarine in Canada, and adopted an amendment moved by Fred Kay, Liberal Missisiquoi, declaring that the question be "left without prejudice to its merits in the same position as before." The effect of this is that unless further action is taken by Parliament the right to makes and sell oleomargarine in Canada will lapse in September next.

The majority for the Kay amendment was 71, thevote being 125 to 54. The vote cut across party lines, both majority and minority containing Liberals Progressives and Conservatives.

a resolution before the House moved by W. F. Carroll, Liberal of Cape Breton South favored the continuation, without time limit, of freedom to manufacture and import Oleo margarine. To the resolution W.F. Kay, Liberal Missisquoique, had an amendment which took the ground that the order in Council of 1917 suspending prohibtion of importation and manufacture was a temporary war measure only. The amendment urged that suspension be now removed and "the question left, with out prejudice as to its merits, in same position as before enactment of such temporary suspenion."

With the debate on oleomargarine pro and con was intermingled considerable discussion as to how far the Order-in-Council of 1917 contained, a pledge that prohibition was suspended merely as a temporary war measure. Premier King held that there had been a pledge, and it was the duty of Parliament to see that the pledge was carried out. then parliament could take what action it liked. Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, took a different view 'I see no foundation whatever for the statement that in this matter there exists a pledge," he maintained Canada was the only civilized country in the world which refused to allow the use of oleomargarine. Was the whole world wrong except Canada? It as an awful accusation to make against the people of Canada, that they could not be trusted to buy oleo.

Oleo also found a supporter in Hon. James Murdock, minister of Labor. If Parliament wanted to go the whole length against imitations, he asked, why not legislate against glass eyes and wooden legs? Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Acting Minister of Defence, supporter the amendment, pressing the importance of the dairy industry.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, favored admission of oleomargarine although with fur protective tariff, and held that Parliament had been absolved from any pledge Order-in-Council might have contained.

DEADLY BOMBS.

By JOHN O'BRIEN

PARIS, June 7. —(United Press). —When the German plenipotentiaries reached Berlin from Paris, London and Brussels and reported to their government that France, England and Belgium had not only surrendered, but were on the verge of disappearance as nations owing to the ravages of the "Virus 246' in the microbe war, the letters of the Reich felt that perhaps they had gone too far. Dr. von Bruck and staffs of specialists were despatched immediately to the frontier with supplies of the vaccine and the serum.

But to guard against a possibility of epidemic in Germany itself, especially in the provinces bordering the Rhine, the authorities had previously ordered the entire population to be vaccinated. Therefore the supply of vaccine was limited Trainloads of technicians were sent to the French and Belgians frontiers, however, with what was available. All went well until the frontier was crossed. Then the trains were unable to proceed because of the condition of the French and Belgian stations and lines, blocked by rolling stock whose crews had died at their posts. A week was lost in clearing the way.

Meanwhile the epidemic was sweeping from France southward to Italy and Spain passing into Switzerland and threatening to engulf Europe. Dr. von Brueck reached Paris and had a consultation with the directors of the scientific organizations. The campaign against the disease was started but within a few days it became apparent that the task was hopeless. Germany had not enough serum to fight the plague although her laboratories were working day and night There were not enough trains to bring the material and the staffs of assistants necessary to the stricken people. France was starving. Belgium was in a similar state.

Rose Against Germans

Paris, or what was left, of the world capital, revolted. The government at Berlin gave the order to abandon France to its fate. All the specialists were recalled. When the first Germans were seen to leave Paris the fury of the starving inhabitants who had survived the first awful days of the war broke into a torrent. Germans were shot at sight Dr. von Brueck was seized by one of his own assistants as he was preparing to flee in airplane. The assistant denounced him as the enemy of humanity and shot him.

Several of the deadly bombs dropped by the Germans were picked up intact. A corps of French aviators was formed with the mission to drop them on German towns. Berlin, Munich and Dresden were attacked. These cities being far from the frontier, their inhabitants had not been vaccinated and soon they were in the same condition as the Germans had plunged Paris, London and Brussels. The epidemic passed like a whirlwind into Holland, Poland and Scandinavian penisula. The exiled Kaiser and his son, still living in Holland, finally paid the penalty for the war of 1914-1918 at the hands of the infuriated Hollanders.

Spreading all over Europe, the epidemic started by "Virus 246" was stopped by no natural or artificial obstacle. Spain. Italy, the Balkan nations Turkey and Greece, Russia and the countries of Asia Minor were in turn ravaged. Soon there was nothing from the Atlantic to the Orient but desolation, ruin and death. Africa and Asia did not escape. Fleeing hordes of stricken people crosed seas and oceans carrying the germ of death. Steamers were floating coffins.

New World Attacked

What of the New World? Despite the distance separating it from Europe and Asia the contagion had reached its shores. Several ships which left Cherbourg, Liverpool and Antwerp in the two or three days succeeding the outbreak of the microbe war carried unknowingly passengers and sailors already infected. By the time they arrived in New York the sanitary authorities of the port warned. quarantined the vessels. But the sanitary inspectors who examined the passengers were themselves infected. As in the case of Paris and other European capitals these first victims became centers of infection and the frightful epidemic had a foothold in the United States.

Hurry calls were rushed to Berlin by wireless demanding details for the production of the curing serum. Berlin was silent. The Germans were then otherwise occupied. The immense population of New York shared the fate of Paris and London It reached Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati. Chicago before the American government was well aware what was happening

Across the plains and the Rockies the deadly germ kept up its fatal course. San Francisco became a center of infection for the Pacific coast. Thence the plague flowed down to Mexico and Central America. From Florida the epidemic reached Cuba and the West Indies, crossing the narrow channels and sweeping on to South America, wiping out Rio Janerio, Buenos Aires, Montevideo as it had done to the capitals of the Old World.

"Thus," concludes the French scientist, 'a few hundred flasks of a deadly microbe paste. designed by the Germans to conquer France, England and Belgium, had turned on the inventor and destroyed him, continuing on their way until all the inhabitants of the earth had perished."

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE FIND QUICK RELIEF

By Enriching Their Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but this is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms which may shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless. Rubbing liniments and applying hot applications may give relief, but that is all, and the pains are soon back again. You must treat the trouble through the blood, and the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is proved by Mr. Elias Bruce, Upper Clarence, N.S., who says:—"Some years ago I had a bad attack of rheumatism which left me helpless. I had to have help to dress and undress myself and could not even lace my boots without help. Of course the trouble caused me much suffering, and I was in this condition for about ten months. One day a friends who called on me advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them and soon found some relief, and a short while after all signs of rheumatism were gone and I have not since had any return of the trouble."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DETROIT POLICE HAVE A MYSTERY

Girl Found on the Street Suffering From Self-Imposed Hunger Strike

WINDSOR, June 6. — The Detroit and Windsor police were to-day attempting to solve the mystery of "Mary Doe, No. 105," a girl who was picked up on the streets of the American city this morning after she had collapsed as a result of a self-imposed hunger strike, undertaken, she told the authorities, because her lover had jilted her.

The girl steadfastly refused to give the officials at the Detroit receiving hospital her name, but declared that she had relatives in Canada, and the police believe that she is a resident of Windsor.

Although she had $45 in her purse, and was well dressed, she had gone for several days without food, in an attempt to starve herself following the shattering of her romance.

Ministers Are Aroused By the Divorce Evil.

By J. E. HELFERT.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 7.—(United Press).—Alarming increases in the number of divorce cases in Milwaukee circuit court is arousing the clergy.

In interviews with several of the most prominent clergymen in the city they denounced divorce as the greatest evil in American home life and were all in favor of legislative action as a means of curbing this evil.

"I consider the divorce question one of the greatest evils in American home life," said Rev. Robert O. Stansell, pastor of the Grand Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. "Unless it is checked, this alarming increase, which is prevalent throughout the country, threatens the stability of the American home."

Rev. J. S. Hoagland, pastor of the Kingsley Methodist Church, declared: "I feel that there should be more stringent marriages and divorce laws for America. The fact that Wisconsin has a strong marriage law, does not prevent those who contemplate hurried matrimony from rushing down to Waukegan, Ill., where the knot is tied. The preacher should be given the same information as the couple give the county clerk and then he could use his own good judgments as to the merits of the marriage."

Waukegan, Ill., is just across the Wisconsin border in Illinois and is well known for the number of Wisconsin couples who go there, many presumably to escape the rigid physical examination demanded in Wisconsin before marriage and escape the seven days which must elapse after getting their license before they are permitted to wed.

Rev. Gustav Stearns, former army chaplain and perhaps the best known clergyman in Wisconsin and pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension, declared he believed a uniform divorce law throughout the entire country would greatly lessen the evil.

"In the past year I have married 122 couples," he said. "In each case I believe there was that seriousness which should accompany all marriages. But we as pastors, cannot watch over those we marry, and in many cases trivial matters arise and soon we read of a divorce petition being filed and later the publicity of the same in the newspapers. It is against the dictates of our church to marry divorced persons; but I believe if there were uniform divorce laws throughout the United States the evil would be considerably lessened.

According to figures there were 794 marriage licenses issued in Milwaukee County the first three months of this year; while there were 669 petitions for divorce filed during the same period.

In more than 70 per cent. of the separations, the suits are started by women.

"Cruel and inhuman treatment," a phrase covering a multitude of sins against happiness is found in about three out of every five of the complaints filed.

Judges say that more religion and home training and an appreciation of the seriousness of the marriage contract, together with national marriage laws, constitute the remedy.

TURKS SCORN THE REFUGEES

Story of the "Barge of Death" Which Carried a Ghastly Cargo—British Aid.

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

SCUTARI, Asia Minor, June 7. — "The Barge of Death" story has just been told me and I shall tell it here because it presents a perfect picture of what happens to plain people when folks like these go to war

It is another story of Greek refugees who fled from their homes n Asia Minor in fear of the massacring Turk

The steamer Gul Jemal, carrying 4,000 Greek refugees, arrived in the Bosphorous off here, smallpox and typhus rampant among the ragged lot. After lying there for a week, the ship was ordered by the Turks to move on to Touzla where there is a disinfecting station.

Some 200 of the worst cases, however, were taken off the ship and put on a barge, to be towed to Yedicule where there is a Greek hospital. This hospital, however, was already so full that several patients were obliged to lie in the same bed. Yet the Turks persisted.

Ghastly Cargo Afloat

So, off the hospital, the barge—just a flat, uncovered barge like they haul dirt or coal or garbage in, unprotected from the elements by even a tarpaulin—lay with its ghastly cargo of dead and dying.

Four bodies were taken off there, and then, the Greeks, hoping to induce the Turks to take the patients at their hospital at Haidar, had the barge towed over there.

Some 24 hours later the barge was still there—minus, however, 12 more of its cargo. These had died during the day. The rest lay waiting for death, unattended, unfed, uncared for any more than if they had been a cargo of refuse from the city dump. Mind you the weather was quite cold, too, not even water was passed around.

British Bring Aid

The first help which ultimately came to these poor people, mostly women and children, was from a British warship which sent a party of bluejackets over with water and soup and to stretch a canvas over the barge of death. Ultimately, I understand, the remnant were taken off by the American Near East Relief and looked after at one of their camps.

This story is not news, maybe, but it will help readers to picture what war is like in this part of the world. And just what happens to plain citizens when these governments start fighting.

DECLARES WOMEN CAUSE HALF OF WORLD'S WOES

LONDON, June 7 (Associated Press).—Half the miseries of the western world are caused by women fighting against men, declared Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the eminent British physician, lawyer and author, in a recent London address. In spite of countless ages of experience, the doctor added, women had failed to excel in even cooking, yet they set up as competitors of men in all walks of life. "Far more homes are made miserable by envious women," he said, "than by dominant or brutal men."

"Women," continued Dr. Oldfield, "have been 'tinkers' on the mandolin and piano through all the ages, but it is among men that the creative musicians are found." In the sphere of art also, Dr. Oldfield said that although women had been busy painting their lips and faces, their nails and eyelashes for countless ages, if one sought paintings which would create emotions of the highest and best character for all time, one has to go to paintings done by mem.

"Women are imitative and not creative," said the English critic. "If search is made in Westminister Abbey for records of the great women of England, one will find a few actresses and courtesans, but none who were worthy of being commemorated as poets, painters, sculptors, inventors, world pioneers or world benefactors."

Having charged women with neglecting the most sacred duties of motherhood and with having selected the doubtful pleasures of politics and public life in place of it, Dr. Oldfield concluded by saying that men were superior and should be reverenced and until women were taught to become affectionate junior comrades in the co-partnership of the sexes, there would be no peace in life.

Suffered From Pimples and Blotches For Fifteen Years

When the blood becomes impure it is only natural that pimples, blotches boils or some other blood trouble will manifest itself by breaking out of the system.

There is only one way to get rid of these obnoxious skin troubles and that is by giving the impure blood a thorough cleansing by the use of a good blood purifier, such as

Burdock Blood Bitters

This remarkable remedy has been on the market for over forty years; is the best obtainable, and will do all we claim for it as a blood cleanser.

Mr. Albert R. De Witte, Lake Valley, Sask., writes: "I have suffered very much from pimples and unsightly blotches for the past fifteen years, and was so bad that I hated to go out anywhere. I tried many different medicines, but none seemed to help. A friend told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I have used three and a half bottles, and now I have a clear, rosy complexion."

PLAIN SKIRT.

MOIRE BANDS.

Small bands of moire ribbon arranged vertically make unusual trimming for a gown of beige crepe. They match the material in color and form the only trimming.

Embroidered stockings for this season are very elaborate and are frequently done in vivid colors.

ANCIENT ICE FLOES CAUSED RICH SOIL GEOLOGIST THINKS

EVANSTON, June 7.—(Associated Press).—Farmers living in the fertile valley of the middle west may attribute their rich crop yields, fat swine, and excellent butter to the fact that more than 50,000 years ago their acres were covered with ice.

This is the gist of the finding of Professor William H. Haas of the geology department of Northwestern University, who has made a study of the subject, concentrating his observations upon Ohio.

Comparing the glaciated section of the continent and the driftless area Professor Haas found that the soils in the two differed. In the glaciated land the soils are more diversified and of better quality, he states.

"With this asset it is little wonder that the farmer living in the zone which aeons ago had been covered with ice should find himself better off than his brother of the driftless area," says Professor Haas. "This area covers some 10,000 square miles and embraces northwestern Illinois, a small part of Iowa, southwestern Wisconsin and Minnesota."

The geologist, in explaining the action of the ice and why that portion of the earth's surface touched by it should yield to man an abundance of crops, said that the pressure exerted by the glaciers 50,000 years ago crushed the rocks and mixed the dirt as they rolled southward; hence the many soils.

"It is remarkable," said Professor Haas, speaking of Ohio, "to notice how, suddenly, the tall corn will end and be neighbored by stunted stalks and shrivled ears.

"All this is on account of the fact that hundreds of centuries ago some rocks of a particular hardness, able to withstand the onward sweep of the ice-fields from the north, deflected the fields, thus leaving the area which the rocks appeared to protect, unglaciated. That, in my opinion at least, accounts for those 10,000 square miles of comparatively poor soil, or, as we geologists say, the driftless area."

Professor Haas stated that the demarcation between the healthy grain and the sickly, stunted grain was so distinct as to form a well-defined line showing the boundary between the glaciated and non-glaciated land.

Professor Haas explained that many authorities do not hold to this view, professing themselves unable to account for the driftless area; others, he said, went so far as to question the existence of the so-called driftless area.

The Northwestern professor declared that the glaciers accomplished three great effects: they cut down the hills and filled in the valleys; they ground up the boulders, and, thirdly, mixed the ock.

GANDHI REVERED BY THE HINDUS

But Jail Bars Now Check His Activity—Is 53 With Graying Hair.

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, June 7.— "Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the greatest man on earth, is 53 with graying hair, unflinching truthful eyes and slim figure."

It is in these words that a little green pamphlet, printed at Karachi, India, starts the story of the man whose name is still on millions of Indian lips.

There also lies before me a Hindu paper—printed in English in London—which says things that the strict laws of India would not allow this same editor to say if he were issuing his newspaper in his native land. On his first page he prints a picture of Gandhi, with this inscription:

"Gandhi of Yaravada Jail, sentenced to six years by a government representing Satan, for the crime of preaching what Jesus of Nazareth preached—non-violent, non-co-operation with evil."

India Reveres Gandhi

These two typical examples will illustrate the love and the reverence this little gentle-spoken, western educated lawyer has inspired in tens of millions of his fellow countrymen. He is at once their leader, their martyr and their saint. But so dependent are they upon personal leadership that the Britsh governemnt performed a master stroke when it imprisoned him.

Gandhi is a Hindu, though not of the highest caste. His father was a minor official and the son was given all the educational advantages India could offer.

Gandhi then came to London, completed his studies and was admitted to the bar.

It was mre chance that threw him against British rule. Called by legal business to South Africa, he saw how his fellow countrymen were treated there and entered the fight to grant them citenship in the British Empire.

He suspended his agitation when the Boer war broke out, doing all he could to aid the British, thinking a grateful government would reward his countrymen. But it didn't — and Gandhi returned to South Africa to renew the fight.

Gandhi led strikes and he agitated landing in jail. When the great war broke out, he once more helped Britain by securing recruits for the big Indian army.

Once more he was disappointed when the government failed to do more for the Indian people.

Fight Starts

But the climax came when the government passed the Rowlatt acts. These continued in peace times repressive measures designed for wartime defense of the realm.

During his studious years, Gandhi had been much influenced by the Sermon on the Mount and by the teachings of Tolstoi. Therefore, though opposed to government measures, he preached the doctrine of non-violence. The masses were passively to resist the laws and the rules.

Through him certain words became battle cries for all India:

Swaraj—home rule for India.

Satyagraha—passive resistance to oppressive laws, while carefully refraining from violence to life or property.

Swadeshi—native boycot of foreign and particularly British goods.

Hartal—demonstrative closing of and suspension of all business.

Unfortunately the ignorant masses of Hindus were not inspired by the same Christian sentiments. Alsoaan Gandhi has achieved he seemingly impossible. He had bridged the gulf between Hindu and Moslem.

The Ali brothers, leaders of the Moslem or Khi-lafat movement, joined with him. For a short period hostilities between Hindus and Moslems were suspended in the common contest against the British. But instead of peaceful demonstrations, in many places there were riots, attacks upon property, loss of life, insults to the Prince of Wales during his visit.

Arrests Come

The Ali brothers were arrested, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labor. At last on March 10, Gandhi was arested on a sedition charge. In his final trial he frankly told the court that to preach disaffection to the present government had become a passion with him. He said he realized that various excesses at Bombay, Madras and Chauri-Chura were due to his teachings, although he preached non-violence. Said he:

"I should have known the consequences of every one of my acts. I knew them. I knew I was playing with fire. I ran the risk and if I were set free, I would still do the same. I wanted to avoid violence. Non-violence is the first article of my faith. It is also the last article of my creed. But I had to make my choice."

He was given six years' simple imprisonment, the English judge saying he did not overlook the fact that in the eyes of millions of his countrymen Gandhi was a great patriot and a great movement is said to be waning, Gandhi himself is far from forgotten. On the anniversary of his imprisonment, the entrance to the jail was smothered with flowers brought by deputations from all over India.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments, and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

AGE OF SOPHISTICATION FOR GIRLS LOWERED

NEW YORK, June 7.— (United Press)—The age of sophistication for girls has been lowered one year according to a statement issued by Lester F. Scott, national executive of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., explaining why the age of admission to camp fire groups has been changed from twelve to eleven years of age.

The eleven-year-old girl is now as sophisticated, as old in her point of view, her interests, her knowledge of the world, as the twelve-year-old girl was when the Camp Fire was first organized eleven years ago, Scott says. "As a consequence the age limit has been lowered to meet the demands made by conditions of modern life, which point to an earlier age of sophistication of the adolescent girl.

"Eleven years is now the logical period for any break in the life of the individual girl as it coincides with the break made in her school life by the establishment of the junior high school. The daily newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, radio and all other agencies that tend the sudden speeding up of living generally are responsible for this lowering of the age of sophistication."

FUEL OIL SUBSTITUTES PLENTIFUL IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, June 7.—(Associated Press).—Sweden can face the menace of world shortage of petroleum with relative calm, in spite of having no domestic supply of that fuel, according to Axel F. Enstrom, a leading Swedish industrial and financial expert, in a recent address before the Association of Swedish Industries.

One of the most important sources of fuel oil which has recently been experimented with here is bituminous shale. It was estimated by the speaker, that the Swedish shale deposits could yield about 500,000,000 tons of shale oil. Production on a small scale is at present being carried on.

A still more practical substitute for petroleum is wood alcohol, said Mr. Enstrom. And Sweden could within a short time produce wood alcohol in quantities corresponding to the present consumption of gasoline. Its manufacture as a by-product of chemical wood pulp is particularly economical. The existing factories have a capacity of about 5,000,000 gallons of wood alcohol a year, and with new building and still more highly developed methods of conservation, he declared, this capacity could be increased to about 17,000,000 gallons a year.

Finally, Sweden, because of her great hydro-electric resources, will in future permit a very much greater use of electricity stored in batteries. Almost every section of the country is now served by the net of power lines, and electricity could be drawn from them for the use of passenger cars, trucks and tractors.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

SENTIMENT IN "LOST" WANT ADS

"Lost" column messages which contain the appeal of sentiment are effective in two ways. First, they get under the skin to the human heart of the person who found the lost article, conquering any temptation to keep and be silent. Second, they interest a maximum number of readers, cause discussion and increase the chances that the advertiser will establish contact with the finder.

Such incidents as the following often result from a "Lost" Want Ad using sentiment. Father is glancing through the paper. Suddenly he says, "Listen to this, Mother," and reads (for example) this: "Pup lost—Collie, by Willie Farmer, age 7 years, 4290 St. John. Phone Bay 660. Answers to name Patches. Please help me find my doggie. Willie."

Who wouldn't help a boy find a pup he has lost? Mother is instantly interested, of course; she mentions the Want Ad to the neighbors. Son Jimmy is interested, too; he carries word to the grammar school, and asks the others if they have seen a stray collie pup. Through that day, as he goes about, Father thinks, "Stray Collie pup," whenever he sees a dog.

In this human way a lot of people get interested in finding for Willie Farmer his dog patches. And in all probability, if the dog has not come to harm, Willie will get it back.

We have lost a keepsake, a piece of jewelry passed down from mother to daughter through several generations. We include in our message the sentence, "This was worn by my mother, and her mother, and her mother's mother, and its value to me is beyond price." Our Want Ad has sentiment in it to help us.

A working girl uses this, capitalizing the same principle: "Handbag Lost—At Biffle Store phone booth, a woman's handbag. This contains all the money I have in the world. Finder may have other contents if she will return pay envelope, Working Girl, 10 Pine Avenue."

When the owner of a lost article can use sentiment in a Want Ad, he—or she—usually should do so. The method gets results.

A PAD AND PENCIL AT THE HOME.

With important points in his mind, the buyer who has advertised a want can assemble information quickly in 'phone conversations with parties who reply. Then he can sift out the most appealing offerings for investigation person.

A pad and pencil should be his inseparable aids at the telephone. It is surprising how efficiently, using these, a buyer can handle calls. Thus a suburbanite was in the market for a family cow. When each new party called, he asked in quick succession these questions, noting the answers on his pad:

"How old is she? When did she freshen? When is she due? What did she give when fresh? What is she giving now? How rich is the milk? What is the breed? Is she large? Is she gentle? Is she absolutely sound? How long have you owned her? Why are you selling her? What price do you ask? When can I see her?"

Concluding each conversation, he obtained the name, address and phone number, informed the party he would telephone if he decided to call, and said, "Thank you for calling me." Often he obtained his information in a three-minute conversation. Jotting answers down seemingly did not slow up conversation at all.

Whether one is advertising for a home, a restaurant, a typewriter, a cow, or what not, there is no substitute for the pad and pencil at the telephone. Even if, in the nature of the article, replies will not be numerous, the plan will relieve a memory which is all too apt to be human, and, accordingly, faulty. Where several parties respond, the note-taking is indispensable. Essential facts in each case are got at and recorded. Readily now they can be weighed together; put against the facts of another offering.

The pad is also a good check on what information has been obtained, consulted before the advertiser hangs up. Rapidly reviewing the sheet, he can readily determine whether he has touched on all the points concerning which he desires preliminary information.

TEA TIME DRESSING

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 7. —(United Press)—It is interesting to watch the fashionably gowned young matrons and debutantes who gather at tea time at the smart New York hotels.

More interesting than watching them as they smoke over the tea tables is to watch them as they wait about the lobbies for their friends. They usually appear in twos, if they are to meet friends of their own sex. Some of them carry fluffy little poodles snuggled under one arm who poke their tiny heads through luxurious furs and wonder what it's all about.

They are a well dressed group of women. Nowhere in the world can one find such a collection of gorgeous gowns, jewels and furs. Many of these women who are overdressed but few are underdressed for tea time as the smart hotels demands the best of gowns it would seem.

There stand three young women in black gowns with red shoes and flesh colored hosiery. One of them wears a draped turban made of gray burnt-ostrich plume curling under her chin. Another wears long jade ear-rings, falling to her shoulders—very poor taste with the scarlet shoes, think we. To their right stands a pretty matron in a steel-beaded paisley coat, trimmed in a tan-dyed ermine. Her red shoes go rather well with the red in the paisley coat, but her hat is also RED. The effect of color is overpowering. How much prettier she would look in a soft, tan turban which matched the fur of her coat.

In Black and White.

Here comes a young girl who looks attractive. She is wearing a little jacquette of white velvet which no doubt got its inspiration from the short ermine jacquette. It is trimmed about the collar with a narrow strip of white ermine spotted here and there with tails. It clasps at the side with a round cluster of ermine tails. Her hat is also of white velvet in draped turban effect. Her gloves are white with black stitching. Her gown is made of pleated black net trimmed in many rows of narrow black lace on the skirt, which is quite full and made over a narrow underslip—A very pretty gown for tea time! Her black shoes have cut-steel buckles and her stockings are black and very sheer.

"Goodness!" we exclaim, "she looks expensive." And yet everything she is wearing might have been made at home by clever fingers.

There is a stout, elderly woman who uses too much makeup for one of her years. Her cheeks are fat and can stand some red in them or rather on them as nothing is homlier than a fat face which has no coloring. Her lips which are puffy, show too plainly their outlines beneath the reddened cupid's bow. Many women make the mistake.

Too Many Jewels.

Another woman is wearing thousands of dollars worth of jewels, which is also poor taste for tea time. Two girls near her are still wearing the long, side-dipping skirts which were popular last winter. Their undeveloped legs look like broomsticks from the front and rear views. The slenderness of their legs would be less apparent in skirts which were of more even length and about ten inches from the floor. The dipping of the hem-line makes them look bow-legged.

And thus they wait; lean ones, fat ones—all of them might be called well dressed if the cost of their apparel were at issue. Yet few of them who do not commit some error of dressing which the discriminating person sees.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Materials Needed For a Layette.

This article is intended as information on the amounts of materials necessary when buying for the baby's first outfit. Won't you please cut this out and save it? Almost every day some one asks me for a repetition of something that has been printed frequently, because she "forgot" to save it. I don't mind repeating anything, but I don't want to bore my readers with the same information over and over.

Twelve yards of nainsook or fine longcloth will make three slips, three fancier dresses and two skirts. Three and one-half yards of dimity make two dainty dress-up frocks for "company."

Five yards of outing flannel will make three night gowns.

One and one-half yards of flannel or cashmere will make a flannel wrapper, one and three-fourths yards will make two dainty dress-up frocks wear morning and evenings.

Two bolts of diapering (bird's-eye cotton is the best choice) will furnish the diapers. Buy the 24-inch and the first will make twenty diapers and the second eighteen. Three dozen diapers ought to carry one through nicely.

One and one-half yards of 36-inch eiderdown is sufficient for a "Baby Bunting" wrap, which is the most convenient style for the small baby. Two squares of eiderdown make excellent small blankets to be used either in the baby's basket or to be wrapped about him just at first.

Five skeins of Saxony yarn will knit four pairs of bootees and two pairs of mittens.

Patterns for first clothes may be bought in any pattern department. For dresses use a one-year size. This may seem very large, but unless you have a limitless income the infant size garment is too easily outgrown to be of any practical use. A large plait at the shoulder will draw the sleeve up all that is necessary to make it comfortable at first and the young rascals spread and lengthen so quickly that in four months this usually can be let out and the garment will fit perfectly.

A self-addressed, stamped envelope (not loose stamps) will bring you the new leaflet on feeding the baby from seven months to three years. You may have this for the asking.

SODA IN BLUEING.

If you will add a teaspoon of soda or just a little salt to the blueing water it will distribute the blueing and prevent the clothes from looking streaked.

School Convention.

The annual Dummer Sunday School convention was held in the Methodist Church last Thursday afternoon and evening. The afternoon session opened with singing "All Hail the Power," prayer led by Rev. F. G. Weir and Scripture reading by Mr. Robert Somers, superintendent of Warsaw Methodist Sunday School. The minutes of last meeting were read by Mr. J. Hawthorn and adopted; also the Treasurer's report.

The heads of the different departments all reported great difficulty in getting reports.

In connection with the reports of the standards of the schools, Miss Laine explained the use and meaning of standards.

Some of her advice was:

"So teach that we may have results."

"Aim to bring every individual into right relationships with God, through Jesus Christ."

"If possible to obtain, we really need certain mechanical helps."

Miss Laine headed the blackboard reports, "Efficiency." There were present good adult representation from Cottesloe, 9th Line, Warsaw Methodists, Warsaw Baptists and Bethel, Cottesloe, 9th Line and the Baptists reported pupils having united with the church.

A feature of the afternoon session was a hymn, "Birds Are Singing," sung unaccompanied by the junior pupils of Warsaw school. Little Jean Munro led. The little ones sang well and reflected credit on their teacher, Miss Simpson.

After appointing a nominating committee of two from each Sunday School, the session was closed by prayer, led by Pastor Chorley.

At the evening session the report of the Nominating Committee was read and adopted. The new officers are: President, Mrs. David Miller; 1st Vice, Mrs. Thomas Patterson; 2nd Vice, Mr. Alex. Darling; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. James Hawthorne; Superintendent of Children's Work, Mrs. W. Wasson; Superintendent of Boys' Work, Rev. F. G. Weir; Superintendent of Girls' Work, Miss Cressa Crowe; Superintendent of Adult Bible Class, Mrs. E. Hamblin; Superintendent of Teacher Training, Rev. Atkinson; Superintendent of Home Department, Mrs. Long; Superintendent of Missionary Work, Mrs. J. A. Crowe, and of Temperance Work, Mrs. W. Forsythe.

The next annual meeting will be at Cottesloe. Miss Laine said a few words of advice to the officers and led in a dedicatory prayer. Miss Laine then gave an address on "Ontario's Childhood."

Pastor Chorley informatively spoke on "Essentials of Workers."

Pastor Chorley conducted the Sunday services at Warsaw and Indian River. The usual Thursday evening prayer services will be resumed.

Recovery of Miss Jackson Is Ealk of the Neighborhood

MISS VELMA JACKSON.

Miss Velma Jackson, 347 Goyeau St., attractive and popular member of the younger set of Windsor, is another whose deep sense of gratitude will not permit her to remain silent concerning the great benefit she has derived from the use of the Tanlac treatment. She says:

"I can never praise Tanlac enough for the good it has done me. It restored my health and built me up twenty-four pounds a year ago, and to this day I feel so well and strong life is just glorious. I had suffered from stomach trouble for three years, and was in such an awful condition I thought I would have to give up my position, for I was already having to stay away from the office, a week at a time.

"However, Tanlac corrected my troubles, started me to eating and sleeping like a child and my recovery was the talk of the neighborhood. I feel so well and strong I never miss a day from the office and enjoy my work and pleasure more than ever."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

AMUNDSEN PREPARED FOR HAZARDOUS FLIGHT

BERGEN, Norway, June 7.—(Associated Press).—Ronald Amundsen, the famous Norwegian Arctic explorer, will attempt his hazardous air flight from Point Barrow in Alaska to Spitzbergen at the end of June, it is announced here. Between these two points he will traverse what has hitherto been the Arctic's "blind region," a territory of which nothing whatever is known. The greater part of this blind sector lies directly between Point Barrow and the North Pole.

Experts in polar work consider that one of the greatest of the difficulties Amundsen will have to contend with will be that of orientation—the determination of his latitude and longitude while under flight. Assuming that Amundsen starts from Point Barrow under ideal conditions, and in due course finds himself directly over the Pole, he will, according to astronomic theory, have south on all sides of him. It is of vital importance that he start his southward course along the right meridian, for although in which ever direction he flies it will be south, the following of a wrong meridian may lead him along the icy wastes of the Greenland tableland or even across to Siberia.

Another danger, according to polar experts, is that he may find himself over the open sea between Greenland and Spitzbergen, which is some 350 miles at this point, and entirely out of the routes of any vessels employed in Arctic work. Spitzbergen is notorious for the thick fogs which suddenly and completely envelope it n the course of a few moments, and here again lies a danger.

The success or failure of the adventurous flight, polar navigators say, depends upon atmospheric conditions, and on these alone—engine failure, of course, excepted.

GENTLE REMINDER TO CAR TOURISTS.

Unique Sign Will Invite a Visit to Peterboro and Kawartha Lakes.

A unique depature in advertising in Canada is being undertaken by the Peterborough Motor League in an endeavour to bring motorists to the city and to Kawartha Lakes. This will take the form of a large sign, 25 feet by 10 feet which will be erected at the junction of the Port Hope, Millbrook, Toronto and Dale roads, pointing the way to Peterboro and enumerating the attractions of this district.

The sign will represent an open book with the title, "History of Canada' and carrying interesting information on the two visible pages. The left page will bear the legend "Peterborough, 32 miles from here on the Provincia l Highway, the gateway to Kawartha Lakes, was founded in 1827 by Hon. Peter Robinson. It is now a city of specialized industry. See the lift lock and the floating bridge." The right hand page will read "Kawartha Lakes, 38 miles from here, the name given to the chain of lakes signifying bright waters and happy lands. Named in 1615 by Champlain as nature's playground, and now constitutes one of the most popular of Ontario's summer resorts.

This sign will be situated in a park, surrounded by trees and shrubs, and can be read by motorists approaching from Kingston, Toronto and Millbrook. Although some difficulty has been met with regarding the illumination of the sign, it is expected that the endeavours of the League to persuade the Hydro Electric Commission to supply power will be successful. The nearest power line is one mile distant.

A man who resides near the proposed location of the sign, Mr. Martin, has volunteered to look after the sign for the Motor League.

CHILDREN WILL FIND MIXED PROGRAM FEATURE OF JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS.

The circus is for children—children of all ages, of course. And that is why in addition to the many clowns with the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals, which comes to Peterboro for one day, Wednesday, June 13, the management has arranged a program, which includes greatest of trained wild animal displays, as well as acts and novelties from every country in the universe.

The famous John Robinson elephants and cages of wild jungle beasts will vie for premier honors with aerialists, acrobats, equestrians, jugglers, tumblers, and the numerous other acts that go to make up a large circus, like the John Robinson. Pretty women trainers, Ola Darragh, Pompey Baio and Hariette Guilfoyle and others will direct the animal offerings, while other comely misses will perform seemingly impossible stunts in the air, high above the heads of the spectators. All in all, it will be a great day for the kiddies, when all of these acts, together with the host of clowns, fill the big tent for the children's own display.

Not only in the elephant acts, the animal acts and the clown numbers is merriment to be found. There are equestrian dolls, including the famous Ruddy Rudynoff and the noted Bernie Griggs, who stage fun riots on the back of their galloping steeds. In the three rings, steel arenas and hippodrome track will be seen comedy bits in great numbers. Just exactly fifty-one clowns are carried this year, on the 100th tour, and you will see them all tumble and cut capers on circus day.

Two performances are scheduled at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., with the doors to the double menagerie opening one hour earlier, to allow leisurely inspection. The street pageant, more than a mile in length will leave the show grounds at promptly 11 a.m. The downtown ticket office will be located at Kent Drugs store, and tickets will be sold at exactly the same price as charged on the grounds.

BOTNICK BROS., 432 George Street

Bethany Paragraphs.

BETHANY, June 7.—Mr. Henry Wake, Niagara Falls, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wake.

Mr. John Sisson was a business visitor to Lindsay on Tuesday.

Rev. Weir was a business visitor to Toronto on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Laing and family spent the week-end and holiday with Mrs. Laing's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coyle, Cobourg.

Mr. Geo. Twigg was a visitor to Lindsay on Tuesday.

Miss Scarlett, local school teacher, has returned from Toronto.

Mrs. W. Card has returned to Porterville, Ont., where she intends spending the summer months.

Mr. Gerald McCarthy is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. E. Lewis of Peterboro was a business visitor in the village on Monday.

A very bad electric storm passed over the village on Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown both received a shock from lightning striking a defective eavetrough which they were endeavoring to repair.

Extra men on the Canadian National Railway are repairing cattle pens and other out-buildings in connection with station yard here.

Mr. Chas. Reynolds is remodelling his verandah.

Our Discriminating Friends

It's a great thing to have friends who are capable of fine discrimination.

It might be said that friendship is built of our reactions to the moods and habits of others. We respond to those who have tastes similar to our own in certain things.

For instance, the man who reads every kind of paper and magazine that we would not read, who outrages our sense of colour scheme in clothes and cravats and things, who laughs at the oldest vaudeville wheezes, is not likely to be paired with us at a theatre or a ball game or a house party.

And when it comes to cigarettes, the man who persists in smoking the brand of cigarettes we do not like assumes the undesirableness of a relentless creditor or the Town Bore.

This smoking O.P. cigarettes is a fine art. Before you choose your "other people" make sure they know how to select the right brands for you.

Be sure your friends smoke Strollers.

A year ahead in price and quality.

Evolution of the Hearse

"There's a Style Made To Live, There's a Style Made To Die," sang the chorus in the fashion show interlude in Asa Huycke's "Message of the Bluebird." And that's "More Truth Than Poetry," as James J. Montague says. With styles in living, we are all familiar. The styles that prevail in dying haven't so much personal significance, at least to the central figure.

Time was when a man died, the earth closed over him in a plain wooden box, and the grass grew more or less green over his grave. Nowadays, the more ostentatious the funeral the better. According to the undertakers, many a poor family spends on a funeral what would maintain the living survivors for months. With puffed silks and satins, with carved dark woods and silver ornaments, the lifeless clay is committed to its mother earth, and over it stands a costly chunk of graven stone.

Fashions in hearses vary also. Modern mourners turn up their noses at the horse-drawn vehicles of earlier days. The motor hearse has displaced the black horses, with funeral driver in black gloves and solemn face handling the carefully-blackened reins. Speed is essential, even in consigning the loved one to his or her last resting-place; therefore the motor. Probably in future years, a black airplane will bear the ebony case to the cemetery, with a fleet of smaller airships rounding out the funeral cortege.

The First Hearse.

The evolution of the hearse is interesting. The first hearse was a harrow-shaped frame-work of metal, which held candles for funeral services in churches. In mediaeval times, the term was applied to a canopy on which candles were placed, which was erected over the coffin in the aisle of the church. In the 15th and 16th centuries, great splendor characterized these canopies, which were supported with ornamental pillars and emblazoned with embroidery. They were covered with a pall.

The development grew to include the temple-shaped or arch-like structures, decorated with heraldic devices and banners, which were set up, often in the streets, for noble or royal funerals, and gradually came to be associated with the various types of conveyances used to carry the body to the church. A hand-barrow sometimes answered the purpose, but the general custom was to use a sort of frame-work which was supported on the shoulders of stalwart kinsmen of the deceased. Shakespeare says:

"Set down, set down your honorable load,
If honor may be shrouded in a hearse."

Garlanded Banners.

This fashion of bearing the dead aloft on the shoulders of relatives was evidently a universal one. With the bier attended by horsemen, garlanded banners borne ahead, the ancient dead were consigned to the ground, and the report of a Highland lord's funeral describes the body as being borne on a litter between two horses, the whole clan attending in a body to the grave, dug by nearest relatives. The office of pall-bearer was evidently a very honorable one, as bishops of the church often officiated in this capacity.

The ceremonies surrounding ancient burial rites were varied and involved. The custom was to provide a bountiful repast for all the attending company, sometimes the entire parish being invited. Strangely enough, the Scots are said in the ancient chronicles to be very extravagant in this respect, sometimes spending as much as one hundred pounds on the funeral and its ceremonies. It was the fashion to set a pot of wine on top of the coffin, to be partaken of by all who wished to refresh themselves over the departed. Brand's Antiquities relates the somewhat inferior funeral of a bookseller, who was "buried without sermon, without wine or wafers, only gloves and rosemary," and Hayward's Life and Reign of King Henry Lourth says: "Then he (King Richard Second) was conveyed to the Abbey in Buckinghamshire and there obscurely interred, without the charge of a dinner for celebrating the funeral."

The "sin eater" was an important adjunct at funerals of the olden time. This person, for a loaf of bread, a bowl of beer and sixpence, took upon himself the sins of the departed. The term of "scapegoate" had its origin in this practice, and the custom had Biblical authority, in the quotation in Leviticus, wherein Aaron "laid his hands on the live goat and laid upon it all the iniquities of the Israelites, and sent it away into the wilderness."

Significant Act.

Those who stand with uncovered heads as a funeral procession passes them by little know the original significance of their action. Grose directs: "If you meet a funeral procession, or one passes you, always take off your hat; this keeps the evil spirits attending the body in good humour."

The custom of burying the departed at evening, which does not obtain to any great extent now, arose out of the practice of the Romans, who took their dead away at night, so that they might not run the risk of meeting the magistrates or priests, whose sanctity would be violated by the sight of a corpse.

Candles were used at funeral services to show the belief that the soul had not quite gone out, and the ancients and heathen had a pretty custom in singing their dead to burial, because they believed that the departed had now returned to the original home of music—heaven.

An ancient chronicler says: "In burials the old rite was that the dead corpse be borne afore, and the people follow after, as one should saie; we shall dye and follow after hym." An epitaph in Oxford churchyard reads: "Previt, or he has gone before."

The custom of keeping the body for three or four days arose out of the desire to allow the dead person to come back to life again, if it so desired, and the modern fashion of leaving the casket unscrewed had its origin in the old time, where the relatives were always allowed a final look at the departed just before burial.

Pall-bearers for men were always men, and vice versa. Of Butler, the keeper of a tavern in St. Martin's street, London City, the account says: "There was a tun of red port wine drank at his wife's burial, besides mull'd white wine.". And the veracious chronicler goes on to relate the fact that none but women were present at the joyful occasion.

Persian Customs.

In burying their dead, the Persians placed them lying north and south, the Athenians to the west. The north side of the graveyard was used only for executed criminals and suicides.

The custom of planting yew trees in the churchyard was emblematic of the immortality of the soul, because of their perpetual verdure, and the cypress of the Romans was used because, when once cut, it will never grow again. The evergreen of the ivy and laurel and the popular rosemary was also remindful of the undying soul. Only sweet-scented flowers were supposed to be used on the graves, with white for the virgins, and red roses for those distinguished for goodness or benevolence of character.

White was evidently at one time, as it is now said to be with the Chinese, a symbol of mourning for the departed. It is related of Anne Bullen that she wore yellow mourning for Catherine of Arragon, while King Henry wore white for the unfortunate queen. Red was sometimes used in the gloves and bands which adorned the costumes of old-time funeral attendants.

Y.W.C.A. PREPARING FOR A GARDEN FETE

Those who remember the autumn fete managed by the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. Board will anticipate with pleasure a garden fete which is now being planned by the Swimming Pool committee and will be held on the spacious lawns at Mrs. George Macdonald's residence, 300 London street, on Friday, June 15.

A special meeting of the committee in charge, with Mrs. A. W. Cressman as convenor, was held yesterday, and judging from the interest already manifested, and the many novel and attractive features suggested, this will be one of the best garden parties of the season.

Mrs. Geo. Macdonald and Mrs. B. Gardiner are convenors of the outdoor tea tables where dainty afternoon and evening refreshments will be served.

Of course everyone wants candy at a garden party and the Business Girls 'Club, which is noted for good candy, will be in charge, with Miss Tressa Taylor as convenor of a novel candy sale.

Mrs. R. W. Cormack and committee will supply ice cream cones.

Mrs. Vincent Eastwood and Mrs. R. Waddell have been appointed joint convenors of a pretty flower table.

Fish ponds and treasure troves, which everyone likes to investigate, will be in charge of Mrs. C. E. Jamieson and Mrs. A. Robinson, joint convenors.

Balloon novelties, a new and original idea, is being carried out by Mrs. LeClair and Mrs. Bruce Gillespie.

Fortune booth has for convenor Mrs. Reg. Turner.

Miss Annie Wood and Mrs. Porter will arrange for a real good booth of home-made cooking.

The general decorating will be in charge of Mrs. Vincent Eastwood and with the beautiful grounds and porch as background, a real pretty effect which will lend much to the success of the fete may be anticipated.

A part of the recent gymnasium exhibition dances, by junior and senior girls is being arranged by Miss C. Littlefield, physical director of the Association. Miss Gwen Donley and Mr. Wilson Dunlop will supply the music and the many girl members of the Y.W.C.A. will add to the pretty effect by being in costume.

PLANTS LIKE TEA.

When you have tea left from a meal do not throw it away, but feed it to the plants. Nearly all plants thrive on this beverage.

SUBWAY SHYLOCKS TO WOO THE FICKLE MARK

BERLIN, June 6. — (Associated Press.)—Since the mark began palpitating uncertainly from one day to another,—indeed, from one hour to another,—Berlin has undergone a mushroom growth of small exchange establishments along streets all over the city. The tourist, looking for a place to convert quickly his good American dollars, English pounds, or other currency, does not need to make a lengthy search, for he runs into a money-changing booth at almost every turn, even in the midway promenade and driving sections of the boulevards.

Now an enterprising Shylock has hit upon the happy idea of setting up exchange shops at transfer points on the underground and elevated railways. The logic is simple: The alert business man enters his home station and buys a morning paper; he finds the mark is rising, or falling; his office may be a half hour away, too far to permit keeping pace with the exchange; at the transfer point he can sell "short" if necessary, or buy at a liberal margin, without the necessity of awaiting his train's arrival down town.

The first of these new establishments to put in an appearance is at the metropolitan sub-division of Schoeneberg, where trains from the fashionable West End meet those from the traders' residential district in southwestern Berlin. The authorities have granted an exchange dealer a 10-year lease on a part of the station. The basic annual rent will be 750,000 marks (about $20 when the contract is made), changeable in accordance with changes in the buying power of the mark.

Election News

TORONTO, June 8.— (Canadian Press.)— Revised figures of candidates nominated for 111 seats on Ontario Legislature and excepting those who have definitely announced withdrawal from lists, show the following totals of prospective nominees by parties:

United Farmer	75
Labor	19
Conservatives	103
Liberal	71
Independent	10
Total	278

It is expected that nearly all of these nominees of party conventions will be nominated officially on June 14 and will allow their names to stand for balloting on June 25. Few party conventions are still to be held and in some cases party nominees are considering acceptance or declination of their proposed nomination.

Heavy rains in some parts of the province have, during the past few days, seriously interfered with campaigning plans of party leaders.

Next week Wellington Hay has planned a heavy campaign in older sections of the province. Hon. Howard Ferguson and Premier Drury are scheduled to address meetings in some of the larger cities in advance of nomination day.

SILENCES STREET RADIOS

Elizabeth Police Chief Invokes 14-Year-old Ordinance.

ELIZABERH, N. J., June 7. — Fourteen years ago the Board of Works passed an ordinance prohibiting peddlers and othrrs from making noises on the City streets. Today this ordinance was invoked to put a stop to the use of large phonograph horns in front of the stores of radio dealers here.

The dealers argue that the ordinance was passed before radio was thought of, but Chief of Police Mulcahy says that the custom of using horn to distribute radio messages constitutes a nusiance.

EARLY MAILING AT THE PETERBORO POST OFFICE

Early mailing ensures early preparation of your letter or parcel for despatch and its getting away on the first available mail. Remember, you are not the only person who sometimes waits until evening—or near the time your mail should go out, whenever that is during the day, —to post mail matter, and when a lot of people do this, it is apt to mean, as you may imagine, a great rush at the last moment for the post office staff, in order to get the mail all ready for despatch by the proper train or courier, and if there is too much for them to handle it all in time, it may be YOUR letter, YOUR order for goods, or the parcel which you want delivered promptly which misses the mail and is delayed accordingly. In any case, since post office employees are only human, there is more chance of mistake being made in the handling of your letter or parcel when a rush of work is on. Just as you get better service in a store during a slack hour, so you may get better service at the post office when the staff has time to give your mail matter more careful attention.

Offices and business firms are especially urged to make a morning, afternoon and evening mailing, and note the difference it will make in the acknowledgement of your communications.

BRITISH GIRLS COMPLETE CLOAK MODEL CONTEST

LONDON, June 7.— (Associated Press)—A new craze has seized the young women of England. They want to become fashion mannequins and share the niche of popularity with musical-comedy favorites.

A London newspaper is conducting a manequin contest in conjunction with England's most fashionable dressmaking establishment, and has drawn applicants from all parts of the British Isles. Those aspiring to become fashion models are required to send in their photographs, physical measurements, description of facial features, or details of any special qualifications they may possess.

The best London coutouriers declare that the mannequin of the future must possess brains as well as mere beauty and pulchritude. In their opinion mere prettiness of face and grace of figure are no longer enough for the efficient display of their artistic creations.

Dress has become so elaborate, they say, and the struggle for originality so acute, and the girls on whom these creation are built up must co-operate intelligently in the work, and not content themselves merely with being exquisite lay figures.

A NOTEWORTHY CONFERENCE OF FRENCH AND BELGIANS

BRUSSELS, June 7.—(Canadian Press).—It is generally agreed that the conference of French and Belgian Ministers was noteworthy in at least two respects. In the first place, although Premier Poincare insisted that no German reparations offer could be considered while passive resistance was maintained in Ruhr, is attitude was regarded as considerably more compromising than heretofore. Furthermore, the French gave notice of their willingness to consider in conciliatory spirit any reasonable offer from Berlin although they reiterated that Ruhr could be evacuated only as Germany is paid.

In the second place the ministers let it be known that assistance of Britain in suggesting settlement would not be unwelcome should there be no agreement on Germany's new reparations proposals. Ministers also decided that all Alllies might well be asked to sign a joint reply to the expected German offer

System of Annuities

PARIS, June 7. — The German amendatory reparations note, which was handed to the Entente and United States Governments this afternoon, proposes a system of annuities estimated to total one billion, two hundred million marks annually if an international loan is not available for immediate capital payments.

On Party Lines

PARIS, June 7.— The Brussels Conference of French and Belgian ministers is treated on party lines in morning papers to-day. Independents say conversations introduced no innovation into the general policy of two nations, while Government supporters find the conference grave. Opposition papers accuse Poincare of having found a dodge for avoiding a reply to the German nte. Some assert that France, Belgium are far from agreement while others argue that there is perfect accord.

WHAT WOULD THE HOME FOLKS SAY TO THIS?

An immigrant English farm hand hired by a prosperous Ontario farmer in Toronti recently, rode from the Government Employment Bureau to his new job in a limousine. "Canada is a wonderful country," he exclaimed to Superintendent Neath. "The first day here, and I am going off to work in a £1,000 auto. What would the folks back home say to this?"

The Englishman is right. Canada is a wonderful country. Judged by average savings per capita, Canadians are amongst the richest people in the world. According to Colonel A. F. Hatch, retiring chariman of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, public deposits in banks and loan comapnies amount to upwards of two billion dollars, or $250 per capita. Since 1914 the assets of Canadian banks increased 70 per cent.; total deposits increased 99 per cent.; bank notes in circulation increased 66 per cent.; the value of field crops increased 68 per cent.; the value of industrial production increased 185 per cent.; and population increased 20 per cent.

Another demonstration of the rapid growth of the individual wealth of the Canadian is noted in the increase of money invested in life insurance. In 1906 there was $656,260,000 of life insurance in force throughout the Dominion. By 1922 this had reached approximately three and a half billions. In a special interview with Mr. J. H. Castle Graham, Secretary of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, our representative learned that taking the same proportion of increase in life insurance in force between the years of 1914 to the present time, in twenty-five years, or in 1947, it was estimated that there would be twelve billions of life insurance held by Canadians.

"In 1906," said Mr. Graham, "the life insurance in force in Canada was sufficient to keep in comfort 91,000 Canadians for twenty years or to purchase 162,000 homes valued at $4,000 each, or to give a thorough education to 260,000 children. The amount of money invested in life insurance in twenty-five years' time in Canada would be sufficient to keep 1,680,000 people in comfort, buy 3,000,000 homes, or educate 4,800,000 rising young Canadians."

These staements, and the fact that the commerce of Canada has been well maintained in foreign markets, indicate that Canada has nailed the flag of prosperity to the mast.

EVIDENCES OF BRITISH DEMOCRACY

LONDON, June 7 (Associated Press). —Two members of BritishMMMMM family already have appeared in the movies, the Prince of Wales and Viscount Lascelles; Princess Alice, aunt of King George, recently used radio to broadcast an address to British women on the adoption of babies, and even the King and Queen are not immune to the moden trend, for they have made patriotic speeches into a phonograph and the records in large numbers will be distributed to the children of the country.

King George has aradio receiving set in his private apartments, and some enthusiasts predict it will not be long before he establishes a royal sending station to gain intimate and cordial contact with his people.

Grande Ligne needs men and sympathetic, generous, prayerful support to bring the gospel to the people of the Province of Quebec, so they may learn the blessing of Christian service.

Rev. H. Wood made an appeal for the Baptist Church Book-Room and urged that their publications be given a chance, as the object of this book-room is for the service of the Baptist people in Canada, as only Baptist helps are kept and will be found more profitable than others.

The Moderator spoke re the minimum salary question, and urged churches who were unable to raise the required amount would receive help from the Home Mission Board.

The matter of extension was discussed, and it is probable that a church will be opened in Trenton, the only town between Totonto and Kingston, with the exception of Oshawa, that's growing. This field will have to be entered with caution.

A Minimum Salary.

The following committee was appointed to take steps to bring churches up to the minimum salary: W. E. Riggs, of Belleville; Joseph Wearing, of Peterboro, and Rev. Wm. Morrow, of Peterboro.

Rev. L. H. Coles briefly spoke of some of the social problems which beset the young people of the 'teen age, and which are presenting a problem which threatens to become a vital one. His remarks were followed by discussion, in which Rev. T. J. Rich, Rev. H. S. Bennett, Rev. E. Butcher and Rev. H. Wood took part.

Afternoon Session

The devotional exercises were under the direction of Gilmour Memorial Church. Mr. Madill, the moderator was in charge of the programme The Report of the Grand Ligne Mission was given by Rev. H. S. Bennet of Campbellford, whose report covered the year beginning May 1st, 1922 and ending April 30th 1923. For 86 years this mission has stood like a beacon of light to weary French souls in the darkness of sin and superstition, and has labored to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ where it is unknown. The Eastern townships formerly settled by United Empire Loyalists have been invaded by Roman Catholics and the existence of many Baptist churches imperiled.

At present there 61 French boys and 38 girls, 40 English boys and 18 girls.

The work of the colporteurs proceeds with more or less success thought the giving toward this work at Grande Ligne shows a decrease this year. It is hoped that the deficit will be made up.

Rev. T. J. Rich reported for Foreign Missions and reported a shortage in this department also but as yet all the churches have not made their returns so the amounts will probably be made up later. The central section had a successful financial campaign under Dr. Seniour and it has been a great help. Money has been sent to India and Bolivia and appeals have come in for Acadia college and McMaster which are in great need of support, although things are not as flourishing as they might be more or the missionaries have had to remain at home for lack of money for their passage as has been with the Methodists and Presbyterians. In India the spiritual condition has been splendid and the training schools for men and women are doing good work. Industrial evangelism is as old as Christianity. In Bolivia there are four churches and same valuable property. For this field seven missionaries are needed as well as money, we cannot afford to go back or stand still and we must press on and hold up the hands of the Mission Board.

Rev. H. Wood of Port Hope, gave the Educational Report.

The last report showed that only 12 out of 19 churches contributed to Christian education and only 6 out of 19 Sunday schools. We must get behind our colleges and realize that they are our colleges and there is a tremendous influence in Christian teaching. Many students are converted while in college and many expect to be missionaries. It was advised that statistics regarding studtns from various churches be included in the year's report This year one each was reported from Belleville, Port Hope and Brighton.

Rev. L. H. Coles presented the Home Mission Report. Rev. J. R. Webb for years represented the association on the General Board and had facts at his finger ends but has removed. The report is encouraging as a number of churches have increased their home mission giving and very few have gone back. The interest is growing with the increased finance and Dr. Schutt's agressive home mission policy is bearing fruit..

Regarding salaries, Mr. Coles urged larger salaries in rural districts to encourage the strong men to take up this work which in too many cases at present has fallen to the older men who are unable to carry on the aggressive campaign necessary. The decline in rural churches is due to lack of sufficient realization of what they mean. We want churches in the front line, we want to control the countryside for after all the Baptists have the last word to say and their message of the straight gospel is what people want to hear.

The West is holding its own under adverse conditions much better than the East. The Baptisms show a marked increase which is a fair indication of growth. The work is hard for the missionaries as the work is different and the results tardy and the problem of pastoral leadership very great.

Rev. H. S. Bennett read the clerk's statement which showed increase in many departments.

Number of Baptisms

The following churches reported number of baptisms: Norwood, 17; Port Hope, 14; Brighton 14; Haldimand 13; Park street, Peterboro, Belleville and Campbellford each 11; Murray street and Cobourg each 8; Cramahe, 7; Lakefield 6; Picton and Colborne 3 each. This shows a gain over last year. This year there are 1659 members of the associate as against 1821 for last year, of the 19 churches, 5 failed to report which acocunts for some of the figures not bting up to previous years. The Association has a balance on hand of $23.55. A hearty vote of thanks was given Rev. Mr. McLellan for his past services as association clerk and treasurer.

Rev. G. M. Homes of Lindsay, gave an inspiring address on the vital question of Christian stewardship Mr. Scriven's plan of finance is being good fruit, he suggested the Christian stewardship committee and is himself at the head of it. If each church would make an effort to gather each quarter 25 per cent of their. allotment there would be no deficit at the end of the year. The encouragement of systematic giving is necessary to bring this about. We need propaganda on the subject. The B. Y.P.U. have taken this matter up and shouldering a responsibility in the matter. We are not our own, we are bought with a price and we should give our best with all our hearts. There is no reason to be ashamed to preach about money we should give of what we have and are for the Lord who gave all for us. Baptists in the main are systematic givers. The committee suggests a roll kept of every man, woman and child who is pledged to give systematically and if carried out according to the plans it would mean a genuine revival.

Religious Education

Miss Eunice Whidden, the girl's work secretary of the Baptist Board of Religious Education. Miss Whidden explained the aims of the board in their plan to aid Sunday Schools which are training grounds for the church and it is important to build-ing character in the boys and girls. its quality not quantity which really counts and the aim is to set up high ideals for the boys and girls and Christian standards. The four-fold development physical, intellectual spiritual and social covers the ground pretty thoroughly. We never lost sight of the value of prayer and Bible study. Personal dedication, giving of our best to God not our second best, whether of our time, money or our lives. Our aim is to give the girls life and give it more abundantly.

The question of recreation is important as girls and boys are bound to have it and we provide it and teach them to care for their bodies which are the temples of the soul. The intellectueal development guiding the girls toward the books she ought to read and the pictures you ought to see. The Social development suggests service in church, home and community. The need for leaders in this work is important and for the purpose of training leaders a leader's camp has been organized in Muskoka for a source of inspiration and development of leaders. It is not in any way a money making scheme. This camp is for girls over 18. It has been organized to provide a Baptist camp for those who object to the inter-denominational camps. Girls and boys need help and support and we must meet their needs. Dr. Rose and Rev. H. S. Bennett heartily endorsed this work.

Professor Curr of McMaster University was the last speaker of the afternoon. Prof. Curr was impressed by the splendid reports given during the afternoon and excellent addresses. He wished to speak of Christian education and especially of the trio of Baptist colleges, Moulton Woodstock and McMaster and asked for support for them. In his opinion their work is even more important than either the home or foreign mission boards. With McMaster launching a new era for Baptists in Ontario and Quebec has deepened enlarged and strengthened the spiritual influence and the number of Baptisms show a large increase. These colleges are among our greatest assets and though they may not seem to make much stir, they are not the less a vital force The heart is a vital organ and we do not hear it but when it stops life itself stops. Education has a marvellous influence on national life. The contrast between the honors of the Russian revolution and the orderly but drastic revolution of Germany shows the influence of the German universities. The Pan-Oxford movement grew out of the hall and common rooms at Oxford —a centre of learning. Consider the appeal which is being made for our colleges and do not fail to support it as the source of denominatinal progress and Baptist advance may be found in the colleges where boys are prepared for the ministry. There are nearly 50 students needed at Woodstock college to make it possible to keep it open. Moulton needs about 15 girls. Don't criticise McMaster pray for it.

CONSERVATIVE WOMEN GET-TOGETHER MEET

Declare W. H. Bradburn the Right Man in Right Place.

(Contributed.)

Last night, at the Liberal Conservative Women's Committee Rooms, was more than an occasion. A real get together gathering. The meeting brought together ladies all vitally interested in the candidature of Mr. Bradburn, and did not hesitate to say so. In fact any other man might have been abashed to find himself so generally femininely popular. It was affirmed that in a long list of Conservative candidates of the years gone by, none exceeded Mr. Bradburn in eligibility for a contest. The right man in the right place was the general comment.

The business was to elect Mr. Bradburn. And as a duty to the constituency the meeting opened by electing Mrs. W. H. Bradburn as Honorary President. This the President, Mrs. Fallis, heartily approved of; and the meeting stood up and voted all in favour.

Organization was perfected. The several committees for the wards were named and told to get to work. And agreed to do so. It was decided to hold a regular meeting each Wednesday night, until the campaign is over. Possibly a night or two longer, just as a habit, not to be lightly abandoned.

A short address from Mrs. Fallis, who is in constant demand in outside constituencies, was informative. Mr. Roland Denne told some practical things of value. Mr. Bradburn added his impressions gained in the back country and as pointing to a victory for the Party. Others spoke and all left fully determined to do the very best that can be done to ensure Mr. Bradburn's election. And when a woman says "yes" she is in earnest. When she says "no," she often means yes. This time the situation is reversed, all on account of Mr. Bradburn.

Arrangements are being made to have the rooms open every day and ladies in attendance. Announcement of this being perfected will be made further on.

APPLYING RADIO TO MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

The principle that permits the radio fan to hear concerts from afar, without the use of connecting wires, is being adopted to mechanical engineering, so so that a great deal of waste energy is being reclaimed.

This is the priciple of oscillation. When a radio listener tunes in on a transmitting station, he sets his instrument to the same wave length as that of the station he wants to hear. When these wave lengths coincide, the sound oscillations on the transmitted wave length are taken up by the receiving apparatus.

It is the same method by which one tuning fork takes up the pitch, or sound set up on another tuning fork of the same size and construction.

Much Energy Lost

In mechanical engineering, this principle of oscillations is being applied so as to take up lost energy especially on engines and other apparatus whose motion changes gack and forth. Each change is opposed by the resistance of the machines' own inertia, so that a great deal of energy has to be spent on overcoming this resistance, before any power can be used for the production purpose of the machine.

Scientists were almost ready to give up the problem of recovering this great loss of power, when a Berlin radio and mechanical engineer named Schieferstein happened upon the solution in the application of the oscillation principle.

According to Schieferstein's discovery, the motion of any reciprocating engine—that is, one whose direction of motion changes regularly—is made part of an oscillatory system, so that instead of using its own power to overcome its inertia on each change of motion, it is aided to a considerable degree by the oscillations of an apparatus designed by Schieferstein.

Serves as a Booster

By oscillating at the same rate at which the engines moves, this apparatus serves as a bolster, to overcome the power lost in combating the inertia of the engine.

A year's test of this principle with a harvesting machine showed an average of only 55 power units were spent as against an average of between 105 and 155 units without the aid of the oscillator.

This same theory is applied to flocks of birds, says the discoverer. They fly in unison, even though some of the birds are stronger than others in the flock, because the movement of their wings is alike. Thus, all are mutually tuned to the same oscillation, so that the stronger birds can transmit some of th oscillatory power to the weaker.

AIRPLANES AT $500.00 FOR BRITISH AMATEURS

LONDON, June 6 (Associated Press).—Airplane flying promises to become as popular in England as bicycling or motoring. British manufacturers are now perfecting light models of aircraft that will cost little more than a motorcycle. They are fitted with small engines of four horsepower and have a speed of 50 miles an hour. They leave the ground with a few yards run and land at less than 25 miles an hour. The dangers are less formidable than those of the flying machines, and a one with a rudimentary knowledge of mechanics can handle the new models.

In an effort further to popularize flying, the British under secretary of State for Air has offered a prize of $250,000 for a light airplane competition confined to British machines with a maximum of 8 horsepower. The cost of the airplane when completed is not to exceed $500. A commendable condition is ability for the machine to be transported a mile by two persons within three hours, the test to include getting out of a field through the ordinary field gate and traveling along an average country road. The competition is to take place in September over a triangular course of not less than 15 miles, and as the minimum distance which must be flown on the one gallon of gasoline is to be allowed is 500 miles, there will be ample encouragement to produce an economical machine.

HEIRS SEEKING HIDDEN CASH PLOW UP FARM FOR YEARS

REGINA, Sask., June 7.—(Associated Press).—Ten years ago a farmer, Norman Curtis, arrived from Iowa, and settled with his family on a farm near Langbank, Sask. He brought $5,000 cash with him, paid $1,500 down on his farm, and being a non-believer in banks, buried the remaining $3,500 in a field, telling no one, not even members of the family, where it was concealed. During the winter of 1913 he was frozen to death and with him died the secret of the hiding place of the money.

For the past decade members of his family have organized many futile searches for the hidden treasure. Every conceivable place has been dug up, stones moved and hunches followed, but still Curtis' hoard remains safe from everyone, bank robbers included.

THE COMMON TOUCH

I would not be too wise—so very wise
That I must sneer at simple songs and creeds
And let the glare of wisdom blind my eyes
To humble people and their humble needs.

I would not care to climb so high that I
Could never hear the children at their play,
Could only see the people passing by,
Yet never hear the cheering words they say.

I would not know too much—too much to smile
At trivals errors of the heart and hand,
Nor be too proud to play the friend the while.
And cease to help and know and understand.

I would not care to sit upon a throne,
Or build my house upon a mountain top,
Where I must dwell in glory all alone
And never friend come in or poor man stop.
God grant that I may live upon this earth
And face the tasks which every morning brings,
And never lose the glory and the worth
Of humbler service and the simple things.

ONLY ASK AND SEE

By Louis M. Waterman

Only ask and God will hear—
Only ask and see!
He who heeds the ravens' cry
Must regard your plea
More than mighty thunder-roll,
Faintest whisper of your soul
His attention will control—
Only ask and see!

Only ask and you shall have—
Only ask and see!
Sweeter than your fondest wish
Shall the answer be!
Humble hearts that truly pray
God hath never turned away;
He is just the same today—
Only ask and see!

Only ask and God will give—
Only ask and see!
Who the Saviour gave gives all
Just as full and free;
If you have the Son confessed,
Found in Him your peace and rest,
God will grant your humble quest—
Only ask and see!

THE more light the publisher gives the advertiser on his publication—the greater consideration he receives when it comes to placing advertising.

The facts embodied in an A. B. C. report are those which the advertiser wants to know—facts that he must know to buy space intelligently. He cannot afford the time or expense necessary to collect them either by correspondence with the publisher or by financing his own investigation.

Therefore, the uniform, easily-accessible A. B. C. form, packed with complete dependable facts, is a ready solution to the problem of how to locate the most desirable mediums with the minimum of effort and expense.

The long-established commercial rating agencies have furnished financial information for years. Banks are audited periodically. The Audit Bureau of Circulations performs a similar function by collecting and verifying circulation information for the advertiser.

Publishers subscribing to the A. B. C. standards are helping to stabilize and organize advertising in the way that, by long experience in other commercial lines, has proved to be Good Business.

SPORT NEWS, COBOURG

COBOURG, June 7.—Jupiter Pluvius interfered with the plans made by the Central Ontario baseball team for an exhibition game with the Hillcrests of Toronto Tuesday afternoon. The Toronto team arrived in town about two o'clock, the weather having brightened up during the forenoon. But soon after their arrival the rain began to fall in torrents and the game was unavoidably postponed. There were no Town League games either, owing to Victoria Park diamond being in a very muddy condition, so the holiday passed featureless and practically without ball.

The victory gained by the Cobourg ball team here on Saturday by defeating Belleville, 4-0, has put the fans in a joyful condition, and they are hoping for additional victories.

PAPYRUS FIRST IN ENGLISH DERBY

Donoghue the Winning Jockey For the Fifth Time — Pharos, Owned By Lord Derby, Was Second.

EPSOM DOWNS, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Jockey Steve Donoghue became a heroic figure in the British racing history yesterday, when for the third year in succession he rode to victory in the greatest of all horse races—the Derby. This time the lithe leader of all British jockeys was mounted on Papyrus, the precious three-year-old possession of an Irish tenant farmer, whose name, curiously enough, is Barney Irish.

Papyrus, in racing over the horse-shoe-shaped turf of the Derby mile and a half course ahead of eighteen other thoroughbreds, lifted her owner, a man of rather small means, to a place of wealth and renown, and gave to Donoghue the supreme position among the jockeys of the world, and a record unsurpassed by any rider since man began the sport of horse racing.

By winning three Derbies in a row Donoghue gains possession of the golden spurs, which the Jockey Club long ago offered for this achievement.

Papyrus was purchased by Mr. Irish as a yearling for a relatively small sum.

Donoghue did not lead from start to finish; he got his horse ahead only after the quarter-mile post had been passed. This gave Papyrus the inside track around the turn in the huge grassy horseshoe, but the Earl of Derby's Pharos raced right by his side around the bend, and almost to the end. Fifty yards from the finish Papyrus had a half length to the good, and he responded nobly to Donoghue's urging, and stretched this margin to a full length as he flashed past the finish.

The time was 2.38.

One length behind came Pharos, owned by Lord Derby, whose ancestors established the great race.

M. Joculda's Parth was third, a half length behind Pharos, and Doric, owned by Anthony De Rothschild, was fourth. The others were stretched out behind for a long distance.

Safety First finished last.

In the century and a half since the Derby came into being, no other man has ever won it three times successively.

Papyrus was the fifth horse Donoghue has ridden to victory in this classic. He captured his first Derby with Pommern in 1915, and won again with Gay Crusader in 1917, Humorist in 1921, and Captain Cuttle in 1922.

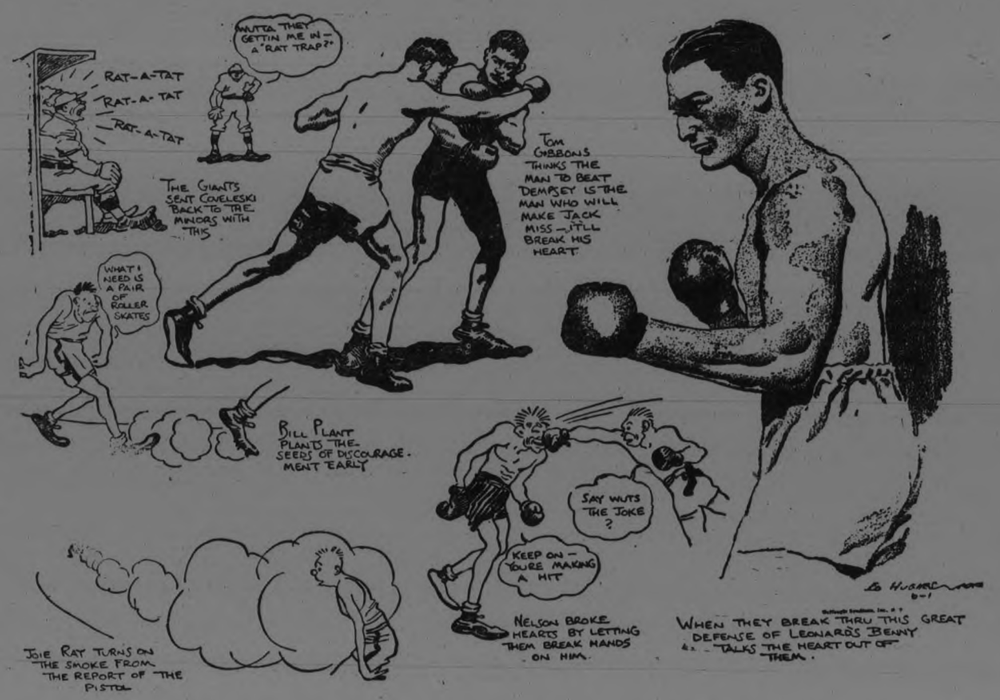
The Grim Art of "Breaking Hearts" - - By ED. HUGHES



Mike Gibbons, speaking of his brother Tom, once said that he was just the man to beat Jack Dempsey. "The man who can make Dempsey miss and miss will be the man to whip the champion," explained Mike. "It will take the heart out of him." Mike's prophecy will be given a hearing at Shelby, Mont., next Fourth of July. It will be an interesting test, for Dempsey has his own ideas on the subject of "tearing the heart out of a man."

Tom Gibbons, as his brother hinted, will probably try to discourage Dempsey with his boxing wizardry. It is hardly likely that he will risk any wholesale exchange of blows. The champion, on the other hand, will wage his characteristic forcing battle. Jack will shift and "weave" and then spotting his opening, plunge in, dealing his thunderbolts of leather. "Crowding" and terrific hitting—that is "the Man-Killer's prescription for "tearing the heart out of a man."

Most athletes have their own ideas on this subject of implanting discouragement in the heart of the other fellow. When Frank Moran knocked out Joe Beckett in London years ago he accomplished it with a smile. The lion-hearted Moran deliberately allowed Beckett to plant several of his hardest blows on his chin. Instead of dropping in his tracks Moran just grinned. His cheery courage and seeming contempt for Beckett's best wallop completely ripped the heart out of the Britisher. He went down and out from the first fell swoop of Benny Leonard and Johnny Kilbane depress their opponents spirits with their ring skill and their tongues. Should their antagonists break through their defense, these wonderful champion begin to talk. They "kid" and "josh" and make the other fellow feel his inferiority. Leonard "kidded" both Ritchie Mitchell and Lew Tendler out of victories when they had him on the brink of defeat.

There is nothing more discouraging than hitting and not getting favorable results. Battling Nelson used to sop up every blow the other fellow started. They could hit him all they wanted, but they couldn't stop him from coming in. No fun in that. When they were weary, sick in heart, disgusted with the job, Neson pushed them over.

Joie Ray, greatest of distance runners, doesn't hang back long at the start. He usually jumps into the lead, setting a killing pace, which blights the hopes of the rest. Bill Plant, champion walker, adopts the same methods. Bill puts on full steam at the crack of the gun. His field is usually well strung out before the first quarter. He walks the heart out of his rivals.

Playing on the other fellow's weakness is a certain dampener of the spirits. This is the strategy of most victories.

NEW YORK TRIMMED IN A FOGGY GAME

Umpires Had to Hold Conference to Discover If the Ball Was Caught — St. Louis Won in 12 Innings.

CHICAGO, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Chicago hit Nehf, star left-hander, hard yesterday, smashing out four doubles, all of which figured in a 6 to 1 victory over New York, and evened up the series. Aldridge held the world's champions to three hits, one a home run by Snyder. A thick fog off Lake Michigan hung over the field, and made it so dark at times that it was impossible to see beyond the infield. Several times it was necessary for the umpires to confer as to whether balls batted to the outfield had been caught. Score:

Chicago	00020220x—6	12	2

Blume, Nehf and Snyder, Smith; Aldridge and O'Farrell.

Cincinnati 5, Boston 1.

CINCINNATI, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Donoghue outpitched McNamara yesterday, and the Reds won the second game of the series from the Braves, 5 to 1. Donohue did not make a mistake of any kind, and his support was faultless. Score:

Boston	100000000—1	6	2
Cincinnati	00130100x—5	11	0

McNamara, Watson and O'Neil; Donohue and Wingo.

Pittsburgh 7, Brooklyn 3.

PITTSBURGH, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Pittsburgh made it two straight from Brooklyn by winning yesterday's game 7 to 3. Ruether weakened in the sixth inning when the Pirates sent six runs across on six hits. Rain in the seventh inning delayed the game 23 minutes. Score:

Brooklyn	010011000—3	8	1
Pittsburgh	00001600x—7	12	0

Ruether, G. Smith, Decatur, and Taylor; Hamilton and Gooch.

St. Louis 7, Philadelphia 6.

ST. LOUIS, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Bottomley's triple and Myers' sacrifice gave St. Louis a 7 to 6 victory over Philadelphia yesterday. The contest went 12 innings. Each team scored twice in the tenth. Score:

WILLIAMS PRIMED AND READY TO BE TURNED LOOSE AGAINST PETES

Belleville Counting Upon Their Indian Southpaw to Grab Saturday's Game at Riverside Park

A REAL ARGUMENT.

With Belleville and the Petes tied for the leadership and Mills and Company due to play here on Saturday the local fans are happier than they have been for many a moon They would rather see a Belleville-Peterboro game than anything else in baseball and the fact that the winner of Saturday's argument will be in undisputed possession of first place in the Big Four race—for a day or two at least—adds more than the usual percentage of excitement.

Riverside Park is being groomed for the battle and will be in much better shape than it was last week so that the teams should be able to cut loose and play the fastest kind of baseball.

Belleville have Jack Williams all primed to sling in action against the Petes in this crucial tussle. Only once last year did the Solomon crew succeed in winning a decision over the Verona Indian southpaw but this is another year and the homesters are hopeful of being able to treat the redskin to a very busy afternoon. Belleville will line up practically the same as last year, with Oulette in reserve and ready to go to the rescue if Williams weakens. Peeney Mills of course will do the receiving and the infield is the same as last season with Harry Mills at first, Meagher at second, J. K. Williams at third and Weir at shortstop. It is the third season together for the Belleville inner guard and they have some advantage in this respect over the other Big Four teams. Hagerman, Ross and Casey will likely form the outfield although Armstrong may get a chance.

Manager Solomon's lineup has not yet been announced.

The game is billed to start sharp at 3 o'clock and the indications point to a capacity crowd. Fans for fifty miles around flock to see Belleville and Peterboro fight it out and Belleville as usual will have a squad of noise makers with them—"Slats" Kerr among the number.

It looks like a big game of the year.

JINX PURSUING THE SUB CATCHER

Graham Waited Over a Year For a Chance and Then Played One Inning

CHICAGO, June 7.—A jinx seems to pursue the substitute catchers of the Chicago White Sox club.

In the first place, being a sub catcher on a club boasting a backstop of Ray Schalk's ability is a handicap at the very outset.

Schalk's presence means everything in the Chicago lineup. Schalk is seldom hurt, and a glutton for work despite his rather frail physique. For that reason "sub" catchers on the Chicago club seldom get a chance to work.

Instead of seeking an off day occasionally, Schalk wants to work in exhibition games. Recently in the fifth inning of a game with the Athletics Schalk asked to be relieved. It is said to be the first time he has ever made such a request.

For over a year Graham, "sub" catcher of the Sox has been waiting for a chance to break into the lineup. A collision at the plate so jarred Schalk that he got his chance when Ray requested to be relieved.

While it is no easy task to catch the deceptive spitballs thrown by "Red" Faber, Graham welcomed the opportunity. After working only one inning a fast breaking spitball smashed the little finger on Graham's right hand.

Knowing something seriously was wrong, Kid Gleason rushed to the plate. One look caused the Sox manager to send the rookie to the clubhouse. Tears were in Graham's eyes as he left the field and he was heard to remark:

"After waiting over a year for my chance I only got to work an inning."

No wonder they say a jinx pursues the extra catchers of the White Sox.

Colonials Scored Another Victory.

The Colonials chalked up another win in the Girls' Soft Ball League when they defeated the Quakers last evening by a score of 29 to 7. The Quakers had a margin of one run for the first two innings but after that the Colonials went ahead of them and stayed well in the lead for the remainder of the game.

The players were:

MILL WOMAN WON FORTUNE IN RACE

Stenographer and Street Sweeper Among Those to Make Huge Sums From the Great Derby Race.

LONDON, June 7 (Canadian Press). — A little sweepstakes ticket, combined with Derby luck, has placed a fortune of $32,000 in the lap of a Yorkshire woman mill worker, Mrs. Nellie Ford, by name, who drew Papyrus in the Otley Club's £80,000 Sweepstakes, in which more than 200,000 players had taken a chance.

Mrs. Ford is described as a hard-working woman, who has spent most of her life working in a mill in order to help support her large family.

Yestrday sh was offered £3,000 for her chance, but refused, as she had a dream that fortune awaited her.

The second prize of £16,000, and the third prize of £8,000 were won by two men of moderate means.

Several others have been lifted from penury to Easy Street by the luck of drawing winning horses in the numerous other sweepstakes held in England.

A London man won £12000 in the Meat Dealers' Sweepstakes, of which, he announces, he will give one-third to a fund being raised to aid the city hospitals.

A young stenographer is better off by £10,000 by winning the prize offered in the Cork Handican draw, and a street cleaner won a like sum in another draw.

The Calcutta and London Stock Exchange Sweepstakes have not yet been announced. The former is worth about £30,000, and the latter £25,000.

It is estimated that a quarter of a million pounds sterling has been won in the big public sweepstakes, while huge sums have changed hands through those conducted on a smaller basis.

Canteen Cigarettes Were Stolen Wholesale.

LONDON, June 7. — (Canadian Press Cable.) —The government's committee of enquiry into the accounts of the navy and army canteens in which Canada had a certain amount of interest by reason of participation in the profits, was informed by a witness, formerly an army service corporal, that on one occasion two trucks containing 642 cases of cigars and tobacco were despatched from Havre, but on arrival at Bologne only 32 cases were forthcoming. The officer in charge merely gave the witness instructions to write the missing cases off as lost. Two senior officers when told of the incident, made the same reply.

The witness, a white-haired man of sixty said he had had no previous experience before joining for the war.

Chairman — "That probably accounts for your astonishment."

Questions

ONE—If a fielder touches a runner with the ball as he slides into the bag, then juggles the ball, and in the meantime the runner reaches the base, is the runner out if the ball isn't dropped, or does the juggling of the ball make it necessary to again touch the runner?

TWO—If the ball first hits in foul territory after leaving the bat, and then bounds into fair ground and settles there, is it a fair or foul ball?

THREE—Runner hits for three bases. After reaching third and while standing on the bag, the coacher walks out and pats him on the back. Should this be ruled interference and the runner be declared out?

FOUR—If a base runner starts to steal as the pitcher delivers the ball, said pitch being wild, making it an easy matter for the runner to reach the next base, is it credited as a stolen base?

FIVE—If the first baseman receives a throw from the shortstop in ample time to retire the batsman, and fails to do so because he misses the bay in attempting to touch it, is he credited with an error?

Answers

ONE—The runner is not out. Juggling the ball made the touch void. If the runner reached the base in the meantime he is safe.

TWO—A ball is fair or foul as to where it finally settles. A ball can hit foul and then become fair, if it settles in fair territory between first and home or third and home. It was a fair ball.

THREE—Umpire should pay no attention to act of coacher in patting the runner on back. Chance for play had ceased and there was no interference.

FOUR—If runner starts to steal prior to a battery error, he is credited with a stolen base.

FIVE—First baseman is charged with an error because of his failure to touch the bag.

DEATH ROAD WITH VICTORY

That was a touching picture at Belmont Park yesterday when the good bay mare Sweet Kiss, after wining the steeplechase, stood with lowered head over the body of her fallen rider, Frank Hayes. The animal knew instinctively what the cheering throngs in the stands could not know, that the final act in the tragedy of a human life was over. As Hayes brought Sweet Kiss down the stretch a trifle ahead of the field the rider was keen, alert, vibrant with pulsating life. A moment later, when the cheers of the crowds rose and swelled, his body relaxed and he fell from his mount to the turf.

The story of Jockey Hayes and his one winning ride after a rigorous course of training that sapped his vitality is one of those dramas of real life that arrest the attention of a busy city occasionally and turn the thoughts of millions briefly toward the mysteries of existence. Here was a lad who was bound to rise in his trade of horsemanship at any cost. An indomitable spirit drove him on to sacrifice his health to success, and he lasted just long enough to make his dream come true. He won his race and died in the saddle.

The history of the American turf records no parallel case. The trotting turf in England, however, had a similar incident when Walter Winans, the noted horseman and pistol shot, died as he passed the wire driving one of his stable of American trotting horses. He shouted "Stop my horse!" and fell to the track. Thus perished in a moment of victory one of America's best known sportsmen, an international figure alike in the world of horsemanship and marksmanship.

It is easy to say, after the event, that Frank Hayes should have been restrained from taking such a rash gamble with life. But, being what he was where he was, driven by ambition to rise in his calling, for his employers to refuse him the opportunity to make good would have been close to cruelty. He got his chance and with it victory. Millions of newspaper readers are hoping that Hayes heard the stands cheering his success before death overcame his senses.

SHELBY A TOWN OF JAZZ AND JOY

Closing Hours Are a Thing of the Past — Town is Wide Open.

SHELBY, Mont., June 7.—Mayor Jim Johnson, who rode the range for thirty-five years before he settled down t othe calm, uneventful job of guiding the destinies of Shelby's people, has thrown out the curfew. The one o'clock closing law is nix in this boom town. Proprietors of places of amusement, after a meeting, marched solemnly to the site of the arena west of the town, buried the keys of their place on the spot where the Dempsey-Gibbons ring will be erected.

Shelby is wide open as regards late hours. The cabarets wheeze out their more or less tuneful music until it is time for the morning train from the coast. Then the stragglers who can't seem to be able to go to bed until they are sure the sun is shining again, wander down to the depot and eye tne transcontinental travelers.

Jazz climbs on the throne early in the evening. As soon as the east bound train has slipped away over the flats, the pleasure palaces come into their own.

The sheik-like orchestra from the King Tut dance pavillion competes for popularity with the cowboy trio grinding out alleged music on homemade instruments at The Mustang. The boys just in from the oil fields for a little recreation swarm to the dance halls. A lone movie does its best to attract, but the competition is too keen. Hectic Shelby hasn't time to sit for an hour in a picture house.

JUVENILE GAME TO-NIGHT.

Weather permitting, the Lock Works and Maple Leafs will play a Juvenile series game at King Edward School grounds this evening at six o'clock. Unless rain is falling at six o'clock the players should be at the grounds ready for the game.

IT SURE PAYS

The first batch of Coca-Cola was put on the market back in 1886—only 25 gallons of sirup, which sold for $25.

The Wall Street Journal comments that "the present company paid the original owners 20 million dollars for Coca-Cola goodwill."

"Goodwill" is another word for reputation.

Reputation, in modern business, is the direct result of three things—merit, product, methods of doing business, and advertising.

Coca-Cola, of course, has been about as thoroughly advertised as is humanly possible.

The $25, realized from the first Coca-Cola sale, was immediately invested in advertising, for which the first bill was $46. From that small seed grew 20 million dollars worth of "goodwill."

It pays to advertise.

Most of the big advertisers started in a small way. Venturing cautiously into the water, they soon struck out for the deep spots. They found that it pays to advertise.

The William Wrigley Company's first advertising appropriation was $32—its entire capital—writes John Allen Murphy in Printer's Ink magazine. The L. E. Waterman Company's first ad bill was only $62.50. Hupp Motor Corporation started with $100.65 of publicity. The Borden Company started with an advertising appropriation of $513.75, back in 1890; to-day it spends for advertising nearly a million dollars a year. So on, a long list.

It pays to advertise.

Murphy tells the story of Royal baking powder. The company started in a small drug store in Ft. Wayne, Ind., as a side line. "Its first advertisement appeared in local papers. The campaign then gradually spread throughout the state until the company was able to move to New York. Soon after that, it became the largest national advertiser of its day. The Mennen Company started similarly — as a druggist's side line.

What fertilizer is to farm soil, advertising is to business. It makes the seed grow, the acorn into a giant oak.

"It pays to advertise" is the best slogan to hang over the sales manager's desk.

FRAME LAWS TO UPLIFT BOYHOOD.

War Resulted in Awakened Conscience and Progressive Legislation For Protection of Boys.

PORTSCHACH, Austria, June 7.—(Associated Press).—Though the war stopped the progress of the world in many directions, it has nevertheless resulted in an awakened conscience and progressive legislation for the protection of boyhood. Such is the assertion of a legal commission reporting on the protection and reformation of boyhood to the Second World's Conference of Y. M. C. A. workers with boys, to be published June 3. The report is based on a study of condition in 35 countries.

"The new countries of the world," according to H. Wallace Soutter of South Africa, chairman of the commission, "are legislating in accordance with the new spirit of penology and the conclusions of psychological research, and are striving to prevent the growth in their midst of the horrors of the older countries."

Approximately 70% of the boys in the United States, according to the commission, live under laws which compel school attendance between the ages of 8 and 16. America's experience is frequently quoted, and the tendency to project free education forward into the college grade is marked as noteworthy. The report sums up the educational obligations upon governments as follows:

"The ideal to be aimed at and steadily worked for is that up to the age of 18 years it shall be made possible for a boy's energies to be absorbed not by work but by education—an education that strengthens the body, develops the mind, equips him not only for earning a livelihood, but also for community service, and thus lays intellectual and moral foundations of good citizenship.

"Christian nations must certainly resist the materialism that would sacrifice the development of personality to the supposed necessities of industry, and must not be satisfied until the law brings within reach of the poorest boy the highest education."

International boundaries and race characteristics have a minor bearing on juvenile delinquincies, the report indicated Striking similarities are revealed by the statistics of a nations.

Theft is the big outstanding offense of juveniles whether in Japan, Italy, or America. "We are convinced," the commission states, "that absolute physical want is probably the most common cause of theft by boys of a nationalities. A very large proportion of juvenile convictions is for theft of food by undernourished boys."

The report advocates raising the age of criminal majority from 16 to 18 in order that a larger group may profit by the remedial measures already in force for juveniles. The commission further says:

"The conclusion of modern psychological research must be fully explored. Any treatment of boy delinquents must have respect to the individual personality of the offender. He may be put on probation subject to treatment, and the treatment needed may be entirely medical. The decision must aim at a solution of his peculiar problem with a view to his recovery. The methods of psycho-analysis should, whenever possible, be used, not only by skilled men and women. Close observation in school of boys with tendencies to wrong-doing would prevent many of them arriving at the police courts."

Recommendations of the commission include a call for the establishment by the World's Alliance of Young Men's Christian Associations of "an International Boys' Committee, whose work shall be to study the problems of boys' life in all countries, to collect particular of all legislation affecting the legal status of boyhood that is passed from time to time, to keep all National Councils periodically advised of such legislation and any other reform movements in progress, and to take whatever steps may be expedient to secure to the boys of any nation adequate legal protection."

MILLIONS ADDED TO AUTOMOBILE TAXES IN CENTRAL STATES

CHICAGO, June 7 (Associated Press).—Millions of dollars will be forthcoming from the pockets of motorists in a number of middle western states during the coming year as the result of laws passed by legislatures of the winter and spring.

Taxes appears to have passed the most radical increase. It is estimated that $10,560,000 additional will come from the pockets of motorists and wholesalers of gasoline. Two taxing measures dealing with automobiles were passed in Texas. One place a one cent tax on each gllon of gasoline sold by wholesale dealers, while the other revises the present system of motor license fees and increases them approximately 100 percent. It is estimated that the gasoline tax will bring the state $2,5000,000 and the license fee increase will bring $8,000,000.

Indiana now has a law imposing a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline, estimated to yield $3,000,000 yearly. This will be devoted to good road purposes. In addition the legislature passed a law effective next January 1, increasing the license tax on automobiles.

In Oklahoma a tax of 1 cent a gallon on gasoline was included in a bill passed by the legislature. This is expected to yield $900,000 annually. In Oklahoma City, an ordinance recently passed puts the charge for a city license at 50 cents and is expected to yield $18,000 to the city.

Tax legislation in Kentucky, passed in 1922, which became effective this year is expected to net $3000,000 to the state.

In Ohio 87 bills directly affecting automobiles owners were introduced in the legislature, but the only one that was passed increased the tax on trucks.

Only one state showed a decrease. This was in Minnesota where the method of taxing was changed. It was estimated that while the average car taxes for last year was $17, the average for this year will be $16.44. However the legislature passed a bill to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters at the next regular election authorizing the legislature to fix a tax on gasoline.

In both Michigan and Iowa a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline was passed by the legislature but was voted by the governors.

In Iowa a law was passed placing motor bus and truck transportation lines under the supervision of the state railroad commission while a ton-mile tax was imposed on these lines to draw from them a contribution to the state highway maintenance fund. A law was also passed requiring that automobile registration fees be based upon current list prices.

EAGER FOR RUSSIAN TRADE

TOKIO, June 7 (Associated Press).—Business and professional men of Japan who have been badly hit by the failure of Japan and Russia to negotiate a commercial treaty have started movements to secure another conference between representatives of the two countries. The Associated Chambers of Commerce have passed resolutions urging the resumption of relations with Russia, and besides pressing their own government, propose sending a delegation to Moscow to carry on unofficial negotiations with the Soviet.

A plan has been formulated by a body of prominent business men, scholars politicians and others to be organized a large party to travel through Russia and observe political economical and social conditions obtaining in tha country.

Meanwhile, relations between the two countries have not been improved by some recent incidents. The latest is the refusal of the Soviet to allow the Japanese consul at Vladivostok to send a cable to his government in code. This step was taken because of the refusal of the Japanese government to allow Adolf Joffe, the Soviet delegate, to send code messages to his government during his visit to Japan.

DOG-MEAT MARKET SLUMPS

MANILA, June 7 (Associated Press).—The dog market of Baguio has disappeared intirely and the eating of dogs by the Igorots, a non-Christian tribe inhabitaing the mountain province, has been reduced to a minimum, according to Colonel Henry Knauber, head of the constabulary academy of Baguio.

"Introduction of the meat of cattle and hogs has turned the Igorots, who formerly ate dogs, into eaters of meats recognized by the civilized world as eatable," said Colonel Knauber. "These people had to have some kind of meat and years ago the only animal they knew was the dog. When civilization introduced cattle and domestic hogs to these mountain people, they quit eating dogs. Only a few scattering cases of dog eating have been reported for some time, and these were among the peoples living far back in the hills."

HYDRO FOR THE PEOPLE OR FOR MR. FERGUSON

LONDON, Ont., June 7 (Canadian Press). — Under the caption, "Hydro for the People or for Mr. Ferguson," the London Advertiser, commenting on Sir Adam Beck's acceptance of the Conservative nomination, says in part:

"The Toronto Globe has told the people of London and Western Ontario that Sir Adam Beck should be elected to protect the public ownership of the Hydro development.

"For exactly the same reason the Advertiser believes that Sir Adam Beck should not be elected.

"The Advertiser believes that such election would imperil the great power resources with which Ontario is endowed.

"And the Advertiser believes that Sir Adam Beck, as the man in whom Ontario has put non-partisan trust, deserves defeat when he violates that trust by lending it to manoeuvres and manipulations of the Conservative Party led by Howard Ferguson."

FOUND HIS FRIEND DEAD IN A RAVINE

Gruesome Discovery by R. McGrath, of Toronto Today.

TORONTO, June 7. — (Canadian Press).—While gathering mushrooms in Rosedale ravine early to-day, Ralph McGrath sighted the body of a man lying underneath the North Sherburne Street bridge, a few feet from the roadway. The man was lying face down, and being unable to arouse him, McGrath climbed the steps to the street and summoned a policeman. When the officer turned the body over McGrath recognized it as that of his friend, James Ryan.

The body was still warm, and Ryan's watch was still going. In a coat pocket was found a bank book showing a deposit of $1,400, some letters and $19 in cash.

HOW CUNO PLANS TO MAKE PAYMENT

BERLIN, June 7—(United Press) —The German note placed in the hands of the Allies late to-day proposes payment of exactly one billion two hundred million gold marks annually as reparations. Chancellor Cuno proposes to raise this amount as follows :

1. Five hundred million marks through a mortgage on the National Railroads.

2. Another five hundred million by mortgaging industry, commerce, lands and factories.

3 Two hundred million by a luxury tax.

The latter amount would be commensuratily increased as the economic stability of Germany is restored Cuno pointed out to the Allies. Such a tax before the war yielded eight hundred million marks a year, and Cuno considers that it could increase as conditions improve. An international Conference would be called to suggest any changes in the plan.

PRICES BUOYANT.

NEW YORK, June 7. (United Press. — The announcement that the Austrian reconstruction loan would be offered on Monday was looked upon in Wall street as an endorsement from high places for the current fiscal situation and prices displayed quite a note of buoyancy in the early dealings. Steel common reached a new high on the week's recovery at 97 7-8 and American Can at 101, while American Locomotive, Baldwin, New York Central and other speculative leaders were active at the best levels reached on the present movment.

Public utilities were the best acting group on the general market the first hour, Twin Cities, Rapid-Transit, recorded a 2 point gain to 75, while good advances were scored by North American Gas and Consolidated Gas. Buying of the latter issue was based on expectation that theOne Dollar Gas Bill will be set aside as confiscatory.

While most of the rails moved to proper levels those most conspicuously buoyant were issues in which current earnings are running exceptionally high. New York Central, which is expected to go on a 7 per cent. basis this month, and is earning at the annual rate of about $20 a share was taken in large volume.

Baltimore and Ohio is earning about $20 a share and is expected to go on a dividend basis before the end of the year. Pere Marquette, now a four per cent. issue and earning about $12, failed to reflect the new dividend as well as might have been expected. This stock is earning as much and paying as much as Chesapeake and Ohio, but is selling 20 points lower in spite of the fact that Pere Marquete has a better financial structure than Chesapeak & Ohio. Southern Railway common, whose holders are expecting something in the way of a small disbursement before the end of the year was another feature among the rails. Erie is also showing large gains over last year with the result that its common worked higher.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In Wednesday's issue of the Examiner, there was a congratulatory telegram from McKenzie King to Mrs. Charles Perry, president of the Women's Liberal Association, which was perfectly all right but we wonder if the Deputy-Speaker, who by his office should be impartial made any reference to Mrs. Harold Fallis, a farmer's wife, who is president of the Women's Conservative Association and whose name was received before their party convention with an enthusiastic response. It may be that the Deputy-Speaker will know more about Mrs. Fallis later on.

Thanking you, I remain,
Yours truly,
W. H. MUREL,

Peterborough, Ont, June 7, 1923.
The Editor of The Examiner,
City.

Dear Sir,—I am also a returned soldier, and started to work for the Peterborough Cereal Company eleven years ago. I left their employ shortly after the war started, and after doing my duty overseas I returned to Peterborough. As soon as Mr. J. W. Meyers heard of my return, he immediately sent a message to my house, telling me that my job was still open, and that I could return to it at any time. I acceped his offer, and have been with them ever since.

I have always found them a very loyal firm to work for, always paying the best of wages, and at all times I have received a very square deal from the management.

I am just writing this letter, because I heard that some ignorant parties were saying that the Peterborough Cereal Company does not employ returned soldiers. This is all wrong, because I know the last four years, judging from the number of returned soldiers that have come to work for us, that they have had at all times the preference. I for one can honestly say that I could not have had better treatment from any one than what Mr. J. W. Meyers has handed out to me.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
I remain, yours truly,
DENNIS MENOGUE.

VAGRANT YELLOW RIVER.
PEKING, June 7. — Associated Press. — The Yellow River, China's most treacherous waterway, which caused incalculable damage when it broke its banks two years ago, and made a new channel, is to be returned to its original course. Fourteen thousand laborers are engaged in the building of the dykes, and it is expected soon to increase the number to 20,000.

W. H. Mallory, executive secretary of the China International Famine Relief Commission, estimated the cost of corralling the Yellow River, at $1,500,000 Chinese currency, of which sum the finance commission of the government Relief Bureau, has provided $360,000.

Hundreds of square miles of territory north of the old river bed in the vicinity of Kung Chia Pa was flooded during the spring of 1921 by the breaking of a dyke and thousands of families were made homeless. Since then the district has been only sparsely repopulated due to fear of a recurrence of the catastrophe.

WOULD IGNORE CUNO'S PLAN TO MEET PAYMENT

Proposal to Mortgage German Empire is Not Taken Seriously by Premier Poincare.

WAR DEBT PROBLEM

PARIS, June 8.—(Special).—The advisability of making a formal reply to the latest German reparations offer was discussed in interchanges of opinion between the Allied representatives to-day. Premier Poincare favors a policy of completely ignoring the Cuno proposal to mortgage the German Empire to pay her war debt to the Allies.

Belgium and British interests, however, believe some sort of reply should be made, and Poincare may be pressed to their view by the desire to present a united Allied front.

France Skeptical.

Poincare holds a reply will do little good as the Germans have entirely disregarded the first requisite laid down by France, the abandonment of the policy of passive resistance against the Ruhr occupation.

On the other hand, Italy is understood to join with the British and the Belgians in the belief that the newest German offer is at least more conciliatory than any previous proposal. Belgium has no desire to leave France in the lurch, but she wants to draw Britain and Italy together with France for concerted action.

Abandon Resistance.

Poincare takes the stand that nothing can be done until Germany abandons her Ruhr resistance policy, but it is known that he would make some concessions in this stand if the thought that Belgium, Italy and England could once more be united in handling the reparations dispute.

The French press agrees completely with the attitude of their Premier. The British press, as evidenced in despatches from London, while taking a mere impersonal viewpoint, sees the logic of the French objections.

Say Poincare Right

The London Daily Express states Poincare is completely within his rights in refusing to consider the offer. There is no need of outsiders stepping in and overhauling and reviving the work of the reparations commission.

The London Daily Mail regards the note as "new propaganda" and expressive of German "insincerity."

Pertinax, writing in the Echo De Paris, states after what happened in Brussels we believe the Belgian Foreign Minister Jaspar will imitate Poincare's decision that a detailed reply is unnecessary. "England and Italy can scarcely do otherwise The only unanimity possible is refusal to consider Germany's offer unless he accedes to our demands.

Poincare's Trump Card

"The Matin expresses the opinion that France and Belgium know that time is in their favor, and that they are willing to wait until Germany agrees to talk," "not according to her wishes but according to reality.'

The Journal states Germany evidently failed to see the Franco-Belgium decision of unity in Brussels before she sent her note. It calls this decision Poincare's trump card.'

The Petit Journal says, Germany is not making a reparations offer. She is trying to arrange an international conference, in which he can act like the Russians at Genoa and the Turks at Lausanne.'

There is no desire in any quarter to go into details as to why the note is not acceptable. The amount of one billion two hundred million gold marks—three hundred million a year, might be sufficient if Germany would specify the total amount she can pay. The offer to mortgage National Railway properties, industrial concerns and other business is looked upon as a concession in guarantees demanded by France, but still it is not enough because France has lost her faith in German promises.

ANOTHER FRENCH NOTE

France sent to Germany to-day a strongly worded note demanding that resistance to the inter-Allied Military Control Commissions cease immediately. Premier Poincare will communicate with the other allies regarding the advisability of replying to the latest German reparations offer, but in the meantime has made it clear to Germany that the latter's policy of sabotage and resistance must end before any agreement can be reached.

The Inter-Allied Commissions will resume at once surveillance of German military organizations. French and Belgian officers will participaae after the occupation of the Ruhr. Germany disclaimed responsibility for possible attacks upon the commissioners.

The French Cabinet will meet situation.

Bill to Prohibit Child Marriages in British Isles

LONDON, June 8. — Child marriages may be prohibited in Britain. Parliament is considering a bill by C. G. Ammon, Labor member, that would forbid marriages of persons under 16. Present legal ages are 14 for males, and 12 for females.

GERMAN NOTE IS APPROVED

Creates Favorable Impression With London Newspapers, But Doubt of France's Attitude Expressed.

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press).—The new German reparations memorandum has created a favorable impression generally with London newspapers, most of which regard it as a distinct advance over any previous proposal. The suggestion of a conference at which Germany would be represented meets with approval of the majority of commentators. Considerable doubt is expressed, however, as to whether France can be brought into line with the other Allies, some of the editorial writers believing that she will reject the new proposal as flatly as she rejected the last.

The Times thinks it would hardly be reasonable for France to reject the proposal because it does not renounce passive resistance in the Ruhr. It hopes for a change in French opinion, and also thinks Chancellor Cuno should disavow cabotage tactics. The Daily Mail dismisses the memorandum as merely propaganda—"another step in a campaign to separate France and Britain."

BERLIN OPINION.

Berlin reports say that the Reichstag leaders believe that the note delivered to the Allied Governments yesterday marks an advance over Germany's previous reparations communications, especially since it more firmly stresses the Reichstag's goodwill and readiness to arrive at a solution of the problem, and also because the subject of guarantees is given concrete form.

A PHONE GIRL TELLS TALE OF WHITE SLAVERY

Former American Trooper Charged With Responsibility for Sordid Chapter in Girl's Life.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

DETROIT, Mich., June 8.—In Waukegan, Ill., Mabel Nelson belonged to a respected family. Regularly every Sunday she went to Sunday school and afterwards she would take walks along maple-shaded streets with girl companions. They would laugh and chatter and nod to boy acquaintances, and exchange confidences.

One day she obtained a position as a telephone operator and with the money she earned she bought herself pretty clothes. And she dreamed of the day when a young man would enter her life.

That chapter is a closed one for Mabel Nelson now. When she recalls it, as she did under the questioning of Earl J. Davis, United States district attorney, before Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in the trial of John Grish on a charge of violating the Mann Act, her eyes filled with tears. The rest has been so sordid—.

Took Clothes Away.

Grish, she said, brought her to Detroit and obtained employment for her in several places which were disorderly houses. One of these, she said, was operated by a Mrs. Bertha Mahoney, also known as Bertha Johnson. Grish took her clothes away to make her stay there, she said. To him she gave all her earnings.

Four Hamtramck policemen visited the place regularly, she said.

The rain was falling outside as the girl continued her detailed story of the hectic night life of Hamtramck, of forced smiles worn by girl inmates of the Smith Avenue house, of drunken men visitors.

Electric lights were switched on in the courtroom with its dim walls, its marble standards topped by eagles before the judge's bench, and the grave judge sat behind his desk looking down at the girl, and now and then rocking himself to and fro as his habit is.

Mother Too.

"My father was a good man," the girl continued.

"And your mother, was she a good woman?" asked the district attorney.

"Yes," the girl said. And then came a torrent of tears, hysterical sobbing. The district attorney's questioning, perforce, ceased.

Grish is a former State trooper and was once stationed along the Michigan-Ohio border to prevent rum-running. He said that he made $900 by allowing rum-runners to come in unmolested and involved an ex-lieutenant of the Michigan State Police who he says made $35,000 in the same manner. This story is being investigated.

HELP FOR THE FISHER-FOLK OF LABRADOR

Huge Bale Containing Body-Wear Comforts About Ready for Shipment from Peterboro.

EXHIBIT OF INTEREST

The exhibit of the contents of the bale destined for the Labrador Medical Mission grows more interesting every year, and each annual showing seems to contain more articles of utility and comfort for the fisherfolk on the barren coasts of the North Land. Yesterday, from three to six o'clock, visitors inspected the result of the labors of many kindly hands during the year, for the bale which will go to the Grenfell Medical Mission Hospital at Harrington, in the Canadian Labrador, on view in the upstairs section of the Grafton Company's establishment.

The skill and ingenuity, the genuine painstaking care which goes into many of the garments, is a revelation. One of the very nicest things noticeable about this bale is the fact that while everything is of the most comfortable character, beauty is not sacrified to utility. The eye for color and the longing for something nice to wear that must animate the hearts of girl children of those rocky headlands is not forgotten. Samples of warm homespuns are utilized for the making of pretty little dresses, and there is color and warmth and attractiveness in the knitted goods section, where dainty little sets in scarlet wools, with grey borders, a softhued sample of grey, with pink and green adornment, and tiny jackets of crimson with slender black lines outlining collar and cuffs, must surely delight the hearts of their future small owners. As well, there are thick, heavy, serviceable socks, and mittens for men and underwear in white and striped flannelettes.

Serviceable Goods.

Contrasting with the prettiness of a tiny cream jacket for a baby, outlined with heavy pink silk floss, and softly knitted things in white wools, are the serviceable petticoats for small girls, made with astonishing thrift and foresight from tops of stocking, and the best pieces of old underwear. These are made more attractive by their bright red feather stitching.

There are good looking coats for down, a woman's serge dress formed the foundation for a pretty small frock, flanked by a black skirt, pleated, and a man's coat had been transformed into a pair of trousers for a boy. The metamorphosis of various outgrown garments had been done with care and skill, and the wants of small things are not forgotten in the tucking away in a small girl's pocket of a dainty pink bordered handkerchief, and the hiding in a little boy's trousers pocket of a bag of marbles, surprises both for their future owners.

Caps and Mufflers.

There were woollen caps and mufflers, layettes, sundry useful supplies for the medicine chest, a quantity of canned and packaged groceries, stockings and mittens, underwear and overwear of all descriptions, a pretty white corduroy velvet coat, quilts, clothing for men, women and children, and a large supply of excellent second hand things of every description, from shoes to heavy coats and suits.

The packing of these things is an arduous task, but from long experience, the ladies have learned the best methods of doing up the goods which are always received with plenty of appreciative thanks. This season has been an especially severe one on the Labrador Coast, owing to the late spring and the icefields which

TO HALT UNION DANGEROUS ACT

Would Imperil Co-operation That Had Worked So Beneficially in Western Canada.

PORT ARTHUR, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Following the formal debate yesterday, when leaders of the three parties in the Assembly were heard on church union, free discussion of the big question began this morning. A fifteen minute rule was announced for each speaker.

Principal Murray of the University of Saskatchewan, dealt with the alleged coercion in a campaign for union, it beging argued that the antis were being legislated into the United Church of Canada, and declared that there was less coercion in the present bill than there was in the act passed for union of Presbyterian churches in 1875.

Dr. Drummond's amendment, he said, meant more than delay. It spelled death, and its acceptance by thorough-going opponents of union meant that it held no hope for a united church. To halt union now was to imperil co-operation that had worked so beneficially in Western Canada.

He held that the union movement was initiated mainly for the benefit of the newer parts of Canada, and the extent of its beneficient influence would be realizes when it was known that one-third of the Presbyterian churches in Canada are in New Ontario and Prairie provinces.

Lengthy Debate.

Inquiry this afternoon elicited the opinion from many of the commissioners to the General Assembly that the vote on church union might be taken late this evening, but others declared that the discussion of the issue would continue until late Monday or Tuesday. Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark and Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon were among those who thought the debate would last over the week-end.

MAYOR WELCOMED EXCURSION PARTY

Members of St. George's Society, Toronto, on Boat Trip From Bobcaygeon.

About seventy members of St. George's Society, Toronto, arrived in Peterborough yesterday afternoon at five o'clock after a boat trip from Bobcaygeon on the steamer "Geneva." They had travelled to Bobcaygeon by C.P.R. and, after a short time spent there, began the water journey through the Kawartha Lakes, which was a revelation of beauty to most members of the party. They were met here by Mayor Taylor, who was also their guest at dinner at the Empress. His Worship warmly welcomed the visitors and remained with them until their departure for Toronto by special C.P.R. train at 8 p.m.

KIWANIS CLUB HEAR ADDRESS BY PROF. DALE

VISITORS TODAY

That education will do much to improve the moral status of the race was the assertion of Prof. J. A. Dale of the University of Toronto, who addressed the Peterboro Kiwanis Club today on the subject of Social Hygiene. Prof. Dale referrred to the infant mortality rate as a sensitive index to conditions which the Social Hygiene Council of Canada is seeking to improve. As a result of knowledge and progress made in the last century the span of life has been increased by not less than ten years. Children's diseases are now better understood. Blindness in infants which was once accepted as a matter of course has been the subject of close investigation by the medical and scientific world with the result there has been a marked improvement in this condition. The time will come, said the speaker when no medical man will say any disease is incurable. If there is a disease at the present time incurable it is an area of knowledge to be explored. Sir William Osler once remarked that the more you studied disease of any kind the more you will find the condition closely allied with venereal diseases.

The drafting of the armies in the world war revealed some interesting figures. Of four million men drafted in Great Britain a little more than four per cent. were diseased Of one million men raised in the United States. Hospitals for the insane, prisons and other places of detention show a much higher proportion. Of all the diseases that we have recorded none are more terrible than venereal diseases. They go to the heart of the race.

Dealing with the moral side of the question Prof. Dale said the present method of dealing with victims of these diseases is abominable. One section of the community is sent to goal and the other side is allowed to go free and continue the spread of the diseases One way of dealing with the problem is to raise the standard of life and that can be accomplished through the medium of education in the schools and in all walks of life." said the speaker in conclusion.

A vote of thanks was moved by Dr. M. Yelland and seconded by Dr. Ray Scott Dr. Yelland referred to the work undertaken by the Peterboro branch of the Social Hygiene Council but so far very little local interest in the work has been manifested locally. Dr. Scott contributed some statistics relating to the presence of venereal disease in the overseas forces of which he was a member.

The visitors to-day were Dr. D. W. Clarke and Dr. A. Y. McNair Dr. Gray Macdougall presided. President J. A. McKone has returned from the Atlanta Convention and has promised to make a report to the club at an early date. Kiwanian J. Wearing informed the meeting that President McKone had been awarded the prize for the best looking Kiwanian at the convention but this the president modestly denied.

Kiwanian Walter Stocker reported on the progress of the new building in Jackson Park. The building is almost completed with the exception of some equipment to be installed.

As to-morrow is the silver wedding anniversary of Kiwanian and Mrs. Frank Whitehouse the club secretary was authorized to forward the congratulations of the club.

The pulpwood is owned by the Bay Sulphide Company.

MUST NOT FLIRT WITH THE WETS

Declares Rev. John Coburn Before Toronto Methodist Conference, Touching on Law Enforcement.

TORONTO, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Speaking on the Temperance issue before the Toronto Methodist conference to-day, Rev. John Coburn of the Department of Evangelism and Social service, declared that it was not the duty of the church to tell people how to vote on the question, but it was church's duty to urge the supreme importance of the great moral issue.

"The greatest peril of the hour," he said, "is that there may be placed in power men lacking sympathy with law, making futile effort for its enforcement, thus bringing the law into contempt and securing its early repeal. Professedly all our leading provincial politicians are on the water waggon. We want no side stepping, no flirting with wets and nodding to drys."

Regarding his trip through Ontario and the Western Provinces Mr. Coburn stated that he had not seen either man or woman under influence of liquor, but he heard "a lot of 'cussing' by chaps who were very dry.'

BOO-HOO SHOT THIS AFTERNOON

KINGSTON, June 7. — Queen's bear mascot, Queen Boohoo, was shot yesterday afternoon on an order of the Chief of Police, who issued the order after the bear had given residents in the vicinity of the Harty Arena a scare last night, according to the police. Queen Boohoo is fifteen months old now and it is alleged that she was becoming quite cranky, though Billie Hughes, her master, maintains that the bear is still gentle and playful, more so than ever she was.

The bear was one of the best known mascots in the country and her picture appeared in the leading papers of the country last fall when Queen's were making their onward sweep for the Dominion championship. The bear was a favorite with the students and officials and particularly with the football players. She was very playful and had many a good time with the boys around Queen's. It is sincerely regretted that the life of the little mascot had to be taken and she will be greatly missed around Queen's. Billie Hughes, who had charge of the bear, feels very keenly her loss as he was much attached to his pet.

DEVELOP CANAL AS PLAYGROUND NORTH AMERICA

Trent Waterway Development Association Looking Toward Greater Prosperity.

ANNUAL MEETING

"A good square deal" for American tourists was advocated by Alderman W. T. Holloway at the business session of the annual meeting of the Trent Waterway Development Association in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. The hotel accommodation may not be all that might be desired, he said, but if courteous service and kindness are shown the visitor they will supercede the memory of failings in accommodation.

The business meeting followed a luncheon at the Empress Hotel and a social hour which was greatly enjoyed by all the representatives who gathered here from Campbellford, Hastings, Lakefield, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Orillia and Midland. Peterborough was represented by Mayor W. H. Taylor, Alderman W. T. Holloway, President J. J. Duffus of the Chamber of Commerce, W. R. Morris, and the secretary of the association, Leon Frazer.

G. K. Fraser, president of the Trent Waterway Development Association, presided. The superintendent of the Trent Canal, A. L. Killaly, and the engineer, D. E. Eason, were present at the business session on invitation of the association.

Welcome Visitors

In welcoming the officials of the Trent Canal, F. D. Kerr extended the hearty thanks of the association to them for the splendid engineering and administrative work done by them in connection with the Trent Waterway. The association recognizes the great task these gentlemen have undertaken and desires to stand behind them and assist wherever possible.

Senator W. H. Bennett, honorary president, remarked that a result of the publicity given the waterway in Rochester was that a flotilla of fifteen boats would visit the section this year. What these visitors mean to the country is shown, he said, by the fact that land on the south shore of Lake Simcoe to a depth of 150 feet from the lake sells for $20 a foot. Orillia gains in summer 2,000 people who room in hotels and throughout the town, spending a great amount of money there. In Muskoka enormous sums of money have been invested in houses and boats. These have all been brought about by development of the water traffic, and the coming season will show a greater increase in tourist traffic than ever before.

Looking to the future, Senator Bennett urged that representations be made to the government in the fall asking it to complete the Swift Current lock, when there will be a commercial aspect to the waterway.

Another suggestion by the Senator was that the association co-operate with the city council of Peterborough in an invitation to the Governor-General to visit the city, travelling part of the way at least by the Trent Waterway.

Charts Completed

Mr. Eason stated that charts covering the sections from Nassau to Lakefield and from Lakefield to Young's Point are now completed. He thinks that the plan will be for the government to issue white prints for this season, which will be quite satisfactory as navigation guides. The most difficult passage, through Stoney Lake and Buckhorn Lake, is left uncharted, but his department is working on this section and it is expected that the work will have progressed to such a stage that blue prints sufficiently complete for navigation can be issued by July 1. A complete survey of Balsam Lake to Georgian Bay must be made before clearts can be drawn, this section having no modern survey.

Hours of Lockage

Mr. Killaly told the association that in the early days of the lift lock an enterprising citizen of the city moored a motor boat below the lock, took on passengers at 50 cents a trip, blew his horn, and caused the machinery of the great lock to carry his boat and passengers to the high reach and back. The department put an end to this by re-

SPENDING A MILLION

CHICAGO, Ill., June 8 (United Press).—What would you do with a million dollars?

Several of the "Springer heirs, inc"., who claim they are about to inherit $500,000,000 worth of Wilmington, Del., property, by proving their rights through a title alleged to have been granted to one of the original Springers, answered the question in interviews with the United Press.

There are several hundred of the "heirs," most of whom have lived lives of hard work. A representarive number of them held a convention on Chicago to lay plans for what they said would result in the $500,000,000 inheritance, giving them about $1,000,000 each after "expenses" were paid.

"With my riches," C. M. Chown, Lima, Ohio, declared, "I will build spiritual temples in Lima and Clinton. My money will be used to lead straying feet onto righteous paths."

"I will buy an airplane, so I can visit Chicago easily, and I will go in for raising Belgian police dogs," Mrs. Emma B. Springer, widow of Indianapolis, said.

A home for old maids and bachelors of the Springer heirs would be built by Maud Lindley, Chicago.

J. W. Lutes, Chicago, laborer, said he worked long enough and would spend the rest of his life in a plush covered chair with a pipe in his mouth—IF he got his million.

"A tour of the Pacific Ocean Islands and the Orient would be the first thing I would do, and then I would be ready to die," A. H. Dennison, who has farmed all his life near Dunlap, Ill., confided.

J. L. St. Pierre, Detroit, would help his fellowmen by loaning his riches to those wishing to go into business.

"I would also build a casltle for my old father and mother, who have had to work hard all their lives to get by," St. Pierre said.

O. C. Crume, farmer, Flora, Ind. aspirations of becoming a railroad magnate, and said he would buy some kind of a railroad in Indiana, when he gets his million.

Charles W. Donn, Detroit, remembered the fight his parents made in the struggle for the Springer inheritance.

"I would build a monument to my mother and father, because they saved all they made to help pay the legal costs in the contest for this property," Donn declared.

Mrs. E. R. Barnes, whose husband is a machinist of South Milwaukee, said she would first see that her little girl had all the luxuries and pretty things that she desired.

GERMAN NOTE HAS CREATED GOOD FEELING

Terms Are "Much Less Arrogant" — Accepts Allied Financial Control and Offers Guarantees.

BIG STEP FORWARD.

BRUSSELS, June 8. — Canadian Press. — The German note embodying the latest amended proposals of that country for the settlement of reparations is couched in terms much "less arrogant" than heretofore, in the view of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. By recognizing the obligation to pay reparations, the note has created a much more favorable impression than the previous proposals from Chancellor Cuno, because for the first time in the history of the post-armistice negotiations Germany accepts Allied financial control, and offers positive guarantees.

But, on the other hand, Germany's insistence that an international economic conference be called to examine the question of reparations as an entity is inacceptable to Belgian circles, as Germany is well aware that abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr is the fundamental principle of a basis for negotiations.

Germany's willingness to present all documents and information necessary toward an exact appreciation of her payment capacity and her readiness to accept Allied supervision over the State finances meets squarely the most important clause of the Theunis plan, which was presented at the Brussels conference on Wednesday.

This, according to Belgian semi-official information, is regarded as a very considerable step forward.

The guarantees proposed by the note will be minutely examined by the Belgian experts and used as a basis in the exchange of ideas between Brussels and Paris as to what reply should be made to Germany.

Brussels on the whole, has received the German note in a spirit of conciliation, but what seems an insurmountable obstacle to an immediate settlement lies in the omission of German preparedness to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr.

BERLIN, June 8. Canadian Press. —It was semi-officially explained last night that in the memorandum handed to the Entente governments yesterday the German government confined itself to replying to those points raised in common by all the Entente Powers in their replies to the German note.

It was also stated that necessary preparations for giving legislative effect to the proposals contained in yesterday's memorandum relating to the demands upon the whole of Germany's domestic economy have been proceeding for some time past.

Dog Led Picnickers to Body of His Master

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, June 8. — (Canadian Press.) — A dog who achieved international notice when he swam ashore from the sinking Canadian Pacific Company's steamer Princess Sophia, sole survivor of the disaster which cost more than three hundred lives, again has been "mentioned in despatches."

Wednesday he attracted picnickers by his dismal marking to a small creek north of here. Shortly after they discovered the body of his owner, Ralph Berquist, a grandson of Harry Carroll, City Comptroller, of Seattle, in the creek. Berquist, while jumping from one rock to another, had slipped and struck his head on a boulder in the stream.

BILL PROVIDES FOR SALARY OF JUDGES

Chief Justice of Ontario and Chief Justice of the Second Divisional Court Are Each to Receive $10,000.

OTTAWA, June 8. CanadianPress —Final reading was given by the House yesterday to a bill providing that the annual salaries of judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario should be: Chief Justice of Ontario, $10,000; Chief Justice of the Second Divisional Court, $10,000; eight Justices of Appeal, each $9,000; nine Judges of the High Court Division, each $9,000.

The bill also provided that the salaries of Judges of the Circuit Court of the district of Montreal should be —Senior Judge of the Court, $8000 per annum, and three other Judges of the Court, each $7000 per annum.

In the first connection Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of of Justice, said the bill was intended to give effect to recent legislation passed by the Ontario Legislature.

T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto), said that some High Court Judges "toil not, neither do they spin." When a nation had too many judges they became a curse rather than a blessing. He urged however that consideration should be given to the salaries of the Judges of York County and Sir Henry Drayton added that there was practically as much work done in the courts of York county as in Montreal.

In regard to the Montreal Circuit Court Sir Lomer emphasized the large number of cases which judges of this court were required to handle.

Wales to Honor Captain Vancouver.

LONDON, June 8 (Canadian Press Cable.)—The Prince of Wales has consented to go for a drive on Monday with the Vancouver trade delegation who will journey to the churchyard at Petershaf in Surrey, where Captain George Vancouver was buried in 1798.

The visitors will plant seeds from British Columbia near Captain Vancouver's grave. The empire forestry association is prepared to seed beds for flowers in the graveyard. Colonel L. C. Amery, first lord of the admiralty, will attend the ceremony in honor of the memory of Captain Vancouver, who was a distinguished memberof the royal navy.

George Vancouver, who was born in 1758, was a distinguished English navigator. He discovered the Gulf of Georgia and circumnavigated Vancouver Island, B.C., which was named after him.

FRANCE CANNOT ACCEPT TERMS GERMAN REPLY

Four Reasons Given Why Note is Unsatisfactory From the French Point of View—Ruhr Question Again.

STILL UNCONVINCED.

PARIS, June 8. — (Canadian Press.) — The German reparations offer elaborated in the note delivered to the Entente yesterday remains entirely unaccetpable to France, it was declared in Government circles last night. It makes no appreciable advance over the previous offers, and France cannot even discuss it with Germany, for, as was decided at Brussels Wednesday, the passive resistance in the Ruhr must be abandoned before any negotiations can be begin.

The note was characterized as unsatisfatcory for four main reasons:

First—Because it makes no mention of abandoning the passive resistance, which is the first of the Franco-Belgian terms.

Second—Germany offers no definite sum as the total reparations.

Third—In suggesting an impartial international commission to fix the reparations total, Germany ignores and seeks to violate the Versailles Treaty, which created the Reparations Commission for exactly that purpose. The French see no reason why the Reparations Commission should be supplanted.

Fourth—The suggestions for guarantees might be open to discussion if Germany proposed their administration by the Allies, but if the Germans administer the guarantees the French would expect no satisfactory result.

The French are still unconvinced, they say, when Germany pleads inability to pay. They declare they have seen her living sumptuously and that they know she can meet her obligations.

Premier Poincare had a lengthy conversattion with President Millerand yesterday afternoon and gave him a report of his meeting with the Belgian statesmen at Brussels. The question of how the German note is to be answered, it is said in official cirles, depends upon the other Allies. France would be glad to join in a collective answer, but the terms must agree with the French views.

The Germans were careful not to ignore the Reparations Commision, and delivered a copy of the note to the Commission yesterday as they did when the main proposals were made early last month.

Move to Encourage Young Immigrants.

LONDON, June 18.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Canadian regulations for the emigration of young persons under the overseas settlement scheme provides that the dominion's share of the grants for passage money shall be made for girls only up to 15 years of age and youths to 17 years of age.

The Canadian Press understands that the British authorities are so impressed with the desirability of the sexes being emigrated in equal proportion that they have resolved to offer to provide a full grant for every additional girl who is between 15 and 17 years of age, the idea being to equalize the number of emigrants in both classes.

Owing to the interest displayed in the question of emigration to Canada in various parts of northern Ireland the Canadian emigration department is doubling its space in the Belfast office.

UNITY AMONG ALLIES MAY BE SOLUTION OF REPARATION TROUBLE

Willingness of France to Accept Belgian Proposals May Mean Success in the Ruhr District.

GOLD PAYMENTS.

BRUSSELS, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Belgian official circles are gratified that the French so readily accepted the Belgian views expressed at the conference of Premiers here Wednesday, and it was announced officially at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs yesterday that the result had given entire satisfaction.

Premier Theunis' plan fixing the German debt at 40,000,000,000 gold marks, 30,000,000,000 for France, 5,000,000,000 for Belgium and the balance for Japan, Portugal, Rumania and Serbia was received by Premier Poincare in a spirit of conciliation and the hope was freely expressed that a great step had been taken toward the solution of the reparations problem.

The Belgian plan, it is pointed out here, is desirable for France and Belgium only insofar as Great Britain and Italy renounce their part in the reparations. There is strong belief here that the Belgians made such a proposal only after having made certain that Great Britain was willing to abandon her share.

Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar spoke freely yesterday in regard to the situation, without any attempt at evasion or the use of diplomatic language. While desirous of remaining beside France in the Ruhr to obtain payment by all means possible, the Belgians made it clear during Wednesday's conversation that under no consideration, were they willing to risk becoming estranged from Britain.

M. Theunis' plan includes concrete proposals for making the Ruhr operations productive. The plan which was drafted by Mr. Bemelmans, the Belgian reparations experts provides for alcohol and tobacco monopolies in the occupied territories, reinforcement of the customs system and a new method of taxing the Ruhr industries, by assessing up on the volume of business transacted instead of upon the declared profits.

It was apparently a great surprise to the Belgians to find M. Poincare so amenable. M. Jaspar, in comment ing on the result of the conference, said:

"The accord is perfect. We are headed toward prompt resumption of the meetings of the Supreme Council with all the Allies represented. To be sure we will not be assembled to modrow or the next day with the British and Italians around the conference table, but it cannot be delayed much longer."

There is a general feeling here that Germany, impressed by the complete agreement of the Allies, will soon yield and that negotiations can be successfully concluded.

General Degoutte, Allied Military Commander in the Ruhr, had a long talk with Premier Poincare Wednesday night and returned to Dusseldorf yesterday morning.

"My task is becoming much easier" he told the correspondent. "There are signs that the passive resistance of the Germans is disintegrating. We have the Ruhr well under control, and are prepared to enforce any decision taken by the statesmen."

IMMIGRANTS WERE OBJECT OF DEBATE

Charge That They Are Suffering Emphatically Denied.

OTTAWA, June 8. — (Canadian Press). — Four hundred Scottish immigrants who recently came to Canada from the Hebrides were the subject of some lively debate in the House of Commons yesterday. Alfred Speakman, Progressive member for Red Deer, Alberta, declared that two hundred of the party were camped in a disused building near Red Deer, unable to go on the land or to find work. Hon. Charles Stewart, Acting Minister of Immigration, admitted that a few of the party were dissatisfied, but emphatically denied that there was any suffering.

All the single men were at work on farms and half of the married men were placed; and it was hoped to have them all placed by the first of next month. A difficulty was that they wished to settle in colonies. "I say now," warmly added Mr. Stewart, "that not a single member of this party is suffering in consequence of any laxity on the part of the Government. They are all comfortably housed and will be housed until such time as they are settled permanently."

Mr. Speakman brought up the question on a motion to adjourn the House. Following discussion, the motion was withdrawn.

Trent River Resident Loses Horse in Storm.

TRENT RIVER, June 8.—A severe electrical storm accompanied with heavy rain and hail visited here early Tuesday afternoon. John Ruttan's valuable horse was killed by lighting, early in the afternoon while its owner was working at Maple Grove cemetery. It is less than a year since Mr. Ruttan when attending to his duties at Centre Church cemetery lost another horse which was caught in a wire fence and broke its leg the animal having to be destroyed.

Charley Davidson has made a good recovery from his recent attack of scarlet fever.

Mrs. Jack Christie and three children arrived from Toronto on Sunday to summer at their cottage.

Mr. V. Chaplain and family vacated the house owned by Mrs. A. Wight on Monday and moved to a dwelling on the concession road near the late Mrs. Joe Adams' farm.

Mr. Ed. Howse and sister motored down from Toronto Sunday and were guests at Mr. John Ruttans.

CANADIAN NATIONAL IS ON MAIN STREET

Purchase of the Scribe Hotel in Paris Was the Cause of Discussion in the House Yesterday.

OTTAWA, June 8. — (Canadian Press)—The acquisition by the Canadian National Railways of the Scribe Hotel in Paris, which, in the words of Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, "had put the Canadian National on the main street in Paris," came before the House last night in discussion of a vote of $73,000,000 for the Canadian National Railway Company, to meet expenditures or indebtedness incurred; operating deficits, acquisition of property, materials and supplies; principle and interest of loans; construction and betterments; co-ordination of railway lines and facilities and guarantee of securities.

John Millar (Progressive, Qu'Appelle) asked if the vote for acquisition of property included any payments for the hotel reported to have been purchased by the Canadian National in Paris.

The Minister replied that it did not.

Hon. H. H. Stevens asked from what appropriation the $2,000,000 reported to have been paid for the hotel property had been taken.

Mr. Graham replied that Sir Henry Thornton, having resided in Paris and having been there after his appointment of the Canadian National Railways, had concluded that "the Canadian National should be put on the main street in Paris." The system was practically unknown on the continent, as also was the fact that it was owned by the people of Canada.

Woman Member is Received in House

LONDON, June 8 (Canadian Press). — The House of Commons gave a cordial welcome yesterday afternoon to the new woman member for Berwick, Mrs. Hilton Philipson, who was introduced by Colonel John M. Wilson and the Solicitor-General.

Mrs. Philipson, known to the stage as Miss Mabel Russell, wore a smart black frock with a lace collar and a black hat with broad brim.

She took the oath at the bar and received the congratulations of the Conservatives before taking her seat.

LORD ROBERT'S DISARMAMENT PLAN TAKEN UP

Was Discussed By Temporary Committee of the League of Nations But No Vote Was Taken.

A FRENCH PLAN.

GENEVA, June 8 (Canadian Press). — The Temporary Armament Committee of the League of Nations yesterday finished its discusison, without coming to a vote, of Lord Robert Cecil's plan for disarmament and a guarantee pact among the Powers.

It was decided to take up the question later, meanwhile asking the opinion of the League's permanent Military Commission in regard to the French counter-project presented by Colonel Requin.

Lord Robert's project, in the opinion of many of the leading delegates, cannot be accepted, and a compromise will be necessary, in which some of the features of both his plan and that of the French will be incorporated.

The principal difference between the two projects is that Lord Robert's demands a complete general pact of guarantees, while Colonel Requin's proposes arrangements between any two or more countries as more likely to result in immediate action in the case of attack.

One of the greatest blows to Cecil's project is the announcement by several of the smaller members

PARLIAMENT OF NEWFOUNDLAND DOWN TO WORK

Proposal to Establish New Industry is Dealt With in Speech From the Throne —Changes in Railway.

NEW POLICY.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., June 8 (Canadian Press). — The Speech from the Throne, read by Governor Allardyce at the formal opening of the Newfoundland Legislature yesterday dealt mainly with the proposals for the establishment of a paper industry on the west coast by the Armstrong-Whitworth Company, of London, England, and also foreshadowed legislation for the future operation of the Newfoundland Railway.

For the paper industry the Government had agreed to guarantee the principal and interest of $9,000,0000, a similar amount to be guaranteed by the British Government.

The railroad policy, it is understood, contemplates the withdrawal of the Reid-Newfoundland Company from operation of the Island system.

Premier Sir Richard Squires announced that the Executive Council had been increased from nine to ten members.

Walter Cave, Minister of Finance, will be the additional member.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN.

Investigations made by traffic inspectors in several cases where children in Detroit were killed by motor cars should be of considerable value and interest to every Peterboro driver.

The findings of the investigators are important because they show that although in each case the carelessness of the children was a contributing factor in the tragedy yet in both instances had the driver been alert the accident could have easily been avoided.

It is difficult to keep youngsters off the roadways. They have a habit of playing near the curb and then suddenly darting out in the street, regardless of passing traffic.

And because of this tendency motorists should be always on their guard, always ready for the emergency that is liable to come at any time.

The Detroit inspector expresses it effectively when he says "a motorist must constantly keep in mind that a child always does the unexpected."

The lesson is plain that every motorist in Peterboro or anywhere else should be constantly on the watch for children playing near street curbs, and have his car under control and ready to stop in an instant.

The responsibility in nearly every case must rest on the driver because he has the car and it is naturally supposed that he can think faster than a child.

Making allowances for the eccentricities of children should be part of the regular routine for all automobilists.

FOREST FIRES.

Very serious damage has been caused in many parts of Eastern Canada as the result of forest fires in Northern Ontario, sections of Quebec and the New Brunswick forests having all been swept by disastrous conflagrations.

Experts declare that already from this cause more standing timber has been destroyed than is cut in a year's lumbering operations in the whole Dominion.

The worst of the situation is that the trees which have been lost in this way cannot be replaced in many years.

And in the majority of cases forest fires are preventable.

After a prolonged dry period when the conditions are ripe for trouble, a careless camper leaves a camp fire burning, a hunter thoughtlessly throws down a lighted match or a settler burns slabs and lets his fire get beyond control and before long a vast area of timberland has been swept.

The fire gets out of hand, there is usually an inadequate force to fight it and until copious showers of rain come along the flames continue to destroy huge tracts of virgin timber.

The loss each year is appaling—and it is high time that not only the Dominion and Provincial Governments but Canadians individually recognized the economic waste involved in this annual destruction of our timber resources.

Those who on business or pleasure bent have to visit the woods often have a very heavy responsibility—and they should be always on their guard.

TO-MORROW'S APPEAL.

If you have followed the work of the Peterborough Health Association since the launching of that splendid organization there is no necessity for the Examiner to do more in connection with tomorrow's tag day than to point out that the Association requires funds to carry out the activities planned for this year and has adopted the tag day method as an equitable way of securing the sinews of war, seeing that it reaches everybody.

The Health Association is a community organization built for service.

There is nothing faddish about it.

It exists because of a desire to do something that is not being done by other agencies.

It provides a district nurse whose skill and knowledge are at the public service.

It operates a camp at Jackson Park where little tots whose health is backward are taken care of during the summer months and are given a chance to become strong and active.

It is cooperaitng with the Rotary Club in giving Peterborough's crippled children an opportunity to become as other children, if medical and surgical skill can effect such a transformation.

It comes to the rescue of the white plague victims whose circumstances make assistance necessary.

With a record of service like that the Health Association should have an enthusiastic reception tomorrow when the people of Peterboro will be given an opportunity to assist in the fine work being carried on by the organization.

MUNICIPAL RIGHTS.

From the viewpoint of the municipalities all the political parties seeking the favour of the electorate are losing an opportunity of securing support in their neglect of a question that should be an issue in the present campaign.

The Examiner refers to the matter of municipal rights and the constant encroachment made upon the municipalities by the province.

Each year new legislation adds new burdens to be carried by the municipalities—legislation about which they have not been consulted.

Each session of the Legislature has seen the passing of measures that cut in still further upon the rights of the cities and towns of Ontario.

The only part that is entrusted to the municipalities is the duty of paying—and paying through the nose too.

Taxes are exacted from amusement places and while the municipalities have to provide the police and fire protection for such places the province walks off with the revenue.

Magistrates are appointed by the Provincial Government without consulting the cities affected, but they have to pay the salaries.

A mothers' allowance act is passed and the municipalities without being called in consultation are ordered to provide half the funds.

So it has gone on with more and more financial responsibility being thrown upon the shoulders of municipal governments while at the same time they are not asked for an opinion when legislation affecting them is under way.

The municipalities should demand of all parties what their policy in regard to this important matter is likely to be.

Because if the poaching on municipal rights keeps on the cities and towns may as well ask the Government to send an official or two to each centre to carry on the civic administration.

THE OCTOBER CONFERENCE IN LONDON.

Mr. Mackenzie King has promised Parliament that it shall have a chance to discuss the approaching Imperial Conference of next October before this session ends. He has also promised that he will not attempt to bind Canada at the coming Conference to any money obligations, presumably for purposes of defence; but it will carefully reserve to Parliament the right to decide.

Both of these promises are in keeping with the spirit of the modern British Empire. It a willing and intelligent combination of free peoples—not a centralized imperium with satraps in the colonial capitals. Unless whatever program is adopted next autumn in London has the hearty support of the various democracies who must raise the money to carry it through, it will be sheer waste time to put it on paper.

A frank and untrammelled discussion in the Canadian Parliament of what the Premier and his colleagues are to do when they get to London, can certainly work no harm and may cast a vast amount of valuable illumination on the path which our delegation must tread. They will know at least what the representatives of the Canadian people think on the general principles which are practically certain to be discussed at this gathering. Parliament cannot possibly know yet—even the Cabinet probably does not know—what particular applications of these principles are to be proposed, and especially what the reasons are for each proposition. But the broad questions of Imperial defence, preferential tariffs, ocean freight rates, Ministerial consultations, treaty signatures and whatever may come up, can be instructively debated.

* * * *

Of course, any Parliament speaking for any democracy in a world largely governed by secret juntas, must to some measure trust its leaders. When Mr. King and his colleagues sit in council with the British Ministers and their experts, they will infallibly hear things which they do not know before and which they cannot publish to the world by reporting them subsequently to Parliament. Yet these State secrets will very properly affect, and possibly determine, their judgment. So the questions will arise whether they have the courage to act patriotically on their confidential knowledge, and whether they have the confidence of their following to a sufficient degree to permit them so to act.

It is supreme and dangerous nonsense to insist in a world constituted as ours is today that our rulers shall never take any steps which they have not previously submitted to the "town meeting" and got the consent of the whole people to carry out. Great Britain had a Liberal Government when the Great War came; but if that Liberal Government had waited to consult the British people—let alone the electorate of the Overseas Dominions—the German would have been in Paris and the war lost before it could have received our never doubtful decision in favor of action. Mr. Churchill has told us that he acted even before he consulted his own Cabinet colleagues; and, if he had not, it is quite on the cards that the British fighting fleet might have been fatally crippled before it reached its war harbor. In fighting a despotism, we cannot give it the tremendous advantage of a week's—or a day's—start.

So while Mr. King is entirely wise to get the full opinion of Parliament before he sails, and while he is quite safe in promising not to commit us finally to expenditures until Parliament has been consulted, he may find himself compelled to make far-reaching decisions on confidential evidence, and of asking Parliament to accept at par his assurances that certain important measures are vital for reasons which he cannot fully disclose.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Political leaders may offer their allegiance to the O.T.A. but it must be admitted that Ontario has been pretty wet for the past week'

The only election prediction that seems safe just now is that the Conservatives will lead on Nomination Day. They already have 103 candidate in the field.

Any one of the departments carried on by the Peterboro Health Association justifies to-morrow's appeal. And all of them considered together should result in a new Tag Day record.

The U.F.O. campaign seems to be based largely upon the bar and the embargo.

If as believed by many people the weather yesterday denotes the predominating condition during the summer it would be advisable to keep the rain coat hanging where it can be easily reached.

Detriot judge heard three hundred speeding cases in four hours. It looks very much as if he was doing some speeding on his own account.

Oleomargarine is to be banned in Canada after September. It won't be missed by those who have been eating it all along and thinking they were being served with butter.

The best policy for a political observer to take in the present campaign is a sort of "wait and see" attitude.

James Simpson is not going to be a candidate in West York. And we thought we could at least announce in advance the name of one aspirant who would be defeated.

REGAINS 18 POUNDS LOST WEIGHT

Taking WINCARNIS

"I was very sick; lost almost 18 pounds in weight; was extremely weak and nervous, and could not get a single night's sound sleep. I had constant medical attention and the best of wholesome foods, but my condition grew more alarming until I began taking Wincarnis, which helped me from the first few doses.

I have completely regained my former weight and strength, sleep soundly every night, eat most heartily and have an abundance of energy. My husband and my mother were so amazed at the effect of Wincarnis in my case that they both began taking it as a tonic. Today, they are just as loud in praise of Wincarnis as I am, and we do wish it were known to every weak, nervous or run-down person."

METHODIST W. M. S. ANNUAL MEETING

The Members of the Bay of Quinte Branch Assembled at Cobourg.

COBOURG, June 8.—The third annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, Bay of Quinte branch, opened in the Methodist church here Tuesday afternoon with about two hundred and twenty-five delegates in attendance. The visiting ladies are being entertained at the homes of the ladies of the Methodist church Yesterday at noon, luncheon was served in the Methodist Sunday school hall by the local Missionary Society. To-day the ladies of the Presbyterian church prepared the noon luncheon and the same arrangement will be carried out tomorrow. Yesterday morning there was a conference of officers and district superintendents at which matters of much importance to the meeting and to the work throughout the Bay of Quinte branch was discussed. At 2 p.m. the office was opened for registration and later in the afternoon the delegates were escorted to their billets. A numebr of the members of the local Mission circle and W.M.S. met the incoming trains today and motors were in readiness to convey the delegates to the convention church. It is ten years since the Bay of Quinte branch last held a meeting here and indications point to the present being a very successful gathering. The officers of the convention are: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison, Mrs. A. R. Campbell; President, Mrs. A. W. Grange; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. J. W. Roberts; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. G. W. Hammond; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. George Jackson; Recording-Secretary, Mrs. C. A. Callery; Corresponding-Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Ashton; Treasurer, Mrs. James Kendry; Mission Circle and Band Secretary, Mrs. M. E. Wilson; Mission Circle and Band Treasurer, Mrs. (Dr.) Irvine; Superintendent Christian Stewardship, Mrs. F. W. White; Strangers' Secretary, Mrs. John Laird.

The District Superintendents are as follows:

Belleville, Mrs. Stillman Gay; Bowmanville, Miss M. Davey; Brighton, Mrs. R. Hewitt; Cannington, Miss V. Coone; Campbellford, Mrs. R. G. Lawler; Cobourg, Mrs. J. W. Roberts; Lindsay, Mrs. J. R. Bradburn; Madoc, Mrs. G. Harris; Napanee, Mrs. Geo. I. Perry; Napanee, Tamworth, Mrs. J. W. Wager; Peterboro, Mrs. J. K. Moore; Picaon, Mrs. A. W. Way; Whitby, Mrs. Geo. Jones.

Considerable routine business was transacted at the opening session yesterday afternoon, such as appointment of committees, appointment of press reporters, reception of resolutions and memorials.

Mrs. J. W. Garland, Cobourg gave the address of welcome on behalf of the Women's Missionary Society of the convention church, Mrs. Spragge welcomed them on behalf of St. Peter's Auxiliary, Mrs. McKinnon for St. Andrews church.

Mrs. Switzer of Napanee made appropriate reply for the Bay of Quinte branch and expressed their pleasure in visiting the town, and enjoying fellowship together as coworkers in the extension of Christ's Kingdom here on earth. An encouraging report of District activities for 1922 and 1923 closed an interesting and profitable session. Afterwards the delegates were taken to their billets in different homes of the town.

Tuesday Evening Session.

The session Tuesday evening was opened by a musical programme by the Cobourg Methodist Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Mr. M. E. Hall, that was very greatly enjoyed.

The chairman for the evening was Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, B.A., B.D., pastor of the convention church, who in a brief address, welcomed the convention to Cobourg and spoke with pride and appreciation of the commendable work of the Women's Missionary Society. After the prayer and praise service, Col. F. D. Boggs, Mayor of Cobourg, extended to the delegates the freedom of the town and expressed pleasure at their presence here. He said he felt quite at home in the Methodist church, for four of the happiest years of his life were spent at Victoria University, under the instruction of such men, as Chancellors Nelles and Nathaniel Burwash, Dr. A. H. Reyner and others.

Mrs. Grange made gracious response on the part of the Bay of Quinte branch to the Mayor's kindly words.

The Special Music.

Besides the service of praise, there was a much appreciated program of special music. A quartette composed of Mrs. A. J. Gould, Mrs. Frank Parkinson, Mr. A. J. Gould and Mr. M. E. Hall sang "God so Loved the World" from Sir John Stainer's Crucifixion, and later Mrs. Gould sang a solo, "I Love a Cottage". Mr. Frank Parkinson, the popular organist of the church accompanied.

Miss Edith P. Sparling, missionary on furlough from China was the principal speaker of the evening. She told of the women's part of the work in the Province especially given over to the Methodist church in Canada. There are in that Province about five hundred million women and girls. I wish that I could have them pass before you said Miss Sparling. With one passing every minute it would take ten years for them to pass this church. Making further reference to the population of China and to the few workers there, she said the proportion was fifty to the entire population of Canada, and two doctors for all of Canada. Fancy said Miss Sparling, one doctor living in Vancouver, and one doctor in Halifax, yet that is the proportion of China. If I could cause that procession to pass before you there would be some of the wealthy women with their children clad in silks and satins for the Chinese have beautiful silks. The wealthy classes are hard to reach, the speaker said, not because they will not admit us to their homes, for as we have free access there, but because their love of money and what it can buy, in a way satisfied them. It is estimated that a large proportion of the people in China are tubercular, not alone tuberculosis of the lungs but of the bones, etc. There are the women taken away captive or ill-treated by the soldier element. I wish that I might forget some of the despairing cries coming up from the valley to our mission on the hills, when the soldiers from the South, went through the town to the south of us, looting and mall-treating many women and children fled to the mission for refuge. I have seen many women brought into our hospitals with great gaping wounds, she said. Then there would be before you also, the blind, and also the dying, for the Chinese are a very superstitious race. Sometimes when fatal illness seizes one in the family, their chair or bed is put outside the home, and there they are left to take the great plunge into the unknown without a ministering hand or loving voice, lest perchance misfortune should fall upon some others in the family.

In the middle-aged class in the procession there would be evidence of the cruel practice of foot-binding, which now is being largely done away with.

Miss Sparling spoke of the little value placed upon a woman or upon her life by the Chinese men who have not embraced Christianity. One sold his wife and daughter for $16 and not a voice was raised in protest. Surely, it was said, it is his own wife and his own child, and he has a right to do as he pleases with them.

How many of this great procession of women and children are we reaching asked Miss Sparling. Possibly directly or indirectly 500,000. According to our actual statistics only a few thousands. But we can still the influence of our work among these thousands who we have in our schools and in our missions. But what of the other four million five hundred thousand. Are they to be left to die without the comfort of resurrection hope, left to out in the black unknown with fear and trembling because some young woman in personal appeal of Christ, and refused an answer his call with the words: "Here am I, send me."

Miss Sparling told of the work of the residential schools, the day schools, the normal schools, the hospital training class for nurses. The need for women missionaries, doctors, nurses is very great.

She told of the great help that China is receiving from itself, by the faithful work of native evangelists, Bible women. Great encouragement had come from the success of an organized class of personal workers, and the lesson was spreading and touching and influencing other lives There is progress in educational and evangelistic endeavor, although there are places, where it has had to be abandoned, because the missionary had gone away on a much needed furlough, and there was no one to carry on. She closed with an earnest plea that some one present might hear the Master's plea and give herself and her services to China.

The chairman expressed the pleasure, which he personally had felt in listening to Miss Sparling's helpful and inspiring and instructive address.

CATTLE TRADE QUIET AND PRICES LOWER.

Export Cattle in Demand, But Few Butcher Wanted —Hogs Lower.

TORONTO, June 8. — Week end market closing very dull. There was scarcely any demand for butcher cattle yesterday and many were left over. But for the continued good demand for cattle for the export trade the set back this week would have been more serious. A few export steers were picked out, including six steers of extra choice quality and finish, under 1200 lbs., but topping the market this week for export cattle, at $9.25. The six were fed by F. CAMPBELLFORD HEARD MR. DRURY YESTERDAY

Two Thousand Crowded Into the Rink—Speaker Paid Considerable Attention to Hon. Howard Ferguson.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8— "I make no prophecy as to the result of this election," said Premier Drury at the conclusion of his address here yesterday afternoon. "Set not him who girdeth on his armour boast himself as he who taketh it off.' I came from a satisfactory position in private life and I can go back to it again. But I do not believe I will have to go back. My record of four years in public office is before you and I think that I have been able to do something for my day and generation."

The rain that fell in a steady shower up till 2.30 the time set for the meeting did not dampen the political ardor of the farmers of the district. From every road leading into the city they came in a steady stream of cars and buggies until both sides of Front street, from one end to the other were lined with parked autos. It looked like the old times in Campbellford when lacrosse was in its heyday.

The Northumebrland Regimental Band furnished music. When Premier Drury arrived by auto he put up at the Windsor Hotel where he held a brief reception of his supporters and then went to his room to rest, before the meeting. He was escorted to the rink by the Band, where it is estimated that upwards of 2.000 residents of town and country greeted him. At least half of the audience was ladies Every available seat was occupied and crowds stood patiently during the three hour that the meeting lasted.

Wesley Montgomery, who has represented Northumberland East in the Legislature for the past four years and who is again the Progressive candidate spoke for over an hour, his first address here of the campaign, and was given an enthusiatic reception. The Premier's voice was husky but he had no difficulty in making himself heard in all parts of the large building.

Mayor Meyers Presides

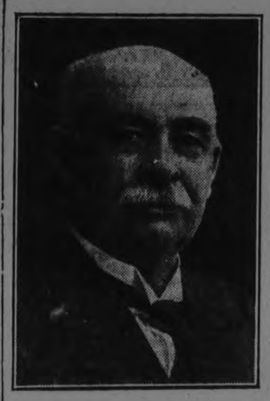
Mayor Meyers presided, it being the custom here to have the Chief executive occupy the chair at all political gatherings of note without regard to his own party affiliations. The Mayor invited to the platform the officers of the I.O.D.E., the members of the Town Council and their wives, the Seymour Township Councillors and the members of the Board of Education, the local pastors and those from the district and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Winter, the ward chairmen of Seymour and neighboring townships the officers of the Women's Institute of Seymour and S. J. Tinson of Brighton county secretary of the Progressive Party.

The Mayor gracefully and heartily welcomed the distinguished visitor to Campbellford. refering to him as one whom his bitterest political opponents is a man of great ability and above reproach, one who is well-filled for the office which he holds.

Trains Guns on Ferguson.

Without any introductory remarks the Premier, when introduced by Mayor Meyers, proceeded to pay his respects to Hon. Howard Ferguson. The province, he said, is confronted to-day with a very peculiar situation. The Hearst government in 1919 met the fate which overcomes all governments and was turned out, largely through the misdeeds of the head of one of the departments. When a government is defeated, it is customary to re-organize the party before facing the people again. In this case no such action had been taken.

Nearly every member of the Hearst Cabinet had been defeated, but now the one man whose maladministration of his department had been responsible for the government's defeat, comes back as the leader, unrepentant and unabsolved, and asks to be restored to power. His campaign misrepresentation is in keeping with the administration of his department.



WESLEY MONTGOMERY, Ex-M.L.A.

"Mr. Montgomery has looked well after the interests of his constituents in the Legislature during the past four years. No man in the House is better liked or more highly respected. You will, I am satisfied, make no mistake if you send him back again."—Premier Drury at the Campbellford meeting.

Challenges Ferguson's Statements.

Premier Drury read from a Toronto paper extracts from a campaign address made recently by the Conservative leader at Niagara Falls, and in which he is reported as saying that the government had made a profit of $15,000,000 in the sale of liquor in dispensaries last year.

"This is a startling statement," continued the Premier, "and I confess it startled me. But I wrote to the chairman of the License Commission, a good man put into office, not by me, but by the Hearst government, and I do not believe he would furnish me with any information that was not correct. The value of the liquor sold in the dispensaries last year was not $15,000,000 as Mr. Ferguson stated, but $3,354,000, and the profits were $577,000, not $15,000 as he clamed. His campaign charges contain truth and exaggeration in the ratio of about one to sixteen. You must take them with a grain of salt, but I believe you will require a whole barrel. He was foolish enough, too, to repeat the story of that $100 coal scuttle in my office when I never saw a scuttle of any kind there.

"The question before the people is a little more than the record of the government. The principles of the men seeking public support must be considered."

Ferguson's Temperance Policy.

The Premier next criticized the temperance policy of the Conservative leader, which was an attempt to please both the wets and the drys. For 11 months he flirted with the wets. He had spoken of a sympathetic enforcement of the law. The speaker said he believed in sympathy, but when a man violated a law on the statute books he ought to be convicted. After that in certain cases clemency might be extended. Attorney General Raney is not unmerciful in his administration of the Act, but Ferguson has turned a double somersault on the temperance question. He has a wink for the wets and a nod to the drys. The main issue is shall Ferguson be elected.

The Government's Record.

The Premier went extensively into an explanation and defence of the record of his Government. Among the matters dealt with was the policy with regard to agriculture and the removal of the embargo on cattle.

For the mothers' allowance measure he refused to give the credit to the former Government as claimed by Mr. Ferguson. The Hearst Cabinet had, it is true, passed the Bill and then had pigeon-holed it. It is easy to pass a Bill, but the real test is to put the new law into effect and to mint the money to finance it. The Mothers' Allowance Act cost the Province a million and a half last year, but it was money well spent. Fatherless children were now brought up by their mothers as God intended they should.

The Province's Timber.

The Premier also claimed credit for a business-like administration of the timber wealth of the Province by the engagement of competent cruisers and scalers. The re-organisation of the fire patrol has saved over 50,000 acres of standing timber from fire, and the work of reforesting cut-over lands has been systematically undertaken.

Social legislation has not been neglected. Provision has been made for the care of illegitimate children and a minimum wage law has been passed for women and children so as to give them a chance in their competition with the labour of men.

Defends Minister of Highways.

Premier Drury said that when he wanted a Minister of Highways he sent for Mr. Biggs, who understood the construction of roads. The Government has gien the Province a system of good roads of which the people may well begin to be proud The Premier believes that roads should be built so as to benefit the entire communities, not by constructing trunk lines such as the former Government had in mind when it proposed to build a road from Windsor to Montreal at a cost of $27,000,000.

The Government knew that a depression would follow the war sooner or later and delayed road building until the hard times that came in 1921 so as to provide work for men who were out of employment. He denied the statement of the Conservative leader that some of the roads built cost $95,000 a mile. The highest expenditure was $72,000 a mile, and that was for a short distance on a main thoroughfare out of Hamilton.

Defends Radial Policy.

Premier Drury claimed that his policy with regard to radials saved the Province an expenditure of $200,000,000. There were too many railways, and to duplicate one rail system by another was not sound business.

Charges of Extravagance.

The Opposition were charging the Government with extravagance, but declined the Premier's challenge to name a specific case. They never made these charges in the House, where they could at any time have held up the estimates just as they did the Redistribution Bill at the last session.

The Government had not increased the debt of the Province but simply made new investments. He specified instances of additional outlay, for education, for the superannuation of teachers, and for the maintenance of hospitals and charitable institutions.

Those Timber Deals.

Just as he does at all of his meetings, the Premier defended what is known as the Backus deal, and assailed the Shevlin-Clarke and other timber transactions by the Hon. Howard Ferguson when in charge of the Department of Forests and Lands.

"Mr. Ferguson," said the speaker, "has a past. He wants you to forget that past. He thinks if he can make noise enough you will forget it. And what is his past? His rotten administration of his Department while he was in power. That is strong language, but it is true. Do you want a man to head the Government with such a record as he has, a man who, without calling for tenders and against the law, sold for $7.50 a thousand timber limits that the Commission found was really worth $17,502? Ferguson says, 'I have been unfaithful over one thing, make me ruler over many.'"

Mr. Montgomery made a strong defence of the record of the Government, and spoke highly of the ability and efficiency of the Premier, the audience following him with the closest attention for over an hour. He will address meetings in the district next week.

In introducing Mr. Montgomery, Mayor Meyers spoke of the excellent work in securing for the Campbellford High School the $1,400 grant that had been held up by the Department of Education last year.

The meeting closed after cheers had been given for the Premier and Mr. Montgomery. The former left for Port Hope, where he addressed the electors last night.

KINGSTON, June 8.— (Canadian Press).—It was announced yesterday that three matrons at the Portsmouth penitentiary, Miss Draper, Miss Drongale and Miss Hartwick, have been retired, the first two leaving Wednesday and the third yester day. Miss Robinson, matron at Dorchester penitentiary has arrived here and will be in charge f the women's section at the local penitentiary with Mrs. Allain also from Dorchester, as her assistant.

Lions Were Shipped to Paris By Airplane.

PARIS, June 8—(Canadian Press) —A lioness and two cubs came to Paris yesterday by airplane from Rotterdam. The Dutch railroads have refused to transport wild beasts and the Belgian line is still affected by the strike. The animals travelled well but the lioness set up a roar when the airplane glided into a landing.

Information here is that the Scandinavian countries have an understanding to stay out of any such agreement, and the opponents of the Cecil plan observe that the absence of these countries might prevent application of any blockade.

The substitute suggested is a partial agreement among a smaller number of States providing for immediate mutual aid in the case of menace.

The compromise plan discussed last night would amalgamate these local agreements with the general understanding and propose provisions for the reduction of armaments.

CAMPBELLLFORD CHEESE BOARD

The buyers present were: Cook, Ivey, Fitzgerald and Bird, and the top price offered was 16 cents, one cent less than a week ago. All the cheese was sold except the output of the Brae factory. Ivey took Crow Bay, Kimberley and Woodlands; Cook, Empire; Bird, I.X.L., Meyersburg, New Model, Prince of Wales, Stanwood, Trent Valley and West Seymour.

Report of Delegates.

Alex. Hume, who with President Innis, had been appointed a delegate to attend the meeting addressed by Dairy Commissioner Ruddick in Belleville last Saturday, gave a report of the meeting. Mr. Ruddick spoke chiefly on dairy conditions in New Zealand, always regarded as a leading competitor of Canada. His opinion was that the export of New Zealand cheese is not likely to increase, but that the dairymen of that country are likely to go more extensively into the manufacture of butter.

Mr. Irwin gave the members of the Board some valuable hints. He is the grader of cheese at Belleville and among his suggestions was that more care be taken in the packing. Cheese that projects too far over the top of the box is always rated as number 2, regardless of the quality, as it is likely to be injured in shipment. It should not be shipped too green and only standard boxes should be used.

Mr. Irwin invited the salesmen to visit Belleville so as to get first hand knowledge or how the grading is done.

The next meeting of the Board will be held Thursday evening, 21st June, at 7.30.

HARTLEY DEWART WAS TURNED DOWN

Former Liberal Leader Defeated When He Sought Re-nomination

TORONTO, June 8. Canadian Press. — Hartley H. Dewart, K. C., former leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, was defeated last night at the Liberal party convention in South West Toronto, at which he sought re-nomination for the seat. A. E. J. Curry, a plastering contractor, was chosen by a vote of 26 to 65.

Mr. Dewart has represented South West Toronto in the Legislature since the bye-election of August, 1916, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. J. J. Foy. Capt. Ramsden was elected for the first time in the general election of 1919.

There were charges that crooked work had been perpetrated and that Mr. Dewart had not received British fair play. E. J. Curry, the elected contestant, was greeted with cries of "You will go down!" when he rose to speak, and three members of the Riding Executive all cherishing connection of from 5 to 10 years with the riding associattons, publicly resigned, declaring that they could not be a party to a plot which had been consumated, and they stood solidly for Mr. Dewart.

ALL PROVINCES ARE ALIKE TO MEIGHEN

Just as Friendly and Loyal to Quebec as to Ontario.

MONTREAL, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—"If there is one determination in my mind more than another, it is to demonstrate to my Canadian fellow-countrymen of this Province that I have not merited racial calumnies heaped against me, and that I am just as loyal and friendly to those of this Province as to those of any other province in Confederation, and that my life will prove to be just as devoted in the service of the Province of Quebec as to that of any other part of Canada."

The above was the declaration of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative Opposition in Parliament, in his address at the inauguration of the Cartier-Macdonald Club here last night.

In regard to the railway problem of Canada, he said of the Liberals that "you cannot get one of them to talk private ownership if you stab him from behind."

Referring to the tariff and Imperial preference, he said he did not believe in sacrificing Canadian industry to British industry.

DELORME TRIAL TO BE ON JUNE 25

Efforts Are Being Made to Have Date Set — Judge Not Chosen — Disagreement on the Insanity Question.

MONTREAL, Que., June 8.—(Canadian Press).—June 25th willl probably see the opening of the case against Father Adelard Delorme who wil answer a charge of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul Delorme.

E. A. A. Ladouceur, clerk of the Crown, declared yesterday that he and the Crown Prosecutor are trying to arrange that case on the Court of King's Bench roll other than the Delorme case, shall be ended by June 25 so that the way may be clear for the cause celebre.

The general idea is, says the Montreal Star, that either Acting-Chief Justice Martin or Sir Francis Lemieux is practically sure to hear the case. Mr. Justice Martin is believed to have been in consultation with Sir Francis in Hull, but he will not return from there until to-day at the earliest and possibly not until Saturday morning, and until he does nothing definite can be obtained.

Debate still continues among counsel and others as to whether the insanity question can or cannot be raised other than by the accused, and there is no more semblance of unanimity to-day than when the case was first re-opened.

Election News

TORONTO, June 8. — Canadian Press).—Liberal nominations in the larger cities furnished the chief overnight interest in the campaign for the elections to the Ontario Provincial Legislature. One development which was generally unexpected was the rejection of Hartley Dewart, K.C., one time Provincial Liberal leader and member in the last Legislature, by the Liberals of South-West Toronto, at their party nomination meeting. Mr. Dewart's former place in the list was given to E. J. Curry, contractor, and a comparative new-comer in active Provincial politics. Mr. Dewart is at present in Northern Ontario. Mr. Dewart's friends, who put up a fight for him at the convention, say he will probably run as an Independent Liberal.

In the city of London, the Liberals decided to place U. A. Bouchner in opposition to Sir Adam Beck. Sir Adam will also be opposed by Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Labor. West Ottawa Liberals, as expected, gave their unanimous endorsation to the candidature of ex-Mayor Harold Fisher.

In his speech at Lucan yesterday, Hon. Howard Ferguson urged the concentration of Liberal and Conservative energies to prevent the return of the Drury Coalition Government. Premier Drury and his supporting speakers at various points continue to appeal to the people on the Government's record.

OTTAWA, June 8. — (Canadian Press). — Replying to statements made at the Liberal-Conservative convention here Wednesday night, with reference to his candidature for West Ottawa, Controller Arthur Ellis characterizes them as absolutely false. H. P. Hill had referred to J. A. Ellis, father of the Conservative candidate, as chief confidential adviser of Hon. Mr. Drury and a power behind the Drury Government. It is said the Controller would likely be dealt with by his father. The charge that he was running on the instructions of his father was regarded as "amusing nonsense."

REPRISALS AGAINST U.S. MAY BE NECESSARY YET

BOSTON, June 8. — (Canadian Press).—Premier P. J. Veniot of New Brunswick, last night declared that while Canada as yet has taken no action savoring of reprisals in connection with Federal regulations which have barred Canadian fishermen from United States ports, such may be necessary in future in justice to all.

He was chief speaker in connection with the visit of representatives of New Brunswick tourist and resources Association to New England.

Ailing Children Get Well on Laxative Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human ills has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they still control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Laxative Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mr. A. F. Lithgow of Montreal, keeps his family well in that way, and Mrs. E. Whalley of Winnipeg, Man., has been using Laxative Syrup Pepsin for her baby, her mother and herself. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for over 30 years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It will last you for months, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 23 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

REV. DR. G. C. PIDGEON IS STRONG FOR UNION

Debate on Question Opens at Port Arthur With Three Factions in Presbyterian Church Heard From.

PORT ARTHUR, June 8 (Canadian Press). — A beginning was made yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian General Assembly in the debate on Church Union.

The three parties into which the Church seems to be unevenly divided were heard from. These were the union party, the anti-union party, and the moderate party, the latter being composed of those who believe in union, but who will sacrifice union rather than divide the Church.

Rev. Dr. G. C. Pigeon, of Toronto, spoke for union, and his motion to adopt the report of the Union Committee was seconded by Col. C. G. M. Graham, of London, Ont.

Rev. Principal D.J.Fraser, of Montreal, submitted the report from the minority of the Union Committee.

Rev. Dr. D. R. Drummond, Hamilton, moved an amendment to the Union Committee's report, and this was seconded by Rev. Dr. W. H. Sedgewick, Hamilton.

The arrangement made by the special committee in charge of the debate on church union was that each of these three parties in the Assembly should be allowed one hour to present its case.

The speakers of the afternoon adhered very closely to the time limit. Speechmaking began at 2.30, and Rev. Dr. Sedgewick finished his address just at 5.30.

The church was naturally filled with listeners. Applause was frequent, and as a rule as vigorous on the side of those opposed to union as those in favour of it.

Speaking was of a high order, and there were no interruptions, and nothing of an exceptional nature.

Before the debate opened, Rev. R. G. MacBeth, of Vancouver, placed in the hands of the Moderator a Caveat signed by 16 Commissioners, and was to the effect that if the Union Committee report was adopted those signing the caveat declared their non-concurrence, and further that those who signed would remain in the Assembly but that they would not thereby give any formal approval of its ultimate proceedings, and that they would not be bound by the vote of the Assemby if it was against them.

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon discussed the question of union in its broadest aspects. He gave the history of the church union movement, and said that the time had approached for final action. He spoke with vigour and clearness, and showed himself conversant with intricate legal matters pertaining to the proposed United Church.

He was followed by Col. Graham, who referred to a statement which had been made to the effect that it was quite impossible to effect union which would result in defeat to the spiritual life of the Dominion. He said that since the war the word "impossibe" had disappeared from the English language. There was nothing impossible to the resolute and determined.

Anti-Unionists' Report.

In submitting th report of the anti-unionists, Dr. Fraser argued that the Union Committee was not fulfilling the instructions of the General Assembly of 1922. In 1916 there had been appointed a Union Committee composed wholly of union members, and since that time the Union Committee rad ben composed partly of union and partly of non-union men. The object of the Church in 1922, therefore, obviously was that an independent investigation should be made of the issues involved and of the legislation which might be enacted. What should have been done was to investigate all kinds of possible legislation, he said. What had been done was that a joint committee of the three Churches had prepared legislation and non-union members had not been considered.

Rev. Dr. Drummond presented an amendment to the report of the committee and asked for delay. He said that on the trip up the lake he had been perturbed because of the stopping of the steamer. When the fog cleared he saw ice and he then realized how wise the captain had been to stop. What was true of the steamer was true of the church in its present situation. It was a time when it was wise to call a halt. The danger of going forward was too great; and there was no gain in sight to compensate for the great loss. There should be one great guiding principle—namely, that the Presbyterian communion should stay together. If they were to go into the union they should go in together; otherwise they should stay out together.

DR. PIDGEON'S ADDRESS

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 8.—(Canadian Press).— Opening the debate on church union here yesterday Rev. Dr. Pidgeon of Toronto, addressing the Presbytery meeting said,

"In the resolution herewith presented, it is recommended that the General Assembly procede forthwith to the consummation of union. There is need for action immediately. The discussion and policies of the last twenty years have created conditions that cannot continue. We have by our continuance of the negotiations pledged ourselves to the other denominations who have accepted inconvenience and loss without murmuring in order to keep faith with us. We have had the subject so long before us that we must decide the one way or the other or merit the reproach of double-mindedness with its consequent instability. Since 1912 our church has been practicing conciliation in the hope of approaching unanimity on this question. Every such effort has succeeded in so far as the majority witheld their convictions and dropped their policy for the time being. In the judgment of the majority of the members of your committee this cannot now be repealed. The minority ought not to ask it again. The condition of union and co-operation charges throughout the country will not permit it.

"We are committed to union so far both to our own people and to the other negotiating churches that now we can neither retract or delay. I believe that a way can be found by which union will go into effect forth with and still the rights of anti-unionists be fully protected. If we must separate surely we can separate by agreement. If we must separate we must still co-operate even more closely than the different denominations do now. This will allow the majority to realize it s ideal and give the minority the rights they claim.

"Our church is to-day taking a step which will effect profoundly the cause of Christian re-union throughout the whole world. In Australia churchmen of all parties are watching intently our course of action. So also in India and China as well as in the American Republic and the motherland the churches of Canada are regarded as the pioneers and many are ready to follow the trail we blaze. The way before us is open and if we have the courage and faith to follow it through it will remain open for other lands and succeeding generations.

Dr. Pidgeon referred to the negotiations for harmony in the Presbyterian church. Nothing but a charity which disregarded the truth, he said, could call the results of these negotiations encouraging. There were two parties in the church and their interpretation of the demands of the situation, and the commands of God took them in opposite directions. The result was inevitable. There must be a parting. With reference to the charge that the friends of union were dividing their own church for the sake of uniting the others, Dr. Pidgeon said that a far more disastrous division would be precipitated if union were blocked than if it were consummated. They have gone so far in the direction of union, he said, that "we must either leave behind those who cannot follow to its inevitable conclusion the policy they helped to initiate, or be left behind by all the element of progress in our communion. As between the two alternatives there is only one choice open to unionists."

Dr. Pidgeon then discussed at considerable length the legal instrument which has been prepared to give effect to union, namely the bills which will be submitted to the Federal and Provincial Parliaments. He told the story of the action of the assembly in directing that this work should be done and the very extensive and prolonged labors of a number of legal men in Toronto in examining all phases of the subject. The discussion will be continued to-day.

FLYING BY NIGHT MAY SOON BECOME GENERAL

CHICAGO, June 8 (Associated Press). —Night flying by aviators has been brought squarely before the public by the great non stop flight across the continent by Lieutenants MacReady an Kelly and, through this demonstration of it feasibility, general night flying and the delivery of mail during the night may become an accomplished fact before the end of the summer, according to J. O'Malley, of Chicago, in a recent address before the Chicago Aviation club.

"A great part of the plans for this epoch making achievement in aviation now rests with the public utility lighting companies or the cities themselves," said Mr. O'Malley. "Guide or beacon lights are necessary for night flying particularly when stops are to be made for delivery of mail or passengers. A great start has been made in this respect, as well as in the construction of landing fields, and probably more work will be done in this direction during the coming summer.

"The United States Aerial Mail has developed a plan for flying night mail which seems thoroughly practicable, once the various cities over which the night mail passes agree to maintain the necessary lighting system and emergency landing fields.

"It is a fact that the whole future success of the aerial mail hinges upon the success of night flying, since the time that is lost by laying over night would eliminate the saving in time obtained through day flying.

"The night flyer is reduced to flying by compass, and no compass has yet been solved that is sufficiently reliable to be depended upon exclusively. Then the question of forced landings is involved. In event of motor failure the flyer is obliged to make a landing. This is sometimes dangerous, although not as much as one might think, since a plane, properly equipped with search lights operated from battery, can be guided intelligently when near the ground, although being without power it cannot rise again if the ground is unsuitable for landing.

"In general, night flying depends upon beacon lights at various points along the route by which the flyer may know his location; emergency landing fields indicated by upward streaming searchlights; planes equipped with searchlights for landing and the cultivation of a night "flying sense."

MOROCCO NEGLECTS TILLING THEIR LAND

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 8 (Associated Press)—Morocco, Algiers, and Tunisia, those rich but undeveloped French colonial possessions bordering the southern Mediterranean,, could raise sufficient wheat and cattle to make France independent of the United States and Argentina, according to Major Charles E. Spratt, an American economic and corporation expert, who has just completed a 45-days survey of these countries. He reports that they possess vast areas of rich soil and great tracts of fine grazing land. Yet, he says, the fields are idle and not a herd of cattle is to be seen.

The reason is that the natives of Morocco, Algiers and Tunisia are literally without mentality, and their French masters apparently make no effort to develop any. Not only are they untutored intellectually, but they lack those ordinary aptitudes that are required to raise a potato to cultivate a blade of grass. They are satisfied to live and to work as little as possible. The French colonial policy seems to be to "let sleeping dogs lie."

Major Spratt goes on to say that superb military roads are being built everywhere, as well as palatial residential and administrative buildings for the French executives and military staffs. One sees imposing public structures, military barracks, post offices, and cafes, but never a railroad, a factory or a school.

CRITICISM AROUSED BY NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8 (Associated Press.)—The Grand National Assembly sits in its capital at Angora, barred from contract with the outside world, almost inaccessible even to foreign diplomats whose intercourse must be through the medium of Dr. Adnan Bey, its representative in Constantinople. The governemnt thus lives in an atmosphere of its own creation, unaffected by foreign comment on its actions, and to this condition is attributed some recent governmental actions which have aroused a measurable degree of foreign criticism.

Until recently the duty on flour into Turkey was one per cent. On March 1 the rate was advanced to five per cent. and was made retroactive on all stocks still in warehouse and which had paid the old duty of one per cent. It is recognized that the question of this duty is clearly a matter of internal administration, and it is accepted as such; only with the retroactive aspect have foreigners found fault.

A decree has been issued increasing the income tax five fold, and to include foreigners's arrival in Turkey.

Another law increases the consumption tax on a certain fat product from five to 80 piasters, and it effects large stocks at present in transit contracted for when the levy was only five piasters.

In local business circles the awkward and unusual proceedings are ascribed largely to the ignorance of a popular government as yet unused to the intricacies of economic legislation. It is felt that the deputies do not realize the far reaching effects of such measures, nor their reaction in western lands.

The state of Vermant received its name from "verb mont," meaning Green Mountain.

In addition to the nine expeditions being sent from the University of Chicago and seven from the University of Iowa, as announced some time ago, Ohio State University, the University of Oklahoma and Purdue University each will have two expeditions working for them, while single expeditions will go out from Indiana University, Earlham College, Notre Dame and the Indiana State Normal School.

Ohio State University will send Dr. W. C. Mills to investigate the mode of living of prehistoric men in Ohio a thousand years ago and Prof. Robert F. Webb will head a party of students who will study rock construction, stratgraphy and plateau construction in Arizona, Colorado, and New Mexico.

The University of Oklahoma will send one expedition under the leadership of Dr. Samuel Weidman, to study ore deposits in the Miami region and another, under Dr. V. E. Monnett, to investigate and study structural geology in the Arbuckle mountains.

Indiana University students, under Professor W. A. Cogshall will go to lower California to obtain photographic records of the solar corona during the total eclipse of the sun, September 10.

Earlham college students will make the trip to Yellowstone Park for a summer field course.

Purdue University plans two expeditions within the boundaries of the state. One will be to the sand dunes in northern Indiana, while the other will be made to southeastern Indiana.

Dr. James Burns, of the University of Notre Dame, assisted by Rev. M. McGarry, plans some excavations throughout the state of Michigan. Dr. Burns also contemplates making a special study of the sand dunes in the vicinity of Michigan City, Ind.

Indiana State Normal School students will make an extended journey for the purpose of studying geography. Professor F. J. Breeze will be in charge, but the territory to be explored has not been announced.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

How Fish Are Inoculated to Produce Pearls

Infecting a Fish with the Spawn of a Mussel from Which Pearls Are Produced.

By F. A. Collins

AN enormous crop of pearls is now being produced in American rivers. Some four years are required for them to mature when, it is expected, millions of dollars' worth of these precious gems willl be harvested, as a result of inoculating fish with the spawn of mussels. This ingenious method of propagating fresh water pearls, which has been developed by the United States Bureau of Fisheries at the elaborate station at Fairview, Iowa, promises to revolutionize the pearl industry. More than 40,000 persons now find employment in raising pearls and their by-products, and the industry last year brought over $10,000,000, while their value is rapidly increasing.

The Government experts have been experimenting for years to determine the most favorable conditions for pearl propagation. The finest fresh water pearls are discovered in the shells of mussels which grow in the waters of the Mississippi River and its many tributaries. As a result of these official tests it has been found that nearly 500 varieties of such mussels inhabit this region. The experiments have decided just which ... bear the finest pearls, and what food and ... conditions best develop them. In this way ... are being grown of greater size and finer quantity than would be developed under natural conditions, and an improvement in size and quality is confidently expected in the future. Single pearls have been found in these mussels worth nearly $25,000.

The method of planting pearls is highly ingenious. The idea is to first plant millions of mussels which in turn will develop pearls. As a result of years of experiment in the Government Laboratory it has been found that mussels can be "sown" or planted by infecting the fish of this region with the spawn of the mussels. This liquid is gathered from the mussels and planted usually in the gills of the fish, which is then released and allowed to go about their business. In time the spawn develops tiny mussels which cling to the gills or fins of the fish. These in turn grow, and when they become sufficiently heavy drop away by their own weight. Millions of tiny mussels are thus sown upon the bottoms of the rivers. In time the mussels grow and it is from these that pearls and other valuable products are gathered in later years.

The planting of mussels is carried on in connection with the fish rescue work in American rivers. These waters often recede rapidly leaving great quantities of fish stranded in pools far from the streams. If left to themselves these fish would be lost. The Government has, therefore, conducted for years an elaborate system of rescue work. Millions of stranded fish are gathered from these pools and carried to the streams and thrown in. Here is an excellent opportunity for infecting the fish. They are first infected with glochidia and then returned to water.

There are several ways of infecting the fish with the spawn of mussels. One plan is to hold the fish in one hand while the glochidia is poured, a few drops of which is sufficient, into the gill by means of a small watering can. Another plan is to mix a quantity of the glochidia with water and immerse the fish in this mixture for a few seconds before they are returned to the river. The embryo mussels do not always develop in the gill of the fish, but grow beneath its skin and finally work their way loose and fall to the bottom of the river.

A very picturesque industry has grown up on the rivers thus sown with pearls. The fishermen live on the banks or in houseboats. The mussels when ready for gathering are imbedded in the floor of the river at an angle with their mouths pointed in the direction from which the water flows. To catch these a special form of hook is used, very flat and short, which is dragged along the river bed. When it enters the slightly open mouths of the mussels the shells close and the mussels are drawn to the surface. Hundreds of these hooks are attached to long lines which are then dragged over the river bed.

In the course of a season many thousands of tons of these mussels are gathered in this way. To discover the pearls the meat of the mussel is carefully extracted and cooked, but without using enough heat to injure the delicate gems. The meat, now partially disintegrated, is examined by hand, for pearls. The luck of these pearl fishers is closely watched by the dealers. In the nearby towns will be found many experts in gems ready to purchase pearls on the spot. When news comes of a find of a rich pearl-bearing shell, there is a rush to the spot, just as in the early days of California the discovery of gold brought a rush of gold-diggers.

The mussels yield many valuable by-products in addition to the pearls. The shells are used extensively for making pearl buttons. Special machines stamp out the buttons, which we use on our clothing. No part of the shell goes to waste. The pearl shells are also used for making a variety of jewelry. What remains is treated and yields various chemicals. The refuse is also used for making composition marble, for road materials and even for chicken feed.

Hypodermic Vaccination to Prevent Formation of Scar

VACCINATION by means of a needle to obviate the forming of a conspicuous and unsightly scar is the unusual method used by Dr. J. H. Gettinger at the Bronx Hospital in New York City.

Dr. Gettinger uses the vaccine supplied by the Board of Health. It is diluted and then injected under the skin of the arm with a hypodermic needle. The usual method of vaccination is to scratch the surface of the skin and rub in the vaccine.

According to the statement from Bronx Hospital, "the results of the new method have been most gratifying. The reaction is confined to the under-surface of the skin, showing a slight redness and induration (peeling of the skin), which disappear after three weeks, leaving a normal skin without any mark or sign.

"Since the introduction of vaccination by Edward Jenner in the eighteenth century many experimental observations were made upon various methods and sites of vaccination," the statement continues. "Some made the scarification upon the ankle; others on the calf of the leg; others, still, preferred the thigh or the inner side of the arm. In fact, almost the entire anatomical topography has been explored and traversed in search of a favorable and suitable site, so that the inevitable scar might not stand out in prominent discord with cosmetic harmony. However, most of these experimenters confined themselves mainly to the old and unique method of vaccination by scarification, changing the locality and habitation of the scar, but not its objectionable hideousness.

"The question was raised, if only the superficial skin and the specific process manifested through scarification created the desired immunity, or could the same immunity be obtained by using other means of conveying the vaccine into the system? This consideration was prompted by a desire to obviate the usual injuries to the skin with the resultant scar formation as well as to mitigate constitutional reactions sometimes expressed by high temperature and prostration and to prevent possible secondary infection of the vaccination wound by the clothes or hands of the patient."

GERMS That SLEEP in the BODY

ONE of the mysteries which await solution by bacteriologists is whether or not bacteria may not be much longer-lived than is generally supposed, and be able to enact the part of bacillary Rip Van Winkles. A case in point is that of a man who carried the germs which causes lockjaw in his body for some considerable time. It required the violence of a severe accident to give the germs a chance to wake up. Physicians say that a similar state of things exists in tubercular disease of joints. A slight injury, and the disease is set up—the microbe having been quiescent in the body, asleep, so to speak, with one eye open.

Although the two germs mentioned are not normally present in the human body, there are a host of other disease-producing microbes which are. Man comes into the world germ-free, but in a little while germs are taken up from food, drink, air, sufficient under favorable circumstances to slay a battalion.

While the body retains its strength and power of resistance these microbes doze, until such time as some condition, such as a cold, lowers the vitality sufficiently for them to take their chance.

It is in the realm of infectious disease that the most unfortunate results arise from this hibernating habit of germs.

Many persons are insusceptible to diphtheria or typhoid fever. An individual suffering from either of these diseases is carefully isolated in order that he may not infect others. But should the germ of diphtheria or typhoid fever find a resting-place in an insusceptible body there is no attack of illness to sound a warning. Yet the individual carrying the microbe without hurt to himself is capable of infecting others with an ordinary attack of the disease which the organism is capable of causing.

The explanation of some of the problems in connection with epidemics may lie in the further investigation of this resting habit of bacteria.

How HANDWRITING Reveals HEALTH

WHEN you sit down and start to write a letter, certain muscles of the body are brought into play. The pen is kept steady by the tension of the muscles of the hand, wrist, forearm, upper arm, shoulder and chest.

The muscles of the hand and forearm control, with those of the wrist, the up-and-down movements made by the pen.

In writing, most of the muscles of the body are brought into use. Those of the neck, shoulders, left arm and hand keep on adapting themselves to the various changes of position made by the writer.

Handwriting experts will tell you that writing is affected by many things, among which is the writer's state of nourishment. If the writer is badly nourished, his blood becomes in poor condition, and therefore his nerves and muscles are not kept in the pink of condition. His handwriting will, in this case, lose the buoyancy which is found in that of a well-fed man.

If you are able to read handwriting, you can gain a good deal of knowledge of people about whom you may have previously known nothing.

For instance, a person who writes with a large hand is either gifted with high aspirations, or much pride, or generosity, or a fondness for generalizing. Those who make very thick strokes are of great physical strength, courageous, dignified, or gluttons.

An expert can, in most cases, tell from a man's handwriting to what profession or trade he belongs, writes Mr. Arthur Storey in "A Manual of Graphology."

A doctor's writing is usually firm and energetic; it is also unconnected and abbreviated. A clergyman writes with simply formed letters and a firm, curved and sloping style.

A business man's handwriting is plain, clear and methodical. Editors adopt a clear, neat style and often abbreviate words or connect them.

Why FAT MEN Best STAND HEAT

FAT men endure high temperatures and excessive humidity better than thin men, and the drinking of iced water does not necessarily develop intestinal distress, according to a report of experiments conducted by the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Mines and the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

In experiments to determine the relative effect of various temperatures and humidities on the human body, the scientists also found that sweat is the chief factor affecting the eyes when the human body becomes heated.

One of the most important results of the experiments was the discovery of the great variations of external temperature which a human being can endure, and at the same time retain his physiological efficiency. Another fact developed was that increasing pulse rate is more the cause of discomfort than is body temperature when in a heated room.

"It has frequently been stated," says the report, "that workers exposed to high temperatures developed severe cramps after drinking iced water. A few of the subjects of these experiments volunteered to drink iced water after about an hour's exposure to high temperature, and two of them, in one experiment, drank a quart of iced water in less than fifteen minutes without ill-effects. Cramps did not develop in any of the subjects at any time."

On entering and leaving the specially heated chamber, the report shows, loss of weight varied with the individual, the heavier and stouter man losing more than the light and thin one. Notwithstanding this the lighter man, as a rule, could not endure the temperature conditions as long, and complained more of the exhaustion which followed.

How Breaking Waves Form the Treacherous Undertow

THIS is a word of warning to those surf bathers who find their greatest exhilaration in swimming where the biggest waves break over their heads, or where they can leap as a giant breaker comes rolling in and ride its crest until it breaks and deluges its rider in a mass of seething foam and bubbles. If you are one who enjoys this exciting experience, be on your guard not to get caught in the treacherous undertow that follows, and which every season claims as its victims many strong and expert swimmers.

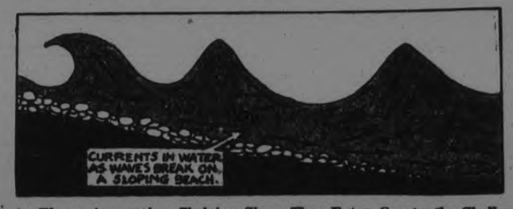
While there are very few ocean bathers who know just what an undertow is, you have no difficulty in feeling this submerged flow as you stand in the surf. Sand constantly washes over your feet as it goes out. The chief danger of an undertow is that it can wash you down unexpectedly, and should a breaker or two go over you before you can take a breath, the danger of your strangling on water is real.

Sticks and floating objects when pounded by waves always drift shoreward. This shows the direction of the top currents. Sand, gravel and submerged objects always roll from shallow into deeper water. Currents flow inward on the surface and outward beneath the surface, and it is this submerged current that is called an undertow. There is always an undertow in water such as this, flowing from shallow into deep water.

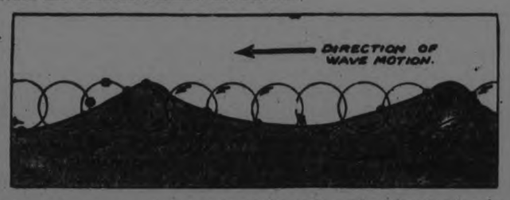
Waves in water are of what scientists call the trochoidal variety. The fluid composing them oscillates in small orbits. Individual particles of water revolve in circles or ellipses as the wave passes over; the top flows upward, the rear downward, the front upward, and the bottom backward. When all the particles of water are thus vibrating, as they do under the stimulation of a wind, trains of waves are set in motion.

The orbit of small waves is small, that of large waves is larger. As one might expect, the currents in large waves are strong. Waves do not extend to any considerable depth beneath the surface of the water, a few fathoms at most. They break only when their bases drag on the bottom.

As waves approach a shelving shore they enter constantly shallowing water. Their submerged portions rub more and more upon the bottom; their free, forward moving tops thrust too eagerly forward, they grow top-heavy and pour over forward as a white roll of foam. Large waves break far out because their bases touch bottom first; smaller waves come closer in shore.



As Waves Approach a Shelving Shore They Enter Constantly Shallowing Water Which Produces an Undertow Because the Currents of Water Are Forced to Flow Inward on the Surface and Outward Beneath the Surface.



That "PINS and NEEDLES" Feeling

PINS and needles," that prickling, tingling feeling like a shock from an electric battery, or "paresthesia," as medical science terms it, although apparently simple, it is really quite a complicated affair, according to a writer in the London Lancet. It is similar to pain; and yet it is not pain, but something more diffuse, often with a background of numbness. In the simplest instances the phenomenon is caused by a milder stimulus than that occasioning pain; when the "crazy bone" is pressed tingling results, whereas a knock on it will produce pain. Again, when one leg is crossed over the other, if the edge of a chair exerts pressure on the back of the thigh, tingling ensues in the sciatic nerve, and the segment of the limb is often said to have "gone to sleep."

"In such commonplace examples of the symptom," says this authority, "we cannot be sure that the pressure exerted on the nerve trunk is not simultaneously interfering with the circulation. For the interpretation we believe this question of disturbance of nerve-trunk circulation to be of the first importance.

"One of the ordinary types of minor complaint, as seen in the out-patient department of a large hospital, is recognizable by its appearance in elderly hard-working people whose hands are often lined and cracked by scrubbing and cleaning and frequent immersion in water. During the working hours little is noticed, but as the hours of rest and sleep come on, intolerable 'pins and needles' develop in the upper limbs, forcing the sufferer to seek relief in constant movement and change of position. Such patients nearly always show early signs of arterial degeneration. Once circulation is established by the ordinary activities of the day the paresthesia disappears. Other instances of paresthesia derived from the circulatory element will readily occur. Again, paresthesia is the usual accompaniment of any variety of neural infection.

"Study of the subject, then, indicates complexity in so banal a complaint as 'pins and needles'; we are to suppose that pressure, or circulatory disorder, or infection in some fashion impairs neural conductivity; the result in consciousness is a state of numbness or of paresthesia, or of both simultaneously. For the unraveling of any unusual case, therefore, due attention must be given to a variety of considerations, and detailed information obtained as to the behavior of the symptoms under a variety of conditions."

How Numbers May Influence Lives

A BOOK published recently draws attention to a remarkable table that Seddon, the poisoner, compiled, showing how the number 13 influenced him all through his life.

Murderers seem to be particularly subject to the malign influence of figures. Crippen's unlucky number was 43, and Charles Peace was evilly influenced by 7.

The Bible is full of references to the potency of certain figures, notably 3 and 7, while both Oliver Cromwell and Napoleon had sincere convictions regarding the luck-bringing propensities of certain numerals.

In connection with this superstition there is the well-authenticated story that the famous Italian charlatan, Count Cagliostro, based his famous prediction concerning Marie Antoinette's execution and Josephine's elevation to Empress by a calculation based on the number of letters in their names.

Once the ill-fated Queen invited him to tell her fortune, and he predicted that she would die on the scaffold. Josephine, who was then Mme. Beauharnais, and who had never even heard of Napoleon, was told that she would be an Empress.

Ten years later the Queen was guillotined, and a few years after the beautiful Creole Josephine became Empress of the French.

The Highly Temperamental Skunk

ALTHOUGH a little irascible in disposition and more or less in bad odor as to reputation the skunk is the favorite of a large number of fur farmers. Breeding animals are comparatively low in price, costing about $15 each. They are prolific—from six to ten young are produced in a litter each year—and they can be grown without much trouble or expense. What is known as grade AA Star skunks should be selected for breeding. Stale bread in skim milk with a weekly feed of meat scraps from the butcher constitute an excellent ration. This is said to be a profitable way to use the skim milk by-product from cows kept for producing butter and cream.

Experienced skunk growers, according to a writer in The Pathfinder, declare that the most serious cause of possible loss is discord among the animals. Some individuals are highly temperamental, so to speak, and at times do not get along well with their neighbors. They manifest this by squealing. The attendant should visit the pens each evening and any dissatisfied animal should be transferred to a different pen. If this is neglected a duel to the death will follow sooner or later. If no agreeable companions can be found for an animal it should be killed and skinned as soon as possible. The animals must be carefully guarded from chicken lice and similar vermin as these often kill them. Another precaution that is emphasized is to avoid disturbing the females and their young until the latter are large enough to come out into the open pen.

There is little danger from scenting if the animals are carried by their tails with their feet off the ground. In putting them down set them down gently on their feet and release the tail. Sometimes an old male becomes a confirmed scenter. The only remedy is to kill him and sell his pelt or remove the scent glands. The latter is a rather delicate operation, but it is not difficult to learn. All scent glands must be removed from animals shipped by express.

The demand for skunk furs increases yearly. As the wild fur-bearers are being killed off rapidly the trend of prices is steadily upward. Fur farming therefore should be a profitable business if one goes about it intelligently, profiting from the experience of those who have been in the game for years. Those interested should consult experienced growers and should gather all information possible from books and government bulletins before they invest any of their money in stock and equipment.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

SOME WORDS WITH GREAT POWER.

Some words do have unusual power to get results for the Want Ad user. While we have none which will automatically function as the "Open Seasame" of Arabian Nights—opening the door to treasure—still, some words are much more powerful than others. Let's see what some of these are, so that when we are in a position to use them we won't overlook the chance.

There are various situations in which it is practical to use the word, "Free", is one of the most powerful words in the language. Perhaps we can deliver free; if so, we mention free delivery in the Want Ad, and if we think it important enough, put it first. Perhaps we are prepared to sell, "Free trial." A rental agency can feature, "Free transportation," for people looking for horses.

A farmer advertised apples. Pumpkins were cheap. He advertised, "Free Pumpkin for each customer."

Advertisers who have used the Want Ad section for years have learned the relative values of several words referring to price. Words suggesting low price pull more inquiries from the general public than words suggesting reasonable price. Thus, "Low price," "Forced sale price," "Bargain price." "Dirt cheap," "Cheap," "Sacrifice price," all have a great deal of power. When the advertiser can honestly use such words, there is no objection to his doing so, and they will help him sell more quickly.

Words suggesting high quality are powerful. "Like new," "Never used," referring, for example, to furniture or office equipment, always "go home."

"Satisfaction guaranteed," is a statement which has been made in countless advertisements. Nevertheless, it is often still a mighty good thing to say, especially if what is offered is something the public is wary of placing confidence in. Horses, cows and other livestock, come in this category.

Miscellaneous Business

The Reeve, who was appointed at last Council meeting to look into the matter of cleaning out the ditch on Mary Street, along Mr. Jos. Morden's property, to drain the water off his garden, gave his report.

J. Magee moved, seconded by L. Southworth, that a man and team be provided to plow a few scores on Mary Street in accordance with the request, providing that Mr. Morden agrees to finish the ditch to the satisfaction of the Council. Carried, and Councillors Newman and Younie were appointed a committee to look after same.

Moved by Newman, seconded by Dr. Younie, that we procure sufficient 8-inch tile to continue the drain on north side of King Street from Mr. D. Dick's crossing to Mr. P. Race's crossing. Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Newman and Younie, the Reeve and Councillor Southworth were appointed to look after the repairing of the roof and water pipes on Coronation Hall.

Council adjourned to meet the first Monday in July at 8 o'clock in the evening.

W. M. S. Met

The regular monthly meeting of the W. M. S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was held in the basement of the church on Wednesday afternoon. On account of the storm the previous day, the attendance was small, owing to the bad condition of the roads.

The devotional exercises were conducted by the president, Mrs. S. J. MacKay, after which discussion followed on the financial problem of the society, which resulted in decision for a tea to be held in the very near future at the home of Mrs. Younie. The money raised is to be an expense fund. The envelope system is being adopted and each member of the society, as well as all the ladies of the congregation, are asked to contribute once a month in this manner.

Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Mrs. Mackey gave a splendid report of the W. M. S. Presbyterial held in Peterborough last week, and were afterwards tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

Miss Edwards read a short extract on "Foreign Missions," and Mrs. E. H. Mitchell read a very interesting article on "How Auxiliaries May Strengthen and Enlarge the Home Helper Department."

Owing to the late hour the study work was withheld until the July meeting, which will be the annual quilting in the Sunday school room.

Making Things Hum

Judging by the huge crowd which assembled in Coronation Hall on Wednesday evening to witness the splendid performance of "Patty Makes Things Hum," staged by the Young People's League of Trinity Methodist Church, Peterborough, the presentation was a splendid success.

From the opening of the first act until the final fall of the curtain, the audience were delighted, as was evidenced by their hearty applause.

The performers, ten in number, deserve full credit for the way in which they rendered their various parts. Special mention might be made of Hyacinth, the colored maid, who not only looked her part but acted it to perfection, and caused many a laugh by her witty humor. Patty, too, deserved great credit and was the star character in the play.

The cast of characters were: Miss Edna Forster, Hyacinth, colored maid; Miss Mabel Carter, Mrs. Greene; Fred Preston, Bob Greene; Leslie Briston as Capt. Fred Little; Florence Derry, Helen Braithwaite; Mina Edwards, Mrs. Smith; Osborne Smith, Frank Smith; Leyda Wilson, Hope Dunbar; Wilf. Derry, Capt. Tom Braithwaite, and "Babs" Carter as Patty.

Others who helped to make the concert a success were Miss Taylor, who contributed several violin selections with piano accompaniment, and each time was heartily encored to which she responded.

Mrs. Doyle rendered two vocal solos in splendid voice and also responded to the hear y applause by a pretty little encore.

Mr. Staples pleased the audience with his rendition of "The Vagabond" and also an encore.

At the close of the concert the ladies of the Methodist Church served lunch to the visitors from Peterborough, and also expressed their appreciation of the evening's programme.

Valuable Horse Killed

The storm which passed through this district early Monday morning, while it was not as severe as the one which followed on Tuesday, killed a valuable horse belonging to Mr. William Brown. The beast was found dead in an open pasture field with her month old foal a short distance away.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening the rain came down in torrents, also some hail, causing washouts on numerous roads around Omemee, such as Crawford's Hill, Henderson's Hill and Frank Fee's. Many cellars were flooded which never before suffered.

More damage is reported from south of Omemee. Mr. Stuart Bannen suffered the loss of eight pigs, which were in the corner of the barn. The lightning killed them without setting fire to the building.

At Mt. Pleasant many gardens were destroyed, the hail being as large as pebbles and windows facing north suffered many broken panes.

The town was in darkness from about 6 p.m. until 8.30 the following morning.

SMALL CARS WILL HAVE TEST ON BOARD TRACK

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 6 (United Press).—Automobile speed kings from the United States and probably two from Europe will compete in the race here July 4, according to L. J. Smith, manager of the Kansas City Speedway.

Kansas City was awarded the Independence Day speed classic from a list of contestants from several parts of the country.

The outstanding feature of the race will be the introduction of a new style racing car on a board track. The 122 cubic inch creations will make their initial bow to the racing world on Indianapolis brick track on Memorial Day and be sent directly to Kansas City for the July race.

The length of the race has been reduced from 300 to 250 miles, the standard of board speedways in this country.

Reduction of wheelbase, while cutting down the tremendous speed on the track, will not slow up the race, according to local speedway officials. The time lost changing tires on heavy cars will be partially eliminated by using the lighter cars and action of the track kept at an average.

Tommy Milton winner of last year's race here drove his small car at the rate of approximately 115 miles an hour in a recent test at Los Angeles and declared that more speed could be developed.

LONDON IS PREPARING LANDINGS FOR AIRPLANE

LONDON, June 6.—Access to the heart of London for passenger carrying airplanes is about to become a fact.

The board bosom of the River Thames at Westminster Bridge, in the shadow of the House of Parliament, is the chosen sight. In line with England's policy of subsidy for private airlines, the civil aviation department of the Air Ministry conducted the investigations that resulted in the choice of the Westminster site.

The establishment of the river station is but the first step in a plan to extend landing facilities to the heart of England's capital.

Temporarily it will be necessary to equip machines with dual landing apparatus, suitable for both land and water.

Once the water station is finished, along with its complementary relief station further out, to be used in case of dense fog, work will be started on an exclusively land station.

Construction of these two mammoth landing projects is but another bid for English air supremacy, already marked out by the advent of great passenger carrying airliners that come and go with the regularity of trains.

Inland air traffic will profit most by the use of the new stations. A journey now requiring four hours by rail can be accomplished by less in the air but is encumbered by land passage at either end of the route in reaching the airports involved. With these now-necessary changes of vehicles eliminated the demand for speed will put inland traffic in its rightful place.

FROCKS IN FILMDOM

LOS ANGELES, June 6 (United Press).—Betty Compson, always noted for being "first with the latest" in the line of frocks in the movie colony, has abandoned curves for angles in her spring wardrobe, just arrived at the Paramount studio.

Betty's frocks show straight lines and obtuse angles in place of the debuntante curves of yesterday.

Geometry is the keynote of Betty's wardrobe, the straight line being the principal keynote. Betty believes the rounded, boyish figure of "sweet sixteen" is definitely past in the frock line, and that more dignity is obtained through straight lines.

While the frocks she displayed do not show any definite Tut-Ankh-Amen influence, nevertheless the tendency is there, albeit without the typical Egyptian novelties.

CORAL CREPE.

LLOYD GEORGE READY TO STAGE COMEBACK

Sweep of Events Shaping to Make Him Formal Leader of the Liberal Party in England.

NEW YORK, June 8 (United Press) —Lloyd George is coming back in British politics. Since his loss of the premiership, he has been in a position of isolation, but events are shaping to make him the formal leader of the Liberal Party, and thus put him in the running to be the head of the government again.

Ever since Herbert Asquith was forced to resign as Prime Minister and was succeeded by Lloyd George in the midst of war, the British Liberal Party has been split into two rival camps. The Asquithians have in their control all the political machinery of the party and Lloyd George even during the time he was the he d of the Coalition Ministry, was not leader of the Liberals. That post is still held officially by Asquith.

But, the power of Asquith has gone. His prestige has been overshadowed by Lloyd George's and he has been accused of being a bad loser and of being under the control of his wife, who is personally very bitter against Lloyd George

Union Demanded

The only way the Liberal Party can recover its lost ground is by a union of the two dissenting wings. Lloyd George is working toward this goal; but Asquith is opposing any truce with the Georgians.

The Asquith followers explain that there is no necessity for any reconciliation. If Lloyd George and his associates wish to rejoin the Liberal Par y, all they have to do is to enroll themselves in the organization and no more will be said.

This attitude is theoretically correct When people leave a political party, that is the way they can come back. But, the Lloyd George argument is that Lloyd George didn' leave the Liberals; they left him. Furthermore, Lloyd George's followers claim Lloyd George is to important a personage and has done too much for his country to be humiliated by being treated simply as a racalcitrant member of the Liberal Party's rank and file.

The true reason for the struggle is that Asquith fears any compromise with Lloyd George would mean Lloyd George' election to Asquith's present post as party leader. Therefore, every possible reason is advanced to explain why a reconciliation cannot be attempted, or why impossible conditions must be imposed. Having the party machinery under his control, Asquith for the moment has the upper hand.

May Force Union

But, the temperamental disputes of political leaders cannot long be endured by the subordinate and younger members who consider they are being kept from office by the quarrels of their elders. There is a fast growing tendency among the members of the Liberal Party to take matters in their own hands and to call upon Asquith either to produce a victory or to consent to a formal reconciliation with the Lloyd George party.

By no possibility can the Liberals hope for a victory while the present rift continues. At the recent general election they ran third, and were forced to give way to the Labor Party as the official Opposition in the House of Commons. There can be no change in this position while Lloyd George and his men are not offered terms to come back. This fact is Lloyd George's principal argument and is winning the day for him. The spoils of office will be within the Liberals reach under Lloyd George's leadership. That fact is bringing Lloyd George back.

LAW AND FISTS.

CHICAGO, June 7.—It isn't often one wins two battles in one day, but Mrs. Jessie Hussey, a telephone operator, 6840 Prairie Avenue, won a legal battle when she was arraigned in the Englewood Court yesterday and immediately after the hearing, sparred off and feinted her husband, Peter Hussey, into a knot, then landed a well directed blow on the point of his chin.

Firemen from Engine Company No. 60 acted as peacemakers, and went to the assistance of Hussey.

Mrs. Hussey was charged with larceny, preferred by Mrs. Lillian Dillon, 6818 Wentworth Avenue.

Hussey appeared in Court with Mrs. Dillon and asked a lawyer to assist her.

"It's bad enough for you to be running around with that woman without furnishing her with a lawyer", yelled Mrs. Hussey, and the battle was on.

SPRING BLOUSES

Batik blouses and the straight-line duvetyn blouse, both of which have been so popular this winter, are to be carried over into spring styles with new touches about the neck-line and sleeves.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

LUCILLE CHALFANT MADE JENNY LIND HER IDEAL

By MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, June 8—Some people don't believe in ancestors, but Lucille Chalfant does. Of course, she was particularly fortunate in one of her ancestors—Jenny Lind the singer.

And Jenny Lind has been her ideal and her model, always. To duplicate some part of her wonderful success has been her one aim. Now such triumphs seem almost within reach, for she is to make her debut in grand opera in Italy the coming season, in one of the opera houses that once thrilled to the golden notes of the Swedish Nightingale.

"Having inherited many costumes, her famous cameos and many of her trinkets, I used to pray I had also inherited some trace of her voice," Miss Chalfant told me. "At the age of three I used to sing hymns on the front porch to crowds that would gather about.

Songs Pleased

"And I learned that one could extract pennies much more deftly immediately after singing a song than at any other time.

"When I was eight years old. I ran away form Los Angeles where I was living and planned to go to New York to study music, but at the station I was stopped and returned to my parents."

Miss Chalfant's parents did not share or sympathize with her musical ambitions. So they provided no piano and no lessons.

But the ambitious young person got around that by taking care of the neighbor's children, washing dishes, cleaning windows and doing any work that needed to be done on the block. This paid for the music lessons, and she practiced on a neighbor's piano.

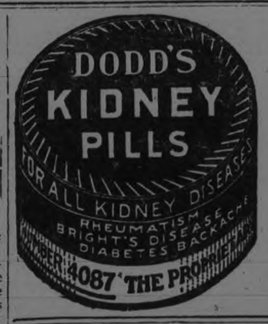
Met Musicians

"Later I worked as a maid in order to go to high school and take music," she went on. "Then later I worked my way through college for two years, serving as a waitress. This wasn't entirely pleasant, but it was bearable and I met some musicians who became interested in my voice and introduced me to the proper teachers."

After a brief experience as a reporter on a Los Angeles paper, Miss Chalfant went into the chorus. In Chicage her voice attracted attention and she was sent to New York to study. Now after featured parts in light opera, to pay for the lessons, and after months and months of the most indefatigable work she is ready for her European debut.

"Hoping not to be unworthy of my model and guide," she concluded.

Carriage of Charles X of France, now in the Trianon at Versailles, cost more than $200,000.



HORSERADISH SAUCE

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

HORSERADISH sauce adds that tinge of taste to meat, fish and even vegetables that many people like to have. There are two types of this sauce. One is hot and the other cold. A piece of boiled beef may be served with the hot sauce, and when cold the beef may be sliced to be served with the cold horseradish sauce.

The following recipe is for the hot sauce:

Melt three tablespoons butter and add three tablespoons flour. When bubbling add one cup of milk, and salt and pepper to taste. Cook until thickened, add one-half cup of cream and allow the sauce to boil for half a minute. Now add three tablespoons of grated fresh horseradish and one-half tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice.

NOTE: This sauce may be made with fish stock instead of milk and be served with boiled cod, halibut or salmon.

Cold Horseradish Sauce

½ cup cream
3 tablespoons grated fresh horseradish
1 tablespoon vinegar
salt and paprika to taste

NOTE: This sauce placed on slices of tomato and garnished with lettuce or watercress makes an appetizing salad to serve with cold meat.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills The Great Liver Regulators

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secret bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Therefore when the liver is inactive and failing to secrete bile in sufficient quantity constipation and other liver troubles soon follow.

Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, Peterborough, Ont., writes:—"I have been using your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and they have done me a lot of good.

My liver bothered me a great deal; I was drowsy and tired all the time and didn't feel like doing anything, let alone my housework, I tried everything, but your Pills seemed to do the work for bet... than anything I had ever taken."

CARE OF THE EYES IS VERY IMPORTANT

By Mme. HELENE RUBINSTEIN

More than any other feature, the eyes reveal the inner emotions and the real character of the individual.

Meanness, envy, jealousy and unkind thoughts all leave their devasting records on the face as well as the personality, and ruin the most lovely eyes; while love, unselfiness, ent husiasm and good will spiritualize the most ordinary pair.

One may not, of course, change the color of the eyes, but one can keep them clear and sparkling with good health and keep the area about them firm and unwrinkled and the brows and lashes luxuriant and well shaped.

Here is a simple system of massage and exercise that will counteract wrinkles and crow's feet and restore brilliancy:

Without moving the head, cast a fixed determined look to the right, then to the left, then upward and down, then without moving the head look around you endeavoring to describe a circle. Each of these movements should be made from 10 to 20 times.

Beginning at the outer end of the eyebrows, with thumb and fingers perpendicular to the lines of wrinkles, take up small rolls of tissue between your fingers and kneed or rool them, proceeding in a slanting direction toward the ears. Grip the tissues well and kneed deeply down to the bone, but use no force and bear in mind the delicacy of the tissues worked on.

The movement should be more on pressure downward than pinching One minute is enough to devote to this exercise.

Then with the right hand draw the skin over the eyebrow tightly toward the middle of the forehead. Beginning from the upper end of the ear stroke that part with the fingers of the other hand to and fro in a semi-circle. The movement should be one of pressing downward rather than pulling the tissues. One minute is enough for this.

Then, sitting with elbows propped up, perform with the middle finger a light and quick tapping motion over the temple region.

Bathe the eyes daily with a solution of boracic acid or special eye lotion. After powdering brush the eyelashes and brows with a tiny eye-brow brush. If they are thin and uneven anoint nightly with vaseline or olive oil.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Time Savers.

The wise cook has two measuring cups, one for wet and one for dry ingredients. They save much time and labor in cooking

A Coffee Test.

Stir a teaspoonful of ground coffee in a half-glass of cold water. It should show very little discoloration and very few grounds should sink to the bottom of the glass if the coffee is of good quality

Prevent Skidding.

If you want things to cool quickly and wish to put the dish directly on the ice, place a rubber ring from a fruit jar under the dish. The ring will adhere to both the ice and the dish and the contents will not spill.

Things Other Women Know.

All fruit should be carefully washed before eating.

Iodine is useful for covering scratches on mahogany furniture.

Silk stockings should be washed after each wearing to insure durability.

Use a fork when creaming butter and sugar, and the process will be hastened.

A few drops of turpentine added to the starch will make collars and cuffs beautifully glossy

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SPOILING THE BABY

There is small boubt but that the fatuous mother attributes wisdom to her baby that he is far from possessing; at the same time, even the youngest baby soon learns how to get his own way, whether by wisdom or instinct.

"The little rascal!" says the mother proudly, "doesn't he know, though, that his mother will rock him when he cries.!"

And doesn't he though? Even a tiny six weeks older will howl with gusto if he finds that by so doing he will be cuddled and swayed back and forth until sleep claims him. He enjoys it, no doubt, but doesn't need it to make him healthy and what is the first the keenest delight soon developes into a form of martydom for the mother.

The time to stop spoiling the baby is before you start. There is no use in teaching him how nice it is to be rocked to sleep unless you want to keep it up the rest of his babyhood, or go through a stormy session letting him know just who is boss.

Most of us have the idea that we can't accomplish anything in training a baby unless we do something for him. So we wheel the buggy strenuouly when he is falling asleep, or rock tirelessly offer unwanted drinks of water, all the hundred and one devices as o'd as babies. with which the mother is wont to woo sleep to unwilling eyes. Its always the greatest shock to discover that if left a one the baby wi l fall asleep without any amusement. The young mother who experiments by putting her baby down alone in a dark room and shutting the door on him, tells the neighbors about it and expects surprised admiration.

But the baby can't want what it has never known, and if we teach him early in life that going to sleep is an accompaniment to being put in his basket or crib, the shades pulled down or the lights put out and the door closed, we may be sure that he will learn this as rapidly and thoroughly as he learns the value of attention.

SKELETONS TO HIS RIGHT AND LEFT, BUT AFTER 52 YEARS HE LIKES 'EM

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, June 8.—"Bone-dry," to Joseph W. Schollick, doesn't signify strict enforcement of the Volstead act.

Neither does "boner" signify a faux pas.

The first, in his vocabulary, denotes a state of perfection in no wise allied to prohibition. The second, an instrument with which one earns his daily bread.

For bones,, one might say, have been meat and drink to Schollick. By them he has lived. And with them he has built up a reputation that hails him as the foremost osteologist or bone dry expert, in the world.

For 52 years Schollick has lived among bones—preparing skeletons and skeletal specimens for anatomical and scientific exhibits. For 39 years he has been on the job for Uncle Sam, preparing skeletons for the national museum of the Smithsonian Institute.

Must be Bone-dry

In his tiime he has handled the skeletons of virtually every known bird, beast, fish and reptile, from the hair-spring-sized bones of shad and humming-birds to the saw-log structure of a 70-ton whale.

"Patience, perseverance and—a strong stomach." These Schollick says are the chief requirements for an osteoligist.

"It takes about two years properly to prepare the skeleton of a whale," he explains. 'For animals of the deer and bear size, from six months to a year.

The big problem in preparing a bone for indefinite preservation is to get it clean and bone-dry. Not only must every bit of animal matter be removed from the exterior, but all the moisture and oil in the bone tissue and in the marrow must be eliminated. Otherwise, disintegration will set in.

After months of soaking in huge vats and careful cleansing outside, holes are drilled in the ends of the larger bones and they are subjected to a bath of live steam, under low pressure. The steam, entering the holes, penetrates the interior porous structure and cooks out any remaining oils.

He Remembers This One

Few chemicals are used in preparing bones for preservation, for while they assist in quick cleansing they are injurious to the bone structure itself.

"What was your most memorable experience in your half-century of work?" I asked Schollick, as he sat at his desk, eating his lunch, the half-finished skeleton of a bird on a dissecting tray in front of him.

"Well—" he said reminiscently, his nostrils twitching a trifle at the memory—"the skeleton of a skunk that has been in the rotting vat a month can't be altogether frogotten. Still, I guess my whale experience topped 'em all.

"We'd had the head-bones of a big sulphur-bottom whale in a rotting vat for about six months and wanted to get them out for scraping. They were pretty heavy, so we put a plank across the vat to stand on as we hoisted them out. I was on this plank, hoisting away on a big jaw-bone, when the board slipped and in I went. Phooy!

"I never liked collecting. I never liked to kill things. I couldn't do that. But preparing the specimens for preservation—well, that's something else. Anyway, I'm still at it after 52 years."

JOSEPH W. SCHOLLICK

And that he has been diligently at it anyone who has been through the great national museum can testify.

made numerous 'flights' of ten to twenty yards at the height of a yard—and won the ten thousand franc prize for the first human propelled flight in history. The question of "taking off" is the most important and most difficult, because it takes twenty-five per cent more power to 'take off' than to fly. Inasmuch as I have been able to 'take off' there is no reason why I cannot fly, because I need exert only three-quarters as much strength to maintain myself in the air with sufficient headway to fly. I think I can make about 25 to 35 miles per hour. My other machines of course, were not equipped with propellers, as I wished only to prove the vital point. I have done so.

"Now I am working on a machine equipped with propeller and control devices with which I will make short flights, I have no doubt."

Nearly 70,000,000 wild animals are killed annually for their furs.

AIR BICYCLES NOW IN SIGHT

PARIS, June 8 (United Press). Gabriel Poulain, the first man who ever "flew" by human effort in a heavier-than air machine is constructing a new model "Ariette," or "sky bicycle," with which he expects to prove the possibility of sustained flight by human muscular power alone.

With the new machine Poulain expects to make "hops" of from 300 to 400 yards at a height of from 15 to 20 feet at a speed of about 25 miles per hour. He claims the machine will "take off" the ground on human motive power.

In an interview with the United Press Poulain talked of his experiments, but refused to give details of construction of his machine, except that it would be propelled almost exactly like a riding a bicycle.

"I have already satisfied myself in my previous experiemts at Longchamps that I could 'take off' with the power of my legs. During those experiments I

SHELBY IS LIKE A WILD WEST SHOW

Flivvers Supplant the Pintos But Shelby Lives On As a Relic of the Passing West.

BY BOB DORMAN

SHELBY, Mont., June 8.—The old west, the west whose passing has been mourned in poetry and prose, is not dead.

It is only a little changed—at least in Shelby.

Flivers have mostly driven the patient cow pony from in front of the hitching racks, but all the rest of it is there.

Familiar scenes, faked on the movie lot and embalmed in celluloid greet one on every side.

You step from the 20th century elegance of your Pullman with its white-coated, soft spoken servitor into a world that is only known to most Americans by its pictured version.

Boots and Broad Bruins

The wooden station with the attendant idlers, wide hatted, with high boots and riding breeches, greets your eye first.

From there you step into the dust of Main Street.

Modern brick buildings, the last word in architecture, rub shoulders with wooden shacks, thrown together inside of 24 hours.

A tent, with a false wooden front, gets your attention next.

You glance at the passers-by.

And Cowboys, Too!

Here comes a cowboy, dressed like the heroes of the screen, his spurs jingling an accompaniment to his tuneless whistle. Following him is an Indian, dressed in blue jeans, his black hair hanging down his back in two long braids.

Then two girls, one, the cow-girl of the movies; the other, a vision of Broadway. But alas, her dainty shoes are covered with all-pervading dust that covers all in Shelby.

On every side buildings are rising from the ground like magic. Wooden huts, wooden bungalows, their unpainted sides glistening in the sun, dot the landscape in all directions. The smell of fresh cut pine tingles the nostrils.

Oil is Everywhere

Teams hauling lumber, teams dragging oil machinery, autos from which all paint has long since departed, strive for places in the narrow dirt roads which pass for streets in Shelby.

The Red Onion Restaurant attracts your gaze from the King Tut Dance Palace. The Stag Horn Bar has near beer and much nearer dance hall.

And on every side the silent hills look down on the gaudy town nestling in their hollows, look down on the gaunt skeletons of the derricks whose probing fingers are reaching deep into the sands of the earth in search of the black fluid which will spell poverty or riches to Shelby. The black fluid whose exploitation is behind the holding of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight in this little town, relic of a past age.

ACCIDENTS TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF ITINERANT FLYERS

Recommendations For Reduction of Future Accidents to a Minimum Submitted For Government Action.

NEW YORK, June 8 (Associated Press).—The causes for the airplane accidents of 1922, and recommendations for the reduction of future accidents to a minimum, are found in the annual report of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America to the Secretary of Commerce. The chamber says the government must provide air law and exercise jurisdiction over civil flying if casualties are to be reduced. The report indicates that most of the 1922 accidents are due to the itinerant pilot who has no fixed base, is inlicensed and unregulated by law, and therefore has no presumptive responsiility.

"Of approximately 1,200 civilian airplanes in operation in the United States in 1922," says the report, "between 550 and 600 were owned among 130 established operators, that is, individuals and organizations with fixed bases and conservative business policies; an equal number were distributed among itinerant pliots who have no particular system and depend for a living upon stunting, barnstroming tours, an extra hazardous assignments.

"In 1922, there were 122 accidents among the itinerant pilots, or gypsies, and only 12 among the fixed base operators. These accidents resulted in 62 fatalities among the gypsies and only seven among the fixed operators. One hundred persons were injured through accidents with so-called gypsy planes and only seven were hurt in planes operated from fixed bases.

"The 130 established operators, having definite financial responsibility, fields, repair shops in a majority of cases, and a system of inspection for their craft, demonstrated a defree of dependability unexcelled by older and officially regulated mediums of transportation. They incurred only 12 accidents of 1922 as against 24 accidents in 1921. And many of these could have been avoided had there been in effect federal laws licensing operators.

"In startling contrast is the record of the gypsies. They have consistently replaced their damaged equipment with the obsolete surplus from government stores remaining from war production and available at prices so cheap that youths with often a few hundred dollars may, and invariably do, acquire airplanes which they alter to accommodate one or two paying passengers. The passengers are led to ride in these machines through ignorance of safety factors controlling flight, and the public generally seems to accept all aircrafts as airworthy, not pausing to reflect that here is only the vehicle of importance which operators are not compelled by law to make and operate in a manner calculated to safeguard the public.

"From 50 to 600 of these gypsy craft have wandered from town to town for at least two years. According to the most complete accounts obtainable, in 1921 there were 114 accidents involving itinerant fliers In 1922 there were 126 accidents, an increase of twelve. In 1922 the accidents resulted on 49 fatalities and 89 persons in injured; in 1922, 62 fatalities and 100 persons injured; an increase of 13 deaths, or more than 26 percent, and 11 injured, or more than 12 percent.

"Among the gypsy fliers 37 accidents were due to lack of inspection of their equipment. Government licensing and other regulations would have prevented this. Poor piloting caused 46 accidents, stunting caused 39 accidents, also preventable by federal regulations, 11 were caused by carelessness on fields and 17 were from unknown causes, 14 to lack of landing fields, one to lack of weather data, nine to lack of route data, in which the pilots became lost and were driven off their course.

"In other word, 30 percent of the accidents among itinerants, and they had the vast majority of accidents, were caused by stunting and 29 per cent to a faulty inspection of aircraft This seems to afford sufficient evidence that federal regulations, providing primarily for the licensing of pilots as to competency, the prohibition of dangerous flying, and for the certification of equipment as to airworthiness, will operate to correct abuses in aviation, and make flying safer."

THE PHANTOM SHIP THAT LIES IN THAMES RIVER

(By LYLE C. WILSON)
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, June 8 (United Press).—Dejectedly swinging at double moorings in the waters of the Thames, a ship which added real romance to the war is spending its last days swaying gently with the come and go of the tide.

Dressed in the garb of a simple merchantman, the "Q"s sailed the seas, bait and nemesis alike to the treacherous submarine. Relentlessly U-boats chased Q-boats and were chased in turn.

Filterings from the Admiralty hinted of these mysterious rovers of the sea. It was understood that they played the merchantmen role until the sub got within range and out of the water. Then the sides of fake cabins fell away. Murderous guns and torpedo tubes were revealed and the U-boat suffered.

H.M.S. President is now a prosaic training ship for apprentice seamen. It's a dead ship. Windows have been cut into the hulk, the deck is covered with a rambling structure that has no seafaring term. It is just a house on a boat.

One or two caretakers compose the crew. Two long-silent naval guns, one fore, one aft, with a range finder on the bridge are the only hints of past frolics with the U-boats.

No one pays the old craft a visit. It is dead. With it has died most of its sparkling history.

RHUBARD RAISIN PIE

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

Two cups rhubarb, cu into small pieces; one cup sugar mixed with one tablespoon flour; one-half cup seeded raisins and a few grains of salt.

Cover with a crust, press edges firmly to gether and bake 40 minutes, having the oven quite hot at first and later reducing the heat.

NOTE—The flour helps to keep the juice in the pie, as it thickens it. The raisins help to sweeten the rhubarb, thus saving sugar.

BUTTER SCOTCH

1 cup granulated sugar.
1 cup corn sirup.
½ cup cream.
½ cup butter.
Pinch of salt.

Mix ingredients and cook to a firm soft ball. Pour into a small buttered tin so that it will form a three-quarters inch thickness.

When cold cut into inch squares and wrap in wax papers or place on buttered dishes.

DEATH ONLY HOPE OF 9,000 REFUGEES.

Bottomless Pit of Hell Could Be Little Worse Than Corner of Constantinople.

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

SCUTARIA, Asia Minor, June 8—The bottomless pit of hell could be little worse than a certain corner of this quarter of Constantinople, where 9000 Greek refugees lie dying.

On a point of land jutting out into the Sea of Marmora, one side washed by the waters from the Black Sea ever flowing in a swift current through the Bosphorus, stands Selimieh Barracks, a huge building built in the form of hollow square.

Packed into these barracks, and into the courtyard and stables and into every conceivable nook and cranny, are 9000 ragged refugees, mostly women and children, out of the interior of Asia Minor and from along the shores of the Black Sea.

Sleeping on the floor, on the stones of the courtyard, lying all over the place where space is to be found, these wretched people, clad in filthy rags and in a state of squalor almost unbelievable, are waiting—and for what?

All Unwelcome

The Greeks say they cannot take them because they have no place for them, all available buildings and encampments throughout the nation being already jammed with more than a million refugees who have already arrived in Greece.

The Turks do not want them and they can not return to their homes lest they be massacred. What is to become of them?

Small pox and typhus are answering that question. They are dying at the rate of from 300 to 500 a week, victims of these terrible diseases.

The near East Relief is working heroically among these people, yet in the absence of any co-operation what ever on the part of the Turks, they is well nigh hopeless. It is even said the Turks look with grim satisfaction upon the appalling death rate. It is solving the problem of the Greek refugees for them.

Certainly the Turks are more of a hindrance than a help in the relief work here. Even the American food brought in from the United States to feed these starving and dying wretches must pay duty to the Turks.

More than once the herculean efforts of the American workers and their assistants have gone for naught through the direct interference of the Turks.

Terrible Conditions

Here is an instance:

The sick people, the dying and the dead, being mingled in one infernoesque mass, typhus patients lying on he same mat with a typhoid patient or the victim of pneumonia, the American workers set about to "clean house," seregate the patients, delouse sufferers and disinfect the barracks.

It was like cleaning the Augean stables. The patients themselves, of a mentality which made them insensible to all ideas of sanitation, added to the difficulty They could grasp nothing beyond string ing a blue glass bead about their necks and trusting to that to frustrate disease and death.

Patients Robbed

But one by one the rooms in the barracks proper were cleaned, disinfected, deloused and the patients washed and cleaned and put back. Finally the work was almost completed.

Then one night, terrible screams were heard coming from the stables where the overflow refugees were crowded. Turkish robbers from the neighboring hills were holding up sick, and dying, and dead, and well, and robbing them of their pitiful belongings.

The Turks, called in to stop the robbery, at once drove the typhus and small pox stricken out of the stables into the barracks, all over it, scattering infection, all over again throughout the place.

And so the horror goes on here, in this one camp. There are others. Some 25,000 refugees are in Constantinople while another 25,000 are in similar camps along the shores of the Black Sea waiting..... ...waiting .. .. ..

DRECO TOOK HOLD OF HIS TROUBLES

Splendid results in the way of improved health accrue to Toronto man, although he has taken but one bottle.

Dreco has come to the aid of another Toronto family. Here is Mrs. Lyons' story of the help it gave her husband, Mr. G. Lyons, of 100 Weston Road, South, Toronto.

"My husband had pains all over the body and every joint would ache. He has taken a good many remedies, but Dreco has taken hold of his troubles and is giving him great results. His appetite was very poor and he seemed to lose all strength.

"He has taken but one bottle of Dreco, but feels like a different man altogether. He has no more pains through the body and his food digests properly, giving him plenty of nourishment and strength. Dizzy spells that formerly bothered him have ceased and his bowels act regularly. He can now go about his work in comfort and without that depressing, tired out feeling. He tells me he feels like a new man.

"Mr. Lyons is continuing the Dreco treatment, so that his entire system and every organ will be brought back to normal condition."

All the organs of digestion benefit from the medicinal herb, root, bark and leaf juices contained in Dreco. It tones and regulates and quickly restores them to normal functioning. Stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys may all be helped with this reliable corrective. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

ARROWROOT.

If you will put a little arrowroot in a muslin bag and place it in the water in which you launder your handkerchiefs it will give them a pleasant and agreeable odour after they are ironed.

Happy Evening Spent in Celebration of 57th Anniversary of Ridgeway

The veterans of 1866 met in the recreation rooms of the armouries on Wednesday evening June 6th to celebrate the fifty-seventh anniversary of the battle of Ridgeway. The members present were Col. J. W. Miller(Pres.) H. Nesbitt, R. Tivey A. Fitzgerald, H. Rush, W. C. Bourn, G. Stenton and R. J. Sander son, Comrades J. D. Collins and J. Kylie were absent on account of illness. Rev. H. Young of George St., Methodist Church. Mr. J. Crane, Mr. D. Carlisle and Mr. M. Park were guests of the evening. After a short session of business the veterans and their guests sat down to supper the tables were decorated with flowers making a very pleasing appearance.

After supper President Miller, in a few well chosen remarks outlined the object of the meeting and then called on Mr. Park for a song. Mr. Park responded by singing "Mary of Argyle." A song by Mr. Carlisle was "In Flander's Fields" both these numbers met with hearty and well-earned applause.

An able and pleasing address by Rev. Mr. Young was worthy of special mention. Mr. R. Tivey, the oldest member of the Association, who is now about eighty-six years of age was called upon and the old gentleman in a strong and distinct voice contributed one of the his favorite recitations. Mr. Tivey's contribution was well received.

Col. Miller made an excellent closing speech and called for a standing vote of thanks to the gentlemen who had added so materiallly to the enjoyment of the evening. Rev. Mr. Young and Mr. Crane on behalf of the guests, made suitable acknowledgement.

The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most enjoyable re-unions of the old men of '66.

Famous New York Cabaret Closes Doors

NEW YORK, June 8.—Night life along Broadway is changing. The closing of another famous cabaret has caused a post-mortem on the nights-that-used-to-be, raising the questions: How does the tire business man amuse himself now?

Where are the out-of-town spenders who used to support Broadway?

"The time of the cabarets is going," says John J. Moran, for many years manager of Shanley's. "People aren't supporting them any more. I'm not putting the blame on any one thing—call it prohibition, or whatever you like."

"Prohibition is the main reason," explained M. J. Holley, counsel for Thomas J. Shanley in bankruptcy proceedings.

A dozen or more famous cabarets of a decade ago—landmarks that every visitor to New York knew intimately or by repute—have vanished.

Rector's, known from coast to coast, disappeared several years ago. So did Churchill's, across the street just above Longacre Square.

Gone, too, is the flashy Pekin, at the north end of the square, with its girl parade and the stairway that was a hazard to many convival ones. Also the resplendent Tokyo, down a nearby street.

The subterranean Sans-Souci, of hectic history, long ago vanished from its niche across 42nd street from the Times Building. In the same neighborhood was the well-known cabaret of the Claridge, which once was Rector's, before that famous place moved up the street.

Maxim's and Bustanoby's have vanished from 39th Street. Also Bustanoby's uptown place at Columbus Circle, and Faust's from the same neighborhood, and more recently Reisenweber's has gone into the discard.

Other places of lesser national renown have disappeared. Broadway experts say fads, like the present fever for Russian restaurants, have helped kill the old places. And night clubs and jazz palaces with high-powered novelties have attracted some of the crowds.

ENGLAND HAS A NEW AND POWERFUL TANK

LONDON (United Press).—England has taken another great stride toward permanent world peace.

A recent order for twenty monster tanks, capable of traveling at 25 miles an hour with a huge field fun perched on top and ready for action, is interpreted as one of the most worthwhile peace persuaders yet evolved.

Until other countries are able to match these monsters twith tanks as formidable, it is believed England will be forced to use them in theoretical manoeuvers only.

The famous Vickers armament plant is building the giants. These tanks will have a cruising range of 1,000 miles, twice that of the vehicles that created such havoc in the World War.

The 25 miles an hour is guaranteed over anybody's country, roads or no roads.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF KINGSTON, ONT., MAN

DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—(Canadian Press).—Lying alongside the Michigan Central tracks, the decapitated body of a man was picked up by employees of the Coroner's office yesterday afternoon.

The head lay some distance away. A letter found in his pocket established the victim's identity as Frederick Konora, of Kingston, Ont. How the man came to be walking on the railway tracks and the manner in which he met death, are shrouded in mystery.

France recognized the independence of the United States on January 16, 1778.

A REAL CONSIGNMENT OF TOYS FOR CHINA

Charles Toy (left), who for 45 years has been closely identified with Chinese-American commerce, is shown above with his American born children and relatives whom he took on a trip to his native land. The youngsters range from 13 months up. Toy lives in Milwaukee, where he is a prominent merchant. In Canton he will build a mansion of American style architecture. The children will be placed in the Canton Christian College to complete their educations.

Bath For Revenge

MOSCOW (By mail to United Press). —"Did you have your bath," the man at the register office of the main Moscow police station asked the Swedish trade delegate, when he reported himself to get his permit.

"What do you mean by that?" asked the surprised Swede, "I certainly have had my bath as usual."

"I mean did you have your bath in Moscow?" the man insisted.

"Yes, I had my bath in Moscow, too, as usual, every day," was the answer.

"Well, can you show an official certificate that you had your compulsory bath in Moscow?"

"What the d—— do you mean. I don't know of any compulsory bath and what is more I am not going to have any," the angry Swede blurted out.

He had it, nevertheless, in a public bath, whereto he was marched by a policeman.

It was only until after he returned home that he remembered that some time ago when the People's Commissary Krassin, on passing the Swedish border, was forced to take a bath despite his wild protestations that he did not need any bath.

That is how Krassin got even with the Swedes. He has a good memory and has given strictest orders that all Swedish subjects visiting Russia have to get their baths.

FRENCH CHESS PRODIGY

PARIS, June 8.— Chess, the game of kings, has a new master in Aristide Gromer, a schoolboy prodigy of 13, who recently played 20 of the best players of Paris simultaneously. He won 15 games, drew four and lost one. He said he lost the one because a photographer's flashlight frightened him and caused him to make a move which cost him the game.

Young Gromer walked up and down between the two rows of 10 boards, movint so rapidly that he frequently had to wait for his opponent to play. The boy is far from the record of games played simultaneously by one person, but the showing he has made with very little experienc ,is cited by chess experts as indicating he has great possibilities. F. J. Marshall, the American champion, holds the record with 155 games played simultaneously. Gromer recently played 12 games at once, which, he said, was his only previous attempt at simultaneous play.

Gromer's mother, who watched his 20 game feat, said her son showed equal mental ability in his school work, standing at the head of his classes in competition with boys much older than he.

HOME LIFE MENACED

Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal right with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, and let it help them.

CUT HAIR TO PAY FINE

BERLIN (United Press).—A barber here was fined heavily for an offense, but told the court he couldn't pay. However, he offered to cut the hair of the first 100 poor people who would present themselves at his shop if he were released. The court accepted the offer.

SWISS PORTIAS UPHELD

BERNE, June 8 .—Fraulien Roeder won her first case in law in the Swiss supreme court, which sustained her plea for admission to practice in Swiss courts. She passed the bar examination, but the Canton of Fribourg denied her the right to practice because she was a woman. The supreme court upheld the claim of woman's equality in the law.

Perfumes to Perfect Your Personality

NEW YORK, June 8.—Perfecting personality through perfume! That's the job of Ann Haviland, who is said to have the most sensitive nose in the world. The creme de la creme of the social and business spheres come to her little laboratory just off Fifth Avenue for their proper perfume combination.

"A person's charm or lack of it," says Mrs. Haviland, "should be discriminatingly supplemented. This I endeavor to do—by compounding a special perfume for each personality.

"For instance, the flapper, really innocent, though desiring beyond all else to impress the world with her sophistication, should use a spice such as carnation or phlox combined with mignonette and heliotrope—if she is brunet.

"If blond, I might suggest that spicy odor given off by the yellow firefly rose. A red-headed flapper should be most careful and tone down her personality with the modest yellow violet!

"Then there is clinging-vine type. For her are the cozy, soft odors. Chinese bell-flowers and sweet alysium, petunia or sweet pea. For such a type as Viola Dana, I would doubtless use a dog-tooth yellow wood-violet; for the blond Vivian Martin or Margolo Gilmore, a white violet and lilac combination.

"Various people of the same type naturally have to be subdivided into groups according to their individual characteristics. Appearances alone tell me nothing. Sometimes the conventional, prim type of woman will ask me for a perfume of white rose. This amuses me, for next to musk and sandals wood, white rose is the most sensuous odor.

"The masculine, assertive type of woman should be supplemented by some perfume that is insidious, that softens the effect of her gruffness and subconsciously makes up for her lack of feminine charm.

"For the domestically inclined girl there is fuchsia, of the primrose family; for the intellectual, the perfume of the wild grape vine, with its fresh, high note of cleanliness. For the athletic girl, I would suggest basil and verbena with perhaps a touch of eucalyptus. The young, modern grandmother of today can use the sweet tangy quince blossom.

"Often the young mother has a wonderfully gracious personality; she will have a fresh, sweet enthusiasm—a sympathetic quality of charm, and for such I make a rose perfume, blended with oils; when she leaves the room there remains a lingering memory of her—and who would not retain it?

"There is the Olga Petrova type—for her I should use a gardenia base, something at once sensuous, yet cold!

"Perfume for men? Yes, men, too, must have their individual perfumes.

"But nothing like sweet oils from flowers for them! Masculinity can only be rightly supplemented by roots, herbs and moss!"

WHAT PERFUMES YOU SHOULD USE

The proper perfume for your personality!

Here's a list prepared by Ann Haviland, maker of rare perfumes. If you are—

Brunet—use carnation or phlox.
Blond—firefly rose.
Redhead—modest yellow violet.
Clinging vine—sweet pea.
Domestic type—fuchsia.
Intellectual type—wild grape vine.
Athletic—basil and verbena.
Mother—Rose blended with oils.
Grandmother—Tangy quince blossom
Men—roots, herbs and moss.

ROSTER OF CIVIL WAR

BRADFORD, Pa., June 8. —Because only eight of the 134 Civil War Veterans who made up Encampment No. 7, Union Veteran Legion, are stil living, and only three of this number are able to leave their homes, the roster has been presented to the McKean County Historical Society for preservation. The encampment has not been able to hold a meeting for over a year.

The encampment was made up of veterans who flocked to Bradford with the discovery of oil in this region soon after the close of the war. They represented more than 100 regiments, and most of them had been wounded in action. New York contributed 41, Pennsylvania 39, Ohio 12, Wisconsin five, Massachusetts and Vermont three each, Illinois and Connecitcut two each, and Indiana, Kansas, Missouri and Michigan one each. They played an important part in the oil development of the region and to this day the remaining members are numbered among the most respected residents of the community.

MOVEMENT TO WIPE OUT WHITE SLAVERY

Grace Abbott, Chief of the Children's Bureau, Tells What the League of Nations Is Doing to Abolish Hideous Traffic

WASHINGTON, June 8 (United Press).—"The decision by the council of the League of Nations to appoint an international commission to investigate actual status of the international traffic in women and children will give a basis for formulating a definite plan for controlling and suppressing this vice.

This is the declaration in an exclusive interview to the United Press of Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau of the United States department of Labor and American representative at the second session of the League of Nation's Permanent Advisory Committee on Traffic in Women and Children.

Miss Abott is thus the first American official from Washington to participate in a League of Nations organization. Only on two other League organizations is the United States represented.

That Miss Abbott has no intention of playing a merely passive and "unofficial observer" role in the League's campaign for the suppression of the white slave traffic is indicated by the fact that it was she herself who proposed the plan for the investigation which was recommended to the Council and has just been adopted by that body.

In combating this traffic Miss Abbott is being backed not only by the United States government, but by a number of the leading private organizations in the United States for the suppression of the white slave traffic.

Miss Abbott hopes that the investigation will be made in half a dozen or more of the leading "exportation ports" of Europe and the Orient and also in various "importation ports" of North and South America and other countries to which it is reported such victims are being sent. The precise object of the investigation is to determine definitely if such an organized traffic actually exists at the present time and to what extent.

Alien Women Imported

"In an investigation made in the United States in 1908-1909 by the Imigration Commission on the Importation and Harbouring of Women for Immoral Purposes it was established that a large number of alien women and girls were at that time being imported into the United States and distributed through the several States for purposes of prostitution; that some of these were unwilling but a larger number willing victims, and that they were purchased by letters or through agents sent to Europe and Asia from time to time. Following this investigation our Immigration Law was amended and the Mann White Slave act passed. It is believed that these measures have, to a very large extent, broken up the organized commercial traffic between States and the United States and other countries. No thorough national or international inquiry has been made since 1910 and it may be that it has developed in new forms and from new sources.

"The investigation which the League Council is undertaking ought not only to establish this, but if it developes the traffic has been resumed, it will give us the necessary information on which to base a definite plan and campaign for wiping out the evil.

"The Permanent Advisory Committee to the League of Nations, which I attended in a consultative capacity, is composed not only of official representatives of governments but of unofficial representatives of all the leading private international organizations for the suppression of the traffi in women and girls. None of the members of the committee have any authority to bind their own governments, nor has the committee as a whole any authority to commit the League to any program. All members of the committee are chosen as experts to study and recommend measures to the Council of the League of Nations. The suppression of the white slave traffic was one of the specific tasks assigned to the League by the treaty of Versailles.

"To date the League has confined its efforts largely to securing the signatures of as many nations as possible to a new international white slave convention which drew up and recommended to its member states. This goes somewhat farther than these drawn up by the International White Slave Conference of 1904 and 1910 at both of which the United States was represented. The advisory committee now, however, hopes to get down to more fundamental facts and causes.

Many Nations Interested

"The committee at the present time is composed of government representatives of England, Denmark, France, Italy, Japan, Poland, Roumania, Spain, Uruguay and the United States, and unofficial representatives of the International Bureau for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic; the International Women's Organizations; the International Catholic Organizations for the protection of girls; the Federation of National Unions for the Protection of Young Girls and the Jewish Association for the Protection of Women and Girls.

"Naturally, in such a committee representing different races, creeds, customs, nations and traditions, it is not always possible to reach complete agreement on what measures should be taken. One of the most notable examples of this kind is the question of the abolition of the licensed house. American opinion, both official and private, is opposed to segregation, but a number of nations still put forward this as the best solution of the social evil, in spite of overwhelming evidence to the contrary. The question of licensed houses was raised in the committee in connection with a resolution of the League Assembly which was introduced by Poland, asking that all nations which still tolerate the licensed house prohibit the employment therein of foreign women.

"At the session of the committee which was just held at Geneva a resolution, introduced by Denmark and adopted by the committee, which will have the approval of American women, provides for the employment of women as well as men among the police engaged in dealing with prostitution.

"Other measures were also adopted calling on both the League of Nations and the International Labor Bureau to secure certain information relative to the protection of women emigrants not only preceding their departure, but during their voyage and on their arrival in the country of their destination.

"It will only be, however, after the international investigation of the present status of the traffic that we will be able to work out a definite plan to meet the evil as it now exists. When a plan has been worked out which has a fact basis, I should expect all nations, whether members of the League or not, to co-operate in making it effective."

To Dry Salt.

Always dry table salt on a piece of paper in the oven and crush it finely before filling the salt cellars.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Just a Thought.

I always leave the door of my clothes closet open at night when the room is full of fresh air. Consequently it is never stuffy, and, incidentally, I have never seen a sign of moths.

Children's Stockings.

When buying children's stockings it is economy to buy several pairs alike. Then the stockings that wear out first may be discarded and the remaining ones mated to the best advantage.

Walking Shoes.

If you are fond of walking you will find the shoes you use for this purpose will last longer if the soles are dipped into melted wax every few weeks. This will also make them waterproof.

Haven't You Said It?

So often when we are visiting we say, "It is a shame to soil your pretty guest towels. I will just use this one." Then we take one that belongs to some member of the family when our hostess would greatly prefer that we use the towels provided for us.

CANADA'S PREMIER HAS BEEN HONORED

Received Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws From University of Toronto.

TORONTO, June 8.— (Canadian Press.)— Seldom, if ever has the University of Toronto conferred honors in so comprehensive manner as was witnessed before a distinguished assemblage in Convocation Hall last night, when, among others, the Government of the Dominion was honored by bestowal of the University's tribute upon the Prime Minister. Degrees were conferred upon Right. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, His Honor Lieut. Governor of Ontario, Monsignor Chas. Napoleon Gariepy, Rector of Laval University, Dr. C. J. O. Hastings, Medical Officer of Health, Toronto; Rev. Robert Bruce Taylor, Principal of Queen's University; General Sir William Otter, W. H. Ballard, Superintendent of Education, Hamilton, and Prof. Andrew Cowper Lawson, University of California, all of whom received the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Helen MacMurchy, of the Dominion Department of Health, upon whom was conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Medicine; Professor Reginald Aldworth, B.A., B.B., Ph.D., of Harvard University; John Stanley Plaskett of the Royal Society of London, representing the Dominion Observatory, and Frank Newman Speller, Metallurgical Scientist of Pittsburg, Pa., all of whom received honorary degree of Doctor of Scieice.

Dr. Gordon Laing, Dean of Faculty of Arts of McGill University, upon whom was conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters; and Herbert Austin Fricker, Director of Mendelssohn Choir, upon whom was conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Music.

Sir William Meredith, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, presided, and Sir Robert Falconer, President of the University of Toronto, tendered the degrees.

DANGER TO EXCURSION.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—One hundred passengers on the excursion boat Keansburg scrambled for safety late yesterday when an ebb tide threw the craft against an Ellis Island ferry wharf projection. Portions of the boat and the ferry structure were torn away, but the damage was all above water. All on board were landed safely, but later returned to the decks and resumed the journey to Keansburg, N.J.

If Dog Has Bone He Owns It, Sage Jurist Now Rules

By A. H. FREDERICK.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., June 8 —A new right has been won for America's dogdom. Recent decisions in various courts have recognized a dog's right as a contestant in legal actions, but now, for the first time, it has been solemnly decreed that a dog is full legal owner of a bone, once he has it in his possession.

And dogs throughout the country can thank Teddy, local canine resident, Alexander Moslin, his attorney, and Police Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus as they gnaw their soup-bones in peace.

Teddy, was brought into Judge Lazarus' court recently to answer the most serious charge a dog can face. He had attacked a member of the superior race called Man. The victim in this case was the 5-year-old child of a neighbor.

The death penalty was demanded. There was no disputed evidence. Teddy was guilty. That was the that of it. A red row of teeth-marks on the infant's arm constituted the telltale corpus delecti.

Future Dark.

Despite his eight years of unimpeachable conduct, things looked black for Teddy.

Of course, the dog's lawyer brought out the fact that the child had tried to rob him of his bone, but what would that avail in a court where all the laws were made for men and none were made for dogs?

Then Judge Lazarus rendered his decision, epochial in the annals of dogdom. It was a rift in the lute so far as expectations were concerned.

An amazed audience heard him say:

"This dog has done nothing to deserve death."

"The evidence has shown that this dog was gnawing upon a bone. That bone was his own property—and what more valuable property could a dog have than a large, juicy bone?

"Anyone trying to deprive a dog of such property has violated the latter's most sacred property rights, and it is an invasion which the dog has a right to prevent with force.

Tide Turns.

"No one would condemn the man who shot a burglar. Yet, if we can get the viewpoint of the dog, his provocation was as great as would be the man's.

"Judges should always try to comprehend the emotions which actuated the animal on trial.

"Had I or any other man been in that dog's place, undoubtedly we would have done as did the dog—try at all hazards to protect our property.

"Though their actions may sometimes appear incomprehensible, perhaps some superior being looking down on us may find our so-called ethical actions just as puzzling.

"The case is dismissed."

And that is why Teddy now frolics happily, recuperating from the strain of the trial, while American dogdom gnaws its bones in a new-found peaceful security.

When a young lady with a comfortable parlor all her own can't be a June bride she isn't half trying.

Butterflies are breaking out all over the new dresses, reminding people of what birds of a feather do.

TRENT WATERWAY HAS LED IN DEVELOPMENT OF TOURIST TRAFFIC

Annual Report of Association Shows Record of Achievement and Proposes Greater Efforts in Developing Profitable Business.

EXTENSIVE PUBLICITY

At the annual meeting of the Trent Waterway Development Association the following report was presented by G. K. Fraser, president of the association:

"It is with particular pride that I submit herewith my third annual report, believing that it closes a year significant of unforeseen development.

"By this I mean that during the past year particularly, the attention of other districts, the province, and even the Dominion, has been concentrated upon the problem of developing one of the most profitable industries in the world, that of the tourist traffic, and it has been forcibly brought to attention that Central Ontario is one district of the province at least that recognized the desirability of developing the tourist traffic, and has now been in the business for three years.

Hotel Committee

"You may recall that during the latter part of 1922 a special committee appointed by the late provincial government to make a report on the hotel accommodation in Ontario and its relationship to the tourist traffic, made a tour of the province and elsewhere, and in the report submitted made it clear that if the demand was created by the development of tourist traffic, the hotel accommodation would right itself, and recommended that $150,000 be included in the appropriations for advertising Ontario as a summer resort.

"It is to be regretted that the report of the committee in this regard was not acted upon by the government.

"We understand, however, that an appropriation of $10,000 was made for advertising the province, and 10,000 fifty to sixty page booklets are now almost completed for distribution. This work has been under the charge of Mr. Jas. Hales, K.C., Chairman of the Board of License Commissioners. This has also been supplemented by representations made to most of the municipalities near summer resorts, enddavoring to get the municipal councils to advertise as much as possible.

"Since learning that the Central Ontario municipalities are already organized on a co-operative basis, efforts are now being made to organize the province into districts each advertising its certain attractions.

"I therefore think if this association did nothing more, it will have justified its existence by the fact that it has started the entire province thinking, and before long will be the means of making Ontario the summer playground of the North American Continent.

Advertising

"Since the last annual meeting your directors have held two meetings at Orillia and Peterborough, and have continued the policy adopted the previous year in the issuance of an illustrated pamphlet. Forty thousand of these pamphlets have been printed and are now in process of distribution as follows:

In United States
C. P. R.	4,500
C. N. R.	4,500
Rochester	200
Yacht Clubs	7,000
Motor Clubs	4,000
Motor Boar Mfgrs.	2,000
Total	22,200
Canada
C. P. R.	3,500
C. N. R.	3,000
Yacht Clubs	2,000
Motor Clubs	1,000
Boat Mfgrs.	1,000
Municipalities	5,500
Office Use	1,000
Miscellaneous	800
Total	17,800

"We are particularly indebted to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Canadian National Railways for their generous co-operation in the distributing of 15,000 of our pamphlets through the various depots and passenger's offices.

"I believe this form of pamphlet advertising is having the desired effect, and I think could be extended advantageously by issuing a booklet with small scale charts and road maps of entire district enclosed, which could be easily carried by the tourist for navigation or road travel purposes. This is a subject which I think your incoming directors could consider to advantage.

Navigation Charts

"Although we have so far not been able to secure charts of the entire navigation route of the waterway, yet I am led to understand that everything is being done to complete them, and that by July 1st of this year a set of plans will be available from Peterborugh to Georgian Bay, which will be temporarily suitable for navigation purposes. Complete charts from Peterborough to Lakefield and from Bobcaygeon to the west side of Balsam Lake, including Sturgeon, Cameron and Balsam Lakes, have been completed, and will be issued by the Department of Railways and Canals in the near future.

"I think we should again urge upon the department the desirability of completing the entire route as early as possible.

Construction

"Up to the present time it has been deemed by your directors to have been inopportune to have urged the Dominion Government to take the necessary action to fully complete the waterway, which I understand will cost approximately two million dollars on the upper Severn division.

"I believe, however, that further consideration should now be given to this subject and before the closing of our year in 1924 strong representations should be made to the government to carry out this work.

"The action of the government in increasing the capacity of the marine railways at Big Chute and Swift Rapids to accommodate boats by July 1st of this year of 13 feet 5 inches beam and 4 feet 6 inches draft has been received with considerable appreciation and I consider it would be extremely inadvisable to request a further enlargement.

"I have noted with considerable satisfaction that in the Blue Book issued by the Department of Railways and Canals that the entire route when finally completed will have a draft of 8 feet.

Publicity

"Your association has been very successful in securing a considerable amount of publicity and I must again refer to our active honorary president, Senator W. H. Bennett, as having been particularly energetic in securing a full page ad. in the April issue of Motor Boating, donated by the Kermath Mfg. Co., of Detroit, followed in the May issue of the same magazine by an illustrated story by one of our visitors last year, Mr. Chas. Smith, from Sanda Anna, California. Also a full page illustrated article written by the Senator appeared in the Border City Star, of Windsor, on March 31st.

"From all of these your office has secured a considerable number of enqfiiries.

"We were also again successful through the particular efforts of the Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., for West Peterborough, in securing the exhibit of the Department of Railways and Canals at the New York Motor Boat Show in February. Your president attended the full time at the exhibit with representative of the Department of Railways and Canals and Exhibition Committee and also your secretary who was there for the last four days through the generous co-operation of the city council of the city of Peterborough and one of your officers.

"Direct results were obtained during the exhibit this year and forty-three owners of cruisers definitely stated that they would be through the waterway this year. By the experience of the last exhibit I would recommend to your serious consideration the desirability of sending a representative from this district to the 1924 show to co-operate with the Dominion Government in giving out information. On the suggestion by Mr. Ira Hand, a Canada booster, secretary of the exhibition, we have been assured that the Provincial Government will be prepared to instal two aquaria at the exhibition containing live bass and maskinonge in the event of the Dominion Government placing an exhibit there in 1924.

The Rochester Exhibit

"A request being received from the Rochester Yacht Club, Mr. Tooms, M. P. P., for West Peterborough, prevailed upon the Provincial Government to send the films of the waterway to the meeting of this club held on May 17th for the purpose of learning more of the waterway. Your secretary on invitation by the Provincial Government proceeded to Rochester on this occasion and returned with the assurance from Commodore H. Stevenson that at least fifteen cruisers from the club would be through the waterway this year.

"I believe you will agree with me when I say that this form of publicity is one of the most successful and it might be well for the association to increase its activities along this line.

"I believe I am right in saying that the request from the Rochester Yacht Club was prompted by illustrated charts which we supplied to the club two years ago and is now framed in a conspicuous position in the club rooms showing that the charts have proved a worthy investment.

"Articles of publicity also appeared in Smily's Summer Resort Guide, Highways and By-ways of Ontario and The Canadian Motor Boat.

"We have also been assured that a new film will be taken of the waterway this year by the Motion Picture Bureau of the Provincial Government, the scenario for which is now in course of preparation.

General

"Although a considerable amount of work has been accomplished since our organization in 1920, yet I believe the interest in your association is not sufficient to attain the best results. I would again respecfully suggest that the directors representing the various municipalities should each have a small subcommittee which would stimulate the interest of the entire community in the work of the association.

"We are receiving confirmation sides that we are working along the right lines, but it is up to everybody to develop it. We are now three years ahead of any other organization which, without doubt, will be formed in other districts of the province and it is up to us to keep this far ahead at all times.

"Before closing I believe I am expressing your thoughts when I state that we are indebted to all those who have contributed to so much to the success already obtained by the association and that it is our hope that this cordial co-operation may continue.

"I wish also to express my personal appreciation for the support given to me during the past three years and it is my sincere hope that the association will redouble its efforts during the coming years and place Central Ontario in the enviable position as the summer playground of the North American Continent."

striction the hours of lockage in 1918. These were set at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily. It was later found that a hardship was imposed on those who had long distances to travel by being held here awaiting passage, and in 1919 the ruling was revised to permit boats from Lake Ontario to Lakefield or from Rice Lake to Simcoe Lake or vice versa to go over at any time.

Last year, in order to avoid hardship and trouble to boats from Stoney Lake to Peterborough, Mr. Killaly proposed to the department that an hour for lockage in the evening be set. This was done, and boats can now pass over at convenient hours without delay. On Sunday, locks connecting long stretches of water are open from 7 to 11 and from 5 to 9 during May, June, September, October and November. During July and August they are open all day on Sunday.

General Business

It was recommended that a man from the Trent Canal office be sent to the New York Motor Show to assist the government men there. Many questions are asked, it was stated, which only a man acquainted with local conditions can answer.

Orillia has two pilots who offer their services in taking launches through the difficult stretches of water. It was suggested that this might be a good plan in other sectors.

It was resolved that the association go on record as favoring an appeal to the government for a better supply of game fish fry for the Trent Waterways.

Mr. Moore, of Bobcaygeon, stated that the government collected about $2,000 in that district in hunting and fishing permits, but did not spend nearly that on fish and game protection. He favors a more stringent enforcement of the protection laws.

The city council will be asked to nominate a representative to the association.

Election of Officers

LEGHORN HAT.

At Palm Beach the leghorn hat is enjoying a decided vogue. It is quite the fad to wear them over the rubber bathing cap while sitting on the beach between dips.

covered with spaghnum or rough sod, to keep the soil from washing down and filling the spaces.

Through lack of food a plant sometimes does not make good growtth. So long as the roots have not become bound it need not be repotted; indeed this would offer a needless check. Scrape away the surface soil down to roots and replace by a rich soil containing twenty-five per cent of ground bone.

Provided the plants have proper drainage water should be applied until it runs through the bottom. Too frequent watering is often a cause of non-success; it wets the surface soil so much as to keep the air out. The soil becomes soug and the water does not pentrate to the roots of the plant—the only place where it will do good.

Dwelling air is usually dry—a condition inviting to the red spider. Dryness may be decreased by evaporating water in the room and by sprinkling foliage on bright days. Thickly leaved plants may sponged off with water containing whale-oil soap. Also, give a little ventilation on pleasant days.

At night plants do better in a temperature 10 or 15 degrees lower than they need during the day. Most species used in the house require no more than 50° or 55° F. at night, and they will not suffer of the thermometer falls 40°—though such a temperature maintained for a good while would check growth.

Frozen plants should be thawed out slowly. Remove from direct sunrays and keep at a temperature of 35° to 40° until thawed. If cold water is used the temperature must not rise above this. Water at 50° or 60° will probably harm plants more than of they are allowed to thaw themselves out.

Fitness of plants for house purposes may be largely determined from structure and general appearance. Those with thick leaves and a small, glossy surface are but little affected by a dry temperature; while plants with small, thin leaves quickly dry up.

Deciduous plants that show bare stems in winter are the least decorative. All plants need rest, but those which rest during the summer should be chosen: begonias, abutilons, callas, cyclamen, geraniums heliotrope and Chinese primroses; also the flowering bulbs—hyacinths, tulips, narcissi, etc.,

NOTES ON MANAGEMENT

Windows opening to the south are usually preferable to those with western outlook. During the winter days the latter will receive but little sun, and that too horizontal. Windows looking to the east may be occupied by a few plants, and are, in fact, for palms, ferns, and similar shade-loving sorts, desirable.

Where it is difficult to obtain a suitable compost an admixture of street-sweepings with fresh garden loam will answer; but if only a small amount of soil is needed it will be wiser to buy prepared compost from a florist.

Pots used, unless new, should be soaked and scrubbed. Never use pots too large; a small plant growing in a great quantity of soil will not remove much water by transpiration.

For seedlings or rooted cuttings the pot is loosely filled with sifted soil, and the plant placed in a finger-hole made in the centre. The soil is then pressed into place and well watered.

Before repotting, remove a quarter inch or so of surface soil, thus disposing of any weeds or slime. Next, place half an inch or an inch of compost in the bottom of a pot, put in a plant, and add enough soil to fill the space. Then furnish a slight covering of fresh surface. The soil-level should be from half an inch to an inch below the edge of the pot. The hole at the bottom must not be clogged; It is necessary to provie drainage. Pots up to four-inch need not have the hole shielded. Above this size, an inch or two of broken pot might be placed in the bottom and

BAPTISTS' MEET LAKEFIELD, ENDS

Efficiency of Retiring Secretary, Rev. Ernest Butcher, Suitably Recognized at Closing Session

LAKEFIELD, June 8. — At the evening session yesterday of the Baptist Association annual meeting, the devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., of Peterboro, and followed a song service under the direction of Rev. T. L. White, of Lakefield. After this A. J. Madill took the chair. Rev. H. Wood reported that the following were appointed on the Christian Stewardship Committee: Dr. C. W. Rose and Messrs Summerville and Porter, all of Peterboro.

The Finance Committee appointed were: L. J. Pettit, Peterboro; Rev. N. S. McKechnie, of Belleville, and Rev. H. Wood, of Port Hope.

The Obituary Committee are Rev. W. E. Morrow, Peterboro, Rev. W. S. Edgar, Gilmour Memorial, and Rev. T. L. White, of Lakefield.

Resolutions Report.

Dr. C. W. Rose presented the report of the Resolutions Committees:

Rsolved: That this association express hearty thanks to the pastor and members of the Lakefield Baptist church, for the use of their building and for the provision made for the care and comfort of the delegates. Resolved also that we express appreciation of the organist and choir.

Resolved that a vote of thanks be given to those beyond the bounds of the Association who have contributed so much to our profit and enjoyment, viz., C. H. Schutt, Rev. Eugene Thierrieu, Rev. G. M. Homes, Prof. Cur. Rev. J. H. Boyd, and Miss Eunice Whidden.

Resolved, that we put ourselves on record as ready to support to the full extent of our ability public officials who give satisfactory assurances that they will conscientiously and effectively enforce the laws of our land, and that especially we will so use our influences as to secure adequate enforcement of the Ontario Temeprance Act.

Resolved, that we heartily commend to our churches the aims and efforts of our convention and associational Christian Stewardship Committees.

Inasmuch as our brother, Rev. Ernest Butcher, has been compelled to relinquish office of secertary-treasurer on account of ill-health, Therefore be it resolved that we express to him our sincere Christian sympathy in his illness, with the prayer that our Lord may graciously restore him to a full measure of health; also we record our appreciation of the splendid and efficient way he has handled the affairs of the association since taking office.

A resolution of thanks was given also to the work of the press.

A number of members of the B.Y.P.U. of the district were present and enjoyed the address given by Rev. N. S. McKechnie, on the subject. The young people represented Park street, Peterboro; Murray street, Peterboro; Gilmour Memorial, Toronto, Norwood and Lakefield. Park street displayed the peptomism which has been a not of the convention.

Flourishing Condition.

Mr. McKechnie expressed pleasure at the flourishing condition of the B.Y.P.U. which recently convened in Brantford 1500 strong. They have persuaded 9000 people to follow a course of daily Bible reading.

EVENING SESSION.

If God's word is worth anything it is worth reading every day. The young people in large and increasing numbers are studyng to ground themselves in the faith. They are interesting themselves in the mission work of the church. Dr. Schutt and Dr. Cameron have compiled a book on B.Y.P.U. work which is strongly recommended. It takes up also Christian Stewardship among the young people. Study at home means profitable discussion at the meetings

There has been no rally for years and it is hoped that there will be one this year at Thanksgiving. God called workers from humble homes from the earliest times. Moses was a foundling, and he led Israel out of captivity; Amos was a herdsman and he was given eloquence to rebuke the Israelites.

God sent His own Son to redeem the world and it was to one of the humble homes he was sent. William Carey, who was the founder of the missionary effort in India, was a cobbler. Abraham Lincoln also was a man of poor origin. God uses human agencies to carry out His great plan. The young people of to-day will be called to-morrow for Home and Foreign service, and God will find the means and give grace to acomplish His purpose. The future is full of hope; if He calls us and wants us He will give grace for the task.

The choir sang an anthem which showed careful training, and which was appreciated.

To the Young Folks.

Miss Whitden said a few words to the young men and women present, asking their co-operation in her work. She called attention to a magazine published by the girls' group in Waverley Road Baptist Church, of which she had several copies. She urged attendance at the leaders' camp in Muskoka this summer. For girls under 18 there are co-operative camps at Lake Couchiching and near Gananoque. At these camps, while they are undenominational, there is always Baptist leadership. She herself would be present and would look after the girls.

Rev. H. S. Bennett, the newly appointed secretary-treasurer, said a few words of appreciation of the honor done him, and assured the association of his best work.

Helpful Address.

Rev. J. H. Boyd, of the Waverley Road Baptist Church, Toronto, gave an inspiring address, which was very helpful. He recalled a previous visit to Lakefield on the occasion of the ordination of Rev. T. L. White. He complimented the Lakefield Baptists in the possession of their clean, comfortable, well furnished church, which is very creditable indeed. During the intermission he had visited the river, which was one of God's beautiful works, and recalled the river of which St. John writes in the book of Revelations, which flowed from the throne of God as clear as crystal. It presented a pleasing contrast to the famous Don.

His word was one of warning. We hear a great deal now of paralysis, which robs people of the use of parts of their bodies and which is a sad affliction, but we must remember there is spiritual paralysis which is just as terrible a thing. Paralysis causes the part affected to become powerless and unable to function properly, and as it is with the body so it is with the soul. It is a sad sight to see a minister, deacon or member who at one time was full of interest in God's work, and out of whom has gone the unction of God's grace. One cause of spiritual paralysis is neglect of the study and reading of God's word. Too many young people to-day are more interested in pleasure and the things of the world than in God's work, and are in great danger of becoming spiritually paralysed. We are not careful enough of what the example of the Christian means to the weaker ones. We think too little of the fact that what may seem all right for us leads another astray. Worldly amusements tend to demoralize and prevent men from being sweeter and holier and bearing testimony to Jesus Christ.

Neglect of study means loss of communion with Heaven, and is another cause of spiritual paralysis.

God never lacks men to save the situation, and we see Joshua, who saved Israel, Martin Luther who saved Europe, John Wesley who saved England at critical periods. The spirit of God is speaking and seeking to lead us to a fuller, purer life. God is all in all and we must do of His good pleasure.

The meeting closed with the benediction, and a successful convention was brought to a close.

The undertaking was a large one for the Lakefield Baptist church and it was carried out splendidly in every detail, every committee being capable and efficient. The kindness of the Methodists in loaning their basement made it possible to have meals served conveniently and the bountiful supply of excellent food, well cooked and served, provided four good meals for the delegates and friends. Fifty-six delegates registered and between 80 and 120 were served at each meal. The meetings were notable for the punctual way the programme was adhered to and the business-like methods used throughout. There was a spirit of optimism which augurs well for the future of the Association.

Delegates Present.

Among the delegates were: Rev. N. S. McKechnie, Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Gordon, Belleville; Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Butcher, Miss Olive Fride and Miss Sophie Wilkins of Brighton; Rev. H. S. Bennett, Mrs. R. C. Weston, of Campbellford; Rev. J. N. Norton and Rev. McLennan, Miss Tapscort, of Cobourg; Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Coles, Bonar Coles, Mrs. F. Church, Misses K. MacGregor and L. Chapin, of Colborne; A. IMITATE NATURE TO ACHIEVE GRACE

Wriggle Like Caterpillar; Sway Like Tree; Ripple Like Water Lily — Result, Grace.

By A. H. FREDERICK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—If you would be graceful, beware of the city.

For the city is the greatest enemy of feminine form and charm.

This is the warning and charge issued by Miss Agnes Kalman Rush, teacher of artistic dancing and lecturer on gracefulness for women.

"Women's grace lies in curves," says Miss Rush. "But the modern city is all straight lines, sharp angles and squares.

"Being imitative, our tendency is to follow that which we see most of—the city. Unknowingly we more and more pattern ourselves upon its plan of ungraceful lines and angles.

"American women of the pioneer days lived right with nature. It was from their surroundings that they acquired their pose, and naturally it was graceful, patterned as it was upon curving grasses, gently rounded trees, the light movement of the butterfly.

"It is to such models as these that we must look for salvation from ungainliness.

"But merely to bend like a tree is not enough. A woman must bend like a tree because, like a tree, she is a thing of curves, and curves bend gently, gracefully."

Miss Rush cites, as examples of exercises which will restore grace, the swaying trees, the poppy moving in the breeze, the caterpillar slowly creeping onward, the water lily floating upon the ripples of a pond. She explains them as follows:

Poppy Exercise

Stand in an erect but relaxed (not strained) position, with heels together and feet placed naturally. Then think of your head as a heavy poppy head and drop it forward slowly until the chin touches the chest. Now the wind starts to blow gently, and sways the head toward the right, while the neck does not turn, and so on around a complete circle. The body follows, as the poppy stem follows, only so much as necessary to allow a graceful swaying of the head. This should be done sixtimes and then repeated with head swaying in the opposite direction.

Still thinking of the poppy, imagine the wind blowing more strongly, until it has swayed the head and part of the stem, the bend of the stem being represented by the empire waist line. Then sway as before.

Now the wind is blowing strongly from a point in the back of you. It blows you forward at the waist; the head hangs naturally and loosely as nearly straight down as possible; the arms fall forward limply. For this exercise the feet must be about a foot apart. Then repeat the rotary motion, shifting the weight and bending the knees slightly as the weight shifts from side to side.

Caterpillar Exercise

First, think of a striped caterpillar, lazily basking in the sunshine, with nothing to worry him. He is in the raised position which caterpillars take when they wish to look around. So you stand upright but relaxed. Now visualize the vertebrae of your spinal column as corresponding with the rings of the caterpillar. You start down from your upright position, the first vertebrae (in your neck) opens as your head drops forward. Then you bend at the next vertebrae, and so on until all are open.

As you do this allow your head and arms to fall forward of their own weight and hang thus. And remember, never strive for a right angle; the back should always be rounded.

This exercise should be done very slowly and with a continuous and even motion. Reverse the motion to straighten up and repeat about six times each way.

Tree Exercise

Your feet are together, with weight on the left, right knee slightly bent, right toe back "folded" and foot relaxed. Then step out with right foot, about 18 inches and transfer weight. As you do this, think of willow tree branches (your arms) being blown up by the wind. They go up naturally to an easy position, both toward the right. When at peak, hold for a minute. Then think of wind shifting to opposite direction, and reverse shifting of weight and raising of arms to left.

Water Lily Exercise

Think of yourself as in a pond, your arms out in a curve which will bring the hands almost to level of shoulders. Then, as a ripple reaches you, you are gently lifted (rising slowly on toes) and your arms are floated upward several inches, slowly and sinuously. Now the water recedes and you sink down until knees are well bent. At the same time your arms float lower.

If you want to try these exercises to music, Miss Rush suggests the following: For the poppy exercise, "Shepherds, Hey!" For the caterpillar exercise, McDowell's "To a Wild Rose." The swaying willow, Schumann's "Traumerei." The water lily, Brahm's Opus 39, No. 1 waltz.

HELP FOR THE FISHER-FOLK

brought to isolated communities the terror of starvation long before the breaking up of the winter. Failure of the fish catches and an indifferent sealing season always spells disaster for these folk of the outland regions.

True to Traditions.

True to the traditions of the north the fisher-folk of Labrador, when the call came to service in the Great War, chose as their favorite occupation one of the most hazardous and fatal of the many fatal aspects of that struggle. They went, the majority of them, to service on the mine sweepers, and many of these intrepid heroes paid with their lives in their endeavor to clear the sea of its lurking dangers. Through the chance of ungodly war, little or no provision was made for the dependents, and this is one of the reasons, combined with the ravages of the 'flu,' that so many of their orphaned children now remain to be cared for by charitable hands.

Yesterday, in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. R. Morris, from the city, the supervision of the exhibit was in charge of Mrs. James Wood, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. R. J. Devey, and Miss Edwards.

VIMY RIDGE L.O.B.A. ENTERTAINED VISITORS

Vimy Ridge L.O.B.A. No. 244 celebrated their sixth anniversary in Victoria Hall, having for their guests Queen Mary and Oakley L.O.B.A. Lodges of Oshawa.

These two lodges exemplified the first and second degree in a very efficient manner, Queen Mary conducting the first degree and Oakley the second.

After the closing of the lodge supper was held in the dining hall, where the Worthy Mistress of Vimy Ridge took in to tea the two Worthy Mistresses of Oshawa and the Deputy Mistress of Vimy Ridge the two Deputies of Oshawa. The tables were prettily decorated in the colors of Vimy Ridge Lodge, and the lodge and their guests to the number of one hundred and twenty-five sat down to a sumptuous repast.

A special feature of the occasion was a beautiful birthday cake, which was cut by P. M. Mrs. Wright. Short addresses were given by the W.M. of Queen Mary and Oakley lodges, also by Bros. Carrol and Geo. Porter, M.W.D.G.M. of the Royal Black Chapter of Ontario East. Bro. W. G. Morrow and Chas. Wright of Vimy Ridge Lodge sang a duet entitled, "When We Were a Coupe of Kids." Bro. Porter played a selection on his fife, accompanied by Bro. Carrol on the piano. The affair, which was one of the best of the kind ever held here, came to a close by singing the National anthem.

THEATRES

Capitol Entertainment

"As realistic as though you were at the ringside" is the caption of the advertisement of the Siki-McTigue fight pictures now showing at the Capitol Theatre. And there is truly a very real thrill to the pictured story of the battle between the ebony-hued black, with his glistening body and kinky poll, and the big, cool Irishman. It is a battle of brains and skill against the sort of animal ferocity that distinguishes the battling Sengalese, who rushes his antagonist with lowered head and savage punches to the ropes, where the big McTigue fends off with guards that make the fighters appear at times to be indulging in a waltz measure around the ring. The aggressive tactics of the black never succeeded in penetrating the Irishman's guard to any extent, and there is a real interest in watching the elusive cleverness of the big, swift-footed man, in a gruelling contest that ended in a decision by points. There is lack of the element of fierce blood-letting usually associated with prize fights, at least in the pictured representation, and there is a mental element to the thing injected by the swift-thinking and cleverness of the big Irishman, who seems to win the fight through the exercise mainly of his brains and skill.

The feature, "The Mother and the Law," is an interesting picture which gains in interest as it progresses, the human and heart elements prevailing throughout. The heroine, played by Mae Marsh in a very Lillian Gish manner, although somewhat spectacualr at times, has a splendid characterization in the final big scenes, where she speeds against time in an effort to save her husband from the hangman's noose.

The feature is a condemnation of modern 'uplifters' which suffers somewhat by the extravagant manner of its handling of the subject. It scores heavily against the methods employed by a certain charitable type of woman who interests herself in the affairs of the lower classes, mainly in an attempt at self-glorification. There is a strike scene wheer the workers are shot down, and a later glimpse of life in a big city among the very poor. The Boy, the hero, who drifts into a thieving life through lack of proper employment, comes to grief later when he abjures his evil ways and is "framed" by the gang boss. Later this boss is killed in peculiar circumstances and the Boy receives a death sentence, which is on the point of being consummated on the scaffold when the confession of the real criminal brings matters to a happy ending.

The short reels which precede the big pictures are very interesting, progressing from the binding of expensive books to the latest ideas in colored pictures of women's hats. The comedy is a farcical creation, "Hot Water," a Christie comedy, picturing the trials of an amateur father with five visiting child cut-ups.

NOTHING BUT THE BEST FOOD FOR THE JOHN ROBINSON WILD ANIMALS.

Circus patrons usually observe a menagerie with awe and intense interest, but few of them give consideration to the tremendous expense involved in the upkeep of rare and savage beasts in these days of high cost of living.

The John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals, scheduled to exhibit in Peterboro on Wednesday, June 13, maintains a double menagerie, and zoo, the value of which has been variously estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000—and these figures do not include the cost of maintenance of cages, transportation or feeding.

The cost of feeding jungle brutes and beasts of prey can be understood when it is realized that a tiger must have fifteen pounds of raw meat daily, while a lion requires an additional five pounds. Each polar bear needs eight to ten pounds of fish(preferably herring) or an equal amount of meat or bread. A camel will require for his day's ration ninety-two pounds of oats, sixty pounds of hay and twenty pounds of turnips or carrots. An elephant will poke 150 pounds of hay into his insides daily, and then he also needs peanuts, oats or bran—his appetite being on par with that of a goat. So the feeding bill for these animals amounts to practically $1,000 each and every day of the season.

The housekeeper or breadwinner knows something about the expense, when the fact is mentioned that fresh, choice cuts of beef must be used for the majority of the animals. The John Robinson management insists upon choice food for the performing and menagerie animals regardless of cost, and this is largely responsible for the excellent appearance of the carnivorous animals, which have elicited so many compliments from patrons this year.

Featured with the John Robinson menagerie is "Little Vic" the only trained baby hippopotamus in captivity. This baby will be shown in the monster free street parade, which leaves the circus grounds at 11 a.m. Two performances will be given, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

BARTHELMESS REGISTERS BIG SCORE WITH "BOND BOY"

One of the most human and gripping film stories of a decade is "The Bond Boy" the latest vehicle for Richard Barthelmess, which began an engagement at the Royal Theatre last night. A powerful photodrama revolving around the old practice of binding out children to masters until they become of age, it is another great screen triumph for the youthful star and his able director, Henry King.

The story deals with the experiences of Joe Newbolt, who on the death of his father is bound out to serve an unscrupulous farmer, Isom Chase. Chase is hated by his young wife, Ollie. She tries to win the love of Joe, but, remembering his bonds and Alice Price, the girl of his dreams, he remains cold. She turns her attentions to a young drummer and is about to elope with him when Joe interferes and spoils their plans. Old Isom Chase returns, to find Joe in the room with his wife who is dressed for traveling. Threatening to kill Joe, he seizes a gun and accidentally discharges it so that he (Chase) is killed. Ollie flees and Joe is held for murder.

Condemned to the gallows for a crime he did not commit, Joe makes a sensational escape from jail and is tracked by bloodhounds. The story passes into a thrilling denouncement and comes to a most happy and romantic finish.

WAR VETS WERE HELD TO A DRAW

Game With C.P.C. Marred By Serious Injury to G.W.V.A. Player Who Broke a Leg.

The soccer game between G.W.V.A. and C.P.C. teams, which was played to a goalless draw last evening, was marred by serious injury to one of the players.

Early in the first half "Billy" Williams, one of the G.W.V.A. halfbacks, sustained a fractured leg from a collision with one of the opposing players. The unfortunate incident was purely accidental, and occurred near the Packers' goal when Williams was making a great effort to score. The injured player was immediately removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the ambulance.

The game, a senior league fixture, was played at the Oval, and though the Vets showed great attacking strength, the wonderful goalkeeping of Curtis held them at bay for the entire game.

Curtis gave one of the best exhibitions of goal-minding that has been seen this year, and time and again stopped shots that seemed to be sure counters.

The Packers won the toss, and started off with the wind in their favour, but the Veterans soon showed their true form, and gave Curtis plenty of work to do.

Jack Wade was particularly troublesome, and on one occasion he brought Curtis to his knees to make a stop. In attempting to get the rebound, Williams collided with Batley in such a manner that he broke his leg. The game was halted till the injured player could be taken to the hospital, and the Vets finished the game short-handed.

The Packers tested Charlie Griffin several times, but he always proved equal to the occasion.

The players were:

C.P.C.—Curtis; Mann and Hotston; Batley, Shaw, and H. Hotston; Underwood, Hanson, Lazenby, Ted Hotston, and Fenton.

G.W.V.A.—Griffin; Bishop and Crowe; Williams, Burrows, and Hurrie; F. Wade, A. Edwards, Jack Wade, Dwyer, and Sharman.

Referee, J. Russell.

Questions

ONE—Is there any way an umpire can hurry dilatory tactics on the part of the pitcher after he once gets on the rubber?

TWO—When can a pitcher who has ben announced to start the game be removed from the box?

THREE—Can a base umpire call a balk on the pitcher?

FOUR—If a pitcher while standing on the rubber snaps the ball to the third baseman without any preliminary step in the direction of the base, is it a balk?

FIVE—Who has the right to decide whether or not a game will be started when bad weather conditions exist?

Answers

ONE—With runners on the bases the umpire can call a balk if he is of the opinion that the game is unnecessarily delayed. Umpires seldom resort to such drastic action. If no runners are on it is a balk if pitcher fails to deliver same within 20 seconds.

TWO — Pitcher announced must pitch until one batsman is retired or becomes a base runner.

THREE—The base umpire has such a right but he usually leaves the enforcement of same to plate umpire.

FOUR—Pitcher makes a balk in so doing. He must step in direction of the base before delivering the ball to same.

FIVE—Home manager has the right as to starting a game. The moment it is started it's up to the umpire.

CUP PRESENTED TO WINNING TEAM

Banquet and Entertainment Held in G.W.V.A. Rooms For Winners of the Gordon Cup.

Players and officials of the G.W.V.A. football team, officials of the Peterborough and District Football Association, and members of the G.W.V.A. gathered last night at a banquet held in the G.W.V.A. rooms in honour of the winners of the Gordon Cup.

Owing to the pressure of other business, G. N. Gordon, the donor of the cup, was unable to be present.

After those present had done justice to an excellent repast, the cup was formally presented by Sydney Whatley on behalf of Mr. Gordon.

In presenting the cup, Mr. Whatley spoke of the general attributes of the game, and urged his hearers to exercise the sportsmanship which it engenders, both on and off the field. He spoke of the essentially British character of the game, and how it fosters that great bulwark of the British nation, "British fair-play."

The cup was accepted by Harold Burrows, vice-captain of the team, who replied suitably.

A toast to the Football Association was also proposed by Mr. Whatley, and responded to by John Cairns, president of the P. and D. F. A.

Mention was made of the injury sustained by one of the G.W.V.A. players, who suffered a fractured leg in the game last evening, and a unanimous vote of sympathy was extended to him. A generous collection was taken for the purpose of sending him flowers and cigarettes.

An interesting programme was given by members of the organisation, consisting of concertina selections by J. Parkins, a clog dance by H. Payne, a duet by J. and B. Wade, and solos by O. Hurrle, J. Wade, F. Gant, and A. Edwards.

W. Nicholls secretary of the P. and D. F. A. and an official of the G.W.V.A. Football Club was the chairman and toastmaster for the occasion.

NEW SUGGESTION FOR THE UMPIRE

With the season only a few weeks advanced, Belleville is doing her usual kicking, says the Port Hope Guide. They want to know the addresses of all the Cobourg imports and one Cobourg sport replied that they were all sailors from the Mexican boats which left Belleville dock daily. And then they are not satisfied with the umpires. The Intelligencer says "from the press box Sullivan looked very bad on balls and strikes, while a close play at first looked very close. We heard once of a bunch of young men in the grand stand who gave this ump a hard roasting. They called him thief, robber and all the pet names imaginable. Finally armed with a large megaphone the umpire made his way to the section of the stand occupied by his critics and ordered the game to proceed. You are not going to umpire the game from here, surely," said one of the men to which the umpire quickly replied: "It is evident from the criticisms of these spectators that they can see the game better from here than I can at the plate so I will try it out here for one innings. It might be well for the umpire at Belleville to try this out and in future games take a seat in the press box with the Intelligencer man.

NEW GOLF RECORD.

PORT MARNOCK, Ireland, June 8. — Canadian Press. — In the final of the Irish ladies' Golf championship yesterday, Miss Janet Jackson, of the Island Club of Malahide, defeated Miss Jenskinson, 6 up and 5 to play. This was Miss Jackson's fifth success equalling the record held by Miss May Hazlett (now Mrs Arthur Ross) since 1908.

BIG FIGHT ARENA NEAR COMPLETION

Scene of the Dempsey-Gibbons Battle Covers Six Acres and Has Thirty-Two Entrances.

SHELBY, Mont., June 8 (Canadian Press).—Work on the Dempsey-Gibbons fight arena is being rushed. The contract calls for its completion by 20th June. The job could be finished much sooner if needed.

With the framework all up and the floor laid something of its size and details now gives the curious sightseeing public a picture to gaze at.

Nothing was ever built in Montana or west of the Mississippi River like it.

There will be 32 entrances. The gates are so arranged that no one of them will have to handle more than 2,500 people.

All the loading for the huge octagon will be either by steps or inclines.

The gate number is stamped on each ticket. No one can get in the wrong aisle.

Tickets will have a triple check on them. Federal men will check them at the outer gate; aisle ushers will check them at the next gate; and the section usher takes the last one.

The arena covers six acres. A high board fence enclosure around the bowl will take in thirty-three acres.

A new atmospheric angle has developed out in this Montana cow country.

The dope is that Shelby, with an elevation of over 3,000 feet and miles from any factories which produce smoke, has the clearest air to see through of any spot in the world.

It is said that a customer sitting in a general admission seat in the Shelby bowl can see as good as a ringside sitter in the Jersey City bowl.

Whether this is true or not is a question for a scientist to answer. It is true that the rarefied air in this section of the prairies is like crystal to smoked glass as compared to the eastern atmosphere.

On clear days, looking from Shelby Heights, you can see across the Canadian line 30 miles away.

The Montana law requires that a hospital with 25 cots be installed near the arena. It will be in charge of a Red Cross nurse and attendants.

If Gibbons upsets the dope being peddled around by some of the wiseacres and stays fifteen rounds on 4th July, these same lounges will be filled with the folks that picked the round that never came around.

OLD RIVALS CLASH AT RIVERSIDE PARK IN BIG FOUR BATTLE

Belleville Here To-Morrow and Petes Have to Play Postponed Game in Belleville on Monday.

With favourable weather to-morrow the Central Ontario League clash between the old rivals, Belleville and Peterborough, at Riverside park, should just about provide not only a record crowd but one of the best diamond tussels of the season. Belleville and the Petes are tied for the leadership and the winner to-morrow will be top dog for the being. Belleville have always played aggressive ball in Peterborough and they can be depended uppon to be full of fight when they go into action to-morrow, whether they have Southpaw Jack Williams or Smokeball Jack Oulette on the rubber. However, the Petes figure they have an ace who can turn the trick on the pair of Jacks and they guarantee the Trunks a merry afternoon.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp, and if to-morrow is dry the diamond should be in good shape for the argument in spite of the heavy rain this week. Considerable work has been put on it since last Saturday, and the conditions should be favourable for fast baseball.

Manager Solomon expects the following squad to be on hand at 2 o'clock sharp: Swanston, Heckman, McElroy, Comolli, Johnston, Ansaldo, Collins, Helson, Legon, Wolfe, Lowe, Shaughnessy.

IN BELLEVILLE MONDAY.

President Dedman of the Central Ontario League, has ordered the Belleville-Peterborough game, postponed from Wednesday, to be played at Belleville on Monday, in spite of the protestations of the Peterborough club, who consider that the Central president is in needless haste to get this game out of the way. He wired Peterborough yesterday morning to know if it would be convenient for them to go to Belleville Monday, but evidently the wire didn't mean anything in particular, for when the local club replied that it would be almost impossible to play Monday, they received word almost immediately that the game was ordered for that day.

There is no necessity for such hurry. In addition to the difficulty of getting players off work on days so close together, there is the further disadvantage that none of the teams are really in shape yet. There has been so much bad weather that none of the Central League outfits are in condition and they were probably in better shape on May 24th. than they are to-day. The Petes for example have had but two practises in over two weeks and it is piling it on to ask them to play Belleville here on Saturday, in Belleville Monday, in Cobourg Wednesday and back here next Saturday. The postponed Belleville game could have been held over for another week without hurting anybody, but President Dedman refused to consider the Peterborough side of the case at all.

No Bush Stuff For Major League Ump.

"Ducky" Holmes, one of the latest additions to the American League staff of umpires, is not without a sense of humor.

Holmes, who for years played minor league ball, and who had a trial in the big show, has been umpiring for about six years. During that time he has worked in various minor leagues.

Prior to taking up umpiring, Holmes took a fling at the managerial game in the bushes. He was manager and part owner of the Saginaw (Mich.) team in the days of the old Michigan State League. That was just before the United States got into the World War. Just when it seemed as if he was in a position to make some money, Uncle Sam took a hand in the war game and baseball went into the discard for the time being.

Holmes, by selling several players to the big show, managed to break even on the season and was willing to dispose of his holdings for just what they cost him.

Recently the Chicago White Sox played an exhibition game in Saginaw. The owner of the club figured that Holmes, the former Saginaw manager, would be an additional card as the umpire. A wire was sent, offering him a hundred and expenses to officiate.

Holmes declined thusly:

"It took me six years to get out of the bushes as an umpire and I dont' intend to return to even work an exhibition game. I'm going to stick to the big league exclusively."

Eugene Crique Will Defend His New Title.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Eugene Criqui, of France, newly crowned world's featherweight champion, will defend his title on July 30 at the Polo Grounds against Johnny Dundee, New York challenger, it was announced yesterday by Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Polo Grounds Athletic Club. Criqui will receive 37 1-2 and Dundee 12 1-2 per cent. of the gross receipts.

O'Rourke announced the match immediately after Dundee had affixed his signature to a contract. Criqui, the promoter said, already had agreed to his terms.

Huggins Fails to Include Mays in List of Regulars.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Carl Mays, star of the New York Yankee pitching staff in 1921, leader of the American League twirlers that year, is no longer a regular.

Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees, has definitely announced that his big four for the present will consist of Shawkey, Bush, Hoyt and Jones, with Pennock as next choice should any of the first name four falter.

The once famous subway artist has been relegated to the ranks of the substitutes. No doubt his main duty this year will be to act as relief pitcher. Mays with his unusual style of delivery should be a very valuable man in such a role for a few innings.

The decline of Mays is due to the loss of his fast ball. This was his big stock in trade. It dipped much after the manner of a spitball. With the passing of his fast ball Mays lost his big threat and most of his effectiveness.

GIVE LICENSES TO TENT STANDS

Council Wished to Prevent Transient Sidewalk Traders From Getting Business.

The re-blooming of the roadside refreshment tents illustrated a discussion by the Council the other night as to whether this temporary mode of merchandising should be encouraged by the granting of the comprehensive eating house licenses.

Among the unusually long list of applications either for new licenses or renewals three were for the tented stands that catch the passing nickels Ald. Phelan referred to the Council's suggestion last year that these transient merchants should not be gives permit because of the revenue they divert from others who are in business the year round and who pay taxes upon their permanent property.

Ald Holloway was against the licensing of tents, and repeated his objections of a former meeting contending that the merchants must be protected. In the discussion it developed that some of the tents were licensed late last summer and would be continuing until their term expired while others seeking renewals now would be shut out. Again, it was said that on such occasions as the twelfth of July when thousands of visitors are in the city the sidewalk booths would be prohibited if they could not secure the omnibus eating house licenses. And having obtained the license for that occasion it was good for a whole year. Finally the Council abandoned the contemplated restrictions becaues of the difficulties that loomed in the way, and all the applications were granted for tents and restaurants alike as follows:

Fred Langton, Monaghan Road, A. C. Hawley, Charlotte street; Hum Brothers, The Home Lunch; F. W. Woolworth Co.; J. Penrose, Sherbrooke street; C. J. West, corner Lock and Lansdowne street; Vito Miccoli, 97 Park street south; Francis Rose, 33 Park street; R. B. English, 483 Chamberlen street; T. C. New Agreement Made For Interest Payment.

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press).—Sir William Joynson Hicks, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, informed a questioner in the House of Commons yesterday that it had been agreed to pay the interest on the British war debt to the United States semi-annually, on the fifteenth of June and the fifteenth of September. The installments on the principal of the debt are payable each December fifteenth.

GET READY FOR A SUDDEN CHANGE

When its wet and cool, get ready for hot weather," is a good axiom. Another is, "when you have to buy, and see a chance to save, seize it." There's a June sale going on at Botnick's, 432 George street, where splendid new style ladies', men's and children's garments are selling at exceedingly low prices also dry goods and furnishings reduced to a fraction of value, in an effort to completely clear all seasonable stock, regardless of amount realized. Greatest money saving event available this season.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 8. — Having given little expression of opinion regarding the new German reparations note in the previous session, stocks on the exchange to-day were qually non-committal in the early dealings regarding the likelihood that France would reject Berlin's late offer.

Wall Street felt that the terms suggested at least opened the way to renewed discussion and the active issued showed a disposition to await further developments in this direction before passing judgment.

Steadiness in the general list demonstrated that in the meanwhile the business situation was favourable enough to relieve any apprehension that a continued unsettlement abroad might interfere with domestic prosperity. Some recessions took place among the industrial leaders because of the falling off in the reserve ratio of the Federal banking system, but prices in the market as a whole showed no improvement changes from the previous close.

Heavy profit-taking among the leaders of the recent advance in the industrial group gave this section of the market a heavy tone around eleven o'clock. California Petroleum dropped to a new low on the movement at 109 3-4, off 8 points from the recent high, while losses running from one to three points from the week's high took place in Studebaker, Baldwin, American Can and other recent favorites.

American Express continued to reflect the reduction in the dividend to a six dollar basis, dropping to a new low for the year at 99, off 20 points from the week's high.

Except in issues affected by special developments, however, the reaction did not extend beyond the limits of a nominal setback following the five point recovery in the industrial average from the low point touched last month.

Opening prices were: Royal Dutch 48, off 1-4; General Motors 15; Atchison 101 1-4, off 1-8; Baltimore and Ohio 49 5-8, up 1-8; Studebaker 112, off 1-2; Sinclair 29; American Sugar 73 3-4; Anaconda 45 3-8, off 1-8; N. No Sign of Break in Near East Deadlock.

LAUSANNE, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—There was no sign visible yesterday of a breaking of the deadlock at the Near East Peace Conference. The Turks, however, particularly the younger men attached to their delegation, including the proprietors of Constantinople newspapers, strongly favor an immediate peace, leaving the points in the controversy for settlement at a later date.

The Greeks also are showing marked symptoms of nervousness and are urging the most rapid conclusion of peace possible so that the Greek army can be demobilized.

FIGHT PICTURE AT THE CAPITOL

McTigue Was Never in Danger From Rushing Swinging "Siki"

The more we see of Siki the more we think Carpentier must have gone back several miles to have let the black man lick him the way he did. This is the way it looks after giving the Siki-McTigue fight pictures now showing at the Capitol the once over, for Siki certainly showed nothing there that would warrant him holding any world's championship against many of the fighters now in the ring.

The black man is certainly an aggressive fighter and to anyone with but a limited knowledge of the boxing game it might appear from the fight film that he was putting it all over McTigue, but the truth was and is (and this is shown up in the round of slow motion picture that is also run off) that the Sengalese missed a large percentage of his blows while the others, with but few exceptions, were caught on the arms, shoulders and back of the awkward-looking but still clever Irishman. Mike fought exactly the same fight as we saw him put up against Geo. Robinson, the colored heavyweight and a really great boxer, whom he knocked out in nine rounds in Montreal. The Irishman, as he always does, keeps sticking out his long left and crowding the ropes, all the time waiting for a chance to bring over his right —then curtains. Against Siki it is said Mike broke his right hand in the fifth—he certainly hit the black man hard enough and made him cover up in that and the next round. Siki is a rushing, tearing fighter. He never lets up, but he is pie for a clever man with a good left hand. He seems to be wide open all the time. Fight fans who remember Ad. Wolgast when the latter was in his prime will see just another such boxer in Siki, but the black has not the snap that Wolgast had. He is a swinger, pure and simple.

The pictures, however, are very good. They are clear all the way through and are run off fast and without a drag to them.

DUBLIN, (United Press).—The first Irish Soviet has passed its crisis and is convalescing successfully. Sheep and cattle herders in County Clare seized 800 acres of land owned by neighboring farmers, their employers, and organized the Toorahara soviet. They made an income of $7,500 a year by letting out the land for grazing. The law-abiding Bolshevists were soon overwhelmed by amateurs, who declined to recognize anybody's right to the land, and came by scores with asses, goats, cows, and horses to graze. A compromise has been reached by which the newcomers were let in on the profits and the original Soviet continues to run the country.""

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Saturday, the 16th of June, is the 139th anniversary of the settlement of Upper Canada by the United Empire Loyalists, when they landed on the shore of the Bay of Quinte. It has been suggested that some reference be made in our schools on Friday, the 15th, and in our churches on Sunday, the 17th of June, or at some other convenient dates, to this important event in the history of our country. We do not do enough of that sort of thing. It makes better Canadians. It is good for our native-born citizens and helps to Canadianize our immigrants, to make much of the big events in Canadian history.

One hundred and thirty-nine years ago there were neither schools nor churches in the territory forming Ontario. Now we have thousands. In fact we have so many churches that plans are on foot to amalgamate some out of existence. The original U. E. Loyalists were soldiers in the British forces in the American Revolutionary War, therefore they were the first veterans. It was their services and sacrifices that made possible a British North America with its two million British homes. They were the pioneers of Liberty, and at the second session of their first Parliament abolished slavery, while the American Republic, notwithstanding its famous declaration that all men were free and equal, did not get rid of slavery for seventy three years later. The U. E. Loyalists were democratic and introduced municipal government by the people before there was any legislative authority providing for it. They were religious (having no Tom Paine's among them) and made a God-fearing country. They were loyal to British institutions and that sentiment of loyalty is the dominant sentiment of the country to-day.

Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I noticed an item in the Examiner some time ago in regard to the sale of some marsh lands at the mouth of the Otonabee River purchased by Mr. Fred. Harris, also some dispute concerning rights of trappers along the river. Trappers claim there is an old treaty or agreement allowing them to trap wherever they can paddle a canoe. Last spring some of them carried a paper claiming the Government allowed them to do so. On the other hand, the owners of these marsh lands claim that it it their property and have notices up warning trespassers to keep off. They also claim that when these lands were surveyed there was no marsh until the dam was put in at Hastings, which raised the water some 8 or 9 feet. It is true they were compensated by the Government for flooding their lands, but the Government has no claim whatever. These lands were heavily timbered before the water was raised. This shows beyond a doubt that these marshes were dry land then, and belong to the farms along the river as their deeds will show. In regard to the marsh lands that Mr. Harris bought from some farmers and also Jubilee Point from the Herald Bros., it bought in good faith and has deeds for it. Any person could have bought this property if they had money enough and wanted it. I have no marsh, neither do I trap, but it is interesting to listen to some people that should know better in regard to these noticed properties. One man said to me we can't fish any more in the channels at the mouth of the river. I told him the owners of these marshes had nothing to do with the channels, as they are Government property, and as for the marsh, there is never any fish in them only at spawning time, and nobody has any business in there at that time, as it is close season. I also told him that fish and ducks and fur would never be properly protected until the owners of these breeding places protected them in close season. Mr. Harris was intending to trap none this year, and was going to give the rats a chance to increase, but two or three agitators got in among the trappers and they went in and trapped it in spite of him, and it is said one of them threatened to put him out of the way or that he would get him or words to that effect. This is why the Provincial police was brought here. This man might have made this threat only to scare Mr. Harris but he might have meant what he said, and might some time carry it into execution. Men of this type should be examined as to their sanity, and if found lacking, should be placed in safe keening before they do any harm. There was a law suit over marsh land near here, tried at Cobourg 3 years ago before Judge Meredith. The trappers lost, they appealed and lost again. Another case tried at Kingston about the same time, went the same way, and others I have heard of elsewhere throughout the province. The trappers claim the case tried at Cobourg was not a test case and that it only applies to one marsh. I think the proper thing for them to do would be to take another case to Cobourg and have it thrashed out and not go threatening owners of these marsh lands before they know what they are doing. Trespassing on private property is sometimes very dangerous, as was proven up Lindsay way not long ago, where a shot gun was brought to play on the trespassers. There is one thing sure, there has been no pink tea parties among the trappers and owners of marsh lands for some years now.

LORD CURZON ARRESTED FOR EXCEEDING THE LIMIT

Viscount Curzon, M.P., was fined £3 at Guildford for exceeding the motor speed limit on the Hog's Back.

A police witness said he estimated that speed at between 40 and 45 miles per hour. When stopped Viscount Curzon said: "Can't you see your way not to report the matter? I would take a lot more notice of a caution." Viscount Curzon also remarked: "I don't want any more endorsements on my license. I have got so many that they are falling off."—Belfast Weekly Telegraph.

GERMANS MUST ADMIT DEFEAT

Britain Would Demand This Should She Agree in Joint Answer to Germany.

PARIS, June 8. — (Canadian Press).—Paris and Brussels are keeping in constant communication to-day discussing the advisability of making a reply to the new German reparation note or ignoring it entirely. In event the decision is reached that a reply be made, the French Government is reported to favor a curt dismissal of Germany's latest proposition. Belgium, on the contrary, is said to be desirous of wording an acknowledgment in such a manner as might leave the way open for further parley.

The Belgian Cabinet strongly favors a common inter-Allied reply, but it seems certain that a joint answer will be possible only if London agrees to leave no doubt in the mind of the Berlin Government as to the absolute necessity of discontinuing the Ruhr resistance. Upon this point Belgium and France are solidly agreed.

There has been no direct communication between London and Paris on the subject.

Expectation here is that Great Britain will agree that Germany must admit defeat in the Ruhr.

WEDDING BELLS

FALLS—BARRIE

The Regina "Leader" of June 1st contains the following account of the wedding of Miss Bertha Barrie, daughter of Mrs. M. Barrie, 667 George street.

"Miss Bertha Barrie, formerly of Peterboro, Ontario, became the bride of O. T. Falls, city building inspector, by a ceremony performed yesterday at one o'clock in the presence of scores of friends at the Metropolitan church by Rev. H. W. Avison. The bride was given away by Thos. Barrie, of Peterborough. Her costume was in soft fawn shade; her hat was of mountain haze tone, with canna and pastel touches. She carried a bouquet of carnations and lillies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Falls left later for a honeymoon trip.

The wedding luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Crowe.

The bride was the recipient of many gifts, being one of the most popular members of the Parliament Building staff Mr. Falls was tendered a walnut clock from civic department heads.'

OBITUARY

LABOUR SPLIT TO THE RIGHT IN THE HOUSE

The Latest Complication in British Politics—Away From the Radicals.

A NEW DIGNITY

LONDON, June 9.—(Special).—A split in the Labor party is the latest complication in British politics. The Liberals set the fashion dividing the House at the time of the Lloyd George Coalition. The Unionists followed suit after the Irish settlement. Now Labor is following their footsteps.

The reason for the growing Labor division is the belief among the party leaders that they have a prospect of power after the next election.

In view of this there is a possibility of a small majority swinging ambitious Labor leaders towards the right away from the Radical wing, hoping thus to gain the support of some of the Liberals, who now form the third party in the Commons, supplementing the Irish Nationalists who formerly held the balance of power. Labor realizes that its recent growth is largely a result of the discontent of the "white collar class," and is doing everything possible to hold and increase its influence with this class which formerly well-to-do, is now known as the "new poor."

The former policy of appealing solely to working class interests is changing, and Labor is now appealing to the whole community, really usurping the former Liberal position since the party has been shouldered with the responsibility and dignity of "His Majesty's Opposition."

The Radical wing resents this change of attitude, and is doing its utmost to disturb the dignity of the official Opposition leaders. These leaders refuse to support the radical demonstrations in the House, knowing that submission to Parliamentary rules and the maintenance of accustomed dignity is essential if they would gain the votes of the "new poor" at the next election.

The official leaders' silence on questions such as the native movement in India, the Republican efforts in Ireland, the recent necessary operations in South Africa to suppress Communism, their evident agreement with the British demands upon the Soviet Government and their efforts to settle recent industrial disputes, avoiding general strikes, are all evidence that the Labor leaders are endeavoring to adapt themselves to British political traditions of slow progress with the King, fraternized with the Prince of Wales, the leaders have earned the denunciations of their Radical followers, and having learned the Parliamentary game, are ignoring this semi-rebellion, endeavoring rather to win Liberal support than to satisfy their own left wing. In view of this deliberate effort and of difference of opinion regarding var-

Lochrymose Weather in Old London Fails to Dampen Their Enthusiasm—Crowds at Oxford

A LONDON LETTER

LONDON, (Special).—June 9.—Swarms of Canadian have arrived in London during the last week, and not even the more or less lachrymose samples of weather—you cannot call it a climate—have dampened their enthusiasm.

Crowds of them found their way to Oxford for Eights' Week, the undergraduates' ibg summer term celebration. "Eights" are rowing crews, and their races, which have taken place at the same time in exactly the same way for over a hundred years, are like no others you have ever seen. Every college has a crew and the boats are lined along the bank of the river a length or so apart in the order of their winning the year before. It is a great sight to see them all off at the boom of a gun. Each boats object is to bump the one in front and so on up one in the next race.

Supporters go tearing along the towpath shrieking encouragement to their crews. The course is lined with hundreds of punts then the college barges, house-boats, really where sumptuous teas are served. The banks are black with spectators, for the town is full to overflowing with fathers, mothers, sisters and friends. The races over for the afternoon, all the punt make a beak or the Cherwell (pronounced Char) whose shady backwaters are one of Oxford's greatest charms.

Canadians in Crews

Canada was well represented in the crews Frank Scott, a son of Canon Scott, of Quebec, rowed for Magdalen (Maudlin if you please) the Prince of Wales' old college and one of the swankiest. King Gordon, Ralph Connor's son a Manitoba Rhodes scholar, is in the Queen's college boat, as well as W. H. Brown a Saskatchewan Rhodes scholar. Graham Spry, who was awarded the 1922 Manitoba scholarship, is in the University college boat. The cox of the St. Johns best is Jacques Hebert, of Montreal, and Dana Porter, of Toronto, pulls for Balliol renowned for its drawl and highbrowishness).

(Canadians find it somwhat difficult to make a mark in sport at Oxford, for the major sports which may win the coveted "full blue" are cricket soccer rugby and rowing, nine of which are considered of first importance in Canadian universities, and athletics. Prowess in tennis, lacrosse, golf hockey and swimming only means a "half blue," that is, as far as one can make out, a blue and white striped blazer and muffler.

Poling a Punt

After one of the races I saw D. R. Michener, a Rhodes scholar, from Alberta in his full blue sports coat (he wrested the pole-vaulting championship from Cambridge) poling a punt most gracefully on the "Cher." Punting, by the way is not as easy as it looks. Two enthusiastic Canadian girls provided much amusement for the river in their maiden performance. When their cargo of undergraduates were not being drenched with water they were frantically paddling back to the pole, which had somehow managed to elude the grasp of the fair punties.

Another tradition of Eights' Week are the cider cup luncheons in college. Each undergraduate has a private sitting room with a 'Scout" to wait on him, and incidentally, to report any violations of rules. Here he entertains his guests to Ritz-like

CHAPTER I

The Governor's Suite

ROOM service at the Ajax is of a quality befitting the newest, the largest, and the mot expensive hotel in Dallas. While the standard of excellence is uniformly high, nevertheless some extra care usually attaches to a breakfast ordered from the Governor's suite—most elegant and most expensive of all the suites—hence the waiter checked over his card and made a final, fluttering examination to be sure that the chilled fruit was chilled and that the hot plates were hot before he rapped on the door. A voice, loud and cheery, bade him enter.

The Pajama-clad guest cast a hungry eye over the contents of the rubber-tired breakfast table. He, too, tested the temperature of the melon and felt the cover of the toast plate.

"Splendid!" he cried. "Nice rooms, prompt service, a pleasant-faced waiter. Why, I couldn't fare better in my best club. Thanks to you, my first impression of Dallas is wholly delightful." He seated himself in a padded boudoir chair, unfolded a snowy serviette and attacked his breakfast with the enthusiasm of a perfect healthy animal.

"Is this your first visit here, sir?"

"Absolutely. Dallas is as foreign to me as Lhasa. It is the Bagdad of my dreams and its streets are strange. Perhaps they are full of adventure for me. I hope so. Anything exciting can happen in a town where one has neither friends nor acquaintances, eh?"

"May I ask if you are in oil, sir?"

"In oil? Bless me, what a nauseating question—at this hour of the day!"

"Most everybody here is in oil. We turn dozens away every day, we're that full. It's the boom. I'm in oil myself—in a small way, of course. It's like this: sometimes gentlemen like—well, like you, sir— give me tips. They drop a hint, like about their stocks, and I've done well—in a small way of course. It doesn't cost them anything and—some of them are very kind. You'd really be surprised."

"Oh, not at all." The occupant of the governor's suite leaned back in his chair and smiled widely. "As a matter of fact, I am flattered for it is evident that you are endowed with the money-making instinct and that you unerringly recognize it in others Very well, I shall see what I can do for you. But while we are on the subject of tips, would you mind helping yourself to a dollar out of my trousers pocket?"

The waiter proceeded to do as directed, but a moment later announced, apologetically: "Here's all I find, sir. It's mostly pennies." He exposed a handful of small coins.

"Look in my coat, if you will."

But the second search resulted as had the first. "Strange !"murmured the guest , without rising. "I must have been robbed. I remember now, a fellow crowded me as I left my train. Um-m! Robbed—at the very gates of Bagdad! Dallas is a City of Adventure. Please add your tip to the check, and make it two dollars. I'd like to have you serve me every morning, for I cannot abide an acid face at breakfast. It sours my whole day."

Calvin Gray finished his breakfast, smoked a cigaret as he scanned the morning paper, then he dressed himself with meticulous care.

Some men possess an effortless knack of commanding attention and inspiring courtsey. Calvin Gray was one of these. Before many moments, he was in the manager's office, explaining, suavely, "Now that I have introduced myself, I wish to thank you for taking care of me upon such short notice."

"It was the only space we had. If you wish, I'll have your rooms changed as soon as—"

"Have you something better?"

Haviland the manager, laughed and shook his head. "Scarcely! That suite is our pet and our pride. There's nothing to beat it in the whole Southwest."

"It is very nice. May I inquire the rate?"

"Twenty-five dollars a day."

"Quite reasonable." Mr. Gray beamed his satisfaction.

"It is the only suite we have left. We've put beds in the parlors of the others, and frequently we have to double up our guests. This oil excitement is a blessing to us poor innkeepers. I presume it's oil that brings you here?"

Gray met the speaker's interrogatory gaze with a negative shake of the head and a smile peculiarly non-committal. "No, he declared. "I'm not in the oil business and I have no money to invest in it. On the contrary, I am a penniless adventurer whom chance alone has cast upon your hospitable grand staircase." These words were spoken with a suggestion of mock modesty that had precisely the effect of a deliberate wink, and Mr. Haviland smiled and nodded his complete comprehension.

"I get you," said he. "And you're right. The lease hounds would devil you to death of you gave them a chance. Now then, if there's any way in which I can be of service—"

"There is." Gray's tone was at once businesslike. "Please give me names of your leading bankers. I mean the strongest and the most —well discreet."

During the next few minutes Gray received and swiftly tabulated in his mind a deal of inside information usually denied to the average stranger.

Gray appeared to know exactly wha he wanted to do, for he stopped at the telephone booths, inquired the number of the leading afternoon newspaper, and put in a call for it. When it came through he asked of the city editor. He closed the sound-proof door before voicing his message, then he began,

"City editor? Well, I'm from the Ajax Hotel, and I have a tip for you. I'm one of the room clerks. Listen! Calvin Gray is registered here—got in last night, on gum shoes . . . . Gray! Calvin Gray! Better shoot a reporter around and get a story. . . . . You don't ? Well, other people know him. He's character—globe trotter, soldier of fortune, financier. He's been everywhere and done everything, and you can get a great story of you've got a man clever enough to make him talk. But he won't loosen easily . . . . . Oil, I suppose, but— . . . . . Sure Under cover. Mystery stuff! Another big syndicate probably . . . . Oh, that's all right. I'm

BIZARRE STORY OF A PAINTER

Miss Maud Roose Imagines That Old Masters, Such as Murello, Control Her Hand.

DETROIT, June 9.—Miss Maude Roose, here, is either a victim of her own imagination or else Raphael, Hals and Murillo—dead masters—have come back to earth.

A few weeks ago, first word leaked out that Miss Roose had been painting under inspiration of the masters of a bygone day.

That sounded incredulous to a skeptic. But as the result of an hour's conversation and observation there is not the slightest doubt in the mind of this writer that some force, some phenomen on unknown to us poor mortals is at work on the responsive vibration of Miss Roose's young body.

It is a bizarre story, one well worth listening to.

One day last September she was startled to hear "forces" command her to paint. Paint? What? The side of a barn?

That's how much she says she knew of painting. But these mysterious forces attacked her in increased numbers. She couldn't sleep. Finally, unable to stand it longer, she went—by intuition, she says—to a certain art store here.

Paints the Christ

"There is an old man who comes here. He wears a beard." she told the salesgirl, and proceeded to describe him. "Do you know whom I mean? I don't know his name."

Yes, the girl did know. Miss Roose went to the man the girl named, and the trend of the conversation was something like this:

"Mr. —, I'm going to paint a picture. This may sound foolish to you, but I believe I am being guided by dead artists. Won't you help me pick out paint and so forth. I know nothing about it."

The old artist smiled. "Certainly, and I don't think it as foolish as you believe." And he told of a friend in the old country who believed he had also been thus guided, and who did good work.

Then Miss Roose started. Her first portrait was that of The Christ. It hangs on her wall. It really is beautiful. There is a sympathetic appeal to the blue eyes, a life-like glint to the flesh tint.

FINE WEATHER BROUGHT MANY TO CITY MARKET

Auctioneer Indulges in a Little Levity at Expense of Those Who Feel Badly After 25th.

TODAY'S PRICES

The fine weather of morning brought out a number of buyers in the open market, and the basket section. Eggs and butter were plentiful, the former selling from 26 to 30c a dozen, and butter asking 30 and 31c. For 1 in small quantities was 30c a pound.

In the open section a couple of loads of hay were $15 a load. Potatoes were up from last week's quotation, asking $1 a bag as a general price. One man offered threebags for $2.50. Rhubarb and green onions were plentiful at 5c a bunch, the same price that was asked for radishes, and cabbage lettuce. White onions were 40c a peck, carrots and beets 30c.

The fish man had fresh salmon trout from Georgian Bay at 25c a pound and whitefish at 20c. Apples, Ben Davis and Gainos, were 40c a peck, and Spys 50c.

There were plenty of growing things on the market this morning; cabbage and cauliflower plants at 20c a box; aster and pansy plants at the same price; foliage in smallpots guarded by a quiet little low-voiced lad, who whispered their price as 4 for a quarter; Canterbury bells and bachelors' buttons, 10c apiece. There were bouquets of fresh flowers upstairs, early pale pink peonies, lilies of the valley and purple wild violets. A "variegated" rose bush in a small pot was 75c.

Cream was fairly plentiful in the basket section this morning, selling for 25c a pint. A fox terrier pup was offered for 75c. The auctioneers were as busy as usual, selling anything from bird cages to used cars. One gentleman floundered in the intricacies of feminine apparel in a batch offered for sale. A "poplar" waist came in for his admiring comments and he recommended a black blouse as appropriate apparel for those who "will be feeling badly after the 25th of the month."

MR. F. SHERWOOD RADIO INSPECTOR

Received Notice of His Appointment This Week—The Duties.

Mr. Frank Sherwood, 110 Lock Street, has been appointed radio inspector for the city of Peterboro and district. W. C. C. Duncan, radio inspector at Toronto, interviewed applicants for the position here a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Sherwood received confirmation of his appointment this week from C. P. Edwards, director of radio service at Ottawa.

The duties of a radio inspector includes inspection of radio sets, issuing of licenses and examination of candidates for proficiency in radio telegraphy. All sets, both receiving and transmitting, must be licensed, but persons operating receiving sets only do not require to pass an examination. A penalty of fifty dollars is imposed by law for operation of any radio telegraph apparatus without a license. Licenses may be procured at the Post Office, or from Mr. Sherwood, at his home at 110 Lock Street, or at the Canadian National Telegraph Office in the evening.

Mr. Sherwood has been interested in radio-telegraphy for a number of years. He had the first radio set in this vicinity, and received the first radio programme to be broadcasted, which was sent from the Westinghouse Electric Company's Station KDKA, Fittsburg, in 1920.

WEALTHY WILL PROVIDE FUND

Ministers Want to Know if They Will Be Taken Care of.

PORT ARTHUR, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Wealthy Presbyterians in Canada who are opposed to church union are said to have given the assurance that the ministers who lose their charges or are in financial difficulties due to the opposition to union, will be cared for.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian Church Association to-day, several of the ministers asked the question, What would become of them if they were left without churches and lost their incomes?

It was then stated that arrangements had been made for a Sustentation Fund and for an Augmentation Fund.

Arrangements for this fund are of course incomplete, but certain ministers were reassured that the money would be provided for this purpose.

WOMEN HAVE A DUTY PERFORM ON ELECTION DAY

Women No Longer Bask in the Light of a Necessary Evil—Women of Ancient Days.

PETERBORO WOMEN

"Adam's Rib" was the title of a moving picture that came to our fair city some time ago. The title suggested possibilities that the production failed to live up to. But ever since the first child was taught that the first lady was manufactured from a rib of the first man, it has been the fashion to consider women as somewhat in the light of a necessary evil. Their chronicles forget the all-important fact that while Adam was by way of being somewhat of an experiment, Eve, on the other hand, would receive a perfection of finishing which would naturally appertain to a second trial While Adam was an effervescent sort of being, summoned, so to speak, out of thin air, Eve had a perfectly tangible beginning, in her bony foundation, and would therefore be a more solid, dependable creation.

The power of women since the beginning of time has been incalculable. Right down through the ages, women have been the torch-bearers, the light of the world. It may have been some times rather a lurid light, as in the case of the lady who danced for the head of the Forerunner, or the woman who started the Trojan wars, although a modern commentator claims the Greeks protested against the return of the mischief-making Helen to their midst. However, history is full of instances of the worth and devotion of women, right down from that ancient Judith who vamped the Assyrian king and returned triumphant to her people, bearing his severed head before her, to the time of the good Queen Victoria of hallowed memory. The assertion has never been denied that a country always prospers under a queen, although some mean male writer says this condition is due to the fact that a queen only governs nominally, the actual running of affairs being in the hands of her male advisers.

All of which is merely a prelude to the main idea, which is the attempt to point out to the women of Peterborough that much of the success of many public undertakings lie in their hands, and not the least of these is the choice of the proper candidate in the forthcoming election.

Although they have never said anything about it, it was no doubt just as much of a surprise to women to find out that they could have a hand in the making of the laws of the land, as it was to the men when the idea was first introduced. And they have found out another thing also, or at least they are awakening to an inkling of an idea of it, that their power on voting day is enormous. The woman who cherishes in her bosom a sense of defeat and constant supervision in other relations of marital life must have a

NATIONS TOLD GERMANY MUST PAY LARGE SUM

Premier Mussolini Outlined Italy's Stand on European Problems in Speech to Senate.

GERMANY CAN PAY.

ROME, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)— Germany's can and ought to pay a precise sum as reparations which should be universally acknowledged and which should be quite a different sum than the several hundred billion gold marks spoken of following the signing of the armistice, according to a statement made by Premier Mussolini in addressing the senate yesterday.

The premier added that Italy held to her previous belief that reparations and Inter-Allied debts were intimately connected. The greatest necessity of to-day, he said, was general political action of a nature which would serve to bring back to normal as rapidly as possible the situation on the European continent.

"Italy's prime interest is to hasten the peaceful settlement of the European crisis which since the beginning of the Treaty at Versailles has been dominated by the question of reparations," the Premier declared. He then outlined Italy's stand on European problems as follows:

First—Germany can and ought to pay a precise sum as reparations which should be be universally acknowledged and which should be quite a different sum than the several hundred billions of marks spoken of following the signing of the armistice.

Second — Italy will not tolerate modifications or overturnings of the territorial order, being able to carry out her scheme of a military, economic and political hegemony.

Third—Italy is disposed to carry out her share of sacrifices, if sacrifice should be necessary, for the economic reconstruction of Europe.

Fourth—The Italian Government maintains to-day, more than ever before, as regards the last German note, that the problems of reparations and inter-allied debts are intimately connected, and, in a fashion, inter-dependent.

"There is no doubt," continues Mussolini, "that the occupation of the Ruhar has made the reparations crisis extremely delicate. It is necessary to set down the principal points of the Italians British and German attitudes in order to have a tableaux of the situation, so that it may clear where the definite projects coincide and where they diverge. This is necessary in order to lay the ground for a possible agreement. If this were done it would make clear why Itatly at Paris was not able to accept the project of Andrew Bonar Law."

The Premier then proceeded to a detail analysis and discussion of the various attempts to solve the reparations problem by the governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

HUN RAILROADS WERE OFFERED AS GUARANTEES

Huge System Has Been Operating at a Deficit But Can Be Made to Show a Good Profit.

LOW TARIFF RATES.

BERLIN, June 9. Canadian Press. —In throwing her railroads into the balance as a reparations guarantee, Germany is offering the biggest state owned railway net in the world, and one which ranks only fourth in mileage, being surpassed by the Canadian, United States and British-Indian systems.

The tracks of the railroad cover 57,574 kilometers and it still leads the European systems in size despite the loss of 7400 kilometers due to the war. The government took control of the railroads in April, 1920, by paying the various States a total of approximately forty billion paper marks. Financial circles credit the Government with having put across a good business deal in making this purchase, although in recent years the system has been running with such a heavy deficit that the losses can scarcely be computed in paper currency.

A liberal estimate by the experts places the present valuation of the German lines at thirty billion gold marks, a noteworthy national nest-egg which they say is capable of being developed into a much greater asset. On the basis of this valuation the raising of five hundred million gold marks annually on the railroads as proposed in the German memorandum, would mean an interest rate of only two per cent.

Business and traffic experts believe that much can be done to put the railways on a paying basis. The main reason for the colossal deficit, in the opinion of the experts, seems to be that the tariff rates lag far behind the rate of exchange. They point out one instance to illustrate this—in pre-war days a third class ticket from Berlin to Hamburg on an express train cost ten marks; the same ticket now costs only 16,400 marks, whereas the dollar exchange rate of 80,000, its price should be 200,000 Freight rates are suffering under a similar state of affairs, and if the Allies accept the roads as a guarantee, it is expected that large tariff increases will be instituted immediately in order to promote a return to pre-war railway prosperity.

Russia Will Not Heed Demands of the British.

MOSCOW, June 9. Canadian Press —Soviet Russia will not lower her dignity in the eyes of the eastern peoples by withdrawing her representatives from Persia and Afghanistan as Great Britain's demand. This is understood to be the official Soviet attitude in regard to Lord Curzon's latest note. The Soviet contends that these representatives are not engaged in Anti-British propaganda, as is alleged, but are carrying out a defensive struggle for Russia's interests in the borderland.

The Soviet Government is ready to concede practically all the other points raised by the British, it is said, but this it cannot.

U.S. GRAIN CROPS WILL BE SMALLER

Oats and Barley Show Larger Acreage But All Other Grains Will Have Smaller Crops.

WASHINGTON, June 9—(Canadian Press) — The principal grain crops of the United States will be smaller this year than last, with the exception of oats and barley, both of which have been planted on larger acreages than a year ago, according to the Department of Agriculture's monthly report issued yesterday. No reports have been made yet on corn. Winter wheat show slightly improved prospects resulting from May conditions and a crop of 581,000,000 bushels is forecast.

This totals a little more than was indicated a month ago and about 5,000,00 bushels less than last year's crop. In Kansas there was a reduction of more than 10,000,000 bushels in the forecast compared with a month ago and in some other States there were slight decreases.

The season's first forecast of Spring wheat production reported the prospective yield at 236,000,000 bushels, or 40,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop, which was placed at 276,000,000 bushels in revised statistics yesterday. The Spring wheat acreage is 5.1 per cent less than last year's. North Dakota's crop promises about one-third less than a year ago, while Minnesota and South Dakota will have slightly smaller crops Montana and Washington show increases over last year.

HENRY J. ALLEN GREETS NEW GOVERNOR OF SYRIA

BEYROUTH, Syria, June 9.—(Associated Press)— The former governor of an American state greeted the new governor of a French state in Beyrouth recently when General Weygand arrived to assume the reins of government of Syria, and was welcomed by former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas.

Mr. Allen has been here on a tour of investigation for the Near East Relief to study the problems of orphans and refugees. His meeting with the French general gave a distinctly American touch to the ceremony. In the presence of the entire American colony the two governors recalled with sympathy the work of the American Relief.

Just before greeting General Weygand, Mr. Allen watched the entry into the town of a hundred blind children who had been brought by the American Relief through a perilous journey of 700 miles over mountains and desert stretches from Karpoot, in the interior of Anatolia.

Cyclone-Like Storm Damaged Cannington.

LINDSAY, June 9.— The severe storm which swept this section of the province this week was particularly severe north-west of Lindsay. It assumed the proportions of a cyclone at Cannington, where it did considerable damage. Two windows of the Methodist church, one a memorial window costing $1,500 were blown in. Many pews and some of the furnishings were completely ruined, entailing a loss of $3,000. Scores of windows on the main street and in private residences. The roofs of two houses weer blown off, trees torn up by the roots and a grader was blown from one side of the street to the other.

Struck By Lightning and Instantly Killed.

LINDSAY, June 9.—During the electrical storm on Tuesday afternoon, James Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, who reside between Port Perry and Brooklin, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was playing with his little brother and sister near the door of a loft above a shed adjoining the house, when the bolt of lightning struck him, and he fell to the ground, a distance of 10 feet. Dr. James Moore was called, but life was extinct when he arrived.

Roads Are Impassable Peterborough to Lindsay.

LINDSAY, June 9.— Those who are contemplating a motor trip from Peterborough to Lindsay would be well advised to leave their car in the garage and travel by train, according to County Engineer Miles, for the highway to Peterborough is impassable. The main street of Omemee is torn up in preparation for paving, and it has been converted into a quagmire owing to the heavy rains. The road to Peterborough from Downeyville, via Cowan's bride, is in dangerous shape, the water being two feet deep on the road near the bridge.

The Premier said the French and Belgian Governments had agreed not to consider any proposal from Chancellor Cuno unless it was preceded by complete and final cessation of the German passive resistance campaign. He assured the Senators that the Government's relations with the Belgians were entirely satisfactory, and that everything was going well in the Ruhr.

City Collector of Halifax Suspended.

HALIFAX, June 9.—(Canadian Press). — Alleged irregularsties in creating tax payments made by W. F. Page were the cause of the suspension of City Collector Theakston. a few days according to a statement issued by Mayor Murphy to the City Council Thursday evening and made public yesterday. At a meeting Saturday last of the mayor, the members of the Independent Audit staff the City Collector, City Solicitor and W. F. Page, the auditors handed the mayor a statement showing that while the taxes of W. F. Page for the years nineteen thirten, fourteen fifteen and nineteen twenty were shown to be unpaid, Mr. Page had been able to produce cheque stubs and receipts showing same to have been paid in full. It was then discovered that cheques had been duly deposited in the Royal Bank but had been credited to other years than those to which they applied. No explanation for this action had been given. Mayor Murphy's action in suspending the official was upheld by the majority of the council Thursday night.

TO INVESTIGATE BIG FAILURE OF N.Y. STOCK FIRM

L. L. Winkleman, One of the Largest Brokerage Houses on the New York Curb, the Fourth to Fail

DOORS CLOSED.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Canadian Press.)— Attorney-General Sherman yesterday announced that he and five deputies had begun a sweeping investigation into the affairs of several stock brokerage houses holding membership in the New York Curb market. The announcement was made in connection with the bankruptcy yesterday of L. L. Winkelman and Company, largest active house connected with the Curb market.

Mr. Sherman said he had conferred with officers of the Curb Market yesterday afternoon.

"Investigation of other members of the Curb will go on," he said. "We began our active campaign a week ago. Several members of the Consolidated Stock Exchange also will be investigated.

"We are not empowered by law to make any general investigation into the affairs of the Curb Market itself, but we will take up one firm after another and we will close every one whose books warrant such action."

Failure of the Winkelman Company and reported investigation by the Curb Market of three other firms caused Federal Attorney Hayward and District Attorney Banton earlier in the day to extend their investigation of the series of failures into general stock brokerage conditions.

The investigation which already had been begun into the affairs of four large failures previous to the Winkelman collapse, it was stated, would be etxended to include inquiry into conditions which caused losses of millions of dollars to thousands of investors.

Members of the New York Stock Exchange with Curb connections, it was learned, have brought pressure to bear for a general house cleaning of the Curb Exchange.

Filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Winkelman firm in Federal Court was the climax of an interesting forenoon around the company's office during which the doors were closed for a time and then re-opened, only to be closed by announcement of the failure.

The bankruptcy of the firm resulted in extensive forced liquidation of many stocks which yielded one to three points under pressure. Standard Oils of Indiana and Ohio were among the leading stocks to lose a point or two.

After announcement of the failure, a crowd of more than 500 persons gathered outside the company's office and several policemen were assigned to the task of clearing the entrance to the building which was occupied entirely by the defunct concern.

Germany May Issue a Million-Mark Note.

BERLIN, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Preparations are reported under way at the Federal money printing plant to issue notes in denominations of 1,000,000 marks. It is stated a limited number of these notes are to be printed for the use of large business concerns. It had already been definitely announced that 500,000 mark notes would begin to appear the latter half of July.

Although other single bank notes in the world are doubtless more valuable than the 1,000,000 mark note would be, it is believed this note, if issued, will constitute a record for value expressed in such large numerals.

Serious Mutiny Was Put Down By Soviets.

STOCKHOLM, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—A mutiny of the Second Cavalry Brigade of the Soviet Army garrisoned at Kazan has been put down after heavy fighting with forces sent from Moscow, and thirty of the mutineers' leaders have been executed, according to a despatch from the Moscow correspondent of the Stockholm Tidende. When the mutiny broke out, according to the despatch, the soldiers killed three political commissioners and several commanding Communists. The population of the town is said to have joined the mutineers in fighting against the forces from Moscow.

JUTTING ROCK SAVED LIVES OF FOUR SAILORS

Tow Line Between Drifting Barges Caught and Prevented Destruction on Rocky Shore.

MEN UNINJURED.

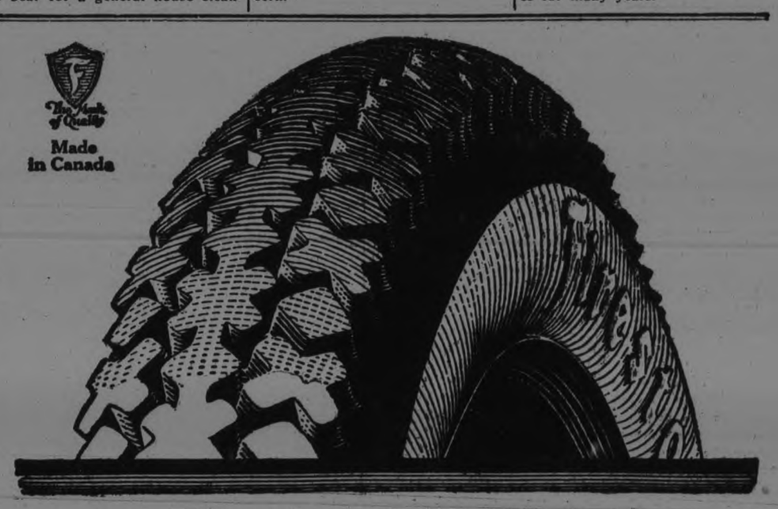
ERIE, Pa., June 9. — Canadian Press. — Four Great Lakes sailors owe their lives to-day to a rock which jutting up out of Lake Erie at Eight Mile Creek, east of this city, caught a tow line between two helpless barges being buffeted in a storm and kept them from being dashed to death in a storm. The barges—215 and 234—in tow of the steam barge Rensselaer, engaged in the sulphur trade between New York and Cleveland, were set adrift in one of the worst June storms in years early yesterday morning. The tow line parted just out side of Erie Harbor and Captain W. H. McQuivey, of Buffalo, put into port h.e when he was unable to locate the barges in the storm.

After drifting for about two hours the tow line suddenly caught on the rock, preventing the barges from being pounded to pieces. Shortly after noon yesterday the men were discovered and taken off by the Erie Cost Guard crew, which managed to shoot a line to them.

The men on board the barges were taken to a nearby farmhouse where they are recovering. They were not injured but suffered from exposure to the high seas which swept over them.

MEN MORE TUBERCULAR

CHICAGO (United Press)—Tuberculosis is more prevalent among males than females, according to W. A. Fraser, head of the Woodmen of the World. " The proportion of those afflicted with the white plague is about 105 males to 100 females throughout the United States" said Fraser. "The proportion of deaths is about 128 males to 100 females. There has been little change in this porportion between the sexes for many years."



What Is a Cord Tire?

In cord tires the individual cords in each ply all run in one direction; in fabric tires these threads are woven at right angles to each other.

There is no crossing or binding in cord tires—practically eliminating all friction and heat from flexing and bending.

In Firestone Cord Tires the thousands of cords which compose the carcass are of long staple, high tensile strength cotton—from six to ten plies, according to size of tire.

These cords are fully permeated with rubber. They are calendered, forcing additional rubber into every fibre.

Between the cords and the tread go a breaker strip and cushion gum, extra thick—to protect the cord body.

The pattern and toughness of the non-skid tread provide a surer grip on the road—lend efficient traction without power wastage.

When you equip your car with Firestone Cords you are buying the best in tiredom—the highest class footing your car can have. When you buy your new car or order tires, insist on Firestones and insure yourself most miles per dollar. Ask your dealer.

MR. DOWNEY'S APPOINTMENT.

While congratulating him upon his appointment as School Inspector for East Victoria, the citizens of Peterborough will be very sorry to learn that his acceptance of the position makes it necessary for Mr. R. F. Downey, Principal of the Central School, to leave Peterborough and take up residence in Lindsay.

Mr. Downey has been Principal of the Central School for a long period and has rendered the city sterling service in that capacity. His school has always stood well to the front, and he has succeeded in leaving the impress of his character upon both staff and pupils.

In addition to his success in his profession, Mr. Downey has been a good citizen, interesting himself in many activities that had for their aim the advancement of the community.

His long service as a teacher should fit him splendidly for the important duties involved in his new position, and the general feeling among citizens generally will be that the Victoria County Council has made a very wise choice in selecting Mr. Downey.

At the same time, Peterborough cannot help feeling a sense of loss in the departure of an excellent teacher and a very useful and substantial type of citizen.

A WELCOME SUGGESTION.

The suggestion that the City Council co-operate with the Trent Waterway Development Association in endeavouring to have His Excellency the Governor-General make a tour of part, at least, of the famous waterway and visit some of the municipalities along its route is an excellent one.

The people of this district would be glad to welcome Baron Byng because, in the first place, they are anxious to do honour to one of the most gallant soldiers of the Empire and a former commander of the Canadian corps in France, and, secondly, they are proud of the Trent waterway and anxious that the Governor-General should not complete his term of office without an opportunity of seeing the most beautiful chain of rivers and lakes on the continent.

Last year there was a suggestion brought forward that the historic journey of Champlain along the Trent waterway be memoralized by a series of pageants at various points along the route.

It is probably too late to do anything along that line this year, but the plan to have the hero of Vimy visit the district is an excellent substitute, and his tour could be made a gala event that would concentrate considerable attention upon the Trent waterway.

Peterborough people would not want His Excellency to leave Canada without a visit to this community and without a chance of seeing the wonderful scenic beauty of the rivers and lakes of the Kawartha chain and of the Trent, because they rightly feel that Canada offers nothing better in the way of varied and charming vista than are to be found along the route that Champlain once travelled.

THE TRENT WATERWAY.

Reports presented at the annual meeting of the Trent Waterway Development Association on Thursday furnish proof—if any were needed—that the association has very successfully carried on the work for which it was organized.

The primary object of securing for the Trent waterway publicity that would attract to this district tourists from the United States and Canada has been very faithfully observed, and the results have been such as to justify a continuance of the publicity campaign.

With an economic expenditure, the association has succeeded in putting the charms of the Trent before large numbers of people of the type most likely to be attracted by such an appeal.

The display at the New York Motor Boat Show, for instance, "sold" the Trent waterway to many American boat owners whose trim craft may be expected to come gliding through the waters by the chain in the near future.

Each motor-boat party touring the waterway means not only business for the municipalities, but also is a guarantee of other visitors, as the returning tourists tell their friends of the charm of the scenery along the route.

The effect of the publicity work of the association is therefore cumulative and should be more fully felt each year.

The municipalities on the Trent will all benefit from the increased tourist traffic, and it would be only good business on their part to see that the association's work is not handicapped by lack of funds. The appropriations made by the municipal councils have not been too generous, and Peterborough, the only city on the route, has scarcely done its full duty in this respect.

A grant towards such work as has been carried on is not giving anything away—in reality, it is a very safe investment, promising sure dividends, and the local appropriation might easily be doubled in view of the concrete results already secured.

LACK OF INTEREST.

There seems to be a general feeling of apathy in regard to the Ontario elections, as indicated not only by small attendance at many political meetings and by the failure of the campaign to monopolize conversation as usual, but in a more tangible form by reports that the revising officers in many districts, have found no rush of electors anxious to get their names on the lists.

The majority of people have not even taken the trouble of looking at the voters' lists—probably feeling that if through some reason or other their names have been omitted it does not matter very much anyway.

With three parties in the field seeking the endorsation of the electorate, different conditions might have been expected.

Apparently, however, the dissolving to a considerable extent of party feeling has had the effect of killing off interest.

The community is no longer divided into two camps as in the old days.

On the contrary, each candidate has his little coterie of workers, but the great majority of the people stand aloof from campaign organizations.

They seem to be satisfied that they are doing enough in casting their votes, and many of them are even more easily satisfied for they do not bother to exercise the franchise.

Partyism as we used to know it in Ontario may have had its drawbacks, but it, at least, served to interest most electors in the question of government.

Modern political conditions, on the other hand, seem to leave people indifferent and apathetic.

It is not a healthy condition, nor does it lead to strong governments nor efficient administration.

HOW ENGLAND COMES BACK.

A country's business changes little from day to day, and it may well be that the Englishman, plodding along in his honest and intelligent way, does not realize the changes for the better which have come about since the Armistice. It may also be that the habitual self-depreciation which Americans find so deceptive makes him understate the business he is really doing, both as to volume and to character. But to an observer comparing with a previous visit in 1919, before the ink on the peace treaty was dry, the changes already achieved are almost startling.

In 1905 Sir George Paish estimated the British investments abroad at £3,000,000,000. His estimate in 1911 was £3,500,000,000, and in 1914 before the outbreak of war another estimate was published, for which he tells me he was chiefly responsible, placing the figure at the round sum of £4,000,000,000. The amount is difficult to arrive at because for obvious reasons it is far from completely disclosed in the income tax returns. The estimates of the reduction of this investment during the war vary from £600,000,000 to £800,000,000, but in conversation a few nights ago Sir George said that the present investment must have recovered to £3,800,000,000, excluding of course the amount owed to England by her Allies which may well remain unpaid for many years to come. The point is that this invaluable nucleus of national wealth is now within £200,000,000 of the highest estimated figure of the past.

There is no use to ignore or minimize Britain's loss in what amounts to cash through the war. Conservative bankers have figured it out for me at no less than $25,000,000,000. The way Britain has "come back" therefore is all the more astonishing.

It is tru that there are over a million people unemployed in this country as shown in the registered recipients of the "dole." But even here there is an improvement, because that figure less than three years ago exceeded three millions. This is the price in a way, of financial integrity. In an article for the London Times not yet published as this is written Mr. Ernest L. Franklin, one of the partners in the great banking house of Samue' Montague & Co., points out that the unemployment problem can be met and solved by a country which is heavily in debt to other countries if it is willing to embark upon a career of calculated dishonesty, as in the case of Germany. As Mr. Franklin says, such a country can sell its products abroad to great advantage and buy its raw materials for imports in the same way, paying its labor in its depreciated paper currency and keeping the real banking resources outside its own borders. Of course this sort of thing cannot go on indefinitely, but it can be made to work for an indefinite time. The comparison makes it look as if Great Britain had merely the poor consolation that virtue is its own reward.

But there is a higher reward for virtue than that, and a tangible reward. This country stands foursquare to all the winds that blow buttressed by its financial integrity. There was a time when it seemed as if the financial centre of the world would be moved from London to New York. If ever such a possibility existed, it has passed to a point beyond consideration. It is integrity which makes the centre of the world's credit and no one who knows the English methods of business can fail to have noticed how immense the London bank turnover is when measured by the gold and capital underneath it.

London moreover will remain the centre of the world's finance because it is what New York will never be, a free market for everything. When Congress is insanely meddling with our grain markets, our cotton and sugar exchanges, England leaves such exchanges to settle their own problems in their own way with what to us looks like the absolute minimum of bureaucratic interference, although the liberty-loving Englishman says of this there is too much. We have the surprising spectacle of England as the market for rubber, a product of which America consumes not less than 70 per cent. Congress has also done its best to divert trading in grain to Winnipeg and Liverpool, while every British exporter I met here prays that the United Shipping Board, with all its costly meddle and muddle and its hopeless incompetence, may be preserved, together with the La Follette Seaman's Law, to contribute to the recovery of British rade.—Barron's.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, June 9.—The downward turn in the cattle market this week has rather upset the calculations of those who thought the recent sharp upturn would stay for a while, at least, to assure steady markets at the advanced prices. So far as the butcher cattle are concerned that calculation has proved a little too optimistic. For some reason the demand for butcher stuff suddenly slackened and prices in Monday's opening market went off about 25c from the previous Monday's average in the butcher section. During the week the decline became more pronounced, especially on the medium and common butcher offerings. Choice butchers held steady at the 25c decline, but on the medium and common butchers prices went back anywhere from 50c to $1 with 400 or 500 cattle left over unsold at the close of Thursday's market.

While the easier butcher market affected other sections to some extent, the export section practically steady all through the week, the demand being slightly ahead of supplies of real export quality, until the end of the week, when there was a slightly lower tendency, especially for the export bulls.

Some observers of the market are of opinion that this week's set-back is more or less of a temporary character. At the same time they would advise shippers to be rather careful not to overcrowd the market next week, particularly in the butcher section. There will be a good demand for cattle of export weight and quality, the early part of the week at any rate. For butcher quality, except for best choice, the market is a little uncertain, and shippers will be well advised to be a little cautious.

Grass cattle are beginning to come on the market, and with the coming of the usual warm weather spells, there is bound to be a tendency to hold prices down. The present export outlet is a favorable feature of the market, and with moderate shipments, prices should hold fairly steady in both the butcher and export classes.

The small meats, calves suffered a sharp decline of a dollar to a dollar and a half in the closing markets. Some fair good veal calves were hard to cash in at $10.

Heavy sheep are dull and lower.

There has been a pronounced slump in hog prices this week, and it is said, in view of present low bacon prices in the British markets, that prices here must go still lower. Week-end hog prices were based on a flat rate of $8.25 f.o.b., with a 60c differential or $8.85 fed and watered.

For the information of those interested in the marketing of hogs, the following are the prices, based on flat rate of $8.25 f.o.b. for all graded hogs, according to the official grading:

PARIS' CITY OF DEAD.

PARIS (United Press)—The Paris catacombs — famous substerranean city of the dead—recently reopened after being closed throughout the war, are again becoming one of the show-places of Paris. Scores of Americans make the trip through the weird underground vaults. The vast labyrinth corridors cut from stone hold the skeletons of more than three million persons who have died in Paris during several centuries. Nowhere in modern civilization have the remains of the dead been employed on such a scale for ornamental and show purposes. Hundreds of thousands of skulls, arm and leg bones are arranged in artistic patterns and mosiacs on the walls. In other corridors the bones and skulls are piled neatly in square piles. On one wall is a great spider, its body formed of skulls, the legs of leg-bones.

The vessels will be entirely furnished and completed in Sweden. They will be of 3,000 tons each and will have a speed of 18 knots an hour.

This is the first order ever placed in Sweden by American firms for large ships.

ANNUAL CONVENTION ONTARIO RELIGIOUS EDUCATION COUNCIL

Sunday School Workers of Campbellford and Seymour Township Inspired to Renewed Energy in Their Labors.

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9.—The Sunday school workers in the town of Campbellford and the township of Seymour received new inspiration for their work among the young people of the different churches, at the annual convention of the Ontario Religious Education Council, with which all the Sunday schools are affiliated, which was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Parish Hall of Christ church. In spite of the rainy weather there was a good attendance at both sessions and officers and teachers cannot fail to be benefitted by the admirable parctical addresses that were made by Rev. W. P. Fletcher, secretary of the council.

Mr. Fletcher is a clear and fluent speaker, who wastes no effort in oratorical flights, but confines himself to the practical features of the work in which he has won so much honorable fame throughout the province. His speeches never fail to interest his audience. He was a country-bred boy, he is acquainted with conditions in the rural as well as in the urban communities and his most apt and striking illustrations are drawn from his memories of incidents of his youth. In him the boys and girls of Ontario have a devoted friend, who sympathizes with them in all their trials and temptations, in all their hopes and ambitions.

Delegates Welcomed.

The session began at 2.30 p.m., with R. J. Bullen, the president, in the chair, and nearly every Sunday school in the district was represented, although the rain fell steadily all morning and during the afternoon.

The opening devoional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. J. Black, of Burnbrae, after which the delegates were welcomed by A. E. Caddy, acting for Rev. Rural Dean Clarke, who was in Toronto attending the Anglican Synod.

Mr. Caddy stressed the importance of the work in the Sunday school. The children who are instructed there to-day make the church of the future. For that reason their religious training is most important. The best citizens in Canada to-day are those who have been brought up in the atmosphere of the Sunday school because when they grow up, go where they will, they can always find a home in the church. He extended to all the delegates present a hearty welcome.

Reports of Departments.

Encouraging reports of progress during the past year were submitted by the superintendents of the various departments. Mrs. G. A. Kingston reported a balance in the bank of $36 and later in the session it was decided, on motion of Revs. J. J. Black and H. B. Kenny, to turn this over to the executive of the Religious Education Council.

The secretary had prepared a chart, which was hung up in the room, showing the standard of efficiency attained during the year by the Sunday schools in the district, the marks of credit being awarded according to the number of departments, are suggested by the Council, which are in operation. St. Andrew's Sunday school of Campbellford headed the list with a perfect mark of 100; the Baptists were second with 90, the Methodists third with 80, and the Anglicans fourth with a score of 75. The absence of a teacher training or some other department explained the difference in the standing. The rating of the Sunday schools in the country may be lower, but the work they are carrying on is no less effective.

Miss K. Gould responded for the Children's Department; Miss J. P. Archer for the Girls' and Rev. J. J. Black for the Boys; Mrs. F. Weston for the Adult Department, Mrs. H. W. Carter for the Home, A. Winter for the Men; Mrs. William Hume for the Missionary, and Mrs. Geo. Dickson for the Temperance Department

Mr. Fletcher's Address.

After a short address by Chairman Bullen, in which he referred to the Sunday school as the most important branch of the church work Rev W. P. Fletcher spoke on the advantages of teacher training. The whole trend of the age, he said, is in the direction of improvement. Men are given special training to fit them for road building, to take care of live stock and to minister to the bodily wants of humanity. Why not then train the men and women who are engaged in shaping the religious future of the children?

A quartette from St. Andrew's church choir consisting of Miss Hazel Atkinson, Mrs. D. W. Douglas, Walter Henson and Fred Wigglesworth, the organist, gave a charming rendition, unaccompanied, of the hymn, "Just as I am."

A round table conference was next held, Mrs. Fletcher answering several questions with regard to the work.

A nominating committee to select the new officers was appointed, one representative from each Sunday school being present. The session then adjourned until 7.30 p.m., the nominating committee meeting in the meantime.

The New Officers.

After devotional exercises, the first business taken up was the report of the nominating committee. This was adopted, and the officers for the current year are as follows:

Pres., W .W. Reddin.
Vice-Pres., George A. Kingston.
Sec.-Treas., Mrs. W. M. Hume.
Children's Dept., Miss K. Gould.
Young People, Boys, Rev. E. O. Seymour; Girls, Mrs. J. P. Archer.
Young Peoples, Rev. J. J. Black.
Adult Dept., Mr. A. L. Malcolm.
Home Dept., Mrs. A. Winters.
Teacher Training, A. Winters.
Missionary, Mrs. George Craighead.
Temperance, Mrs. R. C. Weston.

The choir of Christ Church, Miss Gertrude Maynard, acting as accompanist, then rendered the anthem "The Lord is My Shepherd," Mr. O. H. Gledhill taking the solo part.

Miss Bonnycastle, one of the members of the choir, rendered a solo during the evening.

To Hold the Young People.

In his second address Mr. Fletcher dealt with the problem of holding for the church all the boys and girls who pass through the Sunday school many of whom never become members when they grow up. Among the remedies which he suggested was the adoption of modern methods of teaching the lessons. Every trade and profession is abandoning old lines and showing greater efficiency as a result and there is no reason why religious work should lag behind. One of his recommendations was that a boy of 17 should not be placed in a class taught by a lady. A boy at that age is anxious to become a man and is not likely to hold feminine instruction in high esteem.

"The Four Square Boy."

Rev. C. F. McIntosh of St. Andrew's gave an interesting talk on "The Four Square Boy," his address being illustrated with views thrown from a lantern operated by Samm Clegg. The example held up for all boys was the young Christ, of whom during the "silent years" from his birth to the beginning of his ministry only one reference is made by the evangelists, His appearance in the temple at the age of 12, when He puzzled the preists with His questions. That story closes with the statement that Christ increased in stature and wisdom and in favor with God and man.

This four fold development should be the aim of every boy and helpful suggestions to attain this end were given in the views shown.

After a vote of thanks moved by Rev. H. B. Kenny and J. E. Glover had been tendered to Mr. Fletcher and Mr. McIntosh for their addresses, Rev. E. O. Seymour pronounced the benediction and the convention came to a close.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. RORKE

Large Attendance at the Meeting of the Cavanville Ladies' Aid — Officers Elected.

CAVAN, June 9.—On Thursday afternoon, June 7, a social gathering of unusual interest was held at the Methodist Parsonage, Cavanville. It was the usual meeting of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. Rorke was entertaining them, it being the last meeting which Mrs. Rorke, as president, expected to conduct on the Cavan Circuit. An invitation had been extended to all the ladies of the congregation to attend, and the gathering was large.

A short programme was first given, consisting of music, vocal and instrumental. Mrs. Rorke also read a letter from her daughter, a missionary in Japan, acknowledging the receipt of money sent by the W.M.S., Fairmount, and the Ladies' Aid, Cavanville, also a sum from her father for use in her work. Miss Rorke told some interesting facts about the work in which she is engaged.

It was necessary to elect officers for the year as the weather and roads had been so unfavorable at the time of the previous meeting, that the number in attendance was small and it had been thought wise to defer the election of officers until June. The following officers were elected:

Prsident—Mrs. R. Matchett.
Vice-Presidents—Mrs. J. Swain and Mrs. F. M. Staples.
Secretary—Mrs. Archie Kennedy.
Treasurer—Mrs. James Douglas.
Organist—Miss Annie Tinney.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. James Douglas, showing a creditable balance on hand.

Miss Fannie Hunter extended an invitation to the Aid to meet at her home for the July meeting. The invitation was accepted.

It was decided that at the July meeting, arrangements would be made for holding an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. James Douglas towards the end of July. This would give the congregation an opportunity to meet and welcome their new pastor and his family.

It was moved and seconded that a letter of sympathy should be sent to Mrs. Archie Kennedy from the aid, concerning the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. White. It was left to Mrs. F. M. Staples to do this on behalf of the Aid.

Before the meeting closed Mrs. Matchett read the following address to Mrs. Rorke, and Mrs. Douglas presented her with an envelope containing fifty dollars.

Cavanville, June 7, 1923.

Dear Mrs. Rorke,—We, the members of the Ladies' Aid of Cavanville Methodist Church, wish to express to you our regret, that on account of the ill-health of our pastor, you cannot remain with us another year.

Three years ago you came among us a stranger, now you leave as a beloved friend.

"God never loved us in a sweeter way before,
It is He, alone, Who can such blessings send,
And when His love would new expression find
He brought thee to us and said,
'Behold a friend.'"

Your kindness, sympathy, tactfulness and sweet Christian life and influence have won for you many friends, and life here will always be fuller and richer for having known you.

In every good work you were always an interested, willing helper, whether helping at our social gatherings or teaching a Sunday School class or presiding at our monthly meetings of our Ladies' Aid.

We ask you to please accept this sum of money, as a slight remembrance from us and also as a token of our esteem for you, and we pray that the blessing of our Heavenly Father may rest upon you and your household as you go to your new home.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid,

Miss A. Tinney.
Mrs. Jas. Douglas.
Mrs. R. Matchett.

Mrs. Rorke made a suitable reply, thanking the ladies for the kind words of the address as well as the gift. Mrs. Rorke said this moving time was different from any previous change, because for the first time in her life her home would not be in a parsonage.

A lunch was then served.

After lunch was completed a delegation of men from the congregation came in, and James Douglas read the following address to Mr. Rorke:

Rev. S. G. Rorke, Cavan, Ont.

Dear Pastor,—It is with unfeigned regret that we, the members of the Cavan Methodist congregation, realize that the pleasant and profitable relationship existing between us, as pastor and people, will in the providence of God soon be severed. During your sojourn with us, by your consistent walk and conversation, and your faithful ministry unto us in things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, we have learned to love and respect you for your very work's sake.

We desire to place on record our appreciation of your self-denying efforts, at all times, to advance the interests of our community and church life. In the exercise of your ministerial duties you have been instant in season and out of season, rightly dividing the word of truth, showing interest in all departments of our church and social activities. By your genial disposition and kindly manner to young and old you have entwined yourself around the affections of the people to whom you ministered.

We ask you to accept of this gift, as a slight token of appreciation. We sincerely pray that you may be long spared to enjoy a well-deserved rest, and be able to exercise in private life the many Christian graces with which you are so richly endowed; and when at last your pilgrimage is drawing to a close, we trust that your last days may be your best days; that the sunset of your life may be glorious, and may it be yours to experience the fulfillment of the Scriptural promise, "At the evening it shall be light."

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

A. E. Byers.
James Keegan.
Joshua Swain.

Cavan, Ont., June 7, 1923.

Mr. Rorke thanked the delegation for the comforting and encouraging words read to him at the close of his ministry. He said he would always have love and kindly thoughts in his heart for the people of Cavan Circuit. Was glad of the sympathy and co-operation of the people, not forgetting the courtesy and respect with which he had unfailingly been treated by the children and young people.

NO DECISION AS YET BY PRESBYTERIANS ON CHURCH UNION

Opinion is Expressed by Many at Fort Arthur Meeting That Vote Will Not Be Taken Until Monday—Strenuous Debate.

PORT ARTHUR, June 9 (Canadian Press). — After six hours of strenuous debate, probably without precedent in the ecclesiastical history of Canada, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in session here, has not yet reached a decision on the momentous question of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches.

The debate was adjourned at 5.30 last evening.

It is uncertain that a vote will be taken to-day, as many are of the opinion that the Assembly will judge it wise to leave the matter over until Monday before taking the vote.

The Call of God.

Tense moments abounded in discussions when men who have grown grey in the service of their Church pleaded with all the force of eloquence at their command for the retention of the Church of their fathers, while others with equal service to their credit called the Church to listen to what they believe is the call of God in this day of opportunity to consummate organic union, and go forward in the Christian warfare, with that motto which in Presbyterian Scotland was once the battle cry, "For Christ's Crown and Covenant."

Judged from the various speeches, it seems practically certain that the issue that will face the Assembly when it comes to vote will not be union or no union, but union or a measure of co-operation such as has been outlined by Dr. Drummond in his "way out" proposition. Wistfully many are seeking some way out of the present position that will keep the Church intact, but, regretfully, it is stated by all that it seems to be impossible to avoid disruption.

Advocates of union, it is stated, completely minimise the strength of their opposition, and believe that there is only one course consistent with the honour of the Church, and that is to proceed forthwith to church union.

Element of Doubt.

An address of the day which was heard with deep interest was that of Dr. C. W. Gordon, Winnipeg.

He confessed that there was an element of doubt in his mind. The situation was complex, and there was uncertainty regarding the course and action which ought to be taken.

With reference to the proposals of Dr. Drummond that some form of federal union under which the Presbyterian Church might co-operate with the Methodist and Congregational Churches, he declared that they meant three things, halt, confer, and report. There was no suggestion in the proposals to the object of the conference or to the outcome of the conference. The speeches of the mover and seconder of the amendment, he declared, had left on his mind the sensation of a shock.

He admitted that the situation was one of great difficulty, but if anyone could suggest a better way out than through union, then he would be glad to accept it. There had not been one word of criticism of the Basis of Union, and no one suggested that there was anything in it to which exception could be taken.

Rev. Dr. John Pringle, Sydney, Cape Breton, said he had been accused of trying to stifle the life of the Church by his advocacy of union, but the roots of his life were as deeply embodied in the Church as any minister, and it hurt him to have it said that he in his fight for union, for which he would willingly die (as some of his ancestors had died for the Covenant), was killing the Church in which he has been reared.

Several Changed Opinions.

Rev. J. O. Watts, of Haileybury, Ont., said that he had only spoken once before on the question, and on that occasion he strongly opposed the movement. Seven years had passed. He had seen more of the Canadian life and church work, and had had reason to change his view completely. The offer of the Presbyterian Church to the other churches was morally and legally binding.

Rev. J. W. Fulton, Mattice Que., said the entire history of the British Empire was one of amalgamations. The present movement for union was a natural one, and no power could check it.

Against Union.

Among those who spoke against union were Judge McKay of Port Arthur, Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid, Montreal, and Thomas McMillan, Toronto. Although years ago he favoured union, Dr. Reid now opposed it for the reason that serious results would occur in the church. He was, however, satisfied that the Church was going to divide and that the Presbyterian Church would continue to function in Canada. But the question was how large that Church would be. One-third, at least, of the congregations would vote themselves outside the United Church.

Cutting Off the Church.

Judge McKay said that Central Canada would hold the centre of the stage for the next twenty years. There would be a great influx of Presbyterian immigrants in that period, and they would unite, not with the United Church, but with the Presbyterian Church. In Superior Presbytery, he said, only 12 per cent. of the congregations were in favour of the union. By these proposals, the Presbyterians of Canada were cutting themselves off from twelve and one-half million Presbyterians in the world.

Premier Drury Revived a Chapter of Ancient Political History-Personals

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9.—In his address here Thursday Premier Drury revived a chapter of what is now almost current political history in Ontario on account of a somewhat acrimonious passage at arms between himself and Hon. Howard Ferguson, when the latter in one of his belligerent moods referred to the Premier and his Cabinet colleagues as a bunch of "neophytes."

"When Mr. Ferguson," said the Premier, "applied that word to us I had a happy inspiration and found the very term to most fittingly describe the Conservative leaders. I called him a troglodyte. This word has three meanings. A troglodyte is a bird that trees to sing but only babbles, it may mean a cave man or the missing link. You can choose any of three meaning you like, pay your money and take your choice and any one of them will fit Mr. Ferguson."

The word troglodyte was a new one to most of Premier Drury's hearers and many a dictionary was overhauled yesterday in order to confirm the definition given by the Prime Minister.

RALLY IN NORWOOD OF CONSERVATIVES

Miss Gilmour of Toronto Upholds Conservatism—Major T. D. Johnston Speaks.

NORWOOD, June 9.—On Friday evening, June 8, a public meeting was held in the Town Hall, Norwood, in the interests of Major T. Dalton Johnston, the Liberal-Conservative candidate for East Peterboro. Although it had rained very heavily all day, that did not prevent a large number from turning out to hear the momentous questions of the day discussed. Mr. E. C. Pakenham acted as chairman, and after a few remarks, introduced one of the speakers, Miss Gilmour, of Toronto, the first lady speaker to address a Conservative gathering in Norwood.

Miss Gilmour said this election was the most momentous election in twenty years. Although the U.F.O. were in power, it was only by a majority of one, and that one was Nelson Parliament, borrowed from the Liberals. After a short talk on the governments, past and present, Miss Gilmour spoke of the policy of the Conservative party and then of the U.F.O. policy. She said that one of the planks of the U. F. O. platform four years ago was the abolition of patronage. Had this been done? No.

Debt Was Increased.

Another plank was to cut down the debt, and instead of the debt being lowered it had mounted from $97,000,000 to $241,000,000 in four years. There had been $1,000,000 recoverd from investigations of timber limits, but as much as this had been spent on commissions. The good road system was also discussed. A 17-mile strip of road cost as much as is spent on education for 50 years. Another reason for the expenses being so high was class legislation, she said. Formerly the session lasted about five weeks, now it is extended to about three months, and this necessitates more expenses around the buildings. Auto licenses and the returned soldier questions were also dealt with.

The speaker said that the Conservatives, while in power, had passed a number of very important laws in connection with Hydro, workmen's compensation and temperance.

Conservative Record.

For years the Conservative party gave the best government we have ever had. As for the report that if the Conservatives were again returned to power that Ontario would be wet, why this was folly in thinking that any one party could rescind a law without going to the people.

Miss Gilmour, after addressing the audience, left to go to Havelock, where another meeting was in progress.

At this stage the chairman introduced the candidate, Major T. D. Johnston, who, in a very plain way, spoke on other important questions: Taxation, the O.T.A., the Backus deal, roads, etc.

Mr. W. H. Craig, of Toronto, who was to have spoken, failed to put in an appearance, and the meeting was brought to a close by three cheers for the candidate and the King.

ESTIMATES FOR RAILWAYS WERE AGAIN DEBATED

Acquisition by C.N.R. of Headquarters in Paris is Criticized by Mr. Meighen as Outrage.

OTTAWA, June 9.—(Canadian Press)—In Commons yesterday railway estimates were again discussed Right Hon. Arthur Meighen criticized the acquisition of the Hotel Scribe in Paris for offices of the Canadian National Railways. "This is scandal and outrage," he said.

Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railway, emphasized the importance of obtaining headquarters for Canadian National in Paris.

Premier King declared that the Government stood prepared to back up Sir Henry Thornton in this transaction. Sir Henry on taking office had been assured that he would have a free hand and would then be held responsible for the conduct of railways affairs.

Mr. Stevens moved that vote of the $75,000,000 for Canadian National be reduced by sum of $2,000,000, the cost of building in Paris.

After a day's debate this amendment was defeated by 78 to 19.

In seeking quarters for the National Railways, Mr. King said Sir Henry Thornton was probably anxious to make this the centre of Canadian affairs in Paris and he had in mind the possible use of parts of this building by government departments and by other Canadian businesses. If he had thought it wise to conduct this business with a certain amount of secrecy the Prime Minister thought Sir Henry should be supported in that attitude.

The government, he said, stood prepared to back up the President of the National Railways in this transaction and to judge him as head of the system by this and other transactions which he carried out. While Sir Henry Thornton was responsible for the administration of the road it was proposed to give him and the board the same degree of latitude and freedom as the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific gave to Mr. Beatty and his executive.

MOTHER'S HOPE DIES AS STUDENT MYSTERY BAFFLES INVESTIGATORS

By GEORGE BRITT

EVANSTON, Ill., June 8.—The light that burned for love is out.

Leighton Mount is dead

Moaning out all alone along the wooded lakeshore campus of Northwestern University here, his skeleton pleads for someone to interpret the mystery of its weird story.

* * *

For nearly two years, an anxious, broken-hearted mother, wasting away with worry, kept a beacon light burning as a welcome for her missing boy. Lovingly she trimmed its flare.

For nearly two years she kept his room in order. Put his school books on his desk. Kept his clothes mended and neatly pressed.

Night after night, she stole into that stilled room to see that the light still burned. Night after night, she knelt beside the bed and smoothed its unruffled coverings. For Leighton was coming back, she said.

But fate ruled otherwise.

* * *

Early this spring, a school boy playing at pirate along the lake shore crawled through a hole in the pier near the Evanston breakwater, a mile south of the university campus.

He reached a point about 25 feet from the opening. There, half covered by heavy stones, washed over by waves splashing through cracks in the frame work, lay a human skeleton.

Every indication pointed to the fact that the bones were those of Mount, 21-year-old freshman, who disappeared so mysteriously on the night of the annual class rush on September of 1921.

With the bones were found a piece of rope as students used during the rush to tie their captives with; pieces of cloth similar to the clothing Mount had worn and a tarnished belt buckle bearing the initials "L. M."

An Evanston dentist testified that the teeth corresponded to Mount's upon which he had worked.

And medical authorities making a further examination of the remains, added to the corroboration of the missing lad's mother that there could be no doubt but that death had at last ended her untiring search.

The beacon light sputtered and went out.

* * *

Authorities set to work to solve the riddle. But after weeks of investigation, the Cook country grand jury reported it had "nothing to report."

Two theories were followed:

That Mount met death at the hands of hazers. Perhaps he was drowned, investigators argued, and those responsible had, in panic, concealed his body under the pier.

Thath he took his own life. Doris Fuchs, a nursemaid with whom he had a boyish love affair, told of a note Mount had written. It said he would not see her again.

But later Miss Fuchs declared the suicide theory untenable.

* * *

Official inquiry proceeded for nearly two months. More than 300 students known to have participated in the class "rush" were subpenned. J. Allen Mills, leader of the freshmen that year, was brought back from Arkon, O.

Arthur P. Persinger, rescued by fishermen after he was tied head downward to a breakwater off Calvary Cemetery during the "rush", was grilled repeatedly.

So were Mount's parents, Doris Fuchs, President Walter Dill Scott of the university, trustees and alumni.

Only one fact definitely stands out today. That is Mount did take part in the hazing activities.

But now that the grand jury investigation has failed, just as police and coroner's inquiries did, authorities willingly admit they are no nearer a solution than they were when the lake gave up its secret.

* * *

Meanwhile a mother is praying to know how her only son spent his last moments.

"I want the world to knows my boy did not kill himself," she whispers. "But I hold no vindictivenes torward anyone."

Campus social functions are barred at Northwestern. Collegiate seclusion is disregarded. A volume of loyal pledges has poured in from alumni renewing devotion to the purple colors and promising all possible help in arriving at an answer to the qeutsion on thousands of tongues:

"How did Leighton Mount die?"

Doris Fuchs, above, with whom Leighton Mount, lower left, is reported to have had a boyish love affair, was questioned during investigations following the finding of his skeleton. A letter Mount had written saying he would not see again, formed the basis of her entrance into the case.

PLENTY OF COLOR RULE FOR THE SUMMER DRESSES

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 6 (United Press).—The Summer GIRL of this season will be a veritable chameleon. She will have frocks of every different color of the rainbow, if she is to be up-to-the minute. Undoubtedly it is cheaper to select two or three harmonizing colors for one's entire wardrobe,, as the same hats, scarfs, shoes, underslips, etc., can be utilized for many different gowns by so doing.

I have in mind a lovely young woman who always clings to pinks and orchids for her summer attire. Sometimes she wears pink hats with orchid frocks; sometimes orchid hats with pink frocks Her accessories are also carried out in these two to neseven to the tiniest hand kerchief, But —she soon becomes wearisome to the eyes, as she never looks as though she has anything new.

Clothes of All Colors

This year the girl who spends her vacation at the resorts as well as the girl whose only resort is the nearby beach within the five cent subway radius will have frocks of peach, lemon, nile green, orchid, orange and as many other colors as she can afford. Her frocks need not cost such, but she must have an assortment of them.

Voiles and organdies have never been so popular as they will be this season, in spite of the fact that the weather prophet declares we will have a cool summer. We will have fur jacquettes and white capes of woolly materials, underneath these there will be sheer summer dresses. Most of the summer frocks are very simply made with short sleeves, rounding necks, long waists and full skirts over slender slips of matching shades. Linette, by the way, is a lovely material for the underslip, as it has a satin surface, is easily laundered and is soft and clinging. It comes in a great assortment of colors.

The Print Girl

If one is to be a print girl and follow the vogue for printed materials there are many new ways of trimming printed frocks which are interesting, Combining printed cottons of soft, pastel colorings with black organdy collars is a new vogue set by the parisians. India printed frocks combined with Egyptian red crepe are also effective. Red shoes can accompany a frock of this sort and little turbans made of the same printed linen as is used in the frock are smart.

Pastel colored shoes are vying with those of more dashing colors for supremacy as summer approaches. One sees them on such shades as pale yellow, orchid and nile geen. They would indeed be pretty with organdy or voile dresses of matching shade.

But if one can affford but one pair of colored shoes for the light colored frocks, it is best to choose either light tan or grey kid, as either of these may be worn with any colored garment.

Sour Milk Uses

Use sour milk with soda for gingerbread, biscuits and griddle cakes and you will have lighter results than when you used only sweet milk. If you are afraid of using too much soda, use with it a like measure of cream of tartar. Sour cream is very good in salad dressing.

BEAUTY'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

Thou shalt
1 Have sufficient sleep;
2 not overeat;
3 have fresh air;
4 exercise daily;
5 have a morning bath in cold water;
6 have a weekly shampoo;
7 have a facial message every night;
8 bathe the eyes before retiring;
9 drink six glasses of water daily;
10 not worry.

Such simple sensible commandments! Six of them, the first four and the last two, are only the common, everyday rules of health, which everyone can observe—except perhaps the tenth. Most humans can not refrain from worry when things go wrong, even though they recognize the futility of it, and know that the wrinkles that inevitably follow such self indulgence will mar their beauty.

It is cheering to ordinary mortals to know that the observance of such easy rules will produce such beauty as Miss Negri possesses. Some will be skeptical and quote theories about Nature being kinder to the movie actress than to some folks. Perhaps Nature did give her a better-shaped nose, and a dimple in her chin, and a prettier mouth than she bestowed upon everybody, to start with; but bright eyes, a clear skin, rosy color, shapely figure, and happy expression, which the observance of only six of the ten beauty commandments will insure, are beauty points within the reach of everyone.

The other four may not carry universal appeal. Not every one has the physical strength to react from a cold morning bath. Not everyone agrees that weekly shampoo is beautifying to the hair. Most women are too tired to indulge in the nightly facial message, even if they did not agree with the theory that too much massagé makes the flesh puffy and the skin flabby. The eye bath before retiring is included in the regular soap-and-water preparations, as a matter-of-course.

Pola Negri knows that health means beauty—knows that no artifical aids will produce the clear eyes, pretty color, and active figure, that plenty of sleep and exercise in the open air do; that no "treatments" will make the hair as thick and lustrous as red racing blood in healthy veins does; that no drugs or ointments will clear skin like proper food, in not too great quantities; in short, that no imitations will ever produce the same results that the real beauty-specialists, Health, does. Beauty obtained in any other way can compare with the beauty of health only as the copy can compare with the masterpiece in art. Some copies may be excellent, some cheap and crude, in proportion to the ability of the copyist—but none ever reaches the beauty of the origina

LEARNED SCHOLARS MAKE FILMS FOR VISUAL EDUCATION

CHICAGO, June 8 (Associated Press).—Motion pictures, with the scenarios written by some of the most learned scholars of this age, are now carrying lessons in history, nature, health, sanitation, geography and citizenship to thousands of school children. The subjects are written, directed and filmed by the Society for Visual Education, and distributed to more than 10,000 schools and other institutions in the United States.

The society, founded and tutored by some of the most prominent educators and scientists in the country, today has an assortment of films that run into the hundreds, each devoted to a special fundamental school subject.

"We have been immeasurably successful in the ideal which promoted our organization, that our plans have proved worthy and sound," said Prof. F. R. Moulton of the University of Chicago, secretary of the society and widely known scientist and inventor. We believe the most hopeful remedy for existing conditions was in the wide extension of visual education. Psychologists have told us that 85 percent of our thinking is in terms of visual image. The experience of every one of us confirms the statement. Of all the various means of visual education, motion pictures are proving of the most import, and until but recently, the least used. They are the most important because life and the processes essential to life are dynamic and motion—a static world is dead.

"The film work of the Junior and American Red Cross has been entrusted to us, and the International Health Board, the W. C. T. U., and numerous organizations, witnessing the results of this work, are calling upon us to film subjects for them. State departments of education, welfare organizations, civic and commercial associations, and particularly the schools are cooperating. The former in a number of states are buying the films outright for state distribution, while others serve as distributors for films obtained from the society.

"Visual education has not trespassed upon the commercial movie, nor will it. Our work does not seek to amuse but to translate into realities what often are only words. Neither do we propose to displace text books, models, maps or any other educational means, but to supplement them. Our subjects are filmed for universal instruction.

What may be too advanced for a pupil today, three years hence will be just as good. Our subjects are made to fit the time of need, and our machines so built that any part of the picture can be stilled and a teacher dwell for any length of time on a salient feature. The camera having the advantage of position, it permits the pupil to observe from every angle."

The reels dealing with the study of nature are in the greatest demand, according to Prof. Moulton.

All of the subjects are treated as systematically as books are written, Prof. Moulton explained, and in such a way as to supplement textbooks, laboratories and other means of giving instruction. Schools are becoming better equipped to handle the films, the society having envolved a composite and simple-operating machine to assist in the work.

Her Heart Skipped Every Third Beat

Mrs. James Burleigh, 248 King St. E., Chatham Ont., writes:—"I think it my duty to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

I suffered for years with palpitation of the heart, my nerves were very bad, and I could not be left alone at any time. I doctored for over a year and the doctor said my heart was very bad as it skipped every third beat.

I gave up, just at this time, and then my mother advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, saying my eldest brother had been relieved by using them when he was very bad with his heart and nerves. I got a box and started to take them, and when I had used it I felt a lot better; could sleep a little and felt stronger. I continued taking them for about three months, and felt better than I had for years.

When I think of the misery and suffering I went through before I started Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I feel like letting everyone know what they did for me."

FENCING EXPERTS TO MEET IN LONDON

NEW YORK, June 8 (Associated Press.)—New regulations and conditions for the international fencing matches in London, July 20, 21, and 23, between British and American teams for the Robert M. Thompson trophy, laid down by the Amateur Fencers' Association of Great Britain, have been accepted by the American Fencers' organization. The new conditions were made, the British association announced, in an effort to prevent a recurrence of the unsatisfactory outcome of the 1921 international matches held on this country and won by the United States.

In 1921 America won the foils match, and the epee match went to the English swordsmen. The sabre match was a tie in bouts, but the British team scored the greatest aggregate number of touches. America, however, was awarded the trophy on bouts under the rules. The American rule permitting frequent substitutions also did not meet with the approval of the British team.

This year the foils and sabre bouts will be decided by the greatest number of hits in nine, and the epee by one touch. Each team will consist of six swordsmen, four of whom fence. Substitutions will be allowed only in cases of accident or illness. The decision will be by matches instead of by bouts, as in 1921. In case of a tie in matched the decision will be by bouts, and in event of a tie in bouts, by touches.

There will be sixteen bouts with each weapon, constituting three matches for a total of 48 bouts.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Paint Shelves

If you varnish or enamel the shelves or the inside of bureau drawers they look better and may be kept much cleaner than by the use of paper.

Cotton and Wool

The thrifty will not buy mixtures of cotton and wool. They do not wear alike and they shrink surprisingly.

Sugar Economy

In cooking rhubarb or cranberry sauce, boil until nearly done, add a pinch of soda and sweeten to taste. The soda neutralizes the acid and about half as much sugar will be enough. Too much soda will make the rhubarb tasteless. Combine rhubarb with strawberries if you have some that seem not good enough to be served raw.

Mayonnaise

When your may nnaise curdles you can bring it back to a state of smoothness by mixing a generous pinch of corn starch into a teaspoon of cold water and stirring this into the curdled dressing.

Use Doilies

For breakfast and supper let doilies take the place of the long table cloth. It saves work and is the favored way at the present day.

LEMON DROPS IN TEA.

Serve lemon candy drops in tea for a change instead of lemon and sugar. Add a clove or so, too.

Motoring Wife—Are we lost?

Motoring Husband—I'm afraid we are.

Wife—Don't you know this road at all?

Husband—If I did we wouldn't be lost.

Wife—Then why don't you ask somebody where we are?

Husband (irritated) — What good would that do? In a minute or so we'll be somewhere else.

A FAREWELL

My fairest child, I have no song to give you;
No lark could pipe to skies so dull and gray;
Yet, ere we part, one lesson I can leave you
For every day.

Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever;
Do noble deeds, not dream them all day long;
And so make life, death, and that vast forever
One grand, sweet song.

—Charles Kingsley.

Most of those determined to remain old maids are under sixteen.

Electricity achieves its greatest triumph in the McClary's Oven

IT gives the family better meals—more delicious food—and demands less culinary skill and less labor on the part of the "cook."

McClary's oven brings more than the convenience of cooking "at a turn of the switch"—wonderful as that boon to womankind may seem.

It makes good cooking the rule rather than the exception, insures the "best results" with the least care.

It also effects an economy of food—particularly roasts. McClary's oven closes tight as a fireless cooker. Meats lose but little weight—a real saving! Inside the oven, walls are porcelain-enameled and corners rounded. The heating elements draw out leaving the oven quite clear. It can easily be kept as clean as a china dish.

See McClary's Electric Range. Ask the dealer to explain its economies and convenience.

Protected Elements

McClary's have achieved the aim of all Electric Range makers—to perfect a "Protected Element."

No wire coils are left bare in McClary's heating elements. Solid as the lids of a coal range these "Protected Elements" are an exclusive McClary's insurance against damage.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

FOUND $7080 IN AN ASH CAN

Rubbish Wagon Driver Heralded as Original Disciple of Old Man Diogenes.

CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—Martin Ralph, rubbish wagon driver, just now is being heralded Cleveland's original disciple of Old Man Diogenes himself. All because he found $7,080 in an ash can.

Ralph was going about the routine of his job one day. He had emptied many ash cans and all of them contained ashes.

The next he picked up contained ashes, too, but it also had an odd-looking package sticking from the top. Out of curiosity he tore open one end—WOW—bills, dollars, fives, tens, twenties

Was a Shock

What he did next he doesn't remember. Men's memories fail them in times of national stress, it is said.

When he recovered from the shock, however, he put the package under the driver's seat, and finished the day. At home that night he counted the bills—$7,080

Visions of a little house. Perhaps an auto. Maybe some clothes—

"No," he decided, "it doesn't belong to me even though I found it." And so he went to bed.

Ten minutes after he finished breakfast next morning he handed the package to a police officer.

Here's the Climax

Now the sad part of this story is that the money was no good.

It had been thrown away by a banking house that had torn the serial numbers off the bills and sent them to Washington for new paper money.

But Ralph didn't know this, and so when word leaked out of his honest deed, he became much sought after.

It was Ralph's big chance—and he made good, and now he's trying to decide which road of the many offered he should take to best gain fame and fortune.

Princess Christian Aunt of the King Died This Morning

LONDON, June 9. — (Canadian Press.) —Princess Helena Augusta Victoria, more generally known as Princess Christian, daughter of the late Queen Victoria and aunt of King George, died this morning.

Her husband, Prince Frederick Christian, of Schleswig-Holstein, died in London October, 1917. She is survived by one son, Prince Albert John, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, who served with the Prussian army in the war, and two daughters, Princess Helena Victoria and Princess Marie Louise.

WARDEN'S WIFE SAVING SOULS

She Works With Sympathy, Not Sentimentality, in Successful Effort to Reclaim Criminals.

JOLIET, Ill., June 9.—An eye that is equally quick to detect fraud and to shed the sympathetic tear makes Mrs. John L. Whitman, wife of the warden of the Illinois State Penitentiary here, as vital a part of the prison community as her husband himself.

"It isn't that she comes in personal contact with our men so much," explains Warden Whitman. "The effect comes simply from her presence and her interest which cannot be concealed. It is the effect of character which calls out the best in others.

Just that presence, according to "Yellow Kid" Weil, one of the most notorious prisoners who ever passed through in recent times, is "the greatest influence in making convicts go straight."

No Sentimentality

"This isn't a situation of mother and her boys," she says.

"They are men and deserve to be met on that basis. No sobs and sentimentality. Just a friendly, square helpfulness.

"There aren't any incorrigibles.

"There's so much good in the worst of us that it is bound to come out if given encouragement and opportunity. You don't think you would improve much though, do you, if some one were scolding you all the time? It is just the same with our men here."

Years ago when Warden Whitman was in charge of the Chicago Bridewell, there was a fire. One cell house containing about 300 men was in the path of the flames. Smoke blew through its windows and it seemed doomed. Yet not an outcry arose and not a sign of panic appeared.

After the fire came the explanation from Mrs. Whitman.

"I just went in and told them to put wet towels over their faces and told them they would be taken out if they were in danger," she recalled.

"But how did you make them pay attention in all that excitement?"

"Why, they knew me, and of course they obeyed.

Thinks of Future

"My principal personal contact with the convicts here is with the servants in our home. I never ask what they have done or how long they are in for," she continued. "I start considering them from their entrance here and see if I can't make their future better.

"You should have been here Memorial Day at the ball game on the farm. I rode back to the prison in the car with some of the men. They are eager to talk. And their talk is not intended just to excite help to get them their freedom. They just want to speak with an understanding outside person.

"No soul is so dead that it won't respond to kindness and kindle anew with hope."

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, June 9 (Special to The Examiner). — Probably the most aggressive demonstration in railroad shares seen in Wall Street since last autumn was staged in today's two-hour session on the Stock Exchange. New York Central and Pere Marquette continued their advance into new high ground and the year, while there was a bullish outburst in Canadian Pacific, Atchison, Chicago and North-Western, and Southern Pacific among the standard issues.

Strength was also well distributed in the low priced group, including the Erie and Southern Railway, Wabash Preferred, a Missouri Pacific and the St. Pauls.

The industrials were somewhat reactionary in the early dealing, but this tendency was quickly swept aside in line with the big demand for carrier stock and the whole market displayed a strong tone in the final hour.

Railroad stocks continued to enjoy activity at rising prices during the first hour. Canadian Pacific reached a new high on the movement at 152, Baltimore and Ohio 51 1-8, Chicago and North-Western 75 7-8, Southern Railway 35 1-8, Wabash Preferred A 30 7-8, and Rock Island 31 5-8.

Laclade Gas was a feature of the public utility group, jumping 5 points to a new high for the year at 89.

Strength among the rails and the public utilities spread into the industrial group toward 11 a.m. California Petroleum, after dropping to a new low on the move at 105 1-2 in the early dealings reflecting overproduction fears, rallied to 107 and the other industrials.

BOWMANVILLE PAPERS HAVE AMALGAMATED

Two more newspapers have found it expedient to amalgamate, the Bowmanville News incorporating with The Canadion Statesman of the same town last Thursday. This means that in future Bowmanville and district will be served with one weekly newspaper, published by M. A. James & Sons.

In a statement issued by the publishers, they announce that the chief object of the amalgamation is to ring about greater efficiency and economy which will enable the publishers to concentrate their efforts on the one newspaper.

With the present newspaper amalgamation it is interesting to note that since M. A. James "The Canadian Statesman" 45 years ago six local papers have been absorbed by The Statesman. They are 'The Bowmanville Merchant,' edited by Paul C. Trebilcock, bookseller and stationer of this town; 'The Sun' W. R. Climie editor; 'The Newcastle Times," George J. Bell, editor "The West Durham News', (afterwards 'The Bowmanville News'). James Gale, editor; and 'The Newcastle Independent,' L. B. Davidson, editor.

SUPPLY 35 AUTOMOBILES TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

At a meeting of the Motor League Executive last night it was decided to supply 35 cars to entertain the Detroit Passenger Club on its annual excursion. The Club consists of ticket agents and sellers of the State of Michigan, and the trip here will be made on Sunday, June 24. The programme calls for a start from the Empress Hotel at 8 a.m. and a tour through the city and surrounding country, terminating at Young's Point at 10 o'clock. At Young's Point the tourists will be met by a boat which will take them to Kawartha Inn on Jacob's Island.

This is the first visit of the Club to Central Ontario, and, coming in contact with the public as they do in their daily business, the Motor League considered it a good opportunty to advertise the city and district. The party will number 142.

WOMEN HAVE

good deal of her secret animosity wiped out by the mark which kills her husband's vote on election day, and, on the other hand, the happy wife has an equal sense of well-being in the vote which coincides with that of her spouse.

Power of Women.

On a recent election day, a man and his wife approached a polling booth to vote. It was found, on examination, that the lady's name was correctly on the list, but the man's was not. In a tidal wave of righteous wrath, the husband refused to allow his wife to vote at all, when he was unable to do so, and she went away unprotesting. But, with the diplomacy that comes from long acquaintance with the futility of outward resistance, the lady bided her time, and slipped back later in the afternoon to register her vote in the manner she had a mind to. Working on the age-old principle of the masculine sex that "what they don't know won't hurt them," this sensible woman succeeded in keeping peace within the home and in accomplishing her object also.

G. K. Chesterton, who has a good deal to say on the "woman question" in his book, "What's Wrong With the World?" declares that woman, singly and alone, is a pliable, angelic being, but that, en masse, she is a formidable creature. And he also makes the very wise and truthful remark that when men wish to appear especanlly wise and erudite, as in the case of priests or judges, they adopt the clothing, the long skirts of women.

This idea of the power of women when massed together for any purpose is an old one. From time immemorial, the fate of kings and nations has trembled in the balance of a woman's whim. The Fates themselves are pictured as women, old, wise women who sit eternally in a darkened chamber, "where, through tremulous hands, from a distaff unfurled, those three blind old women sit spinning the world."

Justice, Truth, Peace, the statue of Liberty that lights the way for travellers to the North American continent in New York's harbor, they are women's figures, but it is only of late years that women in reality are realizing the tremendous power that lies in their hands. It was a woman who was powerful enough to persuade the first man that he should mortgage his happiness in a wonderful garden for an existence of perspiring labor with shovel and hoe; it was a woman that helped to redeem the world; it was women who surrounded Christ, from the moment He opened his eyes to the face of His Mother in the rock-hewn stable to that triumphant hour when he spoke to the other Mary on His resurrection morn. And it was a woman to whom the soldiers sang, "Joan of Arc, they are calling you," when they went to battle against the Huns.

It is women, in the modern day, who want prohibition; who desire that the world shall be better and safer and cleaner. It is women who want the drug traffic cleaned up.

On a Peterborough street, the other day, two young men stood on the corner. One was, by popular report, a drug addict, a fine-looking, tall youth with the pallid face and shifting glance that made the regularity of his features and form a pitiable thing. He said savagely to his companion, "I tell you, I have only enough at home for myself, just enough for one shot. I won't give you any." They went down the street, arguing fiercely.

Peterborough women don't want these things, any more than they wanted, in the old days, the figures of drunken men lurching out of swinging doors to an accompaniment of ribald laughter and jumbled oaths, but they don't realize that the power to stop the importation of drugs into Canada lies with them. If they don't want drugs, they can band together and demand that such things be made an unbreakable plank in the platform of any candidate who asks for their votes. And, with their voting strength of almost fifty-one per cent. they could carry anything they had a mind to.

Women have a strong sense of duty. They are trained from childhood, in a way men never are, to a belief in their obligations at every turn, to parents and home and husband and children. And yet, after years of clamoring for the franchise, one hears arguments from women that are astounding. They will tell you that they couldn't think of voting on polling day, because they don't think it is a dignified procedure; that they don't believe their votes would do any good, anyway; that their husband wouldn't like it; they will pronounce, in prim accents that put them on a superior plane to the woman who is talking to them, the aged and outworn theory that "woman's place is in the home," forgetting that the housekeeping of the state is just as important to them and to their children as the housekeeeping of the home. To the women of Canada, the vote, long sought and worked and struggled for, is a sacred privilege. They can't sidestep conscientiously the latest obligation that has been added to woman's list of duties in this world; the obligation of having a say in how their country shall be governed.

ROUGE! WHY NOT?

By MARIAN HALE

To rouge or not to rouge!
That's the question.

"Rouge? Why, certainly," thus Jane Sheal.

"Certainly NOT," says Alyce McCormick.

Suppose we let the fair disputants speak for themselves. For fair they are—both of them. And they speak with authority.

Their Cities' Prettiest

Miss Sheal was picked by Cleveland and Miss McCormick by Omaha to represent their respective cities at the Millinery Association of America's show at New York's Hotel Astor. Each was the prettiest young woman available.

The speaker for the affirmative takes the floor first.

"The clever, artistic woman," Miss Sheal insists, "usually can improve a little on nature. All the famous beauties have done so.

For the Affirmative

"Women need color. City-life and modern conditions don't give it. Science must.

"No woman should try to make up her face without knowing her type and how to accentuate it. If she possesses this knowledge a touch of rouge, the right shade of power and skill with the lipstick will do wonders for her, even if she isn't naturally a beauty. They do a great deal for real beauty, too. Don't let anybody tell you they don't."

On the Other Hand

That's that! Now for the negative.

"To use rouge properly and to become an artist with the lipstick," says Miss McCormick, "takes so much time that, if you have it so spend, you'll do better to devote it to out-door sports, exercise and sleep—and get your color naturally.

"To be beautiful you must first be happy—love life, work hard, sleep well and use your brain.

"Real beauty lasts. The kind you put on with a brush doesn't.

Decide for Yourself

"For every woman who can make up properly there are a hundred who can't If I attempted it, I'd join the great majority. So I prefer to wear my face as it is."

There, the debate's closed. Decide for yourself who won it.

Miss Sheal is a student at the Cleveland School of Art.
Miss McCormick is relief secretary to her father, head of the Omaha battalion of the Volunteers of America.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, June 9.—There have been a number of happy events for which the month of June is celebrated, in this locality during the past few days. At Baltimore on Saturday, June 2, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. C. C. Washington, B.A., of Helen Ethel, daughter of Mr. John G. Howard, to Mr. William Roy Bray, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bray, Baltimore. The bride wore a becoming suit of navy blue, with pretty leghorn hat and fox fur, the gift of the groom and carried a boquet of lily of the valley and maiden hair fern. Mr. and Mrs. Bray left later for a trip to Montreal, Sherbrooke and other eastern points. They will reside near Baltimore and have the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

Double Wedding.

Rev. W. A. Bremner, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, officiated at a double wedding on Wednesday morning. The important event which made four hearts happy took place at the manse, when Mr. Joseph Wood was married to Mrs. Fennel; and Mr. John Hoag was married to Mrs. Mary Graham. All of the parties were of Cobourg.

Successful Anniversay.

According to custom established some few years back, the Methodist church at Bethel Grove, on the Baltimore circuit, of which Rev. C. C. Washington is pastor, held their usual anniversary services on Sunday and Monday. Rev. F. J. Horwood, M.B., Camborne, preached at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. to large congregations notwithstanding the rain. He also contributed musical numbers that gave pleasure and inspiration.

On Monday afternoon a tea was given which was enjoyed by a large company. There was to have been a programme of sports but rain interfered. Unfavorable weather did not prevent, however, the assembling of a company of people that filled the church almost to capacity, and who listened to a most enjoyable entertainment with Rev. C. C. Washington in the chair. Rev. I. J. Horwood gave musical numbers, Eric Harper sang, Misses Jibb gave exhibitions of club swinging and the Camborne Young People's League and Tuxis Boys gave the delightful play, "I Can't Afford It" in splendid style, and were most appreciatively received and heartily applauded. Notwithstanding adverse weather conditions the anniversay was a great success.

Will of Joseph Horner.

According to the will of the late Joseph Hoover of Hope township who died in February, 1923, his wife is bequeathed a farm of 150 acres, also furniture and residue of the estate after bequests are paid, so long as she remains a widow. A son, James Wilbur, received $1000 and a daughter, Martha Rhoda Horner, also received $100. His daughter Mabel Gordon and sons, William Henry and Walter Joseph receive $50 each it is stated.

Gone to Port Arthur.

Rev. F. W. Anderson, Port Hope, has gone to Port Arthur to attend the meetings of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian General Assembly. Rev. James T. Daley, Superintendent of the Counties Children's Aid Society and a former Cobourg pastor took his work on Sunday.

Fire Was Averted.

The advantage of having running water in the barn was shown during an incident that occurred recently at Dandonald. Mr. Archie Samons was finishing his day's work by doing some grinding at night, when the wind blew the fumes from the gasoline towards a lighted lantern standing some six or eight feet away and instantly there was a big explosion. Mr. Samons cried for help but was not heard and succeeded in putting out the fire with water piped into the barn.

LAUSANNE, June 9.—(Canadsan Press). — Joseph C. Grew, the chief United State, observer at the Near East Peace Conference, has been asked to use his good offices in an endeavour to prevent a rupture of the conference. The Turk and the Allies seem to be without hope of settling the Ottoman debt problem among themselves, ut feel that Mr. Grew because of the United States disinteresdness, can do much to bring the two parties together.

Canadian Witnesses For the Crocker Trial.

DUBLIN, June 9. Canadian Press. —During the cross examination yesterday Richard Croker, Junior, in his suit to break the will of his father, it developed that two witnesses from Moncton, N.B., have been brought here to testify. The names of the Canadian witnesses, however, were not disclosed. Mr. Croker, Junior, admitted that he was paying their expenses as well as the expenses of six other witnesses who had ben brought from the United States to give evidence.

The allegation was made during the trial that Mrs. Lulu Croker the Indian wife of the one-time Tammany chieftain, was the legal wife of Guy R. Marone, at the time of her marriage to Croker, and it was alleged that she and Marone had at one time resided in Moncton.

Mrs. Croker when testifying in her own behalf, made emphatic denial of the allegation that she had been previously married, and said she did not even know Marone.

Under cross-examination by Patrick Lynch, counsel for Mrs. Croker Richard Croker, Junior, yesterday said he did not know that Virginia Florrie, a student nurse in a New Jersey Hospital, who is an Indian girl, was Marone's wife, but said he might have heard it so stated.

Mayor and Aldermen of Milan Resigned.

MILAN, June 9. Canadian Press. —Mayor Mangiagilli and the Fasciti aldermen resigned yesterday owing to a discord between the Fascist and Anti-Fasciti members of the council. It is expected that the council will be dissolved and that a general will be appointed Royal Commissioner of Milan. The resignations of the Mayor and the Aldermen were tendered after the defeat of a resolution interoduced by a Fascist alderman, deploring the attitude of the Corriere Della Sera, and asserting that many difficulties to the fulfillment of the Mussolini Government's programme have been caused by the newspaper's Anti-Fascist attitude.

The Anti-Fascist aldermen protested, declaring that the council could not pass such a resolution.

The Fascist members insisted on a vote however and the resolution was defeated 15 to 7.

SOVIET RECOGNIZED

Action Against County For Cutting a Roadway.

LINDSAY, June 9.—A resident of Emily township named Eggleton, who resides near Crawford's hill, which is well known to Peterborough motorists, has brought action against the county for alleged damages. The prominence had been cut down to a considerable extent, with the result that Mr. Eggleton has a 15 foot embankment rising sheer at their front lawn fence. They have to climb 21 steps to reach the house. They claim their property value has decreased by $1,500.

SMALL GARDENERS ARE ENCOURAGED

BERLIN, June 9.—(Associated Press)—In order to encourage the gardening of vacant land in and about Berlin, the state railways have cut their fares in half for all needy tenant gardeners travelling to and from their gardens.

It is a practice here to lease for the spring and summer small patches of acreage held for speculation or building purposes. So much of such land has been taken up by truck gardeners that there is now a continuous chain of vegetable plots encircling the city, comprising approximately 15,000 acres. The number of gardeners is 17,000, an increase of 12,000 over last year.

Election News

TORONTO, June 9.— (Canadian Press.)— With nomination week in the offing, party leaders in the Provincial election campaign are all working in the older and more populous parts of the province and generally speaking will remain close to their own constituencies for official nominations on Thursday next. Premier Drury expects to speak at several meetings next week.

Wellintgon Hay is also directing his attention considerably to that peninsular part of the province which elects such a large proportion of the Legislature.

Hon. Howard Ferguson will wind up his south-western Ontario tour with meetings to-day in Meaford and Collingwood. On Monday he is billed to speak in Parry Sound and Sudbury.

Both Toronto morning papers today report difficulty among Liberal organizations in the choice of candidates for the Toronto riding. The Mail says that the Advisory committee of the Liberal party in Toronto suggested that all Toronto and York seats be allowed to go by default so far as the Libearls are concerned. The Globe quotes the President of the Northwest Toronto Liberal Organization as saying that the Liberals of the city are disgusted with their cetnral organization. Colonel H. S. Cooper who sat in one of the North-west Toronto seats in the last Legislature as a Liberal, has not yet announced his decision whether he will run as "Soldier, a Liberal or Independent" candidate.

CHICAGO, June 9.—(Associated Press)—Educating foreigners by use of the motion picture is being adopted more and more each day and has served to cause deep thought on the part of the leading educators and immigration authorities of this country, according to Jaroslav J. Zmrhal, district School Superintendent of Chicago, in a statement made to the Society of Visual Education here.

"There has been an noticeable increase in the attendance at our night classes and lectures on citizenship since motion pictures have been available, declared Mr. Zmrhal. "The men found the screen answering their questions in a way that they could understand. Those who were working for their naturalization papers were particularly delighted with these lessons in picture language."

ECONOMIC RUIN FACES GERMANY, MUST YIELD

Fall of Mark So Rapid That Fatherland Faces Precipice—France Has Won Her Fight.

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 9. — (United Press).—German marks are getting perilously near the precipice over which Russian rubles have fallen to destruction. The German Government has been unable to demonstrate its ability to stabilize its paper money. Marks have been but temporarily held in check. They are once more getting out of hand and German financiers, the most skilful international manipulators in the world, are revealing signs of surrender.

Hitherto, the fall of the mark has been of great assistance to the Germans in their struggle to resist the allies' indemnity penalties. The effect of poverty has been well maintained, while the German population has not suffered as much as it would if a real effort to pay the indemnity had been made. The working part of the German population, millionaire industrialists and trades unionists alike have been benefited. The one class now has more property than it ever had before, and the other class is living better, and is not bothered by the spectre of unemployment.

Germany Reaching Limit.

But, there is a limit to this kind of reward from a depreciating currency. Germany is reaching the limit. Little more property useful to the industrial kings remains to be acquired, regardless of how cheaply it can be made by further falls of paper currency. The rest of the proletarian population, beside the trades unionist, is insisting upon its proper share of food and clothing. The maximum has now been reached by the trades unionists, and further cheapening of necessities of life through depreciating, currency will be met by lower wages.

An approximation to conditions prevailing in Russia cannot be prevented in Germany, if the fall of the mark is allowed to go on indefinitely. Austria has been checked only just in time from going ove rthe abyss to economic anarchy. Germany's money is now so near to the low Austrian level that it is impossible to avoid seeing the peril straight ahead.

Only One Way Out.

Only one way out can be found by the Germans. They will have to acknowledge that they have been beaten in the financial struggle by the French and will have to come to quick terms with Paris. It is now no longer open to doubt that France has the power to crush the Germans to a point where they will not recover for perhaps two or three generations. For a century, if the French pressure continues, Germany may have to rank as a second or third-class power. Germany must buy France off. Nothing else will serve.

France's Ruhr invasion no longer can be called a failure. France herself has been harmed through increased prices of foodstuffs and through interference with French industrial production. But, the Germans have been harmed very much more. Every present indication points to a higher morale in France than exists in Germany, and also to more French stamina, in case the struggle is prolonged.

The Effect on France.

France is faced with the probability of falling to Spain's level, if German obstinacy continues indefinitely. But, at the same time, Germany is faced with the possibility of sinking simultaneously to the Russian level.

The Berlin Government, which is directed by very shrewd business men, cannot be ignorant of this fact. Therefore, as business men they will eventually consider it cheaper to take the present loss and pay France to the uttermost.

There will then be an eventual recovery for Germany. After that, the reckoning with France may come.

SEEKING BEAUTY?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 9.—When you were little you loved to play make-believe, didn't you?

Keep it up if you want to stay young and beautiful, advises Edith Wing Peacock, psychologist and famous southern beauty. She believes that psychology reveals more avenues to beauty than any beauty shop

"Here's what keeps me young," she said, pointing to a photograph of a beautiful girl in an old-fashioned frock.

"Myself—at 18," she explained, "I keep this always with me and it is the picture of myself that I keep in my mind. People are as old as they think. I think of 18, not 70.

"I constantly tell women to remember that every thought affects the process of body building just as every thought of the mason directs the shape and stability of the house.

Mind Builds.

"The mind is the architect and the cells are the builders. Since this is true, how necessary it is to keep the mind busy transmitting thoughts of love, health and youth."

Mrs. Peacock thinks autosuggestion keeps her looking like her young daughter instead of a mother.

"Walk as though you were young," she advises. "Don't allow yourself to slump. When you are too tired to sit up or stand up, then go to bed, not to be sick, but to relax. Take time every day to meditate on the beautiful.

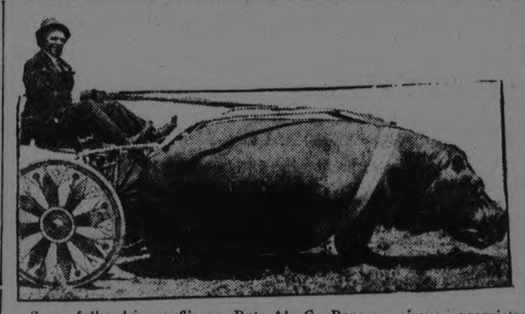
"If you are too plump, roll and exercise. If you are thin, stop worrying and spend much time out of doors, but all the time keep before you the mental image of what you want to be instead of what you are afraid you may be."

Here's Recipe.

This mental care must, of course, be supplemented by attention to physical needs.

Here's an old southern recipe she advocates for keeping the face smooth and unwrinkled:

"Dip a piece of cotton into the white of an egg and use it to go over the face and neck. In two minutes this will harden into a mask better than any expensive beauty clay. Leave it on for five minutes, then bathe the face with warm water to remove the mask. Rinse with ice water. Apply your favorite vanishing cream, then your favorite powder and rouge—and smile."



Some folks drive a flivver. But Al. G. Barnes, circus proprietor, sticks to his Lotus 5-ton Hippi. Lotus is the Hips name. Al says travelling about circus lots in this mode is slow but sure. And he'll tell the world he doesn't have to replace worn-out spark plugs.

LIBERALS OPEN TOUR OF RIDING

Encouraging Meeting at Young's Point in Spite of Rain — Meyers Well Received.

(Contributed).

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held last night at Young's Point in the interests of J. W. Meyers, the Liberal candidate. Many ladies were in the audience, and the manner in which the candidate and other speakers were received, showed how strong Liberal sentiment is throughout the district.

Mr. Fred. Young, of Young's point, was chairman, and in a brief speech explained how necessary it was for all electors to organize and work for the Liberal candidate.

The first speaker, Captain John Dewart, reviewed the history of the Government during the four years it had been in power. He showed how they had failed to live up to the platform on which they had been elected in 1919, particularly the two chief planks, economy and the abolition of party patronage. He showed how the debt on the Province had increased from 97 million to 240 million, and the annual expenditure from 19 million to 37 million. He urged the electors of the riding to get behind Mr. Meyers, who is a practical and experienced business man, the type particularly needed at a time when the finances of the Province were in such a deplorable state.

Mr. Meyers, the candidate, was given enthusiastic applause, and in a brief business-like speech enunciated the familiar Liberal policy of equality to all and special privileges to none. He mentioned the fact that he had farmed until 35 years of age and had been the president of the first co-operative cheese factory in Wellington County. He mentioned the problems confronting agriculture and pledged himself to give every consideration to those problems if honored with election. He eulogized Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader, and contended that he was the type of man needed to give the people of Ontario the business administration needed at this critical time. He concluded with a strong appeal for the support of all the electors.

Mr. J. J. Duffus, the next speaker, emphasized the alarming financial condition of the Province, due to extravagance on the part of the Conservative and Drury Governments. He reviewed the business and public achievements of the candidate, Alderman Meyers, and pointed out that a man who had been successful in his own business would make a like success of the business of the Province. He was the type of man most needed in public life to-day, when great and momentous questions involving large amounts of money had to be solved.

R. R. Hall, K.C., the last speaker, pointed out that in 1904, the last year of Liberal administration, only five million was required to run the business of the Province. The debt at that time was 11 million. This had grown in the nineteen years under Conservative and the Drury Governments to an annual expenditure of 37 million and a debt of 240 million. He criticized the bookkeeping methods of the Hon. Peter Smith, and showed how he had turned an actual deficit of $1,400,000 into a surplus of the same amount by including revenue which came in after the books should have been closed on October 31, 1922, in order to make a good showing for election purposes.

Mr. Hall went into the infamous Shevlin-Clarke deal, whereby the Hon. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, while Minister of Lands and Forests in the Hearst Government, sold immense timber limits without a proper valuation being obtained, and allowed employees of Shevlin-Clarke to scale the timber in place of Government employees. As a result of an investigation, this company was compelled to pay back to the Province $1,250,000. He pointed out that a man incompetent to manage a Department was utterly unfit to be Premier of Ontario.

Mr. Ferguson's attitude of attempting to draw both the wet and dry vote was criticized, and the speaker concluded with a strong appeal to the electors to get behind two honest, straightforward business men like Mr. Meyers and Wellington Hay.

The meeting concluded with three cheers for the King, the candidate and the Liberal party.

RIVER VOLGA OVERFLOWS

STOCKHOLM, June 9.—(United Press.)—Four hundred persons are reported drowned in recent Russian floods which swept the lower Volga Valley. Seventy thousand were made homeless. News of the disaster was contained in dispatches from Moscow.

Looking Backward

The exodus of Canadian settlers to the United States formed the topic of a recent discussion in the Canadian Parliament. That this was no new experience is shown by the record of a party of immigrants brought to Peterborough in 1825 by Hon. Peter Robinson, and settled in Douro, Smith, Otonabee, Asphodel and Belmont.

The record says that considerable fault was found with the final disposition of the immigrants, and it was alleged that many had left the lands on which they had been settled, and had gone to the United States. The matter was made the subject of a Parliamentary enquiry in 1838.

THE MAN IN THE STREET.

What is the lesson to be learned by the man in the street from the fact that a Canadian life insurance company has written a $100,000 life annuity policy for Eli P. Clark, Los Angeles capitalist? It is that every man can create an estate at a small cost by means of life insurance. Mr. Clark has a number of financial interests and desired to make an investment which, in case others should fail, will secure and provide an ample income during his old age. It will be largely exempt from taxation and the annuity will yield a yearly return of $17,695 for life. While we all cannot afford such a substantial policy, there is one suited in price and terms to each individual's means.

Evidently Mr. Clark is living up to the advice of the late John Wanamaker who carried three millions of life insurance. He said: "It is almost a crime to bring up a family in affluence and for its master or chief not to arrange his affairs so that they shall not be exposed to sudden and severe poverty in case of death, when, by forethought and the help of substantial insurance companies, he can put something aside out of his earnings for the mother and each child without being dishonest to his creditors."

AGRARIAN LAW IS A FAILURE, SAYS FASCISTI

By FREDERICK G. NEUMEIER.

MEXICO CITY.—(By Mail to the United Press).—Application of the agrarian law in Mexico to date has been a complete failure, according to the Fascisti.

"It has decreased production to such an extent that it threatens hunger which has already begun," a statement issued by that organization read.

The Fascisti has announced that it is "absolutely in favor" of a reform of Articles 27 and 123 of the constitution which are the articles which have caused so much controversy between the United States and Mexico.

"The party will work without cessation to obtain the reform of these articles," G. Saenz de Sicily, founder of the organization here, told the United Press.

"We will work for this reform in a practical manner which will completely satisfy vested interests without injuring the interests of the nation," he stated.

A LOCAL FARMER DOES GOOD WORK

Would Not Go Back to Raising Scrub Cattle For Any Money.

Breeding pure-bred cattle pays in satisfaction with one's work as well as in dollars and cents, according to Mr. Frank Scollard of Ennismore.

Expressing his surprise that so few farmers and dairymen specialise in pure-bred stock, Mr. Scollard said he took up the business about seven years ago, and he has found it so satisfactory and so well worth the little extra trouble that he would not think of again dealing in scrub cattle.

This enterprising young farmer has his home about 13 miles from Peterborough, and in that district he is the only breeder of pure-bred cattle.

Commencing with a stock of three pure-bred shorthorns, he now has a magnificent herd of 36, all certified by the Government veterinarians as having passed the required tests and being free from tuberculosis. The inspectors told Mr. Scollard that in two years' steady testing they had only passed three entire herds, of which his was the third. In all the others tested some of the cattle were rejected. This certificate is the criterion of the highest standard in the dairy industry.

The herd owned by Mr. Scollard consists of dual purpose cattle. The Shorthorn is primarily a beef animal, but Mr. Scollard has bred his animals to milk stock, and last year he disposed of 1,700 pounds of cream.

Seven of the animals are under official test, which means that records of the milk yield and the butter fat content are officially kept.

The average yield of butter fat is as high as 4 to 5 per cent., and the daily yield of milk is as high as 60 pounds. The cattle are kept under farm conditions, and are milked twice a day.

USE FOR MARSH HAY.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 9.—(United Press).—Marsh land, which only a few years ago was considered valueless because it could not be drained and put under cultivation, is now a real money making proposition in Wisconsin. Winnebago County farmers recently struck a scheme for the sale of the marsh hay for packing purposes and for use in steel mills, and now a huge industry is springing up.

The scene of this new industry is the Waukau marsh, a section of low and wet land containing about 6,500 acres, located about two miles south of Waukau. The originator of the enterprise was D. W. Osborn of Oshkosh. He placed the project on a business basis, cutting and bailing the wild grass that grows on the marshes and his introduction of tractors in the work has been an innovation.

There was only one other large marsh hay operator in the entire country who could be classed as a rival to Osborn. This man, J. R. Guild of Medaryville, Ind., used horse-drawn machinery in haying. Recently Guild purchased the Osborn interest here. There are two kinds of grass on the marsh, one known as blue joint grass, and the other as long swamp hay. The best and finest hay is sorted out and sent to market for feeding cattle. The long coarse grass goes to the steel factories in the East where it is spun into rope and used for making cords for moulding iron pipes.

The grass rope is wound on steel cylinders and covered with a thin coating of clay. Then the molten iron is poured into the moulds and the heat burns away the hay, making it easy to take out the cores. The coarse grass is sent to glass factories at Pittsburgh, and other centres of industries and is used for packing window and other glass for shipment. It is also used for packing bananas. The cutting of the hay starts about the middle of June.

STATUTE TO REMAIN

BERLIN, June 9. — (Associated Press).—Despite the protests of radicals, Wilhelm the First's great marble statue will continue to grace the center of the Reichstag lobby, a place of honor under the rotunda analagous to that occupied by America's Unknown Soldier at the time of his funeral in Washington. It would cost 39,000,000 marks, or nearly $1,000, to move the colossal piece, hence the young republic's slim pocketbook obliges it to swallow whatever scruples it may have against reminders of its monarchial forbears.

The statue was installed in 1905, 11 years after the Reichstag building itself was completed. Its erection was ordered by Germany's late Emperor, the present refugee at Doorn. Wilhelm I. ruled at the time construction of the Reichstag was commenced, in 1884.

Agitation for having the memorial removed to some less conspicuous spot was begun by the Socialists. Their clamor finally reached the Reichstag decorations committee, which had also been called upon to consider wiping out all other traces of the former monarchy. Art experts were called in and they decided that, in any case, the statue occupied an unfavorable position from an artistic point of view. This opinion brought the democratic faction to the support of the Socialists, but the committee has now decided that the operation must be postponed because the expense would be prohibitive at present.

LABOUR SPLIT

ious questions of domestic policy, notably the Government housing policy, which withholds subsidies from houses containing bathrooms, a general re-organization of all parties is not impossible. Public opinion is likely to enforce the political ambitions of many personalities into some strange paths.

To The Electors Of The Riding of West Peterboro.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

The Liberal Convention having honoured me with the nomination, I take this early opportunity of expressing my thanks for the confidence shown in me, and in asking the Electors generally for their support in the coming Election.

The supreme need of this great Province at the present time is a Govrnment which will conduct public affairs in a sound, prudent, business-like manner, and put a curb on all extravagant expenditures. With a public debt of $240,000,000 and an annual expenditure which has reached $38,000,000, the future credit of the Province absolutely depends on economic, business-like administration. This is the kind of administration the country may expect with Mr. Wellington Hay as Premier, and to such a Government I will give my unqualified support.

Having been in the closest touch with agricultural interests all my life, it is my ambition to make myself particularly useful to those engaged in the basic industry of this Dominion. If elected, I can be safely depended upon to give the closest attention to agricultural problems generally, and to watch carefully the rural needs of this constituency. Believing that there must be closer co-operation between the man who produces in the country and the man who consumes in the city, I will do my utmost to solve this problem so far as it may be considered a local or Provincial problem.

Labour will also find me sympathetic to its needs. I consider that I am particularly well adapted to represent labour, because both as an employee and employer I have had a long experience with both sides of the many problems that have come up in this field from time to time. The Liberal Party has invariably stood for the rights of the toiler, as against the privilege of the idle rich, and under all circumstances I may be absolutely depended upon to see to it that the men in our industrial life and all those dependent upon them will receive a square deal in the Legislature.

My views on temperance are well known. The Ontario Temperance Act was passed following a direct demand for prohibitory legislation on the part of an overwhelming majority of the people of this Province, and if elected I purpose to give it my hearty support.

It is my intention to meet as many as possible of the Electors of this Riding before Election Day, and I will avail myself of every opportunity to discuss public questions with members of the Electorate. In seeking your support and influence, I promise, if elected as your Member, to devote myself faithfully and earnestly to the duties of the position, and to uphold and advance the best interest of the people of West Peterborough.

Faithfully yours,

J. W. MEYERS.

CULTURE WAVE SWEEPING U.S.

LONDON, June 9.—Certain English newspapers seem to delight in poking fun at American customs and manners, and some of the London publications make more or less of a practice of parading the idiosyncrasies and habits of American tourists. This is especially true where American customs differ from the othodox traits of the Englishman.

A London newspaper with a circulation of a million has featured the following paragraph regarding a "cultural revolution" reported in satire, as taking place in the United states:

"Cuspidor are being removed from countless American drawing rooms. Chewing gum is being scraped off parlor chairs. Several million American spend hours daily in practising the correct pronounciation of the words "aunt," 'clerk,' 'Derby,' and 'advertisement.'"

Then came the ironical information that "bootlegging is no longer the principal occupation of the cultured minds of America.and that much more time is being spent "in reading the social culture advertisements and learning how easy it is to misbehave unless one buys "The Book of Good Manners'."

The British public is told that a great wave of etiquette is sweeping America. "Half America's 110,000,000 people are now spending a large part of their time watching the other half and seeing that they conform to the rules of social culture, says this satirical journal.

Patrons of restaurants are pictured as spending so much time watching one another that they eat only about a half what they consumed before the wave of etiquette struck America. The paper quotes a Broadway manager as that "when a diner used his knife on a salad or takes two bites at a strawbeery, such a hush falls upon the assembly that one can hear the orchestra.

HONOR WHERE HONOR WAS DUE

A certain distinguished Englishman whom we will call Walker-Smith plays persistent but terrible game of golf. During a visit to this country he visited the links of a country club in Westchester County, New York State.

After an especially miserable showing one morning he flung down his, niblick in disgust.

"Caddy," he said, addressing the youth who stood alongside, "that was awful, wasn't it?"

"Pirty bad. Sir."

"I'll have to confess that I am the worst golfer in the world," continues the actor.

"Oh, I wouldn't say that, sir," purred the caddy, soothingly.

"Did you ever see a worse player than I am?"

"No, sir, I never did," confessed the boy truthfully; "but some of the other boys was telling me yistiddy about a gentleman that must be a worst player than what you are. They said his name was Walker-Smith."

BEAUTIFUL MOUTH IS EASY TO HAVE.

Responds More Easily Than Any Other Feature of the Face.

By Mme. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

The beautiful mouth has a graceful, firm outline, neither too small not too large, neither thick nor thin, not weak or too aggressive. The lips are fresh and vivid, the teeth perfect and the breath pure.

Needless to state, there are few perfect specimens. But the mouth responds more readily to cultivation than any other feature of the face.

Bitting the lips coarsens them. Making them up hastily may ruin their expressiveness. Constantly wetting them is an unlovely habit.

These exercises will be found beneficial:

With opened mouth, press lips close to the teeth, drawing them inward as far as possible, and in that position move the mouth vigorously from right to left.

Close the mouth and draw the corners alternately to the right and the left.

Close the mouth tightly, inflate the cheeks and move the lower jaw up and down as though eating.

Grasp the flesh firmly and knead the cheeks between thumb and finger.

Close the mouth tigntly, inflate the cheeks and tap with the fingers quickly and vigorously.

With the knuckles of your fingers stroke cheeks with strong pressure from the lobe of the ear to the mouth.

Try each of these a dozen times a day, and keep the muscles about the mouth firm and the flesh about them from sagging.

Golf, tennis and other sporting goods are in demand in China.

High-Pressure Oiling—2 Gallons a Minute!

LUBRICATION is life—in motors. Because it defeats wear and vibration. Jewett has a hollow crankshaft, high-pressure system, forcing 2 gallons of oil per minute to all main and connecting rod bearings, and spraying the entire internal mechanism. Metal never rubs metal in a Jewett motor—a thin film of oil safeguards bearings.

The results of such ideal lubrication are real smoothness and decided silence. Further, the continuous oil-stream tends to keep bearings cool, and Jewett takes long distances at high speeds, climbs continued grades, or trudges soft roads, without overheating. You know what happens to cars equipped with circulating and splash lubrication, under like conditions. Let us show you the Jewett! You try to overheat it.

TURKEY CENTRE OF BATTLE FIELD

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 9. — A world war for oil is on, the principal contenders being the United States and Great Britain, and the present battlefield in Turkey.

This is neither exaggeration nor sensationalism. The most powerful nation, without oil at its command, in any future war would be absolutely at the mercy of a weaker power with the petrolium it required.

The British navy is 90 per cent. oil driven—it was only 45 per cent. before the war—and her merchant marine is becoming more and more dependent on this form of fuel. Control of the air and the most vital part of all military transportation—by truck—depend on gas, and the next war will be decided by gas-using or oil-burning contrivances.

What is true of Great Britain is also true of the United States, only more so. Ditto France, who knows she must one day face Germany—which accounts in a large measure for her heated objections to the Angora governmen's concession in Asia Minor to the American interests represented by Admiral Chester.

Our Reserve Dwindling

The positions of the United States and Great Britain are very different, so far as the present moment is concerned, but quite similar when the future is considered.

The United States is not only a stupendous oil and gas consumer but the world's greatest producer and exporter at the same time.

Great Britain, next to the United States and—in normal times—Russia, is the greatest petrol user, yet the bulk of her needs she must export. Of her exports—reaching over 5,000,000 tons a year during the war—some 61 per cent. came from the United States.

But American oil deposits are running out—getting low. It is estimated that no more than 7,000,000,000 barrels remain in the ground obtainable by present methods of extraction. This oil is being taken from the ground at the rate of 400,000,000 barrels yearly. This means that at the present rate the supply will be exhausted in less than 20 years.

Britain Imports Her Oil

But production and consumption both are constantly increasing. The present rate is five times what it was in 1901 and twice what it was in 1909. David White, of the U. S. Geological Survey, figures that approximately 5,000,000,000 barrels of oil have been mined in the United States since the Drake well was drilled in 1859, or 43 per cent. of the total estimated as recoverable. It would take but 13 years to mine the same amount at the present rate.

Now while Standard Oil and other American producers are madly delving into American stores of oils, and the American government itself is blindly leasing or otherwise disposing of oil lands which it holds in reserve, Great Britain is rapidly reaching out for new oil lands.

While oil is comparatively cheap and easy to obtain in world markets, Britain s importing most of her oil. Meanwhile she is steadily staking out oil reserves all over the globe. And, in spots more easily protected by her army and navy, she is playing a far-sighted and extremely clever political game as well. When the world is drained dry of oil, England intends still to have a goodly reserve.

Hence Great Britain's crafty game here. Ask any educated Turk when Britain will leave the Straits—the Dardanelles, Marmora and the Bosphorus—and he will smile and shake his head.

Ahead of Uncle Sam

"Never!" he says.

The Straits are today the new key to Europe's oil supplies and therfore of Britain's. Russia, Rumania, the Caspian Sea, Persia, Mesopotamia and Central Asia, all center about Constantinople and who controls Constantinople controls the outflow of oil from these new and rich fields.

"But the Straits are free to all shipping—like the open sea," you say. True. But, like the open sea, the strongest fleet, in time of war, becomes sole possessor. Great Britain can close the Straits tomorrow if occasion requires.

The American policy in Turkey—in the oil fields and elsewhere—is the policy of the "open door"—equal opportunities for all. And the United States should be able to make this policy stick. But with Great Britain flung out all over the world, and with her resources in oil hardly touched, she would seem, at present writing, to have a shade advantage over Uncle Sam, today spending his natural resources like a drunken sailor.

CAN TAKE INK OUT OF NEWSPAPERS, CLAIM

By HERBERT LITTLE

MADISON, Wis., June 9.—United Press).—If a neatly-uniformed young man hops out of a motor truck in front of your door, and greets you with a variation of the "Any Rags, Any Bottles," don't be surprised.

"Any old newspapers today?" is expected by federal forest experts to be one of the everyday, common phrases of the future and one of the biggest factors in conserving the country's forests.

A commercial process of removing ink from newspapers, making the paper available for being made over into available stock for the gigantic newspaper-making industry of the nation, which was developed by the United States federal products laboratory here, has proved successful and practical after experiments extending over a year, according to claims made by employees.

A saving of $15 a ton in making newsprint was effected at one mill through removing the ink from newspapers by the new process and making the paper over into newsprint again. The process can be repeated two or three times. Heretofore newsprint paper has been used only once, as the ink spotted over the paper could not be removed by any known process.

Considerable aid in the problem of saving the diminishing forests of the country from the increasing demands of the newspapers is expected through the process, which has been hailed by publishers as the most important to publishers since the invention of the linotype.

A Simple Process

The process is simple. It consists of washing out, as with soap, of the old newspapers in a solution of bentonite, a clay found in Wyoming, whose qualities were discovered by the research experts of the government forestry service. The amount of this colloidal clay, which is also used as a beauty clay by beauty parlors, in producing a ton of newsprint from old newspapers costs about $5.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

Shows How to Adjust and Tune up Motor for the Season's Running.

By E. H. SCOTT

This article gives practical, step-by-step instructions to the motorist who wants to reduce his repair bills, get more power from his motor, and eliminate trouble during the coming touring season.

The Clutch—Its Care and Adjustment

There are few parts of an automobile that receives more abuse than the clutch. A large number of motorists, not knowing that they are doing any harm, drive with their foot on the clutch pedal at all times. The result of this is that they get into the habit of slipping the clutch when slowing down, causing the clutch faces to wear rapidly and commence to grab or slip. The clutch is NOT designed to take the place of GEARS. Yet this is exactly what some drivers use the clutch for. NEVER drive with your foot on the clutch pedal, and NEVER slip the clutch when you should change down to a lower gear. Sudden operation of the clutch makes the wheels spin, causes rapid wear on the tires, and puts a heavy strain on the whole transmission system. In wet weather, harsh operation of the clutch will cause the car to skid badly also.

Here is the CORRECT way to use the clutch. In starting along the road, let the engine run JUST A TRIFLE faster than idling speed, then allow the clutch to engage gently and start to move the car. Pause for a second, then let the clutch right in, and the instant the clutch is fully engaged, start to accelerate the engine. NEVER depress the accelerator to speed up the engine UNTIL the clutch IS fully engaged, or you will cause unnecessary slipping and have trouble. NEVER accelerate SUDDENLY at any time, but especially do not do this if the car is moving SLOWLY, or the rear wheels may spin as shown in the illustration, and in any case will throw a very severe strain on the whole transmission system.

As a general thing, when the clutch is given reasonabe treatment and care, it will give very little trouble. Trouble in the clutch sometimes does develop, however, and takes one of three forms: it either slips, so preventing the full power of the engine being transmitted to the rear whels, it grabs too quickly, causing the car to leap forward with a jolt when the clutch is engaged, or it spins, and makes it impossible to change gears silently (unless you are an expert).

If the clutch is of the leather or dry plate type, and it SLIPS, it may be due to the surface of the leather being soaked with oil or grease, or it may be the adjusting screws require a little more tension. If the clutch is slipping because it has oil or grease on it, press it out of engagement and wash the surface of the leather with gasoline. After it has dried off, dress evenly all round the face of the leather or plate with neatsfoot oil. Jam the clutch out of engagement and allow the oil to soak in all night. If the clutch still slips after this treatment, increase the tension on the clutch springs slightly, but be sure to give each adjusting screw the SAME NUMBER OF TURNS. Do not experiment too much.

If a leather or dry plate clutch GRABS or CHATTERS when engaged, the leather or asbestos face may be glazed, in which case a dressing with neatsfoot oil will soften it and may affect a cure. If this does not remedy the trouble, have the clutch examined by a competent mechanic, as it is more than probable that it requires relining.

If the clutch is of the multiple steel disc variety and it SLIPS, drain out all of the old oil in the clutch case, then pour in about a pint of kerosene and start the engine, and with the gears in neutral, work the clutch pedal in and out. Now drain the case, and refill with about half of pint of VERY THIN oil or a mixture of half kerosene and oil. The clutch as a rule requires very little oil, too much oil is nearly as bad as not enough. Find out from the instruction book you got with your car what quantity and kind of oil to use. If this information is not available, then pour in half a pint and see how the clutch acts. If this does not cure the slipping, try draining out some of the oil, and replacing with an equal quantity of kerosene. If the clutch STILL slips, then increase the tension of the clutch springs slightly, giving each screw the same number of turns. If this does not cure the trouble, consult a good mechanic, as the above treatment is as far as the average driver can go without getting himself into trouble.

If a clutch of the multiple disc variety GRABS or CHATTERS when engaging, then the clutch plates are probably too dry. Pour in about a pint of kerosene and work the clutch in and out when the engine is running, then drain and refill with the proper quantity of very thin oil.

If you find that it is impossible to change gears silently, take up the floor boards and observe the clutch when you push out the clutch pedal. If the clutch is enclosed in a case, then take off the cover. When you push out the clutch pedal and the engine is running, the clutch should stop spinning in about two seconds. If it continues to spin for some time after the pedal is pushed out, it is possible that the clutch stop or brake is worn and requires to be adjusted closer to the rim of the clutch. In some few makes of clutches, there is no clutch stop fitted, and in that case, you will need to consult the service station of your car to have this fault corrected.

The adjustment of the clutch varies slightly on different cars, so consult the instruction book you got with your car and follow the directions given there.

In one typical paper-mill, the total cost for a ton of newsprint produced from pulpwood was $53; the cost for a ton produced from de-inked newspapers, $38.

From 2,500 pounds of newspapers 2,000 pounds of newsprint can be produced.

In the city of Chicago, if this process were put into effect, it is estimated that 325 tons of used newspapers could be collected daily, out of which 260 tons of newsprint could be produced ready for use again.

The ink is loosened from the paper when first put in soak by the addition of soda ash. This alkali loosens the ink, and the bentonite clay attracts and attaches the ink masses, which are then washed away.

The newspapers would have to be collected from readers, mostly in the cities, by continued, systematic campaigns. The process does not take extensive machinery, and could be carried on in the same city in which the papers were used.

Such re-making of newsprint could be carried out most economically by having the mills near the source of demand and supply, eliminating middlemen and periodical fluctuations of the waste-paper market.

Heretofore, any process for taking ink out of newsprint, weakened the fibre of the paper, rendering it only available for course wrapping paper or cardboard.

Tucks and Pleats

The use of tucks and p'eats is one of the distinguishing notes of this season. Caps of inch-wide tucks serve as s'eeves in some of the smartest crepe frocks, and p'eats form most interesting pane's and apron effects as we" as entire skirts.

PROOF that the Ford is recognized as a farm necessity, is shown by the fact that when the Committee on Agricultural Conditions investigated the prices of things entering into farm production, they investigated the price of Ford Cars to the exclusion of every other make of car.

CROP REPORTS

Following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Seeding is about completed, especially in Western Ontario. The copious warm rains over the week-end have greatly helped germination, and have started pastures with a rush.

Potatoes and corn were largely planted during the week, and a good acreage of each of these crops is assured. Early potatoes are coming up promisingly in many counties.

Orchards are in full bloom, a week or two later than usual. In the eastern half of Ontario tent caterpillars are feared. Strawberries in the great fruit sections are looking encouraging, but raspberries have been top-killed to a considerable extent in many counties.

Perth: A great many farmers are complaining of large acreas of spring grains being attacked by wire worms, owing to the heavy rains a short time ago. Numbers of farmers are re-seeding acres that have been drowned out.

Kent: The acreage of hay will be considerably smaller than usual due to the fact that a large number of fields of old alfalfa and some newly seeded ground had to be plowed up.

Many poultry raisers speak of poor hatches this season. Dealers report the supply of eggs falling off sharply this week. This is somewhat early in the season, but numerous flocks are not laying well.

Fort William: The Holstein breed seem to be in favor. A few men in pure-bred Holsteins, however, complain they are not able to get any more than grade prices for their breeding stock.

At a sale of twenty-four Shorthorns in Grey County on June 1st, fifteen females brought an average of $126.66 and nine males sold for $852.50.

Butterfat is bringing around 31c a lb. in Northumberland and Peterborough, while prices are quoted around 45c in Fort William and Port Arthur district.

Middlesex: Reports from some cheese factories indicate patrons are getting about $1.40 per 100 lbs. for their milk.

Creameries as a rule are receiving larger supplies than usual for the time of year. The Port Arthur Representative reports that some farmers in that district are contemplating purchasing more cows.

Little pigs are bringing from $8 to $10 a pair in Leeds, and $12 a pair in Frontenac. In various parts of the Province complaints are coming in of weak litters, and an unusually large number of hairless pigs.

Middlesex: A number of horses have been shipped during the past week at prices around $200.

Kent claims that that county is practically cleaned out of finished steers, and the few that are left will be carried over on grass.

Manitoulin: The first shipment of cattle from this district was made by boat last week. The most of these cattle were not in market condition, but these will be fed at Eastern points for some time before putting them on the market. Some young pigs were also shipped to Eastern points, the local farmers receiving $5 apiece for them.

South Simcoe: Practically all livestock has gone out on grass. Very few of the fat cattle are being fed in the stable. Livestock shipments from South Simcoe have been much lighter than the average, largely due, no doubt, to the drop in hog prices. Butcher cattle, which might be classed as medium to good, brought $7 per cwt. at point of shipment. Fifteen dollars per cwt. was paid or $8 to $12 apiece for spring lambs and $10 per cwt. for hogs on the thick smooth basis.

Peterborough: There is a fair demand for all classes of livestock, with a rather heavy shipment of hogs and calves. For the former $10.25 a cwt. was paid, and the latter brought from 5c to 10c a lb., depending on quality.

Oxford. During the week, Mr. Radcliff visited the county again, and porchased three bulls to go to Essex County. The work of our Better Livestock campaign is, therefore, not only improving the livestock of our own county, but also improving the livestock of breeders of outside counties.

Huron: During the week I placed an old country man with a dairy farmer at Stanley. He is experienced in farming, and is starting at $40 per month.

Northumberland: Immigrants are coming out quite freely. Six arriving at one point in one day this week. These were Irishmen, and seem to please their employers.

Chevrolet Anticipates The Requirements of the Public

Last year the increase in Chevrolet production was 50 per cent. greater than that of any other motor car manufactured. Why?

There must be some reason why Chevrolet passed the leaders of the industry in this way.

The reason is that Chevrolet best anticipates the modern car buyer's requirements.

Today, common sense rules in the purchase of motor cars. People want to buy reliable transportation—not just a machine. They want to buy a quality car that will give them the highest degree of satisfactory service—a car whose construction and appearance provide a source of real pride of ownership. And with all this it must be economical in first cost and in upkeep.

Chevrolet combines all these requirements. It is the world's lowest-priced, fully-equipped, quality car, and is lowest in operating cost of any car built.

That Chevrolet meets the requirements of a vast number of car buyers is proven by the car buyers themselves in their actual purchase of more Chevrolets, by several thousands, than any other quality car.

Get Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron

It will strengthen your nerves and increase your vigor and endurance, often in two weeks' time. It contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron to-day, and if within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force, and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. CLARA PHILLIPS COULD NOT CONCEAL CHARACTER STRIPES

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Clara Phillips could not conceal the character stripes which dubbed her "tiger women" for the ferocious hammer murder of Alberta Meadows.

That's why, recently recaptured after jail break and flight to Central America, she now is lodged in San Quentin penitentiary under a 10-year to life sentence for slaying the young widow she suspected of intimacy with her husband, Armour Phillips, oil salesman.

The tigress" could not sheathe her claws even in flight. Could not control that dominant combative trait which runs revealingly through her stage and domestic life and which erupted in the grisly act on a onely hilltop to which she had lured her victim last July.

Ego Causes Downfal'

It was this penchant for fighting, this exaggerated self-assertiveness, upon which the authorities relied for eventua apprehension. Sheriff William Traeger had insisted that she could not hide her nature that something would provoke her and provide a clew.

Jesse Carsen, ex-convict and, by her statement, the man who sawed her her Los Angeles cell bars did the provoking. Carsen was Mrs. Phillips' through Mexico into Honduras where the arrest was made, Clara posed as Carsens' wife.

They had been joined by Mrs. Phillips' younger sister, Etta Mae Jackson. But when her liberator dropped his pose of chivalry and took himself for granted as suitor, Clara says, public squabbles arose. The behavior of the trip, for which each blames the other, blazed the trail for pursuit, providing the trace confidently awaited by Sheriff Traeger.

In the Honduran jail Clara's bravado flared anew. She slapped a guard. She buffered newspapermen and smashed cameras. Wearing a chip on her shoulder. Sharp of tongue and fist, as she is reported to have made at home and in the stage chorus she once dominated.

Maintained Her Innocence

Returned to Los Angeles, the mercurial Clara proposed to reopen the "fight" to disprove guilt for the murder she has disclaimed since her husband told officers of her confession and instigated her arrest. Her effort to secure retrial was based on a certificate of probable cause a technical barrier to her immediate removal to San Quen in.

Clara Phillips was convicted largely on the testimony of Mrs. Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl chum and asserted eye-witness of the Meadows girl's death under the flailing hammer.

Leaving her victim horridly mutilated, Mrs. Phillips, 26 years old compelled Mrs. Caffee to drive away her in the auto by which Alberta had gone to her doom.

Then, as the convicting jury heard the grewsome tale, Mrs. Phillips threatened to kill her companion if she told, confessed the crime to Phillips, was by him put aboarda train and next day arrested in Arizona. She was convicted on a compromise verdict and sentenced under the California indeterminate law.

A Born Fighter

It was while in the Los Angeles county jail awaiting decision on appeal that Clara escaped in December through sawed cell bars from solitary confinement, scaled the roof, gained the street and whisked away by confederates, remained hidden in the city for several weeks, with Carsen and her sister sought refuge in Central America.

The nature of the crime, her escape the drama of a 10,000-mile chase, the election of her younger sister to share Clara's flight and fate, her reported near success in vamping her way to release in Tegucigalpa, the suspensee inherent in extradition proceedings—all these give the case all the elements of a criminal classic.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TAUGHT TO BE KIND TO ANIMALS

DETROIT, June 9.—(Associated Press).—People are becoming more humane in their treatment of dumb animals, according to F. E. Hutchinson, manager of the Detroit Humane Society, basing the statement upon personal observations over a period of many years, and upon letters from those engaged in similar work in various cities of the country.

"There are two reasons for the success of the humane movement," Manager Hutchinson said. "The most important work is being carried on in the public schools. School children are being drilled from the kindergarten on, that it is manly and womanly to be kind to all helpless creatures. As a result boys and girls are looking out for the interest of the birds and animals as never before. They personally are watering and feeding animals in need of attention and do not hesitate to call to the attention of the proper authorities any cases of inhumane treatment they observe.

"The second reason is that men dealing in animals have discovered that it pays in dollars and cents to be humane. Cattle buyers are beginning to insist that the animals under their charge be humanely treated. To do otherwise decreases the value of the cattle and brings them heavy losses. Some of the animal dealers now are our warmest exponents of humane treatment of animals. They are compelling their employes to practice this.

"There is still another reason and that is the American spirit of fair play. No normal American cares to injure anything that cannot fight back."

ENGLAND HAS BIG QUOTA OF MOTORCYCLE SPEEDERS

LONDON, June 9.—(Associated Press)—A new type of man has become somewhat common in England recently. He is the motorcycle "speed merchant" of which there are some 380,000 in the country, and who, attired in leather jackets and crash helmets, fly around the roads at high speed. Their craze for pace may be prompted by the fact that statistics go to show there are fewer accidents when riding at high speed.

At Brooklands race track a spill at 45 to 50 miles an hour means serious injury and the hospital, but at 60 miles an hour only a few grazes are received, and at 90 miles the "tumbler does not even hurt himself." These are the statements of Doctor Gardiner, who has had racing experience there since 1911, and although records for motor cycling on this track mount higher and higher, fewer rider are injured.

It is asserted that a man's body falls better than anything of equal weight, it travels some distance parallel with the ground and finally rolls over and over, thus preventing really serious injury.

CHICAGO, June 8 (Associated Press).—There are 178 women preachers of various denominations in the United States, all of whom are members of the International Association of Women Preachers, according to the list of members recently made public here. Six women preachers of foreign lands also belong to the association, three in China, two in India and one in Africa.

Illinois leads in the number of women preachers with 33.17 of them being in the city of Chicago. Kansas ranks second with 30 women ministers, seven of whom are at Wichita. Nebraska is third in numbers with 18.

HISTORY AND BEAUTIES NATIONAL PLAYGROUND.

Listened to With Interest By Press Association.

JASPER, Alta. June 9.—Colonel Maynard Rogers, superintendent of Jasper National Park, was the principal speaker at the first session of the joint convention of the Alberta, British Columbia and Yukon Press Association, which opened at the Canadian National Railways Alpine Hostel, Jasper Park Lodge.

The meeting was an open one and Colonel Rogers' address on the history and beauties of the Dominion's most northerly national playground was listened to with interest, not only by editors and publishers, members of the association, but also by guests at the lodge from many parts of Canada and the United States.

The convention marked the first important event of the season at Jasper Lodge, which the Canadian National created in the beautiful portion of the Rocky mountains at this season. Owing to the many reservations made, accommodation has had to be greatly enlarged. Where last season accommodation for 75 guests was supplied by nine log cabins this year visitors to Jasper Park will have at their disposal a log cabin hotel built on the bungalow plan on an ideal site overlooking Lacbeauvert, and able to provide for two hundred and fifty guests. It was on the wide verandah of this new hotel that the meeting was held, with Lac Beauvert and the green covered slopes of snow-caped Mount Edith Cavell and her sister peaks as a background.

Gave Sanctuary.

Colonel Rogers found a ready and enthusiastic audience for his outline of the history of the park, and its natural advantages as a playground and a game sanctuary.

The speaker told the convention that the territory was first set aside by the Canadian Government in 1907, although it was not until seven years later that the park's boundaries were defined.

The name selected was derived from that of Jasper Hawes, an employee of the North-West Trading Company, in charge of Jasper House erected by that company in 1908, as a trading post near the tip of Brule lake. The park today contains four thousand four hundred square miles and is the largest game sanctuary in the world.

In order that the visitors might have some conception of the park he explained that it was more than double the size of Prince Edward Island; almost as large as the state of Connecticut; and nearly double that of Devonshire, one of New England's largest countries.

Novel Features.

The members of the visiting press were much interested in the many novel features of Jasper Park Lodge, which, although situated where mountain and valley, lake, river and glazier are seen in all their grandeur, is fully equipped with the conveniences of the up-to-date urban home. Jasper Park Lodge is probably the only hostelry on the North American continent built on the camp plan on such an extensive scale, with electric light, steam heat, hot and cold running water in every room, private baths, etc. The central building with its wide verandah and porte cochere of logs and immense cobble stone pillars, is a masterpiece of rustic architecture.

It contains a spacious rotunda, billiard, dining and ball rooms and at one end there is a wing in which there are twelve bedrooms opening on the ground. The verandah along the sides of the dining rooms have been screened in and is used for dancing in the long summer evenings.

Twenty five smaller buildings comprise the sleeping cabins. They vary in size from one to four suites and each cottage contains a private bath and all conveniences a picturesque detail is the old English lantern that hangs over each doorway indentifying the cabin by a letter.

With a hotel of this description, the Canadian National Railways have achieved their object—that of providing the most modern and comfortable accommodation possible with buildings which blend with the national beauty of the surroundings, rather than create a contrast.

FAGOTING POPULAR

Effective use is made of fagoted bands in the frocks of voile and georgette for summer. It is an inexpensive trimming, but gives an openwork that is very decorative. It is easier to do than hemstitching.

Being heavyweight champ is easy work, but Dempsey will fight you before you get that job.

Ladies' Aid, Millbrook, Held Closing Meeting.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held their closing meeting until October on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Brown, Fallis' line, the attendance, in spite of the threatening weather, being very encouraging. The President, Miss M. Needham, occupied the chair, and after the opening devotional exercises, the usual business was attended to, and arrangements made for some special events which the aid is undertaking to carry through in the near future. Mrs. W. H. Byam, one of the oldest members of the society, whom all were glad to have present, spoke briefly thanking the members for their kindness in making her a life member of the organization. The roll call by the Secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, was responded to by nearly thirty members, fees received amounting to $6.10. The Treasurer, Miss M. Steep and Flat Roofs—

Barrett Everlastic Giant Shingles

Lay Them Right Over the Old Roof

These sturdy shingles are made and laid 3 to a strip. Thanks to their extra weight, thickness, and rigidity, they can be laid right over the old roof. (Use 1½" galvanized roofing nails). This means big savings in money, labor and trouble.

You can rely on these shingles to stand staunch and tight against storm and blizzard throughout the years. Their base is of extra-heavy, best grade roofing-felt, saturated with high grade waterproofing material.

These "Giants" for service are strikingly handsome. Their surface is of everlasting mineral in artistic shades of red, green or blue-black. Because of this mineral surface they are highly fire-resistant—never need painting or staining.

Come in. See these modern roofings. Get our estimate on a complete roof of Barrett Everlastic Giant Shingles. Prices are extremely moderate.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

AVERAGE WEIGHT.

The average child, either boy or girl, at birth weighs about 7 pounds. At 3 months, 18, (and the girl 16½) and yet at 1 year the boy 21 7-8 and the girl a little over 20.

If your baby starts in with a birth weight of 9 pounds, naturally at 1 year he will weigh nearly 27 pounds, because if the baby is well nourished he will weigh about three times his birth weight at 1 year.

The weight of a child is always in relation to his height, instead of his age. We cannot expect all children of 1 year to weigh the same because some start out with a much larger framework than others. But no matter how small or how large your baby is he will—if he is well nourished—weigh a certain amount in proportion to his height.

The heights of boys and girls throughout the first year are not much different, usually about an inch less for the girl, below are given only the boys' heights and if your baby is a girl you may deduct on inch and arrive at a good approximate height for her.

At birth the average boy measures 20 6-10 inches—at 3 months, 23½ at 6 months, 26½; at 1 year, 29 3-8.

Arranging these few general figures in their proper places—weight next to height, for the different ages, you can get an idea how well your baby is keeping up his weight for his height.

THE ICE BOX

For those families who have the means for only small bits of ice so necessary to keep the baby's milk sweet, the home made ice box solves a big problem. In it one can use a small chunk of ice and still keep the temperature of the milk at a non-dangerous point.

Get a stout wooden box about eighteen inches square, also a ten quart pail. Put three inches of sawdust on the bottom of the box and fill in tightly all around the pail. Put a layer of cheesecloth over the surface of the sawdust.

Put a smaller paid inside the large pail. One may keep the ice in the small pail and the bottles in the larger one around it, or the other way around, the ice in the large pail and the bottles in the smaller one. The top should be securely fastened with a close fitting lid and a bag of sawdust placed on top. Line the inside of the top lid with several thicknesses of newspaper.

Clean the small inner pail every morning.

Such an ice box would be invaluable for the camper, even were there no babies whose bottles must be considered. All the meat and cream for the camping party could be accommodation to much better advantage in such an ice box than it could if sunk in a well.

When it is utterly impossible to get ice and the milk supply is not fresh every day the mother would be safer using dried mily in hot be safer using dried milk in hot and wholesome and one can use it during the hottest weather or when travelling to good advantage. Give the baby the juice of fresh fruits or tomato juice daily when any canned food is used.

PLOT, COUNTER PLOT

Into the largest and newest of Dallas buildings went Gray, a white tile and stone skyscrapper, the entire lower floor of which was devoted to an impressive banking room. He sent his card in to the president and spent perhaps ten minutes with that gentleman. He had called merely to get acquainted, so he explained.

Before he left the bank Gray had met the other officers and from their manner he saw that he has created a decided impression upon them. The bank president himself walked with him to the marble railing then said:

"I'd like to have you wait and meet my son, Lieutanant Roswell. He's just back from overseas, and—the boy served with some distinction. A father's pride, you understand?"

"Was Lieutenant Roswell in France?" Gray inquired, quickly.

"Oh yes. He'll be in at any minute."

A shadow of regret crossed the caller's face. "I'm sorry, but I've arranged to call on the Mayor, and I've no time to lose. What unit was your son with?"

"The Ninety-eighth Field Artillery."

The shadow fled. Mr. Gray was vexed at the necessity for haste, but he would look forward to meeting the young hero later.

Gray's fingers strayed to the small change in his trousers pocket and he turned longing eyes back toward the bank interior. Without doubt it was a temptation, especially inasmuch as at that moment his well-manicured right hand held in its grasp every cent that he possessed.

CHAPTER II

Gray Meets a Friend

The representative of the Dallas Post had anticipated some difficulty in interviewing hthe elusive Calvin Gray—whoever he might be—but luck appeared to be with him, for shortly after his arrival at the hotel the object of his quest appeared. Mr. Gray was annoyed at being discovered; he was, in fact, loath to acknowledge his identity. Usually Mr. Gray's secretary saw interviewers. However, now that his identity was known, he had not the heart to be discourteous to a fellow journalist. Yes! He had once owned a newspaper—in Alaska. Incidentally, it was the farthest-north publication in the world.

Alaska was a hard country, quite so, but nothing like Mexico during the revolution. Mexican sugar and Mahogany, it transpired, had occupied Mr. Gray's attention for a time, as had Argentine cattle. Yucatan hennequinn, and an engineer enterprise in Bolivia, not to mention other investments closer to home.

Once the speaker had become reconciled to the distasteful necessity of talking about himself, he suggested an adjournment to his rooms where he would perhaps suffer less embarrassment by reason of his unavoidable use of the personal pronoun.

Gray noted the effect upon his visitor of the Governor's suite and soon had the young man at ease with a Corona between his teeth. Then followed a full three-quarters of an hour during which the visitor discoursed in his very best style and his caller sat spellbound.

Gray called at several other banks that morning. He strode in swiftly introduced himself with quick inciviveness, and tarried only long enough to fix himself indelibly in the minds of those he had come to see, then he left. On the street, his long legs covered the ground at something less than a run, his eyes were keenly alert, his face set in purposeful lines. Pedestrianns turned to look after him.

At the mayor's office he was denied admission to the chief executive, but insisted so peremptorily as to gain his end. The call ended by the two men lunching together at the City Club, as Gray had assumed it would, and he took pains that the bankers upon whom he had called earlier in the morning should see him in company with the mayor.

BIZARRE STORY

Then came the second painting. Four figures in this one, also a biblical subject. Nothing crude. And in oils, too.

"Throughout it all, I am guided," says Miss Roose. "They wield the brush, through me.

"I hardly understand it myself. Never before this did I believe in spiritualism. It just didn't exist in my life. Now everything is so wonderful to me.

"Raphael and Murillo inspired the first two paintings. But Gainsborough, Hals and Rubens also have come. They don't speak fluent English. They're very abrupt. All they say is 'Paint! Paint!'

"Am Carried Away"

"I feel my hands carried away. Raphael directs me in faces and coloring. Hals specializes in back grounds. Rubens in coloring and Murillo in hands.

"You see, most of the things that happen on this world are 'handed back' from those who have gone. There are no dead. If a person goes he invariably returns and works through those still left.

"My future? I don't know. I am entirely in their hands. What they direct me I will do. I believe in it heart and soul."

Before Miss Roose discovered she possessed this strange power, she was a skeptic. She worked in a department store. But now those who know her say there is rapidly coming to her the higher education she was unable to get herself.

It is being literally forced upon her. She can no more control it than Tiny Tim could stop an earthquake.

She symbolizes that strange thing toward which the times seem to be moving—that force which Sir Oliver Lodge, Conan Doyle and other noted men say exists.

What is it?

HALF CAPES

Half capes are a fashion novelty this season, that is, capes which go across the back of the frock but not the front. They are usually attaced to the sleeves.

PRICES OF SUGAR ARE STATIONARY

But Housewives Agree That Two Pounds For a Quarter High Enough.

Prices of sugar, although the raw product took another jump about ten days ago, remain stationary here, and most housewives will agree that two pounds for a quarter, or eight and half pounds for a dollar is high enough is preserving time. Some stores are offering a hundredweight for $11.75, while another dealer is selling his stock for $11.65. The market is described as firm.

The grocers say that people who persist in buying large quantities at the present time are simply playing into the hands of the speculators, and that the best course is to buy as little sugar as possible, thus forcing the dealer to unload more quickly.

Sugar, since the war, has never been as high in price. In war-time, it went up to 23 cents a pound, when people stopped buying it altogether. Last year, its highest mark was seven cents a pound, and it sank to nearly five cents a pound later. The futility of petitions or boycotts is well illustrated in the case of sugar sales which have for years reached their zenith in price just when the demand was keenest, at the preserving season and seem this year to be running out of bounds altogether..

Pineapples are still very much in evidence, in firm, fresh fruit, ranging in prices from $1.65 to $4.50 per dozen The latest arrivals in the fruit stores are the apricots, the red plums and the early peaches from California. Strawberries are still coming in from Michigan Several Canadian districts have reported indications of a good crop of berries this year.

The hog market shows a decided decrease in price. Last week's quotations of $10.25 and $11.25 for 'thick smooth" and "select graded' have dropped to $8.75 and $9.75 respectively.

spreads. for the chef at many of the colleges are as famous as the inventor of Peche Melba. I lunched with a party of Canadians overlooking the cloistered quadrangle at St. John's, when our host regaled us with story of how Archbishop Laud and King Charles 1, the founder of the college, are wont of an evening to play bowls with their heads (which, as you remember, were removed) in the cloisters. Then he told of a recent American visitor who could not see why the authorities did not pull the old place down and put up a modern fire proof building in its stead. I don't know which anecdote produced more shivers.

But perhaps a quotation from a poem which appeared in the 'Sunday Observer' will give you a better idea of the spirit of "Eights:"

"When blazers pied of violet hue,
And ladies frocks all fashions height
And every blessed kind of blue
Do point the meadows with delight,
I would that I were young again
To have the fling I flung again
And cling to the maid to whom I clung
In the wonderful week of Eights.

In Political World

Things have been quite exciting in the political world. Mr. Baldwin's meteoric rise and Mrs. Baldwin's clothes are the topics of the hour. But everybody felt genuinely sorrowful at the news of Mr. Bonar Law's forced retirement. It was wonderful the way he had gained not only the respect but the affection of every class.

Feathers and Finery

Shop windows are resplendent with the feathers and finery of court attire, and debutantes are all a-flutter for their Majesties' courts begin this week. The Royal Tournament, which is a wonderful display by crack regiments and cadets from the training ships. is in full swing. There are brilliant dinners and dances every night, and the beefeaters at the Tower of London have begun really to enjoy life now that the transatlantic visitors have arrived, thirsty for blood-curdling details. The wax policeman is daily being addressed at the entrance of Madame Tussaud's, where the Duke and Duches of York are advertised as the latest attractions. There are many disodvantages in being a member of the royal family, but that of being perpetuated in wax during one's life time to go down to posterity along with Madame's famous collection of thugs and other notorious persons must be numbered among the worst.

Music Box Review

"The Music Box Review' from New York has had a great success and is promised a long run. "The Merry Widow' is again captivating large audiences with her tuneful melodies and Mr. George Groves, the creator of the part at the original production fifteen years ago, is again the comedian.

Social Functions

The Hon. P. G. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada, and Mrs. Larkin are doing a lot of entertaining these days. Mr. Edward W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railway. has been kept extremely busy since his arirval, and the members of the Vancouver Board of Trade delegation, who came on the same boat, have been entertained to lunch and dinner almost almost every day this week. The Canadian Red Cross society in the Bank of Montreal, which arranges for pilgrimages to Canadian graves in France, is a boon to the bereaved relatives who arrive on every boat from Canada.

HELPFUL SESSION W.M.S. COBOURG

Convention of Methodists' Bay of Quinte Branch Continued With Increasing Interest.

COBOURG, June 9.—Wednesday's session of the Bay of Quinte branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church were particularly interesting and helpful. The morning session opened promptly at 9.30 when a solemn memorial service was conducted by Mrs. J. K. Moore, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Wager, of Napanee. It was an occasion of quiet spiritual uplift. Seventy-three of the faithful workers in the W. M. S. of the Bay of Quinte branch have been called to higher service in the Master's work. Mrs. Kendry outlined the service of the late Miss Jessie Munro and emphasized her faithfulness to Him who had called her to higher service, to the organization which she served, and them unto whom she ministered.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ashton, presented the memorials and resolutions for discussion. Miss Craig, who has returned from Japan because of ill-health, has expressed a desire for the auxiliaries circles and bands to devote special givings for the erection of a a school in Azaba as a memorial to her services.

"The deportment of the stranger" is one of the useful agencies by which the Methodist Church through its W. M. S. seeks to get in touch with newcomers in city, town or rural district. Its usefulness may be understood from the fact that during 1922 many strangers and adherents have been served through its agency. Removals are also reported through this medium and much visiting is done by a regularly appointed committee of visitors in hospitals and in homes. Mrs. John Laird, strangers' secretary, reported for this important phase of work. She impressed upon the convention with fervor and earnestness the great importance of this work in connection with our society. If the right woman is the secretary of this work the stranger is easily made interested in the work of the church and in the work of the missionary society. Mrs. Irwin, treasurer of circles and bands, reported $9145.27 raised by the young people.

Mrs. Wilson, sec. of circles and bands reported 60 circles with a membership of 1564 and 123 bands with a membership of 3375. Mrs. Wilson closed her report with the following verses.

We are standing on the threshold, we are in the open door
We are treading on the border land, we've never trod before;
Another year is opening and another year is gone
We've hassed the darkness of the night, we are in the early morn;
We have left the field behind us o'er which we scattered seed;
We pass into the future which none of us can read.
Then hasten to fresh labor to thresh and reap and sow;
Then bid the new year welcome and let the old year go;
Then gather all your vigor, push forward in the fight;
And let this be your motto "For God and for the right"—

Van Dyke.

Mrs. Kindry, Treasurer of Aux. reported that the branch had raised $4089.81 Mrs Ashton Cor. Sec. of Aux. reported 195 auxilaries having a membership of 7434.

Adjournment for Lunch.

Afternoon Session

After devotional exercises on Wednesday, Mrs. E. E. Marshall, Field secretary, Toronto, was introduced to the Quinte branch by the beloved president, Mrs. Grange, Miss Marshall later gave an inspirational address that was listened to with deep interest.

Mrs. F. W. White of Welcome, conducted a profitable discussion on Christian Stewardship. The outstanding feature is the work of the deportment this hear was the distribution of tne little paper "The new Christian Steward."

There are 151 societies organized in this work and 296 pledged tithers. The work emphasizes the trust of our hearts, the consecration of the will. The point of emphasis is that each soul must come to a definite point of a positive consecration of life to God's Service.

Mrs E. E. Marshall addressed the convention on the keynote of success in our work "as follows:

Mrs. Marshall's Address

Mrs. E. Marshall said she had been asked to give an inspirational talk and she took this as an indication that our women were longing for a higher spiritual life. What is Hope of Missions. Consecration. If we as women have given ourselves to God we will be glad to co-operate with those who work on foreign fields. We can do no real missionary work unless we are consecrated "By their Fruits ye shall know them."

How many habitually put first things best things, first! How many respond to call by saying "Hear am I, send me." why do we have to plead for leaders? why do we have time and money for everything else in world except, for the King's business?

What do we as a church lack? It is not power with God and power with men? The baptism of the Holy Ghost sent Westley, Knox and many others out to awaken a spiritually dead world. Are we willing to receive that power of the Holy Ghost?

A fully surrendered life must be filled withjpower of God in prayer. If women were baptised with power of God there would be no need to talk about raising finances.

Prayer is the lever that moves the arm of God. we must have faith, patience and perserverence in prayer,we must never let go of God and in God's own time and God's own wayour prayers will be answered, we are in doubt of losing this power by neglecting those old fashioned means of grace, the class and testimony meetings.

Then because of lack of this power we have lack of power with men. It is not preaching but practicing which counts There is a great lack of power of God in average home life,the old fashioned family altar is neglected, we must take time to be holy because we never get it. If we women and mothers were filled with power of God our children would rarely go astray. If the women of Methodism were living consecrated lives, there would be few half dead auxiliaries, there would be no lack of band and circle leaders. Consectation to God and cooperation with him will do all things through Christ who strengtheneth us.

ODD COMPSON COSTUME.

Theatre-goers who saw Betty Compson in the costumes of bygone days in "To Have and to Hold," will have another brief glimpse of the star in a somewhat similar costume in "The Rustle of Silk,' a new Paramount picture, in which she is featured with Conway Tearle, and which will be on view at the Capitol Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

But the glimpse will be only a short one, for "The Rustle of Silk" is a story of to-day and Betty Compson plays the role of a girl of the present. In one short sequence of scenes, however, she dons the costume of her grandmother, a famous French beauty of noble birth. That is the glimpse of her that resembles in atmosphere some of the scenes in her previous success.

Herbert Brenon produced "The Rustle of Silk" from the scenarized version of Cosmo Hamilton's novel.

BEAUTIFUL SPECTACLE TO OPEN THE JOHN ROBINSON PERFORMANCES

Admirers and worshipers of the beautiful and lovely in pageantry and fantasy will have an opportunity to witness what has been declared by critics to be the greatest circus spectacle ever produced, when the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals appear here Wednesday, June 13 and offer "Peter Pan in Animal Land."

This gorgeous extravaganza was suggested by Sir James M. Barrie's "Peter Pan" and over five hundred performers, scores of wild jungle beasts, and two hundred thoroughbred horses appear in the several scenes. The action is quick and fast, the music especially composed by one of America's best known composers and the costumes, fresh from the hands of the leading designers of New York, the same modistes, who make the costumes for the big New York musical productions.

Circus patrons know that the John Robinson managament has always offered the best in spectacles, and since "King Solomon," and "The Queen of Sheba," the claims to being just as little better than that presented by any other show, has never been questioned. More money was expended by the management in procuring wardrobe and engaging talented ballet girls, as well as noted singers, than in staging any other spectacle in the history of John Robinson.

"Peter Pan in Animal Land" is but one of the many big features of the 100th anniversary tour of the "Oldest and Best" circus. Two huge steel-girted arenas will be the scene of thrilling and nerve-racking wild animal displays from the opening to the closing of the long program, while the John Robinson standard in horses and equestrianism has also been safe-guarded, by the engaging of a score of noted European riders.

Two performances are scheduled for this city, afternoon and night, rain or shine. The street pageant of more than a mile in length, with more open dens of wild animals than those offered by any other show, will leave the circus grounds at exactly 11 a.m.

Miss MacKenzie Won Ontario Title--Ruth Hit Twelfth Homer

MISS A. MACKENZIE AGAIN CHAMPION

Won Ladies' Golf Title at Brantford Yesterday By Defeating Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton.

BRANTFORD, June 9 (Canadian Press). — For the second year in succession Miss Ada MacKenzie, of the Mississauga Club of Toronto won the Ontario Ladies' Golf championship, defeating Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton for the second successive time in the final, the result being 2 up and 1 to play.

The game was all that could be desired in a championship fixture, and there was little to choose between the two.

Miss MacKenzie was 2 up at the fifth, but her opponent was on even terms at the seventh, and they alternated in winning the eighth and ninth, making the turn all square, and both doing the outward journey in 44.

The first two holes of the homeward journey were halved, then Miss MacKenzie took the lead for the third time, and after two more holes had been halved the match was squared again at the fifteenth.

Miss MacKenzie took the lead for the fourth and last time at the 73-yard sixteenth, and ended the match at th seventh when she won the hole 4 to 5.

The game was brilliant in its steadiness. First one and then the other would have an apparent advantage off the tees, but on the whole there was no difference in their driving.

Mrs. Gibson found the most trouble, and therefore had a greater opportunity to play some excellent recoveries.

Both players were equally good on the greens, each using their putters thirty-three times in the seventeen holes.

Mrs. Gibson produced, perhaps, the most brilliant playing of the match at the sixth when she won her first hole with an eagle three. She was just two feet short of the pin, 370 yards, with her second, and easily holed out. Again at the thirteenth she was in the bunker with her drive, but made a great recovery to half the hole in fours.

Miss MacKenzie was steady all the way. Not as brilliant as on Thursday, but she made few errors. Once or twice she seemed to fail to take advantage of opportunities to increase her lead.

On the seventeenth she was eight feet from the pin with her third, and after steadying the green for a moment, dropped the ball into the cup for a birdie four and everything that went with the match.

TRAPSHOOTING.

Owing to the rainy weather last evening very few of th local gunners turned out for the weekly shoot. There was a strong wind and rain, but this did not seem to interfere with the boys shooting, as E. J. Eldridge turned a straight, first time up, of 25. Tom Curvin was hitting them good, and broke 44 out of 50.

The next shoot will be on Friday evening, 15th June. All members are requested to be on hand. Following are the scores:

	Broke.	Shot at.
Eldridge	47	50
Curvin	44	50

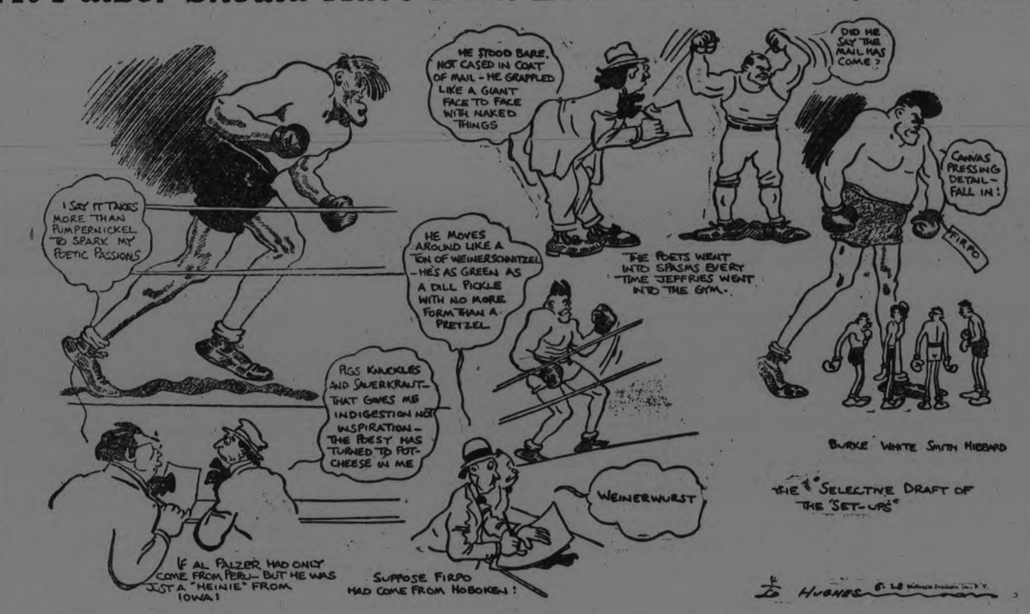
Al Palzer Should Have Been Born in Peru - By ED. HUGHES



Remember Him?

Do you remember Al Palzer?

If you don't, let me tell you about him. Palzer flourished about thirteen years ago. He was a "white hope"—a champion that never arrived. He lacked ring brains, and he was not overdeveloped in the other kind, either. But what a "knock-down-and-drag-out" style of fighting man he was! How he glorified in pure slugging.

In physical appearance Palzer was the most terror inspiring fighter that ever stepped into a prize ring. He was huge and powerful in every way. A shock of yellow, wiry hair flopped into his blue eyes. His jaw was wide and square jibbed. He had a bovine neck, and his chin was thrust forward like the prow of a battleship.

Now and then the scribes gave a little tug on the imagination. They hinted occasionally that he might have descended from the ancient Norsemen. I don't remember any of them going on record in poetic phrases that he swung a mean battleaxe in the Viking raids on the Dorset coast. Or that he pulled a stroke oar or was even a coxswain in a Viking shell.

Still, Palzer was worth of such a ballyhooing, as ring fighters go.

Palzer had the battle instinct strongly developed. He loved to fight, cheerfuly meeting any one they heaved in the ring against him. A chap of this disposition is bound to collect some tough antagonists. Palzer did.

Frank Moran, Tom Kennedy, Alf Kaufman, Bombadier Wells (he had only been knocked out once then and was formidable) and Luther McCarty would have tested the ability of the best fighting men. Palzer made wonderful showings with these men. He knocked out Kennedy, Kaufman and Wells.

Ossian, Iowa

Palzer was unfortunate. He was born in Ossian, Iowa, right in the United States. And every one knew that he was a farmer. Palzer is a Teutonic name. It didn't rupture the imagination to portray his ancestry as delicatessen storekeepers with all the aroma of sauerkraut, liederkranz, wienerwurst and pumpernickel in the picture.

Unfortunate—why? Just this:

He should have been born in Buenos Aires, Peru, Egypt, Guatemala—anywhere but in Ossian, Iowa, in the United States.

It would have given him a picturesque background for the poetical fancy to run wild in. And the poets, the literati of the newspaper game—not the "round by round" reporters—would have thrown plenty of handsprings and pinwheels in poetics for poor Palzer.

Wouldn't Al have drawn some saucy sobriquets: "The Socking Son of the Sun." "The Incas of Peru were called the "people of the sun."

Haven't time to dope out some for Egypt or Gautemala, but the field is a fertile one. "The Rampan Rameses" or the "Punch-Vomiting Man Mountain" will do. Guatemala is supposed to have been derived from the Aztec, meaning "mountain vomiting water."

TOMMY GIBBONS HAS MADE BOXING HIS LIFE CAREER

"When Hardly More Than a Kid" Gripped Lower Rung of the Ladder of Pugilistic Fame.

ST. PAUL, June 8 (Associated Pess). —Just about the time most anxious fathers are "feeling out" their sons to ascertain their life-work desires, a young man of St. Paul—"hardly more more than a kid," his friends said—gripped the lower rung of the ladder of pugilistic fame.

It was his selection for a life profession, and how well he has mastered it will be demonstrated July 4 when he seeks to wrest the heavyweight boxing crown from Jack Dempsey at Shelby Montana.

For the young man who decided on fisticuffs as a life work was Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, only a youth of 16 years when he answered the lure of the game. Many boxers have gained their start in the ring through their prowess as rough-and-tumble mixers with science developed later as a necessary requisite to greater success.

Not so with Tommy Gibbons. It was purely a business proposition with him, and he selected his career for the same reason that many other young men have entered less violent professions. It was the attraction of more money than he could make any other way.

Tommy's path had been beaten by his brother, Mike Gibbons, five years his senior, whose boxing skill later gained for him the sobriquet of "The Phanton," It was the verbal persuasion of Mike, coupled dith his success at fighting, that decided Tommy.

"I had left school and had gone to work for the Great Northern railway here, he said in recounting his start. "Of course, I was only making a little money; no more than any kid of that age is likely to make.

"One day Mike came to me with a proposition that I enter the ring. He said he could pay me more than the railroad company could, and as I had watched with some envy the money Mike was making, I decided to take him up.

"Mike was a great teacher, and from that time until very recent years, when Mike's eyes have been bothering him, he gave me thorough instruction. It is to this, of course, that I owe much of whatever boxing ability I possess."

It was the luster cast over him by his brother's success that took Tommy into his first fights—informal quiet affairs at a little "athletic club" the young men maintained out in the Gibbons' neighborhood.

"The fellows expected me to be a fighter just because Mike was," Tommy said, "and so they generously matched me with the big fellows. I didn't have much to gain, for they all expected me to win my fights, but I had to lot to lose—at least, it seemed a lot of them—and so I naturally fought 'over my head' as a rule."

The father of Mike and Tommy had a keen aversion to fighting. It was over his strong protests that Mike entered the game, but when the senior Gibbons saw the remuneration that might result from a single engagement, his opposition gradually vanished and had disappeared by the time Tommy was ready for the professional ring.

However, the senior Gibbons never saw either one of his sons in the ring. He died on the night that Tommy fought Billy Miske in New York last October; a fight Tommy entered with knowledge of his father's serious illness. The bout terminated when Gibbons fouled Miske.

Tommy was the youngest member of the family, and he declares, "naturally somewhat a favorite." He tells with a smile of the day he and Mike "framed" a bout with their father as the only spectator. This mixup ended when Tommy "knocked out" Mike. He was glad to see the younger one get the best of it, the senior Gibbon said, after he saw Mike was not seriously hurt.

Four Base Wallops Helped Pittsburgh to Win — O'Farrell Had a Perfect Day at Bat in Chicago.

PITTSBURGH, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Circuit clouts by Russell and Traynor figured largely in Pittsburgh's 9 to 6 victory over New York yesterday. RODE UNDER HANDICAP

LONDON, June 9.—Donoghue rode Papyrus to victory in the Derby under a severe physical handicap says The Daily Express. While riding in another race about an hour before the Derby, Donoghue was struck in the eye by a stone thrown up by the hoofs of one of the competitors. He was almost blinded and attributes the defeat of his mount to that fact.

The bruised eye was badly swollen when Donoghue weighed in. Friends requested him to have the swelling lanced, but he declined to do so and mounted Papyrus for the blue ribbon event looking as if he had just emerged from a prize fight.

THE "WILL TO WIN" MAKES THE WINNER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 9.—(United Press)—No factor on the field of sport plays such a big part in making winning teams and individuals as the "will to win."

"A team that will not be beaten cannot be beaten" hung on the walls of the Princeton club house last fall, and it inspired the Princeton football team to go through a glorious season to a championship.

There may have been better teams in the east last year than the Tigers, but there were none with more spirit and more of the will to win.

The same can be applied to Harry Greb, the former American light heavyweight champion. Boxing experts say it is his "crazy style" that enables him to beat middleweights, light heavyweights and heavyweights.

Greb cultivated his "crazy style" because he had the will to win and he hadn't the qualifications to become successful in orthodox ways.

In the sensational rush of the Philadelphia Athletics toward the pennant in the American League this spring, the most recent example of the will to win has been provided.

The Athletics were a good young ball club last season, but they lacked the spirit and the will to win. Wise old Connie Mack during the off season convinced his youngsters they could win and they went out to do it.

There is nothing as hard to beat as a young ball club which thinks it can win.

The Boston Braves of 1914 and the Cincinnati Reds of 1919 are examples.

While the Athletics are looked upon in seven American League cities as a dangerous contender, in Philadelphia they are reaching for the pennant.

Philadelphia is baseball crazy. It is like Cincinnati of 1919 and Cleveland of 1920. The Athletics are looked upon as a city institution and the support of the public will not take any spirit away from the club.

The Giants and the Yankees have no such spirit behind them. New Yorkers don't care much who wins as long as they see a good ball game. The Yanks sometimes become influenced by that atmosphere, while the Giants apparently hear nothing but the voice in the dugout.

How rabid Philadelphia has become over the Athletics can be appreciated when the announcers at the intercollegiate tracks and field championships shouted the scores of the Athletics-Yankee games to the crowd. Crowds that usually attend college track meets are not the crowds that swarm baseball parks.

Connie Mack's teams, however, always have a strong college color. He was the first big leaguer to see the possibilities in college players and he had more success with them over a period of ten years than any of his rival managers.

Bad luck certainly shot high to bring down its 1923 victims. George Sisler and Roger Hornsby, greatest players of the major leagues, were among the first players of the season to get bumped.

Sisler may be out of the game for good, and while Hornsby undoubtedly will be back, he will not be the second baseman he used to be, because second base is a bad place for a lame knee.

TRAINERS GATHER FOR NORTH RANDALL MEET

CLEVELAND, June 9.—(Associated Press)—Although the Grand Circuit harness horse racing season does not open until July 2, stables are fast filling at North Randall, where trainers are working their charges. While most of the horsemen will await the Grand Circuit's inaugural, some will try their luck on the half mile tracks. The harness horse racing season opened June 4 with a week's meeting at the new Brooklyn track here.

Among the first arrivals at North Randall was "Pop" Geers, the "father of the drivers." "Pop" arrived with his string of trotters and pacers two weeks earlier than is his custom.

The veteran teamster brought with him Sanardo, 1:59¼; Lecco Grattan, 2:06¼; Lillian Silkwood, 2:03¾; My Rose Bud and Eastern Morn 2:17¼.

Besides these, Mr. Geers has under his charge the Frank G. Jones' stable, consisting of 12 head, mostly colts.

Trainers already at North Randall include Fred Egan, Speck Erskine, Marvin Childs, Nat Ray and a host of others.

Questions

ONE—If a ball batted down the foul line, strikes either third or first base, and immediately goes into foul territory, is it fair or foul?

TWO—How does an umpire determine what is an infield fly?

THREE—Does an umpire at any time give consideration as to whether or not an interference is intentional?

FOUR—What was the rule adopted to help prevent the intentional pass and was it successful?

FIVE—If the batsman hits a ball over the fence should the runner be declared out if the coacher pat him on the back as he rounds third? How is the coaching ruled at third interpreted?

Answers

ONE—The moment a batted ball strikes first or third it becomes a fair ball, regardless of how far foul it may then go.

TWO—It is merely a matter of opinion or judgment. Any ball which the umpire believes can be handled by an infielder immediately becomes an infield fly when he so calls it.

THREE—The umpire can never give consideration to the intent on an interference play. It if happens, he must call it.

FOUR—The rule adopted relative to the intentional pass was that the leaving of his position by the catcher before the ball left the pitcher's hand, entitled all runners to advance one base. It was of no help.

FIVE—No attention should be paid to the act of the coacher when the batsman hits a ball over the fence. The thought of the rule is not to pay any attention to the act of the coacher unless a play is being made on the runner.

AT LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

LAKEFIELD, June 9.—The second shoot of the Lakefield Rifle Association in the Dominion Rifle League took place at the range on Thursday afternoon, June 7th. A remarkable feature of the shoot was the high score made by Walter Trude of 95 out of a possible 105. This was breaking the record in earnest, as this was the first time anyone has attained such a score since the Lee-Enfield replaced the Ross as service rifles. Walter is probably the youngest member of the local association, being only about nineteen years of age.

The following are the results:

NOT ROOM FOR THREE

There may be nothing behind it but good business, but it seems rather significant that Col. T. L. Ban is still in the league, and he had vowed that there was not room enough in the majors for three of them.

DEMPSEY TO AVOID MATRIMONY UNTIL THROUGH FIGHTING

How Stories of His Marital Affairs Started — Likes Newspaper Men and Is Friendly With Them.

IN THE MOVIES.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 9 (United Press).—Jack Dempsey has always been extremey popular with the newspapermen. Jeffries was a rather sullen sort of a person, Jack Johnson was irresponsible and Jess Willard was openly antagonistic They assum d the attitude that their position entitled them to space and service from the pap rs and Dempsey might have been pardoned if he inherited the same idea, but he never did.

Dempsey is just naturally genial and affable and he has made himself accessibl to newspapermen at any hour of the day or night. When he was in Atlantic City training for Carpentier, of the day or night. When he was in he showed as much concern in seeing that the sport writers were provided with every convenience as he did in getting himself ready for the defence of his title. Feature writers were always afte him with trick hunches for stories and he was alway willing to do or say anything he could that would provide a foundation of fa ts to make their stories good.

The champion has a keen sense of humor and he takes a pet delight in kidding newspapermen, although he is careful not to do anything that would get the object of his jokes in trouble with his boss.

Getting "Married"

One of his favorite pastimes is getting himself married for the "newspaper boys." When he returned from a tour of Europe, which turned out to be a personal triumph for him, he was drawn away from th crowd at the pier for a "star chamber" interview with one o the veteran New York sport writers.

This writer had been tipped off that the champion was going to be mar and he wanted all the inside dope. Dempsey, with a veryser ous face, filled him in on all the details. He mentione l all the charms of the young lady, gave her dimensions, hinted at her place of residence, but he refused to give her name on the ground that it might embarass her. Dempsey was joking but when the story was printed, a "beat" for the writer, he wa careful to back t up and protect the writer who had taken him seriously. He never denied that he was planning to be married, but he maintains that the date "hasn't been set."

Dempsey once told a close friend that h would not marry again as long as he held the title, because he felt that he could not get the kind of a girl he wanted as long as he was such a prominent fighter.

The champion, according to another very close friend, who travelled a lot with him, is still fond of the wife who divorced him several years ago. He sp aks of her very frequently and on several occasions when their train passed through the city in which she now lives, Dempsey was said to have remarked:

"Here's where the wife lives. Wonder how she's getting along? If she had struck to me he'd be right along with me now."

Movieland Gossip

Dempsey's work in the movies caused many reports that he was about to be married to film celebrities and the stories all fussed him. "I wouldn't care so much about myself, b t think how it must make some of those girls feel," he said several times.

Dempsey still remains more or less a boy outside of business. He doesn't but he will argue for hours if any one question his ability as a wrestler and in the emergency he is willing to demonstrate his skill with "holds and rips. He also likes to talk about acting and he really believes that he could have had a career in the movies "if he had the time."

The champion doesn't like to be called a prize fighter and he chooses to be known as the world's heavy weight boxing champion. He has corrected several references to him as a prize fighter.

Dempsey has a high regard for James J. Corbett, one of his predecessors and it is apparent that Jack wants to be ome a useful and substantial cirizen like Corbett did when he steepped down as the heavyweight champion. Dempsey in all probability, will do that very thing as he is doing right now. He has made a fortune—and he is ke ping it. He told one of his friends once that—"They'll never hold a benefit for William Harrison" and he is making his promise good.

Dempsey and the Army

It has been the opinion of the writer that Dempsey was persecuted for failing to join up during the war. Some day the real acts of Dempsey' actions may be known and it will be learned then that his heart was right.

Dempsey knows that he missed a chanc to become the greatest f all heavyweight idols. If he had his way about it he might have come back from France as "Sgt. Dempsey of the Second Marines" and he would have been the American Carpentier. But he didn't go and years and years from now it will be held against him.

Malumutes and Huskies of Frozen North SetoUp Howl For Laddy Boy

By HENRY CLAY

JUNEAU, Alaska, June 8.—An air of expectancy pervades Alaska's dogdom.

Canines are on the qui vive. Pups are wagging their tails nervously. Sober and sagacious malamutes and huskies are going about their business as quietly as possible, but their calmness comes with noticeable effort.

For something big is in the wind.

Alaskan howlers have invited Laddie Boy, official companion of President Harding, to accompany the chief executive of the United States on his tour of this far North American territory.

Laddie Boy! Dog-aristrocrat of the nation! If he'll just come north, too!

Malamute Bob, supreme ruler of Alaska's dogs, carried the invitation to Governor Scott C. Bone for transmission to Laddie Boy.

The bid drafted at a recent convention attended by canine delegates from every nook and trail of the north, warns Laddie Boy not to let anyone chase him out of the auto when the president starts.

"And don't allow the president to talk you out of it," Malamute Bob counsels.

The message assures his excellency that the choicest cuts of reindeer, whale, blubber, seal, sea lion and walrus fat will be served in regular Alaskan style.

And there'll be a big bout between "Jack Dempsey' and "Luis Firpo," a hard-fighting dog just up from South America.

"Trusting, exalted ruler, that you can get away with it," coucludes the invitation, "we are your humble servants, The Dogs of Alaska."

"Well, that's that," observed Malamute Bob, as Governor Bone stamped the message for immediate sending.

"Thanks, governor, and I'm willing to bet my sharpest tusk that Laddie Boy, if he does come, will vote unanimously for your Greater Alaska program before he starts back home.

"And Snarling Wolf thinks so, too."

BOBBED HAIR AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

DETROIT, June 9.—(Canadian Press).—Bobbed hair and resultant strenuous disapproval expressed by their husbands drove two Detroit women to suicidal attempts yesterday.

Mrs Julia Alamore aged 22, had her hair bobbed Wednesday and on Thursday she said her husband beat her. She took a poison tablet and is now in hospital.

Mrs. Marjorie Ann Weber, aged 34, was rescued after jumping into Detroit River yesterday. She said her husband, a travelling salesman, returned from a trip on Thursday to find her locks gone. She ran to the river and telephoned her husband of her intended act. Just as she jumped into the river Harry Wentworth, leaped after her and despite her struggles brought her to shore.

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings, but the coach never becomes contemptuous of them. He knows that if neglected they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for spains, cuts and bruises but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always keep it in the home where you can "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

ECZEMA

Hands Were Raw Would Crack and Bleed

Eczema or Salt Rheum, as it is commonly called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases. The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when exposed to heat, are almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

The pre-eminent success which

has met with in permanently removing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.

Mrs. M. R. Willard, Dudswell Jct., Que., writes: "For about three years I had eczema, in a very bad form, on my hands. They were all raw and would crack and bleed so that I could not do my housework. I tried everything I could think of without any results. As last I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and when I had it about all taken I could see it was helping me; by the time I had taken five bottles my hands were all well again and I have not been bothered since. I cannot praise Burdock Blood Bitters enough."

MODERN GOLF

By W. J. & Frank Thompson

NOTED CANADIAN GOLFERS

BEGINNERS' FAULTS

I would like to warn beginners at the commencement of this article, against the impression that there is any short road to success in golf. In the last analysis success in the game rests solely and absolutely with the individual. No one can develop another's game. The best an instructor can do is to lay down broad principles, such as maintaining balance at all times with the least expenditure of energy. Most of the instructor's time should be spent in giving the pupil clear ideas about the game, and then allowing each player to develop his own way of executing the shots.

The Wrong Way

Unfortunately this method is the exception and not the rule; too often the player's time is taken up trying to get the club to travel in a certain line and no other. This is an artificial way of learning he game and, I am convinced, is all wrong. In the first place, it reduces all players to a certain type of swing, and the amazing thing about all the stars is that their swings, so far as detail goes, are all different, although there are certain general principles, such as maintaining balance, having the weight on the left foot at impact, and general flexibility of the body which are common to all.

It is all very well to say, as one often hears said, that in order to play the game well one must start in childhood. But I would emphatically draw to the readers' attention the fact that there are numerous players who have been under the care of instructors since childhood who are anything but fine golfers. The reason for their mediocrity is that instead of being allowed to feel their way and play the game as nature intended, they are compelled to build their games according to some preconceived conception of it, which, in most cases, has turned out subsequently to be wrong.

One of the leading professionals in Britain is credited with the remark that if he had a son he would simply give him a club and send him off to learn the game by himself with no advice except, perhaps, to show him a good grip.

Where Mentality Tells

Golf is largely mental. Given two players of equal physical ability, the one with the clearest conception of the swing will be the best player. All instruction, whether written or verbal, will be in vain unless it gives the student a clear conception of the essentials which, Heaven be praised, are not many.

One of the most glaring faults of the beginner is the attempt to use the body too much. Somehow or other the novice gets the idea that it is weight that is the important thing in golf. And in order to get weight behind the blow he forces the body into ungainly and ineffectual positions. This is all wrong, for we know it is the velocity of the swing which is the important factor. So long as the beginner attempts to throw the weight from one foot to the other little progress is possible for the simple reason that balance is difficult, if not impossible, to maintain. A distinct sway is introduced by this method so that the body either gets into the stroke ahead of the hands or lags behind them. In either case timing is destroyed, resulting in a topped or foundered ball. Ninety-nine players out of every hundred use the body too much. The chief duty of the body is to twist so that the hands may get into a hitting position. The smallest movement on the part of the body, compatible with this, the better.

Two Much Swaying

Beginners as a rule have an idea that it is necessary to undulge in wild tangoing from one toe to the other. Nothing could be farther from the truth. One has only to watch Mitchell to realize how far the ball can be driven without swaying the body or taking the feet off the ground a great deal. Notwithstanding the lauded style of Vardon and Dunn, Mitchell possesses perhaps the simplest method from a mechanical and anatomical standpoint, and one which possesses few difficulties in copying.

Beginners, as a rule, make the game harder by taking an inordinately wide stance. One cannot always trust the feelings, and the feeling of the beginner that he can drive a ball farther by straddling his feet, is a false one. It is contrary to experience. I think, of all the star players, Mitchell keeps his feet closer together than any of the rest.

A Comfortable Stance

The beginner should take an ordinary stance, which is comfortable. This will enable him to keep the body relaxed and permit it to pivot without the great strain.

Another fault common to the beginner and similar to excessive body movement, is seen in the use of the iron clubs. A spectator gets the impression that the player is trying to lift the ball up with the arms with a sort of scooping movement, which, of course, results in topping it. Contrary as it may seem, the reverse procedure is the correct way. Instead, of the player trying to lift the ball up, he should actually turn to drive into the ground. When this method is followed a straighter ball with a certain amount of back spin follows.

Beginners as a class lack relaxation which will be taken up in the closing article entitled "Ease vs. Effort."

Anything can happen now. Massachusetts landlord left all of his houses to his tenants.

Tris Speaker's Training Rules

CLEVELAND, June 9.—A rigid training rule laid down by Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, prohibits players from smoking cigarette or drinking anything stronger than one-half of one percent The veteran manager-star believes physical fitness offsets minor playing defects. He expects his men to be the stumbling block of all 1923 pennant aspirants.

Good Outfield

The Cleveland outfield, with Speaker in centre, Summa in right and Jamieson in left, is at least on a parity with any in the league, in the opinion of Speaker He regards Summa as the greatest outfielder found by a major league club since Ty Cobb marched out of Georgia to fame in the baseball pennant wars. In Jamieson he has the triple-threat excellent fielder, heavy hitter and ideal leadoff man.

In the infield, Speaker admits the attacking force is not so great as when Stuffy McInnis was at first and Gardner at third, but the present initial and farcorner sackmen, Guisto and Lutzke, are expected to offset in great defense what they may lack in offense. Another valuable addition to the Indian camp is Glenn Myatt, former Milwaukee American Association catcher, who now alternates with Steve O'Neill in catching and waiting for a pinch hitting opportunity.

No Bench Manager

While not claiming a great pitching staff, Speaker says he has a good lot of pitchers and an exceptionally strong force of substitute players and pinch hitters. In the out eld as substitutes he has Brower, formerly of Washington, who is also a first baseman, and Joe Connolly, both classy fielders and heavy hitters. Infield substitutes include Gardner at third, and Stchenson at short or third. Five heavy batsmen are thus available as pinch hitters.

Speaker, who says he will never be a bench manager, still has his habit of drawing two lines in the dirt before the plate and knocking the dirt from the cleats of his shoes before taking his position at the plate.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left by motor for the lakes.

VOTE FOR CHURCH UNION.

PORT HOPE, June 9. Canadian Press. — It is now very unlikely that a vote on church union will be taken by the Assembly before Tuesday, although some of the commissioners believe that it will be reached on Monday night.

The place of meeting next year will in all probability be Owen Sound. Toronto and Montreal will extend invitations to the assembly but the smaller city is believed to be the most favored.

MAGISTRATE FLEW TO MOOSE FACTORY

New Experience in the North Country—Heard Appeals.

COCHRANE, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Magistrate E. R. Tucker, of Cochrane, returned at noon today from Moose Factory, where he had gone to hear appeals with respect to the voters' list in that polling sub-division.

Incidentally he made history by holding the first Magistrate Court north of the Transcontinental.

It appears that some of the Indians around Moose Factory had got somewhat fractious, and thinking that they were far beyond the pale of the law, began to beat each other up, and also to defy the Hudson Bay Company's authority in the absence of any member of the Provincial Police Force.

A few short hours afterwards, however, Magistrate Tucker swooped down on them out of the sky. A constable was, immediately sworn in, and the culprits hauled before the first Court ever held there, with the result that four of the prisoners were fined, and what is perhaps of more importance, were impressed with the prompt action of the law, coming so unexpectedly out of a clear sky.

Mr Tucker left Remi Lake yesterday morning for Moose Factory, where he arrived after a two and a half hour flight against a strong north wind.

Mr. Tucker is perfectly at home in the aeroplane having served during the war in the flying corps so that the trip was not such a novelty to him as it was to Judge Caron the other day when he established the poll.

The return trip was made in the record time of one and one-half hours.

Thus distance is eliminated in these days and justice is meted out in unexpected quarters.

MARY DOESN'T WANT TO REMAIN LITTLE.

Hard For Mary Pickford to Break Away From Traditions.

By JACK JUNGMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, June 7.—For no other actress has the public so limited screen scope as for Mary Pickford; so dictated what she may or may not do, irrespective of her own desires.

Her recognition of this tether, and some of her mounting rebellion against it, is evident in her new production, now being filmed, and probably to be called "The Street Singer."

It was selected, after heart-breaking renunciation of "Faust," because it offered a compromise between what she feels her admirers' demand and what Mary would really like to do.

As a Spanish street waif in a romantic episode of a decadent period, Miss Pickford essays "growing up" on the screen, discarding the famous curls and the ingenue gesture for something more vivid and mature. She approached the new role with considerable trepidation, regarding it as quite a venture. And rather than burn her bridges completely, she will shake her ringlets just once in a boudoir scene.

* * *

"All my life I've wanted to do big dramatic things, roles like Marguerite in 'Faust'," she said, explaining her attitude toward the compromise of "The Street Singer." "But I'm afraid the public wouldn't accept them from me.

"I realize I've established a tradition and standing which I don't want to shatter. People come to see my pictures in a certain mood, based on my past performances. If that expectancy isn't gratified, if I'm out of the usual character, they are disappointed."

There you have Mary Pickford's own definition of her slavery. The greatest cinema star is today probably the most dissatisfied of them all. She senses in the public limitations that cramping to monotony and inevitable decline which in her case strikes deeper than the challenge to vanity, as everyone who knows her personally understands.

* * *

Her desire to cater to anticipations of her admirers, too, is not prompted wholly by box office considerations, as her intimates also know. Therefore she has been cautious, almost timid, in this venturesome stride of the Spanish picture toward something that will satisfy her own professional ambitions.

"I don't want to exploit my own personality," she emphasized. "I don't want to be Mary Pickford in this and that. In the present picture I shall feel I have failed if I haven't entirely immersed my own personality in that of the Spanish girl. I have tried to be a piece of clay in Mr. Lubitsch's directorial hands; to eliminate all my characteristic gestures and idiosyncrasies.

"I have reached the point where I should have keen satisfaction in helping produce a big screen success even though I shouldn't appear in it at all. And certainly I'd far rather have a small part that fitted convincingly into a good picture than the biggest part in a poor or mediocre one." And that came with impressive sincerity.

* * *

Briefly, "The Street Singer" presents the romantic adventures of a girl who excites the fancy of a mythical and erotic king, outwits him to preserve the life of her sweetheart, and wins happiness from a welter of sordid obstacles through which she goes unsullied.

Holbrook Blinn plays the King, and among others in the cast are Charles Belcher, Frank Leigh, Mme. Mathilda Comont, Snitz Edwards, Phillipe De Lacey and Donald McAlpin.

SWEDEN'S PAPER MONEY

STOCKHOLM, June 9 (Associated Press).—When the dollar began to rise in London recently, the Swedish State Bank continued to sell dollars in order to keep the Swedish crown on par with the American currency, but the dollar went up to 3.755 from 3.74. The State Bank at the beginning of this year had a portfolio of foreign currency amounting to 160 millions crowns but this has now been reduced to 63 millions.

According to the experts, the bank would be in a position, if parliament rejects the proposal for a further postponement of a return to a gold footing, of seeing its paper notes higher in value than the corresponding number of crowns in gold.

GERMANY STILL UNDAUNTED BY ULTIMATUM OF FRANCE

Will Continue Her Policy of Passive Resistance in Ruhr Valley Until the Bitter End Replies Cuno

BERLIN, June 9. (Special.) — Germany will continue her policy of passive resistance in the Ruhr Valley unabated.

This is the answer of Chancellor Cuno to the French demand that Germany first abandon her Ruhr policy before any reparation solutions be discussed. It was expressed to-day in an answer to the press representatives at Munster.

The policy of passive resistance against the French occupation must continue, Cuno said.

In Paris Premier Poincare stated on receipt of the new German reparations offer that no effort to solve the reparations questions could be undertaken until Germany abandoned her stand.

Talks in Billions But He's Stranger in Home Town

By Don P. Drohan.

SILVER CREEK, N.Y., June 9—John W. Slack started out as a $4 a week office boy—

Now he talks in billions.

His bid of $1,051,000,000 for all the shipping board's vessels startled the whole country. But it created more excitement than a cyclone right here in his home town.

For Silver Creek, with its 3,300 souls, doesn't know Slack.

True, most folks recognize him and pass the time of day when they meet him on the street. Others, there are, who can scarcely tell you where he lives.

Substantial Citizen.

"Oh, yes, he's a substantial citizen," some of the older business men will inform you. "Nice fellow, but rather quiet.

"He's been here eight years now, but we don't know any more about him than we did the first week. He's president of the Columbia Postal Supply Company, and makes some sort of stamp cancelling machines for the Government.

"See that little one-storey yellow brick building down the street. Well, that's his office."

And they point to a tiny factory, just half a block from the park, or square.

A clerk in a drug store directed me to Slack's home. It's a modest, though substantial, frame dwelling out on Central Avenue, "last house before you come to the railroad tracks."

Puts Town on Map.

Slack's daughter, Ethel, 20, came to the door.

"Dad's out riding," she announced. "But he'll be coming in soon."

An hour later the writer returned and found Slack just climbing into one of his Packards. (He has two).

"Going down to the office for a little bit," he explained. "Jump in."

"Pretty nice town you have here, Mr. Slack."

"Yep, fine little place. "Away from the noise and city.

"Looks like we've put it on the map. You know I'm on the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee."

But He Won't Tell.

"Now, Mr. Slack, a billion dollars is a lot of money. Where you going to get that much?"

"Well, son, I can't tell you now. When Lasker says the word go, I'll be only too glad to let the country in on the secret."

"And what are you going to do with all those boats?"

"Well, we'll keep them running. We can't mess things up any more than the Government has done.

JOHN W. SLACK.

That's about all I can say about our plans just now.

"Lasker is reported as saying the ships aren't worth what we're bidding. But, you see, we don't want to sting them."

He's Only 45.

The car had reached the office. Inside, Slack fumbled through personal mail, as the interviewer determined whether he smoked, played golf, intended to remain in Silver Creek and how much he slept.

He said he didn't smoke, didn't play golf, slept plenty and would retain his home here.

Slack gave his banking connections as the First National Bank of Silver Creek and the Silver Creek National Bank. He wouldn't say how much his checking account totalled.

He invited the interviewer to have dinner with him. Then he proposed a drive to Forestdale, five miles from here. But both invitations had to be declined on account of catching a train.

Slack is 45. He did confidential work for the Government 14 years, beginning during the Roosevelt administration.

The shipping board is taking him up in earnest. A meeting between him and its representatives has been arranged.

Townsfolk vision Silver Creek as the shipping centre of the world.

CLOUDBURST AND HAIL DAMAGE WESTERN TOWN

ARCOLA, Sask., June 9. Canadian Press. — Arcola is inundated and without electric power; crops in an area of many square miles are beaten flat or under water; basements are flooded and several families have been driven from their homes, as the result of a cloudburst here late yesterday.

Ot present it is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage, as the lines of communication, especially with the south, are out of commission. Torrential rain was accompanied by vivid lightning and much hail, and it is feared that the crops which are low lying and under water may have been badly damaged. Hailstones broke hundreds of windows in the town and surrounding district.

The electric light and power plant is flooded and the town is without electrical energy. In many places the streets are under two and a half feet of water and many of the residences are marooned, while numbers of families had to vacate their homes.

IN MEMORIAM.

LIPSETT.— In memory of Mary Margaret Lipsett, aged 15 years, 9th June:

Words cannot express the grief we feel,
For one we loved so well,
She's left behind some aching hearts
The pain no tongue can tell,
We miss her smiling, cheerful face,
Her winsome, loving way,
And oftimes think of her at rest
And miss her every day.
She was too bright a flower to last
'Twas only to us given
To cheer us for a little while,
Now gone to bloom in Heaven.
God knows how much we miss her,
He counts the tears we shed,
And whispers hush, she is only sleeping
Your loved one is not dead.

WILL DECIDE TODAY ISSUE OF DEFINITE BREAK WITH FRANCE

Imperial Cabinet Summoned to Discuss the British - Franco Situation Arising Over the German Reparations Problems.

CRITICAL MOMENT

LONDON, June 11.—(Special.)—The issue of a definite break with France or submission to Premier Poincare's wishes regarding reparations was before the British Cabinet to-day.

The session called by Premier Stanley Baldwin was the most important and critical of the latter's regime. Ostensibly summoned for the purpose of preparing a reply to the latest German reparations offer, the Ministers were actually to decide whether this country is to join France and Belgium in demanding cessation of German resistance. A note from Poincare inviting Britain to co-operate this way arrived last night.

French Demand.

The French Premier has laid down the law to France's allies on this subject: They all must sign a note to Germany instructing the latter to cancel orders for resistance in the occupied areas and against the Inter-Allied Military Control Commissions in Germany proper. If the Allies agree to this Poincare indicates willingness to start all over again consideration of a proper reparations figure. This attitude on the part of France has displeased many in Britain, where it is felt Poncaire has up his sleeve some rigid formulae or impossible conditions as a preliminary to re-opening negotiations with the beaten enemy.

Two Choices.

The choice with which the Cabinet is confronted is briefly this:

1—To again capitulate to French opinion, thus perhap s closing the door upon opportunity of settlement of the reparations problem at the price of Anglo-French "unity," or—

2—To openly reject Poincare's advance and follow a strictly British policy, seeking to make the latest German offer a basis for negotiations leading to settlement. Poincare's note intimated France is not averse to correlation of another Allied conference regarding the Ruhr and reparations, at which the proposed joint reply to Germany might be framed.

Marquis Curzon, British Foreign Minister, poured over the German note in company with a group of experts this morning, and expected to confer with the Italian and Belgian Ambassadors this afternoon.

Conference between Lord Curzon and the French Ambassador lasted more than an hour. While nothing was given out officially regarding the discussion, it is known that the two diplomats had a frank exchange of views concerning the attitude of their respective governments and of Germany's latest offer.

It was arranged that the Italian and Belgian Ambassadors discuss the same subject with Lord Curzon this afternoon with meeting of the British Cabinet following, at which the views of France, Italy and Belgium were to be taken up. The British Cabinet is making efforts to reach common ground with France and thus re-cement the Entente cordial, but if France insists upon unconditional occupation of the Rhineland until all reparations are paid there seems little prospect of a solution, according to the British view. The Cabinet here is unreservedly opposed to this measure, feeling that Germany's capacity to pay depends entirely on free and untrammeled operation of her great industrial plants and full liberty of movement for her workers.

NEW MINISTER?

Winston Churchill, author and diplomat, is looked upon as a probable successor to Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, in the event Geddes' ill health compels him to relinquish his post.

TORONTO SHRINERS MADE A GREAT HIT

Won Applaudits of Spectators at Remarkable Parade in U. S. Capital

The recent parade of International Shriners, numbering 25,000, which recently marched past President Harding, U.S.A., at Washington, is accredited with having been the most spectacular ever witnessed in the American capital.

The greatest chorus of bands any city has ever heard was in this trek from the Capital through the elaborately decorated highways to the White House and beyond to Washington Circle. There were 110 bands, 75 of which played the music of the East, so seldom heard in Western civilization: 60 drum corps, and 75 glee clubs in addition to the uniformed patrols.

The American press says a great hit was made by the pilgrims from Rameses Temple of Toronto, of which G. L. Hay, Peterboro, is Assistant Rabban, as they swung along the "Road to Mecca" in their kilties, their band playing Scottish and English airs. They received much applause and many in the stands arose in token of their welcome to the visitors.

TAKE VOTE ON CHURCH UNION THIS EVENING

End of Debate by Presbyterians Assembled at Port Arthur in Sight at Last.

DANGER OF BREAK

PORT ARTHUR, June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—The vote on the question of church union will be taken this evening after a three days' debate by leaders of the movement, "Antis" and Moderates. This was decided by a motion presented by Principal Murray of Saskatoon, that discussion be brought to a close. Following this decision it was agreed that further speeches on the question be limited to ten minutes for each speaker.

To Avoid Break.

At the opening of the General Assembly to-day, Principal McKay, of Manitoba College, Winnipeg, recognizing that there was an irreconcilable difference of opinion in the assembly and in the church on the great issue of church union, and that schism was impending possibly of considerable magnitude laid before the commissioners plans to avoid a break as far as possible.

In short, his plan proposes to "allow time for rancors to abate and new viewpoints to emerge, and now enter upon a period of five years of closest co-operation with other negotiating churches, looking toward completion of union with them at the assembly of 1931."

His proposal, which is an amendment to the amendment, further suggests that partisan propaganda cease, and a representative committee conduct a campaign of education in which both sides are fairly presented, that between the assemblys of 1928 and 1929 votes be taken by congregtaions and that the congregations abide by the majority and remain in tact. Also that at the assembly of 1929 a commission of seven be appointed, consisting of three members appointed by those who elect to remain out and three by the rest of the church, with a chairman appointed by the commission, or in event of disagreement by a Chief Justice of Canada, which commission shall determine what is a fair equity of each party in the common property of the church as it exists to-day. And that part of the church which elects to remain out be freely conceded the right to "take whatever means it desires so long as it does not take corporate names of this church." That the commission's report be presented to the 1930 assembly and that during the year following necessary steps be taken so that the first meeting of the council of the United Church and of the assembly of those who remain out may be held in 1931."

Declaring that there was an "unwarranted and arbitrary method used to force this union on a large section of our people for whom it is not acceptable, H. Macdonald, of Brampton, said that it seemed a pity that there should be a desire to introduce into the church affairs, "a move savoring of vicious fear of modern commerce."

J. W. MEYERS' FAMILY TREE CARRIES NO DUTCH BRANCH

Of "Swiss Origin," Mr. Meyers' Forbears Settled in America 300 Years Ago and Have Been Resident in Canada For Over a Century

To the Editor, "Examiner":

Dear Mr. Editor,—On page nine in your issue of Tuesday, June 5th, appeared an article entitled "FIVE SPEAKERS ADDRESS LIBERAL LADIES." In this article Mr. G. N .Gordon is quoted as saying that "while Mr. Meyers, whose family is of Dutch origin, had been in America for three hundreds years and in Canada for the last century, etc., etc." Now, any information that Mr. Gordon has regarding my genealogy, he has received from me, and I am quite sure, therefore, that he will not object to me making one or two alterations or corrections. He should have said "Swiss origin" instead of Dutch origin, as we have positive proof that our forefathers came from Switzerland and not from Holland or Germany. I would also add that we have our Family History on both my father's and my mother's side, and these Genealogical Records say distinctly that our forefathers lived in the United States three generations before the Declaration of Independence was signed, which was in 1776.

I am giving this information to the public at the request of some of my intimate friends.

Thanking you for your valued space,

ANTI-KEMALISTS IN TURKEY PLOT AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Believed to Be Assisting Anatolian Revolutionary Committee in Greece, Who Have Begun to Land Armed Bands Near Smyrna

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11—(United Press.)— Despatches of the official Turkish Telegraph Agency at Angora reported the capture and execution of thirty Greek bandits at Smyrna, where bands of Irregulars are reported harrassing the countryside.

It is learned that an Association called the Anatolian Revolutionary Committee, has been formed in Greece by Caucasian and Greek refugees fram Asia Minor.

The committee has begun to land armed bands on the coast near Smyrna, whence they penetrate into the interior and carry out terrorist tactics.

It is believed that they are assisted by Anti-Kemalist Turks, who desire to overthrow the present government .

ENCOURAGE BIG INTERESTS IN THE DOMINION

Fostering of Industries a Crying Need to Promote Trade and Find Employment.

WORST IS OVER

TORONTO, June 11.—That Canada needs more "big interests' or any kind of interests" to provide employment and increase trade , and that these interests should be encouraged instead of persecuted," was proposition placed before Canadian Manufacturers' Association this afternoon by President J. R. Shaw of Woodstock, Ont., at the opening of fifty second annual meeting.

Mr. Shaw said that the term "big interests" was really a senseless expression given a sinister meaning. It seemed, said the President, that any group of men who secured some capital and began to turn raw materials into saleable products immediately attracted the enmity of certain elements in the population. He exampled the Hudson's Bay Company and Canadian Pacific Railway, but pointed to constructive and beneficial influences both these corporations had in the development of the country.

Some Recovery

Reviewing the past year the President said, we can fairly sum up last year by saying that worst is over, that there has been some recovery, but that this recovery is not so great as was anticipated."

Reports of executive and other committees of the organization were presented later in the afternoon.

After to-day, mornings will be devoted to business and afternoons and evenings to recreation.

President Shaw, in his annual review, devoted considerable comment to the tariff question in Canada.

"Since the war we have been pursuing a suicidal policy," he said. "We have been reducing our tariff, while others have been increasing theirs. Thus we have been enabling them to sell us more while they have been making arrangements to buy less from us. The time has come when we should reverse our policy. Instead of lowering our tariff we should raise it. What will be the result of this policy? First, we shall be in a position to bargain effectively. We shall have something to offer and we can ask something in return. Second, we can increase the east and west trade within Canada, which is necessary to our national development."

THE WEATHER.

The rainfall of last week was so unusually heavy and persistent, that I have prepared a little table showing the amount for each day from June 3rd to 9th. While heavier rains have fallen on single days I do not think the total for the week has been exceeded locally.

Sunday	.28
Monday	.46
Tuesday	2.12
Thursday	.09
Friday	.96
Saturday	.14
Total for week	4.05

For several years past the soil has been unusually dry, and I have been told that in different places the ground froze but little last winter, due, not so much to a lack of frost, as a lack of moisture in the earth to freeze. It was noticeable also that when the snow went away this spring there was little evidence of very high water in the creeks and small streams, the earth absorbing much of the melting snow.—W. P.

Chinese Bandits To Accept Terms

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(Special.)—Chinese bandits have accepted terms for release of all foreign prisoners, the State Department was notified to-day by United States' Minister Schurman at Peking.

Schurman's message, dated June 10th, said the release of American and other foreigners was expected to-day. The bandits asked three days in which to complete their enrollment in the Chinese army.

ROUSING RALLY FOR BRADBURN

Stirring Addresses by Liberal-Conservative Speakers—Good Meeting on Saturday Evening.

(Contributed).

Those who thronged the committee room, Mr. Bradburn's headquarters, on Saturday night, enjoyed a real, old-fashioned rally. Friends and supporters gathered and sat and stood about and listened and went away about eleven o'clock, rather confident that the cause was a good one, the candidate the right man, and that the riding would be carried for the Liberal-Conservatives on June 25.

The meeting was opened by a short address from the President of the West Riding Conservative Association, Mr. Roland Denne, and he was followed by Mr. V. J. McElderry who dealt with the financial record, as now disclosed, of the Drury Government. He pointed out that the capital debt of the Province had amounted to about $100,000,000, accruing in 52 years, and which had been added to during that period by about 15 per cent. of an increase. Mr. Drury, after taking office, assisted by his cabinet, tucked on another $140,000,000, which was an increase of 150 per cent. in four short years. Even allowing that $73,000,000 had been spent on the Hydro activities, there was left about $70,000,000 as due to the excesses of the Drury Government. No province could stand for such work and continue to exist.

As to the distribution of the immense sum. Look at the total of 204 motor cars and vehicles bought and in the hands of all sorts of ministers, secretaries, deputy-ministers and such, while several of the departments were held down to meagre appropriations. It required a $4,000 car to float Mr. Biggs about and his secretary rejoiced in a similar motor.

Taking up the Spracklen case, Mr. McElderry related the essential features of the situation as it developed, and pointed out that at the very time that the Provincial Attorney was conducting the prosecution of Spracklin on a charge of shooting, the Department was furnishing the money for the defence. This of itself was a travesty of justice unparalleled. The loss to the Province owing to the mishandling of the purchase contract for the auto numbers markers was outstanding extravagance. This was described at length, and the organization of a fictitious company, steered by a relative, resulted in 23 cents each being paid for the markers, instead of 11 cents as offered by a Canadian organization, perfectly competent to

DRAPE BASKET OVER PLACARD OBSCURING IT

Manoeuvre Amuses Board of Health, but Police Will Be Asked to Checkmate It.

ONE CONTAGIOUS CASE

The basket that hides the red placard condemning the house at 68 Murray street, tenanted by F. Bartlett, must be removed, the Board of Health decided ths morning.

After Sanitary Inspector Stapleton had tacked up the cardboard notice which declared the house to be unfit for habitation, specifically until sanitary plumbing is installed, some person draped the basket over the sign obscuring it from view. Later it was rumoured that Mr. Bartlett claimed a victory in his controversy with the Board, members reported, and while they appreciated the humor of the incident, they also felt that their order was being evaded. They accordingly instructed Dr. T. W. H. Young Medical Officer of Health, to ask Chief Newhall to assign a constable to the duty of taking down the basket exposing the placard to public view.

Owners of three more houes requested that plumbing be put in their houses on the agreement with the council by which he cost of the work is collected in the taxes, the collection spread over five years. These houses on King, Union and Dublin street were recommended by the Board to the Council.

One Contagious Case.

Miss Prices report of the Queen Mary Hospital for May told or only one patient during the month. This was a scarlet fever case from the city .

May Cancel License.

Of the dairies inspected by Mr. Stapleton, that of J. Hodgson's, in Otonabee, will require a second visit, he told the Board. "I found the stables in a very bad and dirty condition," said the Inspector, "and the milk house was in the same way. Mr. Hodgson has ten cows and gets about 90 quarts a day. What would you suggest that I do?"

"I'd cancel his license if you find he has not made satisfactory improvements on re-inspection," said Dr. Young.

"He told me he would have had the place fixed up if I had notified him I was coming out," said Mr. Stapleton, "but I told him we didn't do things that way."

The question as to the Inspector's expenses for second trips was briefly discussed. It was considered that Mr. Stapleton should not have to pay for transportation into the country when the trip, as in this case, was for the benefit of the dairyman.

"We've got to protect the citizens," said Mayor Taylor. "I don't think that Mr. Stapleton should bear all the expense."

Dr. Young regarded this work as involving an extra expense and suggested if Mr. Stapleton sent in a bill for transportation it should be paid.

The inspector replied that in this case he was willing to pay for the trip himself.

May Buy Furnishings.

In regard to a communication from the Red Cross Society offering for $125 the furnishings of the office they had prepared at the city hall, Mr. Mason pointed out that the city would have been responsible for the cost of putting the office in condition for occupancy had not the Red Cross expended the money, which was undertaken only after the city's acceptance of the services of the Red Cross nurse. "I don't think that we should throw them down now."

"You think we are morally responsible?" Dr. Young queried.

"As to that I think we should be responsible for the whole thing." Mr. Mason answered. "We would have had to supply all that if they had not."

Mr. Lynch proposed that the chairman and Dr. Young look over the furnishings as to whether they could be used by the Board and report back. This motion was adopted.

Seek Affiliation.

Mr. Duncan and Dr. Young were also authorized to interview the authorities of the two general hospitals in the city with regard to the affiliation of the Isolation Hospital with them. This relationship would be an advantage to the Queen Mary Hospital nurses in the exchange that might be arranged, and also in the registration of those who obtained their training at the Queen Mary.

The following accounts were passed:

COUNTER-REVOLUTION FIGHTING IN BULGARIA HUNDRED CASUALTIES

New Government Headed by Prof. Zankoff, a Bourgeois Belonging to No Particular Party is Functioning Now.

MANY ARRESTED

BELGRADE, June 11. — (United Press).—From five to one hundred persons are reported to have been killed in counter revolutionary fighting in Bulgaria, according to a Sofia despatch to-day.

A new Government, headed by Prof. Zankoff, a Bourgeois, belonging to no political party, functions in Bulgaria.

The peasant Government of Premier Stamboulisky was overthrown in a bloodless coup d'etat early on Saturday, when irregular forces, assisted by national troops, quietly arrested all members of the Cabinet except the Premier, who fled.

Youthful King Approves.

King Boris, Bulgaria's youthful ruler, received the leaders of the revolutionary regime, and after the audience, at which he heard their explanation of the coup, gave his approval to the new Government.

Strict martial law was immediately imposed throughout the country. A total of two hundred civilians, including many leaders of the peasant party, were arrested.

Regular and irregular troops, accompanied by armoured cars, patrolled the streets of Sofia.

After 24 hours, members of Stamboulisky's Cabinet were freed by the new Government. An eye-witness, describing the coup d'etat of Saturday, said the arrests and troop movements were carried out quietly and with mechanical regularity.

Health Association Realized Tag Day The Sum of $663.21

The officers of the Peterborough Health Association desire to express thanks to the citizens of Peterborough for the very fine contribution made through Tag Day, when the sum of $663.21 was contributed to the funds of the Association.

This makes possible the continuance of the work at Jackson Park, which has been so beneficial to many boys and girls for several years back, for which the Association is deeply grateful.

THE FUNERAL OF DR. R. BELL

Toronto Doctor Will Be Remembered by Many Residents of Peterborough.

The funeral of the late Dr. Robert W. Bell, of Toronto, whose death occurred on Friday of last week, took place this afternoon from his residence at 350 Davenport Road.

Dr. Bell, who will be remembered by many of the older residents of this city, where he resided for over a quarter of a century, was in his 73rd year. In Mr. F. H. Dobbin's veracious and interesting History of Medical Men of Peterborough, the following summary of his career is given:

"Born at Carleton Place in 1851, he attended the Public schools of the town until 1868, when he entered McGill College, Montreal. In 1875 he graduated with the degree of M.D. He returned to Carleton Place and practiced for some time, removing to Peterborough in 1876. Shortly after his graduation he married the youngest daughter of John Summer, Dominion Immigration Agent for Eastern Canada.

"He carried on his practice very successfully and gained much esteem as a thoroughly competent physician. A member of St. Andrew's church, he was chairman of the Board of Management of the church for many years. He gave much of public services in many capacities.

"But particularly was his interest, outside his profession, centred in the active militia of the province. He was connected with it from his youth upwards, and as long as he continued to live in Peterborough. At the time of his removal from Carleton Place he was the youngest field officer in the Dominion, having by diligence in the service of the local force gained the preferment.

"On coming to Peterborough he became connected with the 57th Regiment, "Peterborough Rangers." In 1883 he had become a captain and took over the duties of Adjutant in the regiment. He continued his helpful connection in many capacities and on the retirement of Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, was gazetted as commanding officer of the regiment on May 14th. His successor was Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards, (deceased) afterwards of Edmonton, Alberta.

"On the conclusion of his term of command his brother officers presented Dr. Bell with a very handsome marble clock as a token of esteem and respect. This followed his appointment to the position of assistant physician at the Provincial Asylum, Toronto. Since that time he was engaged in the carrying on of the duties of his appointment and of work connected with his later appointment to the office of Medical Inspector for the Rural Board of Health, at Toronto."

FORMER RESIDENT WON AN AWARD IN LINDSAY

LINDSAY, June 11. — A former resident of Peterborough, in the person of Miss F. Corkery, niece of Postmaster John Corkery, has been successful in winning a $50.00 cash prize for the best story in the recent competition conducted by the Canadian League, a magazine published in Toronto. The prize was won in competition with writers from all over the Dominion.

Miss Corkery is a member of the Collegiate Institute staff.

BOAT HOUSE AND LAUNCH BURNED

Destructive Fire on Trent Canal Alleged to Have Been Incendiary.

Incendiary fire, it is believed, destroyed a boat house and motor boat on the Trent canal in the early hours of Sunday morning, the damage amounting to $800.

A call was received by the fire department at 12.40 a.m. and on arrival at the scene of the fire it was found that the boat house had been burned to the ground, and the boat was burned level with the water. The motor boat, owned by Mr. Pammett, was valued at $700, and carried $500 insurance. The boat house was the property of William Irwin, valued at $100.

This is the boathouse that was partly destroyed by fire some weeks ago when children it was alleged, set fire to a barge moored nearby causing, at that time, damage to the barge estimated at $4,000 and damaging the boat house to the extent of $15.00.

No explanation of yesterday's fire has been given, but Chief Gimblett stated this morning that he believes it to have been incendiary.

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE SIGNS CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, June 11—(Associated Press).—Cleveland is back on the professional football map. A franchise in the National Association of Professional Football clubs, an organization including 17 cities, has been obtained by Samuel H. Deutsch, who during the war was one of the founders of the Cleveland Naval Reserve eleven. Plans are under way to play the games at Dunn Field, the home of the Cleveland American League baseball club.

Arrangements whereby Deutsch became the owner of the franchise were completed by Joseph E. Carr, of Columbus, president of the national association, several days ago.

Other cities, represented in the association are Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Racine, Rock Island, Louisville, Evansville, Rochester, Buffalo, Green Bay, Akron, Columbus, Canton, Toledo, Marion and Dayton. Chicago is represented by two teams, the Cardinals and Bears.

A schedule will be formed at the meeting of the organization in Chicago July 27.

WORLD'S SMALLEST STATE UNITES WITH SWITZERLAND

GENEVA, June 11— (Associated Press).—Situated between Switzerland and Austria is the little Principality of Liechtenstein, which enjoys an idyllic existence and is the smallest state in the world. With its 11,000 inhabitants, this tiny territory and the little Austrian province of Vorarlberg have now entered into a customs union with the Swiss Republic.

Prior to the war Liechtenstein, in spite of the strong antipathy of its people toward the Hapsburgs, was united with the Austrian monarchy by union of customs, post and currency.

During the war the diminutive principality, with its "armed power" of 12 field-watchmen, remained neutral. In 1920 the Principality amalgamated postal administration with that of Switzerland, the postoffices in Liechtenstein differing from the Swiss postoffices only so far they they sell stamps with the portrait of the Prince. The Austrian crown was long ago replaced by the Swiss franc, so that the economic fusion of Liechtenstein into Switzerland is now complete.

LONDON BANISHES OLD CUSTOM

LONDON, June 11— (Associated Press).—In view of the terms of the Sex Disqualification Removals Act the staid City of London Corporation has departed from its old time custom of refusing the honor of the Freedom of the City of London to married women.

The first married woman to receive this honor is Mrs. F. G. Bristow, the wife of a barrister-of-law, who was admitted to the freedom of the city at a recent meeting of the Corporation.

A very long jump was made by a Chicago man who jumped bail in 1913 and only recently landed in jail.

England Brews Millions of Barrels

LONDON, June 11 (Associated Press) —The total number of bulk barrels of beer brewed during the year ending March 31 was 22,334,328 in England and Wales, 1,598,339 in Scotland, 2,684,286 in Ireland making a total of 26,616,953.— These figues were given officially in answer to a question in Parliamentary Papers.

NATIONAL TROOPS STILL FINDING ARMS IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, June 11 (Associated Press) —Obedience to the cease firing order of Frank Aiken, Chief of Staff for De Valera, has been general throughout Ireland, and the doubt whether irregular activities could be stopped by anybody has not been justified. There have been a few cases of attempted outrage, but not more numerous than those alleged after the truce with the British in 1921. Themost noteworthy was the firing of shots at the suburban home of Martin Fitzgerald, proprietor of the Freeman's Journal, when no damage was done. Many irregulars have dumped their arms and returned quietly to their families, and several dumps have been found by the national troops, whose searches continue to be minute and exhaustive. The expectation is that without any formal peace the whole conflict will wear out entirely within a couple of months.

Some good political judges, old-members of the Irish parliamentary party at Westminister, are of the opinion that the government's tacit ignoring of the De Valera proclamation was much the wisest course and public opinion is now veering that way. But there are many who think a formal peace would be worth buying, ff the price were small enough, and intermediaries are still busy with that object.

Frank Fahy, a republican member of the Dail, has urged "such" a slight change in the constitution as would admit all sections to take part in the life of the nation." This means the abrogation of the oath of allegiance to King George, and Republicans believe that England would not now enforce by war that part of the treaty obligation

An element of danger to the prevailing peace may be found in the continuance of executions. Some more are expected very soon following on trials for attacks on troops. Threatening notices have been received by some Free State Officers warning them that executions will be avenged. Such threats will not, of course, affect the decision of the commander-in-chief, and the power to fulfil them has been largely curtailed. But the feeling of bitterness caused by executions is very intense, and seems the most likely cause ofor a renewal of conflict.

It is estimated that 1000 thunderstorms are always in progress all over the world.

PETROGRAD'S HOPES ARE REALIZED

PETROGRAD, June 11—(Associated Press).—Petrograd has come back to the million population class. A recent police census showed the city has 1,065,000 inhabitants, as compared with 740,000 in 1920.

Although still almost dead industrially in comparison with its war-time status, Petrograd in general is beginning to "come back."

During the war days Petrograd had more than 2,000,000 people. After the Boishevik revolution the capital was moved to Moscow and thousands of government employees and factory workmen were evacuated. The lean and hungry years of the revolution brought about a further decrease in the population, many of the people going to the country districts where food and living was cheaper and more plentiful.

Two years ago Petrograd merited the predictions of foreign observer that it would be a city as dead as Pompeii. But the past year has brought a tremendous change. Factories are being reopened, the port is in operation, and thousands of persons are returning to the city. Many of them have come from Moscow, which is so overcrowded with its 2,500,000 people in a city built for 1,000,000, that it is almost impossible to find a place to sleep. In Moscow one cannot get a spacious apartment for love or money; in Petrograd there are many of them And so hundreds of Moscow businessmen, whose work keeps them in the capital, have sent their families to Petrograd where they can live comfortably.

While it does not seem probable that there is an immediate chance of the Bolshevik government moving the capital back to Petrograd, nevertheless some institutions which help to overcrowd Moscow are to be moved to Petrograd this summer. This will further increase the population. Business conditions in Petrograd, however, do not seem as bright as they were last summer. Scores of shops closed during the winter because of high taxation, and the broad Nevsky Prospect presents a panorama of closed and shuttered stores. It is expected that port operations in the summer will bring about an improvement in business.

INDUSTRIES OF CANADA MEET IN QUEEN CITY

Annual Meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is Being Held in Toronto.

MANY PRESENT.

TORONTO, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)— Delegates representing industry from coast to coast are gathered in Toronto for the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which opens at one o'clock to-day and will continue until Thursday evening. There were quite a few early arrivals on Saturday, particularly from distant points and every incoming train yesterday augmented the flow, while special trains from east and west, due this morning will swell the attendance to several hundred. The attendance from Ontario will be particularly large, 37 cities and towns of the province having arranged to send delegates.

The delegates will get together at luncheon at one o'clock and immediately after will come the annual review by the president, John R. Shaw, of Woodstock, Ont., which is expected to contain a thorough analysis of business during the last year, suggestions for improvement and reference to problems confronting the Canadian manufacturer. Reports of the treasurer, the executive committee, the legislation committee and the industrial relations committee are also to be submitted at the opening session.

Sir George Foster will be one of the speakers for Tuesday morning and at the Tuesday night session George Henderson of Montreal will speak on the subject of "National advertising."

Reports from the various divisions will engage the attention of the delegates on Wednesday and on Thursday there will be addresses by leading exporters, amendments to by-laws and election of officers. The list of speakers for the annual dinner on Thursday night includes two Australian statesmen, Sir George Fuller, Premier of New South Wales and Hon. H. S. W. Lawson, premier of Victoria.

The entertainment of the delegates has not been overlooked. There will be a reception at Government house for the delegates on Tuesday afternoon, sight-seeing motor tours and a steamer trip on Wednesday afternoon to Queenston and Niagara Falls as well as other social events.

BULGARIAN GOVT. WAS DEFEATED ON SATURDAY WITHOUT BLOODSHED

Coup d'Etat on the Part of Reserve Officers and the Active Army Resulted in Complete Revolution.

PREMIER A PRISONER

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—The agrarian Cabinet, headed by Premier Stamboulisky, was overthrown early Saturday morning, the plot being carried out by reserve officers with the assistance of the active army.

Although there was no bloodshed, the new regime proclaimed a state of siege and issued a proclamation to the nation saying:

"Bulgarian liberty dawns again. The regime of deceit, violence and murder has collapsed under the weight of its crimes, and a new era of law, harmony and peace has arrived."

Premier Stamboulisky, who has been living in semi-retirement in his native village of Slavonitz, returned to Sofia Friday night. On his arrial at the station he found troops drawn up and he was received in silence. When the Premier asked for explanation the officers ignored the question. He then tried to telephone to police headquarters to obtain an explanation, but discovered the wires had been cut; then he understood he was a prisoner.

The coup was carried out with military precision. Members of the reserve officers' organization and units of the active army surrounded Parliament House and arrested the Ministers and Deputies, while those Ministers who were absent were arrested later at their homes. Among those arrested were the members of a powerful organization known as the "Yellow Guard," and alleged to be a staunch supporter of M. Stamboulisky.

All the frontiers are closed and no trains are allowed to leave the capital.

"A simple incident in the internal life of the country," is the way in which the first official statement of the new Bulgarian Government describes the coup d'etat. Just what effect it will have on the Bulgarian foreign policy is not yet divulged.

The existing public forces are well able to maintain order, and the mobilization of additional troops has not been called for.

The statement declares:

"The new Government will be guided by the inflexible principles of justice and democracy in restoring Bulgaria's internal peace and order, and will cultivate the closest relations and good neighborliness and friendship with adjoining States and good-will of the Great Powers by the utmost execution of just international obligations."

Up to a late hour Saturday no conflict or bloodshed had been reported in any part of Bulgaria. Normal traffic was resumed Saturday afternoon, when crowds thronged the streets.

A meeting was held outside the Parliament Building and was addressed by the new Ministers, Zankoff and Bobchevski. They declared the new Government would reestablish the constitution. Later they visited the Foreign Legations. The Ministers in the former Gouchkoff and Malinoff Cabinets, charged with responsibility for Bulgaria's entry into the war, have been released. The Ministry as at present constituted is as follows:

Premier, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister of War—M. Zankoff.

Minister of Interior—M. Bouseoff.

Agriculture and Public Education—M. Moloff.

Commerce and Industry—M. Bobchevski.

Public Works—M. Stoentchieff.

Finance—M. Todoroff.

Railways—M. Kazassoff.

Justice—M. Similoff.

The majority of the new Ministers belong to the Bourgeoise party and are also Russophile.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press.) —Describing the revolt at Sofia, the Belgrade correspondent of the Havas Agency, differs from advices directly from the Bulgarian capital with respect to the "bloodless revolt." He says that a regiment refused to join the movement and was disarmed after sharp fighting in the streets of Sofia, in which eighty gendarmes were killed.

The Belgrade newspapers declare that a regular hunt was organized for the capture of Stamboulisky, who is reported to be organizing a peasant corps to march on Sofia.

Rumor That Prince Dead Is Unfounded.

TORONTO, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Some one in Hamilton yesterday caused considerable alarm by placing in circulation a rumor that the Prince of Wales had been thrown from his horse and killed. By telephone and by gossip the false news spread like wildfire. Hamilton newpapers and telephone operators were continually asked, "Is the Prince of Wales dead?"

By night the rumor had been broadcasted from Hamilton to Guelph and Toronto, but of course it is entirely unfounded.

ORVILLE CROWE LOST HIS LIFE

Canoe Caught in Eddy and Capsized, Throwing Two Peterboro Men Into the Water.

Orville Crowe, only son of Alderman and Mrs. Crowe, was drowned yesterday morning near Sky Rock in Lovesick Lake. At the time of the unfortunate accident Mr. Crowe was on his way, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Arthur Metheral, to Mr. Metheral's cottage. The young men had left Jacobs Hotel in a canoe and evidently did not make allowance for the high water and swift current which prevailed. The canoe was caught in an eddy and capsized, throwing both men into the water. They clung to the canoe for some time, attempting to bring it ashore with them, but finding that they were being carried down toward the dam, decided to abandon the craft and make shore alone. They had then but a short distance to go.

Mr. Crowe left the canoe first and started for the shore. His brother-in-law, in his efforts to look after the canoe, lost sight of him for a few moments and when he looked for him again he was nowhere in sight. Mr. Metheral made shore safely and immediately started a search for his companion, but without success.

At a late hour last evening the body had not been recovered.

Story of Eye Witness.

The lockmaster at Burleigh lock, who witnessed the accident, corroborates the story given by others yesterday. The accident, he says, occurred very near the Burleigh lock and just behind Dr. Fraser's island. When the canoe capsized the two young men left it and tried to swim to the boom, but while Mr. Metheral reached it in safety, Mr. Crowe went down and was not again seen.

There is not much likelihood of an immediate recovery of the body, it is reported, on account of the exceptionally high water.

STIRRED BY BOMB PLOTS.

TOKIO (By Mail to the United Press). — Korea, "The Land of Morning Calm," has belied its name of late. Morning, night, and noon, it has been anything but calm. It has been a full day, indeed, when the Japanese police haven't reported another bomb plot in Korea, or announced the arrest of another bunch of "Korean Socialists."

The Korean Independence Party, which seems to operate principally from Shanghai, and whose known members would be arrested the moment they set foot in Korea, has been responsible, according to the Japanese police, for a general revolutionary plot in Korea, to have materialised this year, but which the police say they have nipped in the bud.

Throughout Korea, and on the Japanese mainland, there have been very many arrests of Korean suspects. In a good many cases bombs or bomb-making equipment were found.

WAR REDUCES REVENUES.

PEKIN, June 9. — China has her civil war to thank for a net decrease of $381,566 (Chinest currency) in operating revenue from her government railways during the year ended in November, 1922.

In spite of the fact that eleven lines showed increases ranging from $286.00 to $114,634, the disruption of traffic and appropriation of revenues by the military governors has turned the balance so that the year's operation showed a loss.

The Pekin-Mukden line which, to the north of Shanhaikwan, has been under the control of General Chang Tso-lin since he established the independence of the three Eastern Provinces in Manchuria a year ago, accounted for $992,946 of the deficit.

General Wu Pei-fu's operations on the line of the Pekin-Hankow railway caused a loss of $139,501 in revenue from that line. The total revenue for the year received by the government was $7,987,359.

PRESBYTERIANS IN THE PULPITS OF PORT ARTHUR

Huge Congregations Turn Out in the Twin Cities to Hear Sermons From the Visiting Divines.

DR. PRINGLE HEARD.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 11—(Canadian Press) —All that is finest in Presbyterian congregational life and worship was typified and exemplified in the annual service in the assembly church here yesterday. The commodious and attractive edifice was completely filled by a congregation which joined heartily in the singing of familiar psalms and hymns, chiefly selections used in the assemblies of the church of Scotland for hundreds of years. Principal Gander the moderator of the assembly presided in the dignified manner characteristic of him and with him in the pulpit were the Rev. J. A. Tuer, minister of St. Paul's Church, a graduate of Knox College and the Rev. Dr. John Pringle of Klondyke fame, a former moderator of the assembly, the preacher of the day Mr. Tuer in well-chosen words welcomed Principal Gandier to St. Paul's Church on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the formation of the congregation, and requested that he would say a few words with reference to the services which Dr. Pringle had rendered to St. Paul's congregation and to the church at large.

Dr. Pringle is selecting a text from the 136th Psalm intimated to the congregation that he did not intend to confine his remarks to the words of the Psalm, a intimation which he observed throughout to the letter. His address, which deeply interested and greatly pleased the large congregation, was reminiscent of early days in Port Arthur and its vicinity which the speaker first visited forty one years ago He described conditions as they were at that time in the civil and religious life of the country and suggested the thought of what God had wought in the interven ing years. He referred by name to many members of the church during his pastorate from 1886 to 1893. The congregation of St. Pauls was he said on a mountain, the y could today look back over the way they had traversed and to some extent could look into the future. They were uncertain they did not know what the future might have in store, but of these two things they were aware, first that God was more concerned and more interested than they could be that they would take the best course, and second that whatever might occur that God would be with them.

In the evening in St. Paul's Church the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon who spoke with all his usual clearness force and eloquence to another crowded congregation. In the neigh boring Methodist church Dr. Wylie Clark of Saskatoon preached in the morning and Dr. Leslie Pidgeon of Winnipeg, in the evening. In Knox Presbyterian Church Rev. Dr. Gordon preached in the morning and Rev. Archibald Young of Regina in the evening in St. Andrew's Church, Fort William. Various other commissioners occupied pulpits in church of the Twin Cities and preached to large congregations.

Most of the misery and ill-health that humanity is burdened with arise from disorders of the liver, stomach or bowels.

Will Make Enquiry Into Excess Profit Charges.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 11. — (Canadian Press.) — "Rightly or wrongly, the farmer thinks that other people make too much profit from handling his product. Our enquiry will discover whether and to what extent the complaint is a just one."

Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, former Attorney-General so defines the work of the royal commission to enquire into the grain trade, of which he is chairman. Interviewed here Saturday he was reluctant to express his opinion as to the time the investigation would consume. He thought, allowing due time for preparations and notice to witnesses that it was likely to begin about the end of June.

Bulgarian Revolution Is Cause of Anxiety

LAUSANNE, June 11. Canadian Press. — M. Todoroff, Bulgarian Minister to Jugo-Slavia, and president of the Bulgarian delegation at the Near East Conference, commenting on his country's upheaval said:

"I went to bed last night a Minister; I awoke to-day a refugee."

The Minister of Finance in the new Bulgarian Cabinet as reported from Sofia, is M. Todoroff, but whether this is the head of the Lausanne delegation or a Bulgarian of the same name merely, is not known.

The news of the overthrow of the Stambiulisky Government has caused anxiety among the diplomats here, and there is general nervousness regarding Balkan affairs. Bulgaria has received no adequate satisfacti. at the Near East Conference relative to her long-standing ambition for a commercial outlet to the Aegean Sea, and and must henceforth traverse both Greek and Turkish territories.

PREMIER ZANKOFF FRIEND OF BORIS

The King of Bulgaria Is Believed to Have Known of Revolutionary Plans.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press.)— The new Bulgarian Premier Zankoff was on the most intimate terms with King Boris, according to the Sofia correspondent of Havas, and it is believed there that the King was acquainted with the revolutionary plan, the promptness with which he signed all the decrees presented to him by the new Government being pointed out as proof that he was not ill pleased with the downfall of the man who exiled his father and only tolerated him.

Professor Alexander Zankoff is one of the most reputable doctors in Sofia University. He began gathering about him a year ago the leaders of the intellectuals in Bugaria regardless of party affiliations for the purpose of joint action against the Government. Zankoff is only 43 years of age. He was educated in Sofia and Munich and travelled extensively in Germany, Austria, and Hungary during the war.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts, and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of peroxine powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.

REDISTRIBUTION OF BRITISH FLEET NOW UNDER WAY

Steps Being Taken to Effect Plan Whereby the Mediterranean Fleet Will Be Britain's Strongest.

MANY CHANGES.

MALTA, June 11. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The official announcement regarding the relief of the seventh destroyer flotilla at present in the Mediterranean by the third flotilla of the Atlantic fleet which comprises the latest-built British destroyers, is interpreted here as the first step towards putting into effect the proposed redistribution of the fleets whereby the Mediterranean fleet will again become Great Britain's main fleet in commission.

It is believed here that the next step will be the sending out of battleships of the Royal Sovereign class to reinforce the present battle squadron, but this is not likely to take place before October.

Other ships mentioned as destined for the Mediterranean from the Atlantic fleet, besides the second light cruiser squadron, are the newly-built Eagle, which is the largest aircraft carrier, also the Argus. The aircraft carrier Pegasus now here is returning to home waters.

Little doubt is entertained here that the destroyer strength in the middle sea is likewise to be considerably increased. Other steps contemplated are believed to be the relief of the eighth flotilla by a more modern one and the sending out of an additional flotilla, making altogether two flotillas in the Mediterranean.

I.O.D.E., Campbellford, to Give Scholarships.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11. — The regular monthly meeting of the Daughters of the Empire was held in the Public Library. In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, who was attending the missionary convention in Cobourg, Mrs. J. P Archer presided.

The committee appointed at last meeting to confer with Mr. Earl Greig, BA., with reference to the High School scholarships to be given by the I.O.D.E., reported favoring scholarships to be given for English history, English literature and mathematics.

It was decided to hold no regular meetings during the summer months.

Two new members, Mrs Wilbam Watters and Mrs. Arthur Armour, took their affirmations.

Canadian Officials Are in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—A party of Canadian officials will arrive in Washington to-day to confer with Secretary Hughes and representatives of the Alien Property Custodian's office and work out a uniform practice for disposition of certain large holdings of seized property on both sides of the boundary. The conference grows out of the fact that the United States' Custodian has taken over shares of Canadian corporations which were supposed to be owned by Germans in this country, while the Canadians likewise have possessed themselves of properties of American origin owned by Germans living in Canada.

Efforts have been made with varying degrees of success by the German owners to recover these properties and it is regarded as desirable that the same general rule shall be adopted by each country. There are many complex questions to be discussed and the conference probably will continue for some time.

Important Decision Will Be Made To-Day.

LONDON, June 11.— (Canadian Press.)—The Cabinet will meet this morning and is expected to decide whether the time is ripe for a statement by the Prime Minister on the recent German note. Such a statement may be made in the House of Commons to-day, according to custom, in the form of an answer to question in case the Cabinet decides it is opportune for a statement on the British policy.

The decision will be the outcome of the most important diplomatic exchanges which have been going on over the week end and it appears that Belgium is trying to bring British and French policies together. The chief stumbling block in the way of a re-union of the Allies which remains is French insistence that the Germans formally declare that they have given up passive resistance in the Ruhr.

160,000 Bottles of Beer Consigned to the Sewer.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Prohibition enforcement officers Saturday started dumping 160,000 bottles of real beer, valued at $26,000, down city sewers. The task will occupy several days. The beer was seized in liquor raids during the past month.

Six Inches of Rain Fell in Hour and Half

MACON, Ga., June 11. Canadian Press. — Damage estimated at $1,000,000 was caused to Macon property by a storm that broke over this city at 12.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Nearly six inches of water fell in less than an hour and a half.

While the storm was at its height Curry's Hall on Giles street, was flooded and the firemen had to rescue nine persons from the second floor. Te firemen found all exits washed away, and the building ready to collapse.

George S. Woodruff and a companion drove an automobile into the underpass under the Central of Georgia Railway, near the Central station when the storm broke, to put up the side curtains. Before the task was completed, the water was up to the bottom of the car.

Optimism Among the Lausanne Delegates.

LAUSANNE, June 11.—(Canadian Press.) — "Subdued optimism" appeared to prevail among the Allies yesterday after the special meeting of Near East Conference leaders to discuss the critical Ottoman debt question. The meeting was confined to Ismet Pasha, for the Turks, and the principal Allied delegates.

Everybody was cautious in talking about what occurred. All agreed the conversations were useful, but admitted no solution was found. Experts of both sides met last night, and will continue in session all day to-day, in an endeavor to find the way to a compromise.

ARE WE SELFISH?

It is as true of municipalities as it is of individuals that they cannot live to themselves alone—yet sometimes it looks as if Peterborough was trying the experiment.

The other night a communication asking for assistance for the typhoid-stricken town of Cochrane was referred to the Finance Committee—a polite way of burying the appeal, it is to be feared.

Similarly, Peterborough fell down in its duty towards the fire victims of Northern Ontario.

The city is not a member of the Good Roads Association, its grant towards the Trent Waterways Development Association is scarcely in proportion to the population of the city or the benefits derived.

When either Police Chief or Fire Chief desires to go to the convention of the Police Chiefs or Fire Chiefs of the Dominion there is always reluctance to pay the shot, yet these annual gatherings in which the experience and knowledge of the delegates are on tap for the general benefit are only made possible by the co-operation of the municipalities.

In these and other respects there has been a rather selfish attitude on the part of the civic administration; we have been inclined to lean on somebody else and have not even been neighborly in our attitude towards others.

True economy is the watchword of the day, but economy can be overdone when it makes a community forget its duty in regard to other municipalities.

Our treatment of Cochrane and of the fire-swept areas of New Ontario is not such as to cause admiration for Peterborough's generosity.

HELPING THE FIRE-FIGHTERS.

The Oshawa Council has just passed a bylaw giving the vehicles of the Fire Department right-of-way over all other street traffic, and also control of the streets in the vicinity of fire.

This is a very timely piece of legislation that might well be adopted in Peterborough.

The Oshawa bylaw provides that fire apparatus shall have right-of-way over every other vehicle and may pass a street car on either side of the same. At the same time, drivers of other vehicles are instructed to drive as close as possible to the right-hand curb of the street and stop until after the fire brigade has passed.

In addition, it is provided that no vehicle shall follow after the fire apparatus until the same is at least 400 feet in advance, nor approach any nearer than 600 feet at any stationary fire apparatus being used at the place of fire or alleged fire.

Restrictions such as these have become most necessary in any centre of any size, and the Peterborough Fire Department has often had reason to complain of the absence of such a bylaw here, the interference caused by motorists being a decided handicap to the brigade when on duty.

Often the passage of the apparatus to a fire is slowed up by vehicles in the way, and it has been a common custom for motorists to drive as close as possible to the scene, regardless of the inconvenience caused to the men engaged in fighting a fire.

The Oshawa bylaw should put a stop to such conditions in that town.

MUSSOLINI'S PLAN.

The new electoral plan announced by Premier Mussolini of Italy is attracting world-wide attention because of its unique features, chief of which is the provision by which all Italy is regarded as one gigantic voting constituency.

Examiner readers will perhaps grasp the significance of the new method if they will imagine it applied to Canada.

Suppose that on a certain day the electors of Canada having registered their party affiliations all cast their ballots for their party.

When the vote was counted each party would be assigned a proportional number of seats in Parliament.

Then there would be a second election in which each Province of Canada would fill the seats apportioned.

The advantage of the plan lies in the fact that purely local questions and political personalities would be eliminated and the election would be settled on the basis of the policies of the parties.

Against this, however, is the objection that districts not identified with any of the organized parties, as well as the smaller parties themselves, would be without any representation at all. And, in addition, there would be the danger of losing all contact between candidates and electors, except perhaps in sections where one party had a definite majority.

Mussolini's object is plain—he seeks to kill off the old parties completely.

There is no danger of his plan being seriously considered in Canada.

STRIKING VARIATIONS.

The variation in taxation methods throughout the Dominion is illustrated by the difference in the basis used in the various Provinces on which to levy a motor vehicle tax.

Each Province, according to a bulletin received by the Examiner from the Citizens' Research Institute, has a system of its own.

In British Columbia, for example, the license fee is based on taxation units arrived at as follows: The value of the motor vehicle in dollars plus the weight of the motor vehicle in pounds.

Alberta and Manitoba levy a tax according to the length of the wheel base in inches.

Saskatchewan prefers to tax according to the horse power of the car.

Here in Ontario both the horse power and the number of cylinders are taken into consideration.

Quebec, again, bases its tax on the horse power, New Brunswick chooses the weight basis, as does Prince Edward Island, while in Nova Scotia the tax is levied upon the vehicle's value and horse power.

In regard to speed limits, there is again a striking variation. Alberta names twenty miles an hour in cities, towns and villages, but in the country the only restriction is that motorists shall not drive recklessly. Saskatchewan, on the other hand, has no limit anywhere, but drivers are not expected to drive recklessly either in city or country.

British Columbia, Manitoba and Nova Scotia limit motorists in cities, towns and villages to fifteen miles an hour, Ontario and Quebec twenty miles an hour and New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island three miles an hour off this limit, holding drivers in municipalities down to twelve miles.

In open country British Columbia and Quebec permit thirty miles an hour, Ontario and Prince Edward Island twenty-five and New Brunswick and Nova Scotia twenty miles an hour.

The figures indicate that a motorist who attempts a transcontinental tour will have to watch his step—or, rather, watch how he steps on the gas—if he wants to avoid a violation of the motor vehicle regulations.

Incidentally, it would be interesting to know just what effect has been obtained in the Western Provinces where no speed limit has been set, following the plan adopted in France where the driver is held responsible for accidents caused by his carelessness no matter at what speed his car may have been travelling?

A PRESS AGENT'S BLUNDER.

The original press agent for oleomargarine would make a good Jonah, says the Montreal Star. To recommend an article as a poor man's substitute for bad butter, was to damn it beyond hope. Nor did it get any help from an advertising point of view when it was reluctantly admitted to the country as a "war measure." It naturally took rank in the public mind with various contributary elements which go to make up what Sherman said war was.

Yet there are those who insist that oleomargarine is a wholesome and tasty article of food on its merits. If no one had mentioned butter at all, it might have got by as a cheap lubricant for dry bread. Millions of people in the world do not eat butter. They eat something else. It might have been possible that oleomargarine could have made its way as an independent addition to the menu, just as marmalade and honey are.

But it seems pretty well discredited now in this country. Our people will never forget that it was to come on as an understudy for butter when the latter article had become too temperamental and up-stage; and that it was only shot into this noble Dominion in the form of war munitions when we were all doing our bit and trying to feel as bad as the boys in the trenches.

ANOTHER COAL STRIKE?

The report from Washington pointing to fear of another coal strike in the anthracite fields in September is too vaguely speculative to occasion much alarm, says the Ottawa Journal. So far no indication seems present that a strike threatens. Nevertheless, there is no assurance that a strike will not take place. The danger lies in the fact that the agreements between the coal operators and miners expire August 31. Failure of amicable settlement on new contract terms is as liable then as it was last year. Those in Canada who are saying that because two or three strikes have occurred in the last few years there is not likely to be another for four or five years are placing large trust in the uncertain law of average.

Should danger of a September strike loom up during the summer it is very likely that drastic action will be taken at Washington. The temper of the American people will hardly tolerate a repetition next winter of the unnecessary hardships of last winter. They will demand effective intervention of some kind on the part of their Government. The time of such a strike—the commencement of the coal season—might induce the Government to the length of the prompt taking over of the operation of the mines.

But while the American Government may protect the interest of the American people in case of another strike, there is less assurance for the people of Canada. Washington is not responsible for our protection. Good reason exists, therefore, to expect that the several inquiries being conducted into Canada's fuel problem will lead to some practicable plan of relief in event of emergency, at least.

CHANGED DAYS.

A candidate for the Legislature has deemed it necessary to deny a rumor to the effect that he was drunk at a certain plowing match last fall. This is an illustration of the great change that has come in the habits of the people of Ontario, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. In the "good old days" nobody would have thought of either making or denying such a charge. Indeed the failure of a man to get properly drunk at a plowing match or on other suitable occasions would have been more likely to tell against him than be recorded in his favor. In days which now seem so far off, but which are within the memory of people still living, a barrel of whiskey with a tin dipper was regarded as a necessary part of the equipment for recording the votes of the free and intelligent electors. The days of open voting were days of open drinking, and the candidate who failed to honor the customs of the time was regarded as lacking in certain of the qualities which make and keep a man human and give him kinship with his fellow beings. There is a well authenticated story to the effect that one of the supporters of a certain candidate in an election campaign deemed it advisable, in addressing an audience supposed to have temperance leanings, to remove some "misunderstandings," due to the unscrupulous conduct of the enemy. The candidate had been represented as a man of convivial habits. His supporter sought to make it clear that that was a thing of the past, and that the candidate had become as good a temperance man as anyone could desire. This was too much for the candidate, who was present. He declared quite frankly that anyone who took him for a brand snatched from the burning would be very badly mistaken. And the audience cheered him.

But "them days is gone forever," as they say in the comic strips. No doubt it is all for the best. And yet, there were big men in the old days, too.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Two weeks from tonight the battle of the ballots will be over. Not everybody can pick a winner but everybody on the list can vote—and should do so.

A number of candidates have dropped out, and two weeks from now a lot more will wish that they had also retired.

The fighting in the campaign seems to be confined to the leaders. It is apparently difficult to get the rank and file excited.

LONDON BUILDINGS DECAY.

LONDON, June 9. — London is said to be slowly crumbling away, or at least most of the historic buildings are decaying.

In an effort to ascertain the cause of this crumbling of apparently insoluble stonework, the Government has appointed a committee of scientific experts to thoroughly probe the matter.

It is known that stone used in one part of the country will stand unaffected, but if used in another it will decay. This is a mystery the experts have to probe, and it will take considerable time, for it involves questions of chemistry, biology, and physics.

Among the buildings needing immediate attention ore the famous Carlton Club, Tower of London, the Houses of Parliament, Holyrood Palace and Tintern Abbey.

DRESSES WITH MUSIC.

PARIS, June 9 (United Press). — The latest craze in the dressmaking establishments of the Rue de la Paix is the presentation of dresses with songs and music. MILLBROOK, June 11. — Three carloads of the girls belonging to the C.G.I.T. group of Grace Presbyterian Church had a delightful picnic outing to Wallace's Point on Wednesday, through the kindness of Rev. G. S. Gervan, W. E. Ball, and J. N. McGill, who kindly gave the use of their cars for the occasion. Games, races, etc., followed by a substantial tea, made up the afternoon's enjoyment. Miss Anna Russell is the mentor of the Presbyterian group here.

Rev. A. H. McConnachie, of Centreville, is in Port Arthur attending the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Church union is the subject of greatest interest, apparently, before the leaders in church life and thought at present. Rev. Dr. W. J. Clarke, of Montreal, in his address as the retiring Moderator, pleading with the 500 commissioners who are attending the Assembly, to approach the question "in all sincerity, seeking grace from the Master of all our Assemblies ,that we may fittingly discharge the high and solemn responsibilities resting upon us at this time, possessed by Christ's spirit." Rev. Dr. Gandier, principal of Knox College, Toronto, was unanimously elected the new Moderator.

Miss Stella Pethick was a visitor to Peterborough on Wednesday, Miss M. E. Hetherington relieving her of her duties at the Post Office for the day.

Rev. Milton Williams, of Havelock, a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, and recently ordained as curate at St. Alban's Cathedral, has been appointed the new assistant to Rev. Canon Allen for the parish of Millbrook and Cavan, assuming his duties last Sunday.

Rev. S. T. Tucker will preach the Sunday School anniversary sermon at the Cavanville Methodist Church on Sunday, 17th June, Rev. S. G. Rorke taking the service here. Rev. A. J. Langford, of Trinity Church, Peterborough, will be the preacher for the evening at Cavanville.

The annual garden party will be held on Monday evening.

Mrs. Robert Smith has sold her residence on Bank Street East to Mr. Howard Murney, who will take possession in the immediate future. Mrs. Smith intends, for the present at least, making her home with her son, Mr. L. W. Smith, on the homestead a mile or so east of the village.

Miss E. Palmer, of Peterboro, who came out for the choir concert at Grace Church, with which she was assisting, was the guest of Miss Mabel Clarry while here.

Mrs. McGimpsey, of Detroit, who has been visiting friends in Peterboro, Port Hope and at other points, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball this week, and also relatives on Fallis Line.

Owing to the wet weather the League ball game between Millbrook and Garden Hill, which was to have been played at the latter village on Friday evening, was unavoidably postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball, Miss Thelma Ball, Mr. Reid Ball and Mr. J. L. Byam motored to Port Hope on Thursday evening and attended the political meeting at which Hon. E. C. Drury was the chief speaker. There was a very large attendance.

PLAY FOR BRITISH GOLF TITLE TODAY

Two Hundred and Twenty Two Entrants, Many of Whom Are Foreigners.

TROON, Scotland, June 11. Canadian Press. — Cold winds were blowing in from the sea upon the Ayrshire coast last night, rattling the bedroom windows of two hundred and twenty-two golfers as they went to sleep, each with hope, faint or strong, that the play in which he will begin to participate this morning may carry him by Friday night to the glory of owning the title of British Open Champion.

Yesterday being Sunday no one played golf at Troon; but being the eve for the first test for the championship everyone talked golf.

The qualifying round, eighteen holes to-day, and eighteen Tuesday, will be played over two courses, known as the new course and the municipal course. Each player will make a round on both of them. The eighty survivors of the qualifying round will play in the championship match at seventy two holes over the old course, which skirts the chilly sea.

All the players expressed pleasure at seeing the rain on Sunday as the greens, smooth and speedy, were hard making approach difficult. The bright sunshine and the afternoon winds, however, probably gave back to the greens whatever speed they lost in being wet down by the rainfall.

Glasgow is only 50 miles away from Troon, and special trains and motor cars are expected to bring thousands of spectators here to-morrow to watch the best players of Great Britain, the United States, France, South Africa and sundry other places vie for the championship.

There are twelve entrants from the United States. Among them are Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Jim Barnes.

British experts regard George Duncan and Abe Mitchell as the hope of the homeland against the threat to take the championship across the Atlantic for the third consecutive year.

Even if the championship does not go across the Atlantic, it is not at all certain that it will remain in Great Britain, as there are several foreign golfers here besides those from the United States, considered quite capable of winning.

Among the possibilities for the title are Fred Jangle, open champion of South Africa, Armand Massey the open champion of France, Angel Delatorre, the Spanish titleholder, and Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, to name but a few of the most renowned foreigners. Youths dominate the field, but there will be four men who for decades have been familiar figures on hundreds of golf courses; they are James Braid, Harry Vardon, Ted Ray and Alexander Heard.

Braid may not win this championship, but if he never makes another shot he has already kept many another man from winning it, for he is responsible for 68 new bunkers which have been scattered over the three courses in the past few weeks. In those bunkers next week many a hope of glory is sure to die.

The United States entrants received a shock Saturday night when informed they would not be allowed to use their corrugated, grooved or slotted clubs. The decision to bar clubs of this nature was reached at a special meeting of the Royal and Ancient Royal Golf Committee and as a consequence all of the United States players and a few of the British contestants will probably spent part of Sunday filing the clubs to make them conform with the requirements.

The statement of the committee said in part: "The Rules Committee have decided that clubs of corrugated, grooved or slotted patterns constitute a substantial departure from the traditional accepted forms and makes of golf clubs, and accordingly are not permissable in a competition played under the rules of the Royal and Ancient Committee. Consequently they are not permissable in the open championship."

HASTINGS TRIMMED HAVELOCK 13 TO 2

Intermediate Lacrosse Clash Proved Tamest Game Staged for Many a Day.

HASTINGS, June 11. - In the first O.A.L.A. Intermediate game played here on Saturday, Hastings trounced Havelock by the score of 13-2.

It was the tamest game ever staged in Hastings and "Bun" Clarke of Toronto was father of the situation from start to finish.

Havelock arrived in Hastings about 3 o'clock with a handfull of supporters and by the a...nts that had been circulated were sure winners but the boys here always play good clean lacrosse and were out to win.

The game started at 4 o'clock and for the first five minutes it looked as if it would be a merry battle but before time was called for the end of the quarter Hastings had notched 7 goals.

In the second quarter Havelock's defence stiffened and the home swung into action, but it was of no avail as Tate and Clapper of the Hastings defence proved a stonewall.

In the third quarter the Hastings boys eased up and let Havelock notch two goals while they bulged the net for three counters, the quarter ending 10-2.

The fourth quarter was very tame —Armstrong of Havelock tried hard to get his team working, but it was of no avail against the Hastings home and when the time keeper's gong sounded for full time Hastings were winners with the large score of 13-2, and the spectators who were a good law-abiding bunch, left the field satisfied that it was the cleanest game that has been seen here in many a day.

The line-up follows:

Havelock—Coal, Woodbeck, point, Armstrong; cover point, Quinn, 1st defence, Hay; 2nd defence, Stacey, centre, Plunkett; 1st home, Brennan, 2nd home Burgess; outside, Wright; inside, Plunkett; spares — Leng, Greeny, Barlow.

Hastings — Goal, Scriver; point, Clapper; cover point, Dodd; 1st defence, Cruickshanks; 2nd defence, Tate; centre, Scriver; 1st home, Ross; 2nd home Richardson; outside, Doonan; Inside Cowell; Spares Scriver, Scriver, Goulet.

MISS AGNES MacPHAIL IN POLITICAL ADDRESS

OTTAWA, June 11. — (Canadian Press).—That people who did not know anything about politics should not be allowed the franchise and that democracy would not be at its best until every representative left his resignation with the electors and each elector had to pass a test of citizenship before being allowed to vote, were recommendations of the policy advocated by Miss Agnes MacPhail in an address Saturday afternoon at the annual Russell U.F.O. picnic at Bearbrook.

As a means of developing better citizenship, Miss MacPhail emphasized the importance of recall "in developing personal responsibility of the electors to themselves instead of government party or leader."

FIVE CIVILIANS ARE SHOT AS RESULT ROW

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Mail Carried to Brighton —A Boy's Summer Camp —News of Interest.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11. — The mail sacks which contained The Examiner of last Friday were, through some oversight, carried past the station here and were thrown off the train at Brighton. The sacks were brought to Campbellford on Saturday evening on the stage from Brighton, about 30 hours behind the time scheduled for their arrival.

Subscribers can readily understand that for this delay neither The Examiner staff nor the local Post Office were in any manner responsible.

Boys' Summer Camp.

A summer camp for boys will be held on the lake shore near Cobourg, beginning in the last week of June. The outing will last for nine days, and will afford an excellent holiday for the members of the rising generation. This camp is conducted under Sunday School auspices, so that parents and guardians may be assured that their boys while here will be given the most careful oversight. The cost to each boy will be $9.00, of which $2.00 is charged as a registration fee. People of means who have no eligible children of their own, are asked to contribute to the support of boys whose own parents may not be able to bear the expense of the outing, which will be of lasting benefit to the young fellows who are fortunate enough to attend.

News Notes from Stanwood.

Rev. J. E. Glover, pastor of the Seymour Circuit, in his discourse in the Methodist Church at Stanwood on Sunday morning, gave his hearers some wholesome advice with regard to the exercise of the franchise at the coming election. In no way did the preacher attempt anything like dictation in the matter of selecting a particular candidate for support.

Speaking from the text, "If the blind attempt to lead the blind, both will fall into the ditch," Mr. Glover said that public opinion at present forces political leaders to declare definitely their position on all moral issues. No longer do these leaders attempt to lead an electorate that has been blinded by political sophistries. The ballot he regards as one of the most sacred as well as powerful weapons that can be placed in the hands of the people, and that all should so regard it and realise their responsibilities before they exercise the franchise.

Memorial Service.

In Zion Church next Sunday a memorial service will be held for the late Mrs. William Pethrick, who died suddenly last winter of the flu, under peculiarly sad circumstances. She left behind her a family of small children, nearly all of whom were ill of the same epidemic at the time of the mother's death, and as they were unable to attend the funeral, the sermon in memory of the deceased was postponed.

The late Mrs. Pethrick was a devoted and active member of Zion Church, and for this reason it has been decided to hold a special service in her memory.

The annual session of the Stanwood Methodist congregation will be held on the church grounds on Thursday evening. The Northumberland Band of Campbellford will be one of the attractions.

Road Contract Let.

That defective piece of roadway on the main highway between Stanwood and Havelock is to be repaired at last, after the matter has been repeatedly called to the attention of the members of the Seymour Council, the last complaint having been presented at the meeting on Tuesday. Reeve Van Volkenburg and Deputy Reeve Nelson looked over the road on Friday last and finally let the contract for repairing it to Garnet Redden, who resides in the vicinity. The amount to be expended is $100. Mr. Redden agrees to pull out the logs which were placed in position years ago when corduroy roads were in favour, to fill their places with stones and to add a surface of gravel.

The roads in this section, the farmers say, are not up to the standard in other parts of the township and they are already talking of nominating at the next municipal election, a resident of the immediate vicinity.

James MacAlpine, Jr., leaves today for Campbellford to work on the new power house and dam which the Hydro is to built near Raney Falls, some distance below the present plant. VOTING TODAY CHURCH UNION

Result is Expected to Be More Decisive Than it Was in 1916.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. June 11.— (Canadian Press). — The vote on Church Union at the Presbyterian General Assembly will probably be taken to-day in order to reach a vote it may be necessary to give up the evening programme and to finish the discussion and take the vote at that time.

Prominent members of the assembly interviewed by the Canadian Press correspondent predict that the final vote will not be different from that of the assembly in Westminster Church, Winnipeg, when 406 voted or Union and 90 against Union The usual assembly Sunday services were held yesterday, all the commissioners joining in a solemn communion at four o'clock in the afternoon very little of the regular work of the assembly has been touched and commissioners are troubled to know how it can be done to allow them to get home for the Sunday services.

Rev. Dr. Laird, the Treasurer of the Chuch. who during the year has tavelled extensively through Canada and who came into contact with ministers and elders was asked whether the vote in the present assembly would be as decisive as the vote of 1916 in Westminster Church Winnipeg and he replied that in his judgment it would be more decisive.

Dr. Laird stated that personally as an official of the church he had taken no part in the dicussion of the church union issue. Some of those who were most active in co-operating with him in the work of the church were opposed to union. However throughout the whole church he was of the opinion that a larger percentage of the members were favorable to union than was the case seven years ago.

The Northumberland Regimental Band will furnish music, and as this is the first of the season, and the reputation the ladies have gained in the past for the serving of plenty of good things to eat, a good crowd is anticipated.

Sunday Services.

Large congregations were in attendance at all the churches. At St. Andrew's church the pastor, Rev. C. F. McIntosh preached a very helpful sermon from Nehemiah, chap. 6, verse 11. The musical service, in charge of Mr. Fred Wigglesworth, was inspiring. Miss Lila Ballantyne rendered a solo in her usual sweet voice. A baptismal formed part of the service, when three children were presented for baptism were the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Moss, ... and Mrs. Albert Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. John Blackwood. At the evening service Rev. J. J. Black, of Burnbrae, occupied the pulpit most acceptably.

At the Methodist church, the morning service was the usual children's day service, music, flower and song being in charge of Mrs. C. W. Turner, to whom is due the greatest credit for the excellent manner in which thtis part of the programme was rendered. Misses Cherrie Turner and Dorothy Frederick rendered solos very sweetly, while Misses Ruth Taylor and Frances Dingman gave readings which were much appreciated. The large graduation class from the primary to the main school was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Ashton and the greatest credit is due her for the excellent manner in which the children acquitted themselves. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the whole being enlivened by singing birds at the evening service. The pastor, Rev. H. B. Kenny, occupied the pulpit, his subject being "Covenants." The large choir, under the capable leadership of Mr. R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.O., rendered two appropriate anthems.

Rev. Mr. Kenny will again occupy the pulpits on Sunday, June 17th, but will be absent at conference at Whitby on Sunday, the 24th.

Boys' Meeting.

A boys' camp for Tuxis boys over 14 years will be held this year near Brighton from June 29 to July 7.

FORCE ABOVE RIGHT MENACE TO WORLD

Lloyd George Almost Despairs of the Future of Civilization.

LONDON, June 11. — (United Press). — Commenting on the Bulgarian revolution, Lloyd George told a religious meeting Sunday that the real trouble with the world is the enshrinement of force above right, and he said: "Unless a new temper asserts itself I despair of the future of civilization. Civilizations as great as ours have disappeared owing to the spirit of force."

He also denounced social conditions in England, declaring that England spent fifty billion annually for war and did not spend a thousandth part of that sum for remedying the conditions of the slums, where multitudes were living under "perfectly infamous conditions."

FEAR OUTBREAK WAR IN BALKANS

Bulgarian Revolution Observed in Paris With Anxious Foreboding.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press). — Bulgarian Revolution is observed here with anxious foreboding in both French official circles and Bulgarian diplomatic quarters. While no one yesterday was willing to express an official opinion regarding the significance of the coup de Etait officials did not conceal misgivings that it may mean the beginning of a severe trouble with even the possibility of an outbreak of hostilities in Balkans.

Allied circles see in the revolt the cropping up of very unwelcome pro-German element which may stir up knotty Balkan problems.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE LAKEFIELD VILLAGE

The Contents of Hill & Murduff's Meat Market Destroyed — Building Damaged.

LAKEFIELD, June 11.—Fire destroyed the contents of a store yesterday and caused considerable damage to the building, in spite of gallant efforts by the fire brigade to check it. At 2.05 on Sunday morning the alarm was turned in, the fire having been discovered in the Sanitary Meat Market by Richard Hill and Wilfred Murduff. The blaze appeared at that time to be in the cellar.

In ten minutes from the alarm the entire brigade was on hand working The building was a frame structure sheeted with tin and it a due only to the splendid work of the brigade that the filmsy structure was not entirely destroyed. The plate glass windows were cracked, and the stock was practically ruined.

No cause had been found for the fire, but adjusters who are expected to-day will probably make a statement.

During the fire fighting, Louis Sabatino, well known in sporting circles, had the misfortune to cut his foot with an axe while chopping a floor to reach the blaze. Sabatino is a member of the fire brigade, but he was compelled to retire from the fray, and is to-day using a crutch.

The destroyed stock was owned by Fred Patterson Peterborough, and the building is the property of W. W. Laird, Lakefield.

Spectators say the fire department arrived at the scene in good time and did heroic work. The fire fighters used 74 gallons of chemical.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray rents the Governor's suite in the Ajax, the most expensive hotel in Dallas. To the waiter serving his breakfast in his rooms, Gray offers a liberal tip, but finding only small change in his pocket he tells the waiter he must have been robbed on the train. Gray calls on the hotel manager, on the president of the largest bank and on the mayor of Dallas. He phones a tip to the leading newspaper, suggesting an interview with "Calvin Gray, globe trotter, soldier of fortune, financier." The city editor sends a reporter who interviews Gray in his expensive hotel suite.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

He returned to his hotel that afternoon pretty well satisfied with his efforts and hopeful that some of the seed he had sown broadcast would be ripe for the reaping erelong. But he received an electric shock as he approached the desk, for the bell captain addressed him, saying:

"Mr. Haviland wishes to see you at once, in his office."

There was a curious brightness to the imposter's eyes, a reckless, mocking smile upon his lips, when he stepped into the manager's office.

Haviland handed him a copy of the leading afternoon paper, and Gray's eyes flashed to the headline of an article reading:

CALVIN GRAY, HERO OF SENSATIONAL EXPLOITS, IN DALLAS

ADVENTURES READ LIKE PAGE OF ROMANCE

FAMOUS FINANCIER ADMITS LARGE OIL INTERESTS, BEHINL HIM

From the opening paragraph Gray judged that he had impressed the reporter even more deeply than he had supposed, but he took no satisfaction therefrom, for Haviland was saying:

"I've read the whole story, but I want you to tell me something more about yourself."

"What do you wish to know?"

"Were you in France?"

Over the visitor's face there came a subtle change. Whereas, upon entering, he had worn an expression of careless defiance, now he appeared to harden in every fiber and to go on guard.

"I have been many times in France."

"I mean during the war. Did you serve?"

There was a pause. "I did." Gray's eyes remained fixed upon his interrogator, but they had begun to smolder.

"Then you're Colonel Gray. Colonel Calvin Gray."

"Quite so." The speaker's voice was harsh, and it came with an effort. "But you didn't read that in the Post. Come! What's the idea? Out with it."

"Strange circles we move in," Haviland was saying. "Do you know who owns the controlling interest in this hotel? Surely you must know or can guess. Think a moment. It's somebody you met over there and have reason to remember."

A sound escaped from the throat of Colonel Gray—not a cry, but rather a gasp of amazement, or of rage.

"Aha!" Haviland grinned in triumph. "I thought—"

His guest leaned forward over the desk, with face twitching. Passion had driven the blood from it, and his whole expression was one of such hatred, such fury, the metamorphosis was so startling, that the hotel man stiffened in his chair and stared upward in sudden amazement.

"Nelson!" Gray ejaculated. "Nelson! By God! So! He's here!"

Haviland stirred. "I don't know what you're talking about. Who's Nelson?" After a second he exclaimed: "Good Lord! I thought I had a pleasant surprise for you, and I was gracefully leading up to it, but—I must have jazzed it all up. I was going to tell you that the hotel and everything in it is yours."

"Eh?"

"Why, the Ajax is one of the Dietz chain! Herman Dietz of Cincinnati owns it. He left for the North not an hour ago. At the last minute he heard you were here—read this story in the paper—and had bellboys scouring the place for you."

Colonel Gray uttered another exclamation, this time an expletive of deep relief. He fought with himself a moment, then murmured an apology. "Sorry. You gave me a start—decidedly. Herman Dietz, eh? Well, well! You made me think for a moment that I was a guest in the house of some other—friend."

"Friend?"

"Exactly!" Gray was himself again now. He ran a loosening finger between his collar and throat. "Quite a start, I'll admit, but—some of my friends are great practical jokers. They have a way of jumping out at me and crying 'Boo!' when I least expect it."

CALVIN GRAY, HERO OF SENSATIONAL EXPLOITS, IN DALLAS.

"Um-m! I see. Mr. Dietz told me that he was under lifelong obligation to a certain Colonel Calvin Gray. Something to do with passports—"

"I once rendered him a slight favor."

"He doesn't regard the favor as 'slight.' He was about to be imprisoned for the duration of the war and you managed to get him back home."

"Merely a matter of official routine. I felt sure he was a loyal American citizen."

"Exactly. But he makes more of the incident than you do, and he gave me my instructions. So—what can I do for you in his behalf? You have only to ask."

Gray pondered the unexpected offer. He was still a bit shaken, for a moment ago he had been more deeply stirred even than Haviland suspected, and the emotional reaction had left him weak.

"Well, name your poison! Isn't there something, anything we can do for you?" Haviland repeated.

"There is, decidedly," Gray smiled his warm appreciation of the tender. "If it is not too great a drain upon the Dietz millions, you may keep a supply of cut flowers in my room. I'm passionately fond of roses, and I should like to have my vases filled every morning."

"You shall dwell in a perfumed bridal bower."

That evening, when Calvin Gray, formally and faultlessly attired, strolled into the Ajax dining room he was conscious of attracting no little attention. For one thing, few of the other guests were in evening dress, and also that article in the Post, which he had read with a curiously detached amusement, had been of a nature to excite general notice.

Its first results were prompt in coming. Even while the head waiter was seating him, another diner arose and approached him with a smile. Gray recognized the fellow instantly—one of that vast army of casuals that march through every active man's life and disappear down the avenues of forgetfulness.

After customary greetings had been exchanged, the newcomer, Coverly by name, explained that he had read the Post article not five minutes before, and was delighted to learn how well the world had used Gray. He was dining alone; with alacrity he accepted an invitation to join his old friend, and straightway he launched himself upon the current of reminiscence. In answer to Gray's inquiry, he confessed modestly enough:

"I'm the V. P. of our biggest jewelry house, and business is great." After their order had been given, he recited in greater detail the nature of his success.

Gray was interested. "Texas is booming," he said, at the conclusion of the story. "I'm told the new oil towns are something like our old mining camps."

"Except that they are more so. The same excitement, the same quick fortunes, only quicker and larger. Believe me, it's fine for the jewelry business. Look here." Coverly drew from his pocket a letter written in a painfully cramped hand upon cheap note paper, and this he spread out for his companion to read. "There's an example in point."

The letter, which bore the Ranger postmark, ran as follows:

DERE SIR—your store has bin rekomend to me for dimons and I want some for my wife and dauter. Send me prises on rings of large sizes. Yours truley

GUS BRISKOW.

"Um-m! Who is Mr. Briskow?"

Coverly shrugged. "Probably some nester who never saw a hundred dollars all in one place until recently."

"In Heaven's name, introduce me to the opulent Gus Briskow."

"I wish I might. But I don't expect to make his acquaintance. The head of our firm is away and I haven't a man I'd dare trust to send out into the field." Coverly sighed regretfully. "Tough luck! Too bad you're not a good jewelry salesman?"

"I am," Gray declared. "I can sell anything. As for diamonds—I've bought enough in my time to know their value."

Coverly laughed in ready agreement with this statement. "Gad! I'm sore at missing this sale."

"I'm not joking. If it's worth while, pack up your saffron solitaires—all that you dare trust me with—and I'll be your gentlemanly representative."

"Worth while? Good Lord! I'd probably get a ten-thousand-dollar order!"

"Very well. It's settled." Gray's decision had been quickly made. Opportunity had knocked—he was not one to deny her admission, no matter how queer her garb.

"Where does Mr. Briskow live?" he inquired.

"Out beyond Ranger, somewhere. But—"

"I'm going to visit that field, anyhow. This will give me an excuse."

"Nonsense!" The jeweler did not like to have fun poked at him. For some time he refused to take the offer seriously, and even when his host insisted that he would enjoy the lark, he expostulated: "Why, the idea is ridiculous! You—Calvin Gray, the financier, peddling jewelry? Ha! Outside of the fact that you wouldn't, couldn't do it, it's not the safest thing in the world to carry a small fortune in stones through the oil fields."

"Of course you insure it against theft?"

"That's the point. We can't. Have you ever heard of 'high-jackers'? That's the Texas term for hold-up men, robbers. Well, the country is full of them."

QUAKERS DOWNED BY A LARGE SCORE

The Canadian Woollens defeated the Quakers by a score of 5 to 1 in a senior league football game, played at the Oval on Saturday afternoon. Both teams were short-handed, going on the field with but ten men each.

The Woollens started off with the benefit of both the sun and wind, which was a big advantage, and Reid, who played at centre forward, soon tested Griffin. Logan and Foster, however, carried the ball right back, and gave Chambers a hard one to handle. He saved nicely, and See, taking the return, carried the ball back to the Quakers' goal, where he beat Griffin for the first counter of the game.

In spite of repeated attacks Chambers was able to hold the Quakers at bay for the remainder of the half, which ended with the score 1 to 0 in favour of the Woollens.

In the second half the Woollens took the game in hand right from the kick-off ,ad Shuttle scored twice in rapid succession. Shaw soon added a fourth counter, after which Montgomery broke through to score a beautiful goal for the Quakers. It was the Quakers' only counter.

The Woollens' fifth goal was added soon after, Shaw making a great run up the field to score.

For the remainder of the game the Woollens had much the best of it, and when time was called were easy winners by a score of 5 to 1.

The players were:

Woollens: Chambers; Sayers and Leach; Roberts, Monkman, and Warman; Shuttle, Reid, Shaw, and Lee.

HECKMAN CONQUERS INDIAN RIVAL AND PETES WIN HANDILY

AN EXCITING GAME.

Playing bang up ball, considering that they had not had a workout for a week, behind a splendid brand of pitching by Al Heckman, the Petes shot out in front in the Big Four race at Riverside Park by beating their old adversaries from Belleville by 8 runs to 4 after a game that was full of excitement and not without its element of doubt until the Solomon crew cinched it by scoring three runs in their half of the eighth. Indian Jack Williams the Grand Trunk southpaw, who had two shut out victories over the Petes last year and who had won his first two starts this season failed to hold the homesters in check and was clearly outpitched by Heckman the Petes' right harder having the edge all the way.

"Heck" was back in form Saturday using a fast breaking curve to good advantage while his fast ball had plenty of smoke and the result was fourteen strikeouts. In five of the nine innings the visitors went out in order and Heckman was in trouble only in two frames, the sixth when Belleville got the breaks in the shape of several very lucky hits and the eighth when a dead ball on Ross, the only complimentary of the day was followed by a double and a single. The Petes' ace showed his class in this inning for Belleville had men on second and third with nobody out after Ross had scored. Heckman struck out two out of the next three and caught Weir between third and home, breaking up a rally that looked decidedly dangerous. Six of the visitors eight hits were thrown into these two innings.

Manager Solomon sent in seven right handed batters against Williams, Helson going to third base and Shaughnessy to right and the Belleville left hander didn't like the array of starboard hitters a little bit. The Petes got to him for nine hits with Charlie Ansaldo with three safeties and Max Swanston with two timely swats leading the parade. And on top of this the Indian's control was very bad. He had plenty of stuff but the plate was swinging for him, the Solomon athletes working seven walks off his delivery and three of these blossomed into runs.

Mr. D. P. McFarlane of Harriston, president of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association was among the spectators and the O.B.A.A. head saw a real lively game of ball. The Petes led for the first five innings by 1 to 0 but Belleville staged a rally in the sixth that put them two in front—for a moment. The home crew used their half of the same frame to score four runs, putting them ahead again 5 to 3. The seventh was scoreless but Belleville picked up another counter in the eighth leaving the tally 5 to 4. That was too close for comfort so the Petes who had lots of fighting spirit Saturday immediately proceeded in their half to hammer in three more markers that settled the argument beyond all dispute.

The best fielding play was Ansaldo's running catch of J. K. Williams fly back of third in the fifth inning. The Petes' shortstop had to move fast and cover a lot of ground to grab off the floater and he gathered in the ball on the run in great style. Heckman's bullet like throw on Casey's slow tap was another feature and a fast double play engineered by Weir, Harry Mills and J. K. Williams stood out in the visitor's defensive work.

Belleville went out in order in the first. Heckman deflected Ross' smash to Johnston who threw him out at first. Weir fanned and Comolli made a nice running catch of W. Mills' low fly.

For the Petes, Ansaldo was tossed out by Meagher. Johnston walked. Swanston bunted a fly to J. H. Williams in trying to sacrifice and Comolli's fly to centre was nabbed by Ross.

Harry Mills and Meagher whiffed in Belleville's second. J. K. Williams lined a single over Heckman's head but was picked off first Swanston to Comolli.

In the local half Heckman rolled to the box. Wolfe got a lucky two bagger on a high fly back of second which Weir misjudged. Helson's infield out advanced Wolfe to third. Shaughnessy walked and Wolfe was caught between third and home and run down by W. Mills.

Heckman made a fast play and a great throw to extinguish Casey on a slow tap. He then struck out Hagerman and J. H. Williams.

The Petes broke in front in their half. Legon first up worked Williams for a pass. Ansaldo fouled to W. Mills a nice running catch by the backstop. Johnston struck out, but Legon stole second on the third strike and when Swanston drove a crashing single to left centre the Petes left fielder rode home with the first run of the game and Swanston reached second on the throw to the plate. Comolli rolled to Meagher for the third out.

In Belleville's fourth Ross flied to Legon. Weir singled to left but was forced at second on W. Mills' roller to Ansaldo, Miles being nearly doubled at first. Harry Mills struck out.

In the Petes end of the frame Heckman hoisted to Harry Mills. Wolfe struck out. Helson walked but Shaughnessy missed three.

Meagher the first man up for Belleville in the fifth got a life on Ansaldo's fumble but died on first for Ansaldo dashed over behind third and made a beautiful catch of J. K. Williams fly and Casey and Hagerman hit nothing but the June breeze.

A double play, neatly executed, killed off the Petes chances in their half. Legon whiffed but Ansaldo cut a single through short. Johnston hit to Weir and was out at first and Harry Mills' accurate throw to J. K. Williams nipped Ansaldo as he tried to reach third.

Several scratchy hits and a passed ball caused trouble for the Petes in the sixth and put Belleville in front. J. H. Williams first up chopped a pop fly back of second for a single. Ross beat out a bunt and there were two of the enemy on the runways. One of Heckman's fast one got away from Swanston moving Williams to third and Ross to second. Weir's single past the box scored the pair. Weir stole second and after W. Mills had flied to Legon, Harry Mills cut a single through short scoring Weir and putting the Grand Trunks two to the good. Meagher rolled to Comolli and J. K. Williams hoisted to Ansaldo.

The Petes came right back in their half with four. Swanston started the rally with a sharp single to left. Comolli rolled to Weir and the shortstop fumbled long enough to lose Swanston at second. Williams could not get the ball over for Heckman and the Petes' pitcher walked filling the bases with nobody out. Wolfe fanned but Helson rolled one at Weir who fumbled and then made a hurried throw past second, Swanston and Comolli scoring and Heckman reaching third. Helson stole second. Shaughnessy struck out but Legon walked, again filling the sacks. Ansaldo rapped a double past third, scoring Heckman and Helson. Johnston's drive to centre nestled in Ross's hands.

Heckman made short work of Belleville in the seventh getting Casey, Hagerman and J. H. Williams in succession on strikes.

The Petes also went out in order Swanston and Comolli flying to Casey in right and Heckman being thrown out by Weir.

Belleville made another determined attempt to save the day in the eighth and Heckman pitched himself out of a bad hole in great style. Ross the first man up was hit and Weir promptly cracked a long double to left centre on which the speedy Ross scored from first. Billy Mills singled to right sending Weir to third and when Shaughnessy threw to the plate Mills raced to second. With men on second and third, nobody out, one run needed to tie the score and the dangerous Harry Mills up it was a tight corner but Heckman was master of the situation. He put on the pressure and fanned Mills. Then Meagher rolled one to the box and Heckman trapped Weir between third and home and he was tagged by Helson. J. K. Williams fanned and the crisis was over.

The Petes promptly proceeded to make their slender lead safe. Wolfe drew a walk and went to second on J. H. Williams wide toss to first in an attempt to catch him of the initial sack. Helson scratched a single on a roller that took a bad hop to Harry Mills, Wolfe going to third. On an attempted double steal Helson was declared out at second, Wolfe scoring on the play. Shaughnessy singled past third and after Legon fanned, Ansaldo singled to centre sending Shaughnessy to third. Ansaldo stole second, no one covering and scored with Shaughnessy, on Johnston's clean single to centre. Johnston was called out at second when he tried to make an extra base on Ross's throw to the plate.

It was soon over in the ninth. Casey whiffed, Hagerman hoisted a high foul to Comolli and J. H. William's roller to Ansaldo wound up the game.

Siki Again in Trouble With Boxing Federation.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press).—Battling Siki, the Senegalese fighter, announces his departure for New York June 22. He will fight Morelle in Paris June 15, but refuses to meet Marcel Nilles, July 8, although articles for this fight were duly signed before the French Boxing Federation ten days ago. Siki claims that the man who acted in his behalf in signing this contest was not authorized to do so.

There are no less than five men now claiming to hold Siki's power of attorney to transact business for him. He suggests that they engage in a battle royal to decide who among them is best qualified to look after his affairs. The French Federation, however, is investigating the matter and may force Siki to meet Nilles before the black man leaves for the United States.

MAKING MONEY EASY.

BERLIN (By Mail to the United Press). — Germany prints half a trillion marks a week—and then she talks of stabilisation.

Figures made public for a recent week show that in six short days the Reichsbank threw into the market 449,900,000,000 marks, bringing the total in circulation to nearly 7,000,000,000,000. And by the time this is printed still further increases will be reported.

And the weekly output is increased each week as much as facilities will permit—forty-four private printeries already assisting the Reichsbank in printing paper money — so that in a short while the weekly out put will climb to a trillion and more. Germany is now printing each week more paper money than she had in circulation altogether in September of last year.

FATHERS' DAY

Dominion Wide Movement to Set Apart June 17th for Hard-Working Dad.

Popular imagination is demanding that some recognition be made of father's share in the burden of the work-a-day world. With no thought in the world of robbing mother of the cherished place she occupies in the hearts of every daughter and son in the broad universe, little children are beginning to ask, "Why isn't there a Daddy's Day ?" A number of letters have appeared in the public press lately—some from little children, some from older children of the fairer sex who know that father had a placei n laying the foundation and building the structure of the home—asking why there shouldnt be a 'Father's Day" and suggesting that day out of 365 be set aside for him.

And why shouldnt there be a Father's Day Has he not endured the heat and burden of the day, too? Has he not been inspired by the same high motives as mother in giving his sons, his daughters a better chance in the world than he had? Has he not carried upon his shoulders heavy burdens of responsibility endured anxieties, fought his way through difficulties, made innumerable sacrifices for those dependent upon him?

There is no one who realizes this better than mother daughter and son That is why popular imagination is demanding a Father's Day.

Answering the popular demand, the haberdashers of the United States inaugurated Father's Day, which has quickly come to be recognized as the one in the year, devoted to Dad. The slogan is "Buy Dad a Tie" and it has struck a popular note. This year the movement has extended into Canada, and the date set is next Sunday, June 17th. All the men's wear dealers in the city have fallen in line and are making special displays and extra offerings in their tie department, so that a suitable choice can be made, and windows are already decorated, with the now International admonition, "Buy Dad a Tie," Father's Day, June 17th

Further announcements will be given in the Examiner during the week, and it is expected that the idea will be given a real impetus on its first trial in Canada. The movement is being taken up all over the Dominion.

ROUSING RALLY

do the work. Mr. Biggs was one of the most fluent spenders they had in the Province. When he spoke in Peterborough he told of the immense sums he proposed to spend on good roads, but never told us how he proposed to get the money. Borrowed it, of course, and left it for the people of the future to raise and pay. It had cost $39,000,000 to build only 13 per cent. of the 1,800 miles of roads projected, and the tremendous bills continue to come in.

It was a matter of public comment with regard to the idleness and laxity that prevailed in the construction of the roads built out from Peterborough to the south. It was the business of Mr. Tooms, as a representative, to have watched this work and interfered and prevented it, but it went on day by day. When a representative is so indifferent and lax he is poor use to the constituency. When Col. Millar resigned from the clerkship of the Division Court, and an appointment was to be made, did Mr. Tooms select and urge the placing in charge of a U.F.O. man or a Labor man, or even a returned soldier, as he should have done? Not any. He sent over to Cleveland and imported his brother-in-law, and shoved him into the place. And yet Mr. Tooms will affirm that the Drury Government is free from patronage. If that comes about here, what is being done in other centres? And if Mr. Tooms be elected he will assuredly be at it again. Leave him at home.

The Gregory Commission was one wasteful combination, set up to bother Hydro and let several men pocket some money. In every activity of the Drury Government, the same wasteful expenditure stuck up like a sore thumb. Mr. Bradburn had made public his intentions, that the Ontario Temperance Act is to be enforced, in all rigidity, unless the people of the Province, at some future time, by a substantial majority, indicate that a change is desired. If Mr. Ferguson be returned, it is assured that there will be no "last night" carousals at the Parliament Buildings, such as was hushed up at the time of the festivity. He (Mr. McElderry(felt assured that Mr. Bradburn would be elected by a handsome majority.

Following the speaker, as noted, Mr. Ford Strickland took up the discussion. He reviewed the pertinent issues in the election now before the people. In denunciation of the acts of the administration he instanced the taking over of Spadina House to house a party of civil servants, agreeing to pay $20,000 per year in rent for the next five years, $25,000 per year for the following five years, and then spent $150,000 in changes and never an option or hold on the premises at all. The Drury Government has looked after their own, and done it well, which is the very acme of patronage. With a brief review of the more obnoxious of the acts of the Government, the colossal wastage in the expenditures, the losses on timber and pulp lands and leases, the many Commissions appointed, he said that Mr. McElderry was quite right when he said that Mr. Tooms had a summer, jaunting about the country, looking at and staying at the best hotels, with his friends, an expensive proceeding for the Province, and one productive of no possible good. The member for North Victoria, a clergyman, named Watson. not only drew his sessional allowance, but $2,400 as extra money as chairman of the Watson-Tooms perambulating commission. No wonder Mr. Tooms wished to go back and fatten at the public crib.

Mr Denne added a few words with regard to further details of the organization. Friends of the candidate were needed to catch hold and help. There was room and opportunity for all to push. In particular, there would be use for cars and the work of bringing in the voters would be nicely facilitated by plenty of autos. Among the Liberal-Conservative friends three hundred cars should be at service polling day.

THEIR DANGER NOT REALIZED

A. G. Metheral and Orville Crowe Laughed at Their Predicament While Clinging to Canoe

Mrs. A. G. Metheral 711 Water street, sister of Orville Crowe and wife of Arthur G. Metheral, who was with Mr. Crowe on the boating expedition yesterday which ended fatally for Mr. Crowe told the Examiner this morning that the accident was wholly unexplainable. The current on Sunday was not nearly so swift as on May 24, when the young men crossed before, and the canoe was upset in comparatively calm water in the narrow channel behind Dr. Fraser's Island. The young men treated the upset as a joke laughing at the predicament while holding the canoe. At first they endeavored to kick their way to a small island upstream, but finding they could not do this they tried to make Dr. Fraser's island. When about twenty feet from the island they saw that the canoe would carry them past, and they decided to abandon it. Mr. Crowe asked, "Can you make it?" Mr. Metheral said "I can if you can." Mr. Crowe then left the canoe and struck out for the island, less than 20 feet away.

To Save Canoe

Mr. Metheral thought he could save the canoe. and continued his efforts until he had passed the end of the island and the current was quickening his rush to the sluice, when he too left the boat and swam towards the log boom. It was not until this time that the gravity of his position became plain, and a terrible struggle against the rushing current taxed his utmost strength. When about half way to the boom, Mr. Metheral then turned on his back to swim and did not turn around until he reached the boom. When he looked again Crowe had disappeared.

That the accident was not regarded as serious by the young men is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Metheral carried the lunch basket in his teeth throughout his swim, having it with him when he landed on the boom.

Ready Help Offered

When the news reached the city yesterday many friends of the two young men rushed to Lakefield to offer what help they could give.

Several firemen who were off duty and who took the city grappling irons; a party of men from the Canadian Packing Company, and Provincial Constable George Cookman, were among those who joined the searchers.

The Indians say that at the spot where Mr. Crowe sank there is a hole about sixty feet deep, and many hold the opinion that his body will be found there. Constable Cookman said if any success is met with it will e through the efforts and knowledge of the Indians of the locality, who are thoroughly versed in the ways of the water and the condition of the river-bottom.

THREE ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Automobile accidents over the week end numbered three, according to reports received in the police station.

While William Richard, 299 Louis street, was driving his Overland car north on George street at 5.10 on Saturday evening, he struck a boy who ran in front of the car. Mr. Richard says two boys were playing on the sidewalk as he approached and one attempted to strike the other, on which he ran away. Darting into the road immediately in front of the car, he was struck and fell under the wheel.

Mr. Richard applied his brakes and stopped the car, but the thinks it passed over the boy. The little fellow is about eleght years of age, and he refused to give his name or address, running away when asked. His head was slightly cut.

Cyclist Damaged Car.

At 9.15 p.m. on Saturday while R. S. Goheen, 481 Aylmer street, was driving west on Charlotte and turning south on Bethune, Fred Hodgson, 315 Rubidge street, cycling east on Charlotte, struck the auto. Hodgson was thrown to the ground, but he and his bicycle escaped unhurt. The right rear fender of the auto wa slightly bent and split.

Autoist Ran Away.

Mrs. Stevens, 554 Albert street, and her husband, were the victims of an accident at 3.15 p.m. on Sunday, when their car was struck on the Bewdley road. Mrs. Stevens states that a McLaughlin car struck tchirauto, knocking it over into the ditch, and causing considerable damage. The driver of the McLaughlin car, who was accompanied by a lady, continued on his way without stopping.

SEA MONSTER CAPTURED AFTER A HARD BATTLE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 11.—(Canadian Press.)— A huge sea monster, thirty-two feet long, twenty feet around and estimated to weigh more than 20,000 pounds, has been landed at Long Key after a day's struggle, druing which twenty bullets from a high powered rifle were fired in to, according to a telegram last night to the Times Union from Claude Nottand, one of the party of fishermen that captured the prize.

The monster was harpooned Saturday evening, but put up a struggle that required a constant fight until yesterday to land it.

Deceptive Mark In Germany

BERLIN, June 11 (Associated Press).—Dividends to the shareholders in German stock companies have appeared so high, when quoted on a paper-mark basis, that many firms have taken pains to explain the deceptiveness caused by the mark's depreciation. Thus, at the time the great international electrical works of Siemens & Halske recently declared an 80 percent dividend its rectorate noted this meant really only 16 gold pfennigs on a share, or less than four American cents.

Upon receiving this dividend, said the company's annual report, the holder of 50 shares gets only the value today of a telephone receiver and its attached cord. Before the war, a 12 percent dividend on that many shares would have netted enough money to buy a whole telephone switchboard with all its lines, capable of serving half a hundred subscribers.

Citing another comparison, Siemens & Halske state the total dividend this year would serve to purchase one direct current motor of 400 horse-power, while in 1913 the dividend on only half of its capital stock was sufficient for the erection of an entire power-plant-grounds, buildings, boilers, steam turbines, dynamos, and all, with a capacity of 50,000 horsepower.

FRANCE PLANS GREAT ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT

PARIS, June 11 (Associated Press).—Electrification in France held back by the war, its devastation and the upward swing of prices, is now being furthered in many ways by the government, and within a few years many pretentions plans should be completed.

The greatest progress is being made in the devastated regions, for there villages and towns must be built from the ground up and an electric installation frequently preceedes gas. The government, in reimbursing owners for destroyed factories, urged from the first that manufacturers motorize their plants

Water-power development in the southeastern mountainous region is wel. under way, and power soon will be available for the first stretches of electrified railroads. In Brittany, on the Atlantic coast, the tide as a source of power soon will be tested in an experimemtal installation.

Electric appliances for cooking and cleaning, which came formerly almost entirely from America and Italy, are now being made in France. Electric stoves recently appeared, but the French cook still sticks to her hard coal stove.

TO RESTORE POLISH YOUTH

WARSAW, June 11— (Associated Press).—Poland's greatest loss of recent years has been, not in devastated regions but in young men. Therefore physical education was stressed at a recent meeting of school masters in this city, and the government was urged to allot more money for the building of playgrounds and otherwise to assist in the building up of Polish youths.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

WHEN YOU SELL, SELL RIGHT.

Said the office manager: "Before I left the Bivens Manufacturing Co., two different concerns had made me offers. One offer was equal to the salary I was getting, and the other was a little better. When I decided to make a change, I didn't 'have to' use a Want Ad. Two or three of my friends, when I told them I planned to insert one, were surprised.

"I said, 'Since I am going to sell my services now for an indefinite period, perhaps for years, I want to sell them right. You might call either of these offers I have received acceptable. But what I want is the best opportunity the market affords. The way to get in touch with the most employers, and locate the best connection for me, is a Want Ad.'

"I ran a Want Ad. for several insertions, and thereby came to this fine house — a bigger job, with greater responsibility, and a salary $40 a month better than the higher of the two offers I mentioned. A Want Ad. found for me the best connection in the market. I sold right."

Many of the most profitable Want Ads. inserted are those of men and women who could sell without a Want Ad., and realize they could. If a survey should be taken of the conditions under which a representative group of Want advertisers first used a Want Ad., it would reveal, without any doubt, that most did when they found it hard, perhaps impossible, to sell without one. First they endeavored to sell in the haphazard, something-will-turn-up manner. At last, desperate, they turned to the Want Ad. section, and found a buyer.

Every reader, however, should realize that Want Ads. are often equally indispensable, though a sale could be made without them.

Want Ads. save great time and labor in selling. They enable the user to sell right, and to know that he is selling right: They get before the advertiser the maximum number of possible buyers. Some one among them is the right man, with the right offer.

When you sell, sell right. The Want Ads. will help you to.

TO INVESTIGATE COAL DEPOSITS IN ONTARIO

TORONTO, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Holding out extremely interesting possibilities, in view of the coal shortage which has been the affliction of practically every householder and industrial concerns throughout the Province, is the investigation of coal deposits in Northern Ontario.

From Chelmsford Basin, situated a short distance north-west of Sudbury, come reports that drilling operations have revealed the presence of a seam of coal about 6 feet thick, at a depth of 342 feet.

The company which is making the development states that should the investigation prove that a sufficient quantity is present to justify mining operations, coal will be placed on the market as soon as possible.

To the Electors of East Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Having been chosen by a convention of the Liberal-Conservative Party to contest the Riding of East Peterboro at the coming election on June 25th, I would most respectfully, but very earnestly, solicit your support.

Believing as I do, that the present administration has incurred obligations and made expenditures far in excess of our needs or our ability to carry, I will if elected, do my utmost to bring about a more economical administration of the business of the Province.

I can see no reason for believing that the industries of this Province—Agricultural, Manufacturing or Mercantile—will enjoy any greater prosperity in the future than they have in the past, and for that reason do not consider it either fair or honest to pile up a huge debt that future generations may not be able to bear.

I am in favor, so far as the revenue will permit, of assisting the people financially with the many problems confronting them, but all such grants to be made without inducements or coercion to undertake expenditures that are not wise or in the best interests of the already over-burdened taxpayer.

It is my intention to meet as many as possible of the Electors before election day and shall try to place my views before you at the various public meetings I may be able to arrange in the short space of time available.

In seeking your support and influence in this campaign, I pledge myself, if elected as your representative, to do everything in my power to advance the interests of East Peterboro, recognizing as a farmer, the outstanding importance of our agricultural pursuits, upon which in fact, the prosperity of the Province so largely depends.

If elected, I shall submit and discuss with the electors all those measures which affect them and which I may be able to help put into effect in the Legislature, because I firmly believe that such a plan fulfills real democracy and is a duty that every member owes his constituents.

Trusting for your support and influence, I am

Sincerely and faithfully yours,

T. D. JOHNSTON

ADDRESS ON MILK AS BODY BUILDER

Interesting Subject Capably Handled at Millbrook Meeting—Enjoyable Concert.

MILLBROOK, June 11. — The public meeting, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, held in the town hall on Wednesday evening, brought out a fair number of members and visitors, Miss M. E. Fisher, past president of the Institute here, taking the chair in a very capable manner. Miss J. MacMillan, M.A., was the speaker for the occasion, her address being listened to with close attention throughout. "Milk, and its importance as a Body Builder," with other information relative to food values, was the theme of Miss MacMillan's interesting lecture, the fact that she has recently graduated with first class honors, after taking up laboratory work along this line from Toronto University, proving her ability to speak on the subjects discussed.

Miss MacMillan was the guest of Mrs. H. J. Armstrong while in Millbrook and a number of the Institute members had the pleasure of meeting her in a social way, finding her a charming companion, an excellent conversationalist, and an hour or two spent in her company filled with profitable information.

A piano duet by Misses May Byam and Hattie Barnard, and a vocal solo by Mrs. G. S. Gervan, were the special musical numbers on the programme, and added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. The usual vote of thanks was passed before the meeting was dismissed.

Sacred Concert.

The sacred concert given by a choir of 20 voices under the leadership of Miss Mabel Clarry, in Grace Presbyterian church on Friday evening, proved a decided treat to all music lovers, though unfortunately the wet weather kept many away, especially preventing many of the country people from attending, the roads being in very bad condition. Undoubtedly, however, those who were present felt amply repaid for any discomfort encountered, the various numbers on the programme being exceptionally well rendered, and all giving evidence of the thorough, and capable, training which Miss Clarry had bestowed upon their preparation. The violin selections by Miss Edwina Palmer of Peterboro were especially enjoyed, the insistent demands for encores, which the artists graciously responded to, showing the warm appreciation of the audience. The following comprised the programme:

Opening, "O Canada" Congregation and Choir

Anthem, "The Day is Past and Over" ..... Marks

Obligato Duet by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston.

Solo, "Thy Will be Done" Pfleuger
Miss Kathleen Lancashire.

Violin Solo ..... Selected

Anthem, "God so Loved the World" ..... Stainer

Solo, "Abide with Me" ..... Liddle
Mrs. G. S. Gervan.

Trio, "God be Merciful" ..... Parry

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE FRENCH AMBASSADOR

LONDON, June 11.— (Canadian Press.)— Lord Curzon had an important conference with Ambassador Count Saint Aulaire this morning, the British Foreign Secretary urging that French Government accept Berlin's latest reparation proposals as a basis for negotiations. If France will do this, Lord Curzon will inform Germany, it was stated, of the French government's willingness to discuss the problem collectively with the allies.

Great Britain, it is explained, will then endeavor to obtain from Berlin a pledge of cancellation of orders for passive resistance in the Ruhr, which Premier Poincare has named as a condition to any pour parlies. If Germany acquiesces in this, steps will be taken to convoke an international conference for settlement of the whole dispute.
